STIMSON UNDER BARRAGE OF QUESTIONS ON PARITY AS SENATORS STUDY PACT

SECRETARY STANDS FIRM

Tells Committee British Merchant Marine Is No Bar to Fleet Equality.

DEFENDS 6-INCH-GUN SHIPS

ROBINSON SUPPORTS HIM

Naval Affairs Body Will Hear Adams Today on Issue of Real Parity With Britain.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—A barrage of questions as to parity with Great Britain developed today when the Senate Foreign Relations Committee resumed its examination of the London Naval Treaty with Secretary of State Stimson continuing his outline of the case for ratification of the pact.

Directed to the relative merits of 6-inch and 8-inch gun cruisers and the potential naval value of the British merchant marine, the cross-examination, which was begun by Senator Swanson of Virginia in a friendly spirit, quickly swung into an exchange between Senator Robinson, Republican, of Indiana, and Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic floor leader and a member of the American delegation at London.

These points were the only ones of a controversial character that brought sparks at the session, but a more hostile note is expected to develop tomorrow when the Senate Naval Committee will open hearings on the treaty.

Senator Hale of Maine, chairman of that committee, announced after the Foreign Relations Committee had adjourned that his committee would assemble at 10:30 A. M. with Secretary of the Navy Adams as the first witness. At the same hour the Foreign Relations Committee will resume its questioning of Mr. Stimson, and will call Secretary Adams and naval technicians later.

Mr. Adams is to be followed as a witness before the Naval Affairs Committee by high naval officers, and the indications are that many questions of a technical character, centring particularly on cruisers, will be asked by Senator Hale in an effort to determine whether the treaty actually gives parity with Britain to the United States.

Hale Determined on Inquiry.

When the Foreign Relations Committee decided yesterday to summon members of the Navy General Board before it, the view was that this would cripple the attack of Senator Hale by exploding much of his information in advance. Mr. Hale, however, although influential Senators attempted to dissuade him this afternoon, persisted in his determination to proceed with his inquiry at once.

Secretary Stimson completed for the Foreign Relations Committee the statement explaining the treaty and its negotiation before questions were put to him. These he answered readily, although several brought from him the suggestion that they might be discussed more freely in executive session.

Among these was one concerning the so-called escalator clause, whereby Great Britain may increase its limits in certain categories if it considers itself menaced by building on the part of France or Italy, with the United States and Japan permitted to make corresponding increases. The provision was explained by Mr. Stimson at the request of Senator Borah; but Mr. Stimson refrained from a public answer to a question as to whether he knew that any power was threatening to build ships in numbers that would call for invoking the clause.

Secretary Stimson gave a detailed explanation of the ratios allotted Japan under the treaty without any criticism arising among committee members. He praised the Japanese for agreeing to "stand still" on cruisers and let the United States "build past her" to attain the treaty ratio.

He refused to be concerned over the question of armed merchant ships, asserting that it was only possible to arrive at a parity agreement

City's Spring Moving Caused 91,300 Phone Changes in April

About 91,300 telephones were installed or removed in Greater New York in the thirty-day period ended April 30, the New York Telephone Company announced yesterday. Most of the changes, 50,600, were made in Manhattan. There were 30,500 changes in Brooklyn, Queens and Staten Island, and 10,200 in the Bronx.

The company reported 29,350 changes during the first seven days of May, with a peak business of more than 5,000 connections and disconnections of instruments on May 1. In the two-week period prior to May 1 changes were made at the rate of 3,500 a day, while in the first two weeks of May the average number a day was 4,194. Hundreds of installers were kept busy day and night meeting the demands caused by the usual annual changes of business and residence locations.

NANSEN DIES AT 68 OF HEART PARALYSIS

Explorer Succumbs to a Stroke While Alone—Had Been Believed Recovering.

NORWAY IS GRIEF-STRICKEN

Flags Drop to Half-Staff and Evening Newspapers Appear With Mourning Borders.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

OSLO, May 13.—Fridtjof Nansen, great Arctic explorer, humanitarian and peace worker, died suddenly from paralysis of the heart this afternoon. He was 68 years old.

There was no one with him when he died. The stroke came so suddenly that no doctor or near relative was at his bedside, and the man who had spent so many years of his life in the silent wastes of the Arctic died in solitude.

All Norway is plunged in grief and the public sense of loss was made still keener by the belief that Dr. Nansen was recovering from his recent critical illness. He had been in bed for some time with an affection of the leg, but no reports had been issued on his health since the family issued a reassuring statement last month.

The Norwegian Storthing and other public buildings are flying flags at half staff and the President of the Chamber will pay tribute to the dead explorer at the opening of tomorrow's session. Mourning borders appeared on all evening newspapers tonight, with long stories recalling his extraordinary personality and achievements.

Once Considered for King.

To the Norwegian people Dr. Nansen was much more than a polar explorer. He was a national figure who had played a decisive part in effecting the separation of Norway from Sweden in 1905, and so strong was popular gratitude that—although it is not widely known—there was a strong movement to make him the first king of modern Norway. The choice ultimately fell on a Danish prince, now King Haakon VII, but Dr. Nansen remained a hero to his people and moved on to new and wider tasks.

By coincidence Dr. Nansen's death occurred just before May 17, which is Norwegian Constitution Day, and June 7, the silver jubilee of the dis-

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BOMBAY, May 13.—With 1,800 British troops patrolling the streets, martial law was clamped down upon turbulent Sholapur today.

No less drastic method could be found to end the mob rule which has held the city in terror ever since the riots last Wednesday. The civil administration of the city had virtually ceased to exist, even before Colonel C. P. Page, in command of the troops, assumed the office of military dictator.

Until the troops came, the Nationalist leaders had taken over the duties of the police, controlling the traffic and even promulgating a new traffic rule of right-hand instead of left-hand driving.

The sullen temper of the crowds showed no sign of abating. The situation continued fraught with the gravest danger until martial law was proclaimed.

Rigid Curfew Is Imposed.

Tonight a rigid curfew was imposed from 7 P. M. to 6 A. M. All groups of more than four persons are forbidden to assemble on the streets. Machine guns are pointing down the important thoroughfares, a warning of trouble if lawlessness should break out again.

Abbas Tyabji Mahatma, Gandhi's successor, who was arrested Monday, was sentenced today to six months' simple imprisonment. Fifty-three volunteers arrested with him were sentenced to three months' rigorous imprisonment. Four other volunteers were released on account of their youth. Among the prisoners is Mahatma Gandhi's grandson.

Despite Mr. Tyabji's arrest, the Nationalists still are threatening the salt depot at Dharasana. They say now their raid will take place Thursday morning. Mr. Gandhi's second son, Manilal, and 150 volunteers are now encamped about a half-mile from Dharasana.

Meanwhile an ominous calm continues in Bombay and the surrounding area, although the tension has not been lessened by the long statement yesterday by the Viceroy, Lord Irwin. No one appears satisfied with Lord Irwin's pronouncement, least of all the Liberals and Independents, who are discouraged by what they term the Viceroy's "vagueness."

Some moderate leaders, in fact, declare that the Viceroy has aggravated the situation by not defining the functions of the forthcoming round table conference in London. His fixing the date as Oct. 20 is felt to be of no importance.

As far as the meeting of the all-parties conference committee here tomorrow is concerned, there is little hope it will achieve anything substantial. Only half of the thirty-five members will be present. There is a widespread impression the meeting will be a fiasco.

Whalen Framing Rules to Curb Jaywalking; Is Advised Court Upholds Pedestrian Control

Drastic action to discourage jaywalking will be taken by the police within the next fortnight, Commissioner Whalen announced yesterday. He revealed that regulations for pedestrian traffic resembling the rules for vehicles were being prepared and would be made public within a day or two.

"We must stop jaywalking and save the lives and limbs of pedestrians in spite of themselves," Commissioner Whalen asserted. He declared that requiring pedestrians to abide by traffic lights would not only minimize street accidents but would permit more effective control of vehicular traffic.

Declaring that accidents attributable to jaywalking were steadily increasing, the Commissioner said that 412 persons had been killed in 1929 and 11,091 injured in such accidents, against 323 killed and 9,217 injured in 1928. On the other hand, strict regulation of pedestrians in Central Park has greatly reduced accidents there, he said.

Commissioner Whalen made his announcement after a conference with First Deputy Commissioner Philip D. Hoyt, the department's traffic expert, and Fourth Deputy Commissioner Nelson Ruttenberg, who is a lawyer and who advised the Commissioner that a recent decision of the Court of Appeals upholding his right to regulate vehicular traffic would apply to pedestrian traffic also.

In preparing the new regulations the Commissioner and his aides are studying a report made in 1928 by President Hoover, then Secretary of Commerce, who headed a committee which investigated the problem of safety in the streets.

A. J. Engelman, secretary of the Pedestrian-Motorist Safety League of 1,776 Broadway, made public last night an open letter to Acting Mayor McKee protesting against Commissioner Whalen's proposal. He contended that a jaywalking law would not reduce street fatalities and would require trebling the police force for enforcement.

Quimby Guilty, Cutler Free in Clarke Failure; Fifth Conviction for Wrecking Private Bank

After deliberating about five and a half hours, a jury in Federal Court reported at 11 o'clock last night that it had found Milton C. Quimby guilty on an indictment charging him with using the mails to defraud in connection with the failure of the private banking firm of Clarke Brothers. The jury handed up a verdict of not guilty for John W. Cutler, who has been on trial with Quimby since April 24.

Quimby, who was paroled in the custody of his counsel pending the hearing this morning of the usual motions to set aside the verdict, faces a maximum sentence of fifty-five years in prison—or five years on each of the eleven counts in the indictment against him. He is the fifth person to be convicted in the Clarke bank crash.

Cutler plainly showed his joy when the jury foreman announced that it had found him not guilty. Quimby remained outwardly calm.

District Attorney Tuttle, who had charge of the prosecution, assisted by Edward S. Silver and Seymour D. Altmark, issued this statement after the verdict had been announced:

"This shows that it is possible to convict all persons who have been concerned in the wrecking of a bank. The Clarke brothers and their partner, John F. Bouker, were convicted within one month after the failure of the bank and were sent to Atlanta. This conviction tonight adds to those convicted one who, while not a partner, obtained a large share of the depositors' money. So therefore, as far as the prosecutor is concerned, the history of the Clarke Brothers failure has been successfully concluded."

Cutler, according to the indictment, borrowed $184,000 from the bank on unsecured notes, and Quimby borrowed money secured only by his "assignment" of half-interest in a "million-dollar law suit" against the New York Edison Company.

In summing up, Federal Attorney Tuttle said that he had given Quimby and Cutler more than eight months in which to make restitution to the depositors of the bank.

"Quimby," he said, "received $2,500 from Clarke Brothers as a 'loan' during the last thirty days of the bank's existence, and this was payment for making his famous affidavits."

The affidavits stated that Quimby had assigned various sums of money to Clarke Brothers on the strength of claims he had in various enterprises. He listed Percy Rockefeller, Colonel Robert Stewart and others as his "partners" in these deals, according to the indictment, but Mr. Rockefeller and the others appeared in court during the trial and denied that they had had any connections with the defendant.

Clarke Brothers failed for $5,000,000 on June 29, last year, with losses to 2,200 depositors, many of whom were left penniless. Just six weeks afterward, James R. Clarke, Philip L. Clarke, Hudson Clarke Jr. and John F. Bouker, members of the firm, received prison sentences. Hudson Clarke was placed on probation.

TRUST SUIT FILED ON RADIO COMPACTS

PATENT LICENSES AT STAKE

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—Following strong demands from the Senate and from other quarters, the government today instituted an anti-trust suit in the Federal court at Wilmington, Del., to test "the legality of the arrangements existing between the Radio Corporation, General Electric, Westinghouse, American Telephone and Telegraph, and six other corporations."

The filing of the suit under the Sherman anti-trust law was announced by Attorney General Mitchell. The other companies involved, according to the Department of Justice, are the Western Electric, RCA Photophone, RCA Radiotron, RCA Victor, General Motors Radio Corporation and General Motors Corporation.

In effect, the suit appears to be broader in scope than would have been the case if only the recent merger of interests by the Radio Corporation, General Electric and Westinghouse companies were involved. While the department said it would not make the petition public until tomorrow, the action seemed to involve all the licensing of patent agreements and arrangements among the companies.

Justice Department's Statement.

The Department of Justice statement follows:

"It is announced at the Department of Justice that there is today filed on behalf of the United States a suit under the Sherman act in the District Court at Wilmington, Del., to test the legality of arrangements existing between Radio Corporation, General Electric, Westinghouse, American Telephone and Telegraph and six other corporations.

"The patent arrangements originally made between several of the defendants have been steadily increased in number and enlarged in scope until the defendants now practically have control of the radio business and its development. The control has been brought about by a novel method of cross-licensing patents.

"The suit is concerned chiefly with the legality of these patent arrangements. The petition filed alleges that the defendants, most of whom are competitors, by issuing patent licenses to one another have created a patent combination or pool through which they exercise joint control over the radio industry and that competition among them has ceased, and that no outsider can obtain a license except on terms jointly prescribed by the chief defendants.

Points to Reorganization Plan.

"The petition also alleges that the proposed reorganization recently submitted to stockholders of Radio Corporation would have the effect of perpetuating the control already obtained by the defendants.

"The defendants, on the other hand, have earnestly contended that they are doing nothing more than they are authorized to do under the patent laws.

"The situation is an intricate one

NAME TEN FOR POST OF SUFFRAGAN BISHOP

RACE APPEARS BETWEEN 3

Gilbert, Sparks and Woods Are Regarded as Favorites—Prichard Withdraws.

One clergyman of the Anglo-Catholic group and nine clergymen of the liberal group were nominated yesterday for the office of Suffragan Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of New York at the annual convention, which opened in Synod Hall of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine. The office has been vacant since the recent death of the Right Rev. Herbert Shipman.

The election is to be held at 11 o'clock this morning. Nine men will be voted on.

Those nominated were:

THOMAS AYRES SPARKS, rector of St. Clement's Church, 423 West Forty-sixth Street, and president of the Clerical Club. He is the Anglo-Catholic nominee.

Dr. ROBERT S. W. WOODS, rector of St. Mary's Church, Tuxedo, N. Y.

CRANSTON BRENTON, sacrist of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine

Dr. NATHAN A. SEAGLE, rector of St. Stephen's Church, 120 West Ninety-sixth Street.

After the nominations, Dr. Prichard asked that his name be withdrawn.

The Rev. Mr. Atkinson is on his way to Italy for a vacation.

First Three Considered Leaders.

It was predicted last night that one of the first three nominated would be elected.

Dr. Gilbert is 51 years old. Father Sparks is 48 and Dr. Woods is about 62.

The nominations were made following the reading by Bishop William T. Manning, who presided, of his annual address to the convention in which he formally requested that a Suffragan Bishop be elected.

A resolution was adopted that there be no nominating speeches. This was offered by the Rev. Dr. Edward Clowes Chorley, rector of St. Philip's Church, Garrison, N. Y. This was in spite of the fact that Dr. Bell said, "I think we ought to know who these men are."

To this Bishop Manning replied: "The chair would like to say that he has listened to many nominating speeches and he has never had one thing added to what he already knew."

A request that the ages of each of the candidates be announced was made by the Rev. Philip W. Faultleroy, rector at Lake Mahopac, N. Y. Bishop Manning replied that this could be obtained by consulting those nominated. Laughter followed. The nominations then were made in quick succession.

Announces Gift of $200,000.

Bishop Manning announced that an annonymous churchwoman of the diocese had just given $200,000, the income to be used "for the benefit of our mission parishes, to aid in the erection of churches or chapels and for other religious and charitable purposes in the diocese." Dr. Manning said the same woman had

VAUSE AND HARRIMAN CALLED TO APPEAR IN PIER FEE INQUIRIES

TUTTLE ATTACKS JURIST

LAWYER TELLS OF LEASES

Says He Believed He Was Only Counsel for Harriman—No Reports by Dock Department Since 1926.

District Attorney Crain issued a request subpoena yesterday, calling upon County Judge W. Bernard Vause of Kings to appear before him today to explain the $250,000 fee he is said to have received from the United American Line for negotiating leases for two city-owned piers in 1926.

Almost at the same time Assistant United States Attorney George W. Mintzer requested the appearance this morning of William A. Harriman, former chairman of the board of the steamship company, Richard H. M. Robinson, its former president, and Joseph S. Boyle, member of the law firm of Vause & Vause at the time the leases were approved by the Sinking Fund Commission on June 29, 1926.

This action was taken after Kenneth O'Brien, attorney, of 39 Broadway, visited United States Attorney Tuttle yesterday forenoon and declared that neither Mr. Harriman nor Mr. Robinson had said anything about having retained any other lawyer when they asked him in May, 1926, to apply for leases to piers 84 and 86 in the North River. So far as he knew, he said, he "initiated" the proceedings. He received a $10,000 fee for his negotiations with the Dock Department and two appearances before the Sinking Fund Commission, he said.

Tuttle Scores Vause Silence.

During the day Mr. Tuttle took occasion to criticize the continued silence of Judge Vause in the face of the allegations against him. Mr. Tuttle precipitated the present investigation into the dock leases by charging that the large fees which Judge Vause received indicated the existence of "a huge slush fund." The fees were discovered in connection with an investigation into the failure of the Columbia Finance Corporation which resulted in the indictment of Judge Vause and several other men for using the mails to defraud.

"This is the fourth day since my letter to Judge Crain was published," said the United States Attorney. "The continued silence of Judge Vause in a matter touching not only upon his own honor but upon the honor of the bench as a whole only deepens the mystery and is becoming pitiable."

Moses Polakoff of Blau, Perlman & Polakoff, attorneys for Judge Vause, refused to issue a statement in reply to Mr. Tuttle. Instead, he said he would appear at the District Attorney's office this morning with Judge Vause, who, they were sure, was guiltless of any wrongdoing. Then the law firm released a communication from Samuel Untermyer, in which the latter declined to accept a retainer in the case on the ground of ill health and assailed Mr. Tuttle.

The United States Attorney was accused by Mr. Untermyer of "deliberately seeking by what I regard as illegitimate methods to prejudice and prejudge the outcome" of the trial on the mail fraud indictment. Mr. Untermyer also declared that neither Mr. Tuttle nor the Federal grand jury had any right to investigate the Dock Department of New York.

Further Mr. Untermeyer said that

12 Atlantic Liners to Steam Out in 48 Hours, Carrying 14,000 in Pre-Summer Rate Rush

By 12 o'clock tomorrow night twelve transatlantic liners will have left this port in forty-eight hours carrying more than 14,000 passengers who avoid having to pay the high Summer eastbound rates which go into effect on May 16.

This fleet of ships, which began steaming out last midnight, includes five of the express de luxe class liners, the Europa, Majestic, Berengaria, Vulcania and Ile de France. The Ile de France will have more than 600 in her first cabin, and she and the Vulcania are the only ones that will be full in that class of accommodation. The Europa will have about 500 first cabin passengers and the others more than 400 each.

The other liners leaving include the St. Louis, Lapland, Nieuw Amsterdam, Scythia, Tuscania, Stuttgart and Republic, which carry cabin passengers.

These ships also carry large numbers of tourist third cabin and third class passengers. The five big liners carry second class passengers in addition to first, tourist third and third class.

The passport offices of the foreign consulates have been kept busy for the past four weeks furnishing visas at the rate of 600 to 700 a day.

The first ships in the big passenger fleet to leave were the Republic and Europa, which sailed last night. The Berengaria and St. Louis depart today and the Vulcania tonight. The Ile de France, Majestic, Nieuw Amsterdam, Stuttgart, Scythia, Lapland and Tuscania leave tomorrow.

Hoover's Home County in Iowa Has No Crime Requiring Jury

Special to The New York Times.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa, May 13.—Cedar County, the birthplace of President Hoover, is so free from crime and civil litigation that neither a grand nor a petit jury was summoned for the May term of court, according to a special dispatch to The Evening Gazette.

There has been some crime in the county, but it has been of a minor nature. There has been no civil action to warrant a jury trial.

Cedar County is glad to present its record to President Hoover, believing that it is the only county in the Middle West that has no crime problem.

Cedar County gained national attention in April because not a marriage license had been issued in that month.

Head of Mississippi Supreme Court Among Them—Details of Accusations Kept Secret.

By The Associated Press.

DALLAS, Texas, May 13.—Josephus Daniels, member of the North Carolina delegation to the convention of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, with twenty other delegates, is preparing charges tonight against Bishop James Cannon Jr. for engaging in stock market activities, Mr. Daniels announced.

The former Secretary of the Navy also was assisted by G. T. Fitzhugh of Memphis and Judge J. G. McGowen, member of the Supreme Court of Mississippi, in preparing the charges.

They were awaiting a hearing tonight before the episcopacy committee of the General Conference and would not discuss details of the charges.

Mr. Fitzhugh made public the names of the others who had signed the charges, and their conference districts, as:

Thomas E. Pegram, North Mississippi; J. Lee Davis, Virginia; C. B. Castle, East Oklahoma; M. M. Satterfield, Mississippi; L. E. Heath, South Georgia; J. I. Murray, West Oklahoma; E. A. Hammett, North Alabama; C. W. Sarver, North Alabama; John T. Cooper, North Alabama; B. H. Moss, South Carolina; B. W. Crouch, Upper South Carolina; Orville Zimmerman, St. Louis; Ewell T. Dry Leader Admits Lobbying for Judge English Before His Impeachment.

MORROW THREAT DISOWNED

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—The statement of Representative Fort of New Jersey, in a recent speech in the House, that the Volstead act permits home-made beer and wine, was approved today by F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League.

Mr. McBride told the Senate Lobby Committee that Representative Fort made "a great speech," and added: "I think maybe he's right."

Mr. McBride, in his third day in the witness chair stated without qualification that in some cases his organization has supported wet-drinking, dry-voting members of Congress.

The witness denied that in a speech two weeks ago at Newark he had warned Ambassador Morrow that "unless he was so dry he squeaked" he would oppose him in the Senatorial campaign. That impression, Mr. McBride said, was given by the newspapers in quoting a statement to this effect by the New Jersey State committee of the league after a meeting which he attended.

The witness also admitted he had lobbied for Federal Judge English of Illinois up to the time Judge English resigned after impeachment proceedings had been started in Congress. He gave as his reasons the belief that the jurist was a good judge and that he had been an old friend and companion in dry campaigns in Illinois.

Blaine Hints at Pact With Mellon.

Senator Blaine inserted in the record today exhibits amplifying previous statements that the league has been very active in watching the filling of prohibition posts, and one report that indicated an agreement between it and President Coolidge and Secretary Mellon.

Senator Blaine also showed that the total vote cast in the Illinois prohibition referendum, which has been discounted by the drys because of its advice to voters to disregard it, was not greatly different from total votes cast on other issues.

Through questioning, he also put into the record the activity of Sebastian S. Kresge in behalf of the league.

The Senator asked Senator Caraway, the chairman, to summon Justin Steuart to testify concerning the statements made in his book, "Wayne B. Wheeler, Dry Boss." Mr. McBride had put a partial repudiation of this book into the record during an earlier hearing, but Senator Blaine said he had received a protest against this repudiation from Fleming H. Revell, the publisher. Mr. Steuart is still employed by the league in its educational department.

The hearing today constituted the only one for this week, other business requiring the attention of the Judiciary Committee, of which the lobby investigators are a subcommittee. The hearings will be resumed next Tuesday.

Miss Ada L. Burroughs, treasurer of Bishop Cannon's anti-Smith Democrats in Virginia, who was summoned yesterday to appear tomorrow, has been notified not to come to Washington.

Cannon "Not So Active" in League.

The only allusion to Bishop Cannon today was by Senator Blaine, who read some of his numerous offices into the record, after which Mr. McBride testified:

"He is not so active in the Anti-Saloon League work since he became active in the anti-Smith work."

The Bishop never was on the payroll, the witness said.

Mr. McBride's statement that the league was "born of God," which has occasioned considerable comment since it was delivered last Friday, was recalled in the first question of Senator Blaine today, when he asked:

"After a week-end has passed, do you still believe in the divine right?"

"I don't care to answer that," replied Mr. McBride.

"Do you know that every cruel tyrant in the past has called himself an instrument of God?"

"I don't know that, and I don't believe you do, either."

"I do know that in burnings at the stake," continued Senator Blaine, "and in all their other wickedness, they claimed to be instruments of God, and they preceded their burnings with prayer."

"I don't believe that," replied the witness.

"It is history," said Senator Blaine, closing the subject.

Illinois Votes Compared.

Turning to memorandum which he had gathered, Senator Blaine pointed out that in the light wines and beer referendum in Illinois, in November, 1922, the wets cast 1,065,242 votes and the drys 512,111, a total of 1,577,353, which compared with 1,723,187 votes cast at the same time on the question of a soldiers' bonus. On a constitutional question voted soon thereafter there were 1,106,696 votes cast.

Four years later, the Senator continued, on Nov. 2, 1926, 1,128,223 votes were cast on the question of revising the system of taxation and 1,397,223 on the question of prohibition modification, concerning which he commented:

"So evidently you were not very successful."

"I think we were very successful," countered the witness. "There are something over 3,000,000 voters in Illinois."

Senator Caraway interrupted, saying:

"We are not interested in whether the people love their Constitution or their beer most. This is a lobby inquiry."

Mr. McBride, however, maintained that the dry advice has been effective, stating:

"It is shown that 200,000 fewer persons voted in the referendum in 1926 than in 1922, so if a few more are held even Illinois will be unanimously dry, including Chicago."

Kresge's Name Brought Up.

Some debate was caused among committee members by an allusion to Mr. Kresge by Senator Blaine, when he asked Mr. McBride:

"There are two Kresges in the Anti-Saloon League?"

"Yes," replied the witness. "There is S. S."—

"The one who had the matrimonial difficulties?" asked Senator Blaine.

"I don't know," continued Mr. McBride. "One is Sebastian S. and the other Stanley S., father and son."

"I can only identify one as the man who didn't support his own children and contributed to the Anti-Saloon League," said Senator Blaine.

Senator Robinson protested this statement and Senator Caraway cautioned Senator Blaine, who replied that he had a photostat copy of a judgment in the case.

When Senator Blaine submitted a letter written in 1923 showing that one of the Kresges, as a member of the manufacturers' and business committee of the league, solicited contributions for it, Mr. McBride said he knew nothing of that, it being before his time as head.

"Then, Mr. Chairman," said Senator Blaine, "I suggest we call Mr. Kresge. I don't want to overlook his collections."

"Nearly All" Churches Aid League.

Replying to another question, the witness said the Anti-Saloon League has no membership lists, and when asked what churches contributed to it, answered:

"The Methodist Episcopal, North, the Methodist Episcopal, South, the Baptists, North and South, the United Presbyterian, Presbyterian, Evangelical, many of the Lutheran—in fact, nearly all of the denominations contribute more or less directly or indirectly."

The money is collected through church "Field Days," Mr. McBride testified, where "we give addresses on the effect of alcohol as a narcotic drug, and as to the effect of prohibition, and at the close of these addresses we distribute subscription cards and give people an opportunity to sign them. These cards go into our offices and subscriptions are collected quarterly."

In further describing the league's work, Mr. McBride stated that it supports the work and pays the salaries of State superintendents in the so-called "mission States," or those where the State leagues are not self-supporting.

"We have a list of the backward States," said Senator Blaine, alluding to those named in a speech by Senator Grundy of Pennsylvania. "Will you give us a list of the mission States?"

"Well, there are New Mexico, Arizona, Nevada, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming and may be one or two others," replied the witness, but before he had finished, all the committee members were laughing at the similarity between his list and Mr. Grundy's.

Status of Bishop Cannon.

Bishop Cannon was a member of the legislative committee of the league before the committee ceased to exist three years ago, Mr. McBride testified, but the witness did not think he is a trustee of the American Issue Publishing Company, a league subsidiary. Neither did he think the Bishop is a member of the legislative committee of the Virginia Anti-Saloon League.

Senator Blaine then read into the record a long list of officers in reform organizations held by Bishop Cannon.

The impeachment proceedings against Judge English in 1926 and Mr. McBride's efforts in his behalf were gone into extensively by Senator Blaine, Mr. McBride saying first that he "took some interest in the facts involved in the case."

The witness said he conducted an investigation in Illinois because he wanted Judge English "to have a square deal."

"He was one of our dry leaders in the Illinois Legislature," he said. "There was a group of seventeen dry Democrats that he headed for a number of years, and they were the best group of supporters of the prohibition cause that we had in the State. He was one of them."

Mr. McBride recalled that he had talked to Illinois Representatives in Congress, although denying he "made an appeal to them."

Caraway Questions Propriety.

Stating that in impeachment cases "the House sits like a grand jury and the Senate like a trial court," Senator Caraway asked:

"Do you think it proper that one should go to members of those bodies and give them private information that is not in the possession of all the members of the Congress, touching a matter that they shall pass upon in their capacity as an indicting body?"

The witness replied that he answered those who asked him questions, adding:

"I was interested in that case and I was a friend of George English and glad to be a friend of him, and wanted him to have a square deal."

"That is entirely proper," conceded Senator Caraway.

Q.—Did you try to prevent the House from acting favorably on the articles of impeachment? A.—No.

Q.—Did you tell these individuals you were talking individually, or were you talking as general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League? A.—Well, they knew who I was, and they knew also that I knew Mr. English.

Mr. McBride testified that he had talked over the case with Wayne B. Wheeler, but said he did not know what Mr. Wheeler had done.

"I don't recall the conversation or I don't recall our correspondence on that," he added.

"What possible connection could the impeachment of Judge English have with the liquor question in which you were interested?" asked Senator Blaine.

Judge "an Aggressive Prosecutor."

"He was an aggressive prosecutor. He was located in one of the worst sections of the country, East St. Louis."

Q.—What do you mean by prosecutor? A.—I mean an aggressive judge. He was a judge—he had always been a dry, and in the position he occupied he was aggressive, and he was judge of a court and was a severe judge on the liquor people, and they didn't like him.

Q.—And one of the charges against him was tyrannical conduct, and another charge was usurpation of power? A.—Yes.

Q.—You favored that sort of thing? A.—No, I didn't favor that kind of thing, but if he gave proper sentences, I didn't want him driven off the bench by the wets because he was a good dry.

Q.—And that was your motive in seeing these members of Congress? A.—That, together with the personal phase of it.

Q.—With the personal motive? A.—He was my good friend.

Recalling previous testimony by Mr. McBride that the league gives information to those charged with appointing prohibition officials, Senator Blaine referred to a letter written on March 24, 1927, to Edward B. Durnford, now attorney for the league, in which Mr. McBride pointed out the advisability of having the church conferences pass resolutions endorsing the league. The letter continued:

"In response to the insistence of the league that no one not in sympathy with the prohibition cause be made commissioner of prohibition under the new reorganization-civil service act, Major Roy A. Haynes has been appointed by the Secretary of the Treasury as acting commissioner."

Appealed "to General Public."

"To whom was that insistence made?" asked Senator Blaine.

"It is made to the general public," replied the witness.

Senator Blaine then read another paragraph as follows:

"Kindly have sent to the President and the Secretary of the Treasury all of the letters possible expressing appreciation of this appointment."

Referring to the minutes of a meeting of the league's executive committee on May 19, 1927, Senator Blaine read a resolution ordering that "President Coolidge and Secretary Mellon be respectfully reminded of the unmistakable understanding that was had in the passage of the reorganization bill."

"They must have had knowledge of this 'unmistakable understanding'," persisted Senator Blaine.

"I wasn't in on any such agreement," replied Mr. McBride.

"You wouldn't approve of any such arrangement?" asked Senator Caraway.

"No, I wouldn't ask that from a President."

The minutes showed that Mr. McBride was present at the meeting as a committee member.

Referring to a report of a meeting of the board of directors of the league last Jan. 14, Senator Blaine quoted a passage which said:

"In addition to the legislative work which is reported in the printed report, most of the duties of the Washington office have to do with securing the right kind of appointees."

Dry Agents Included.

"To whom do you refer as appointees?" the Senator asked. "I don't suppose you mean appointments of the officials of the Anti-Saloon League?"

"What particular offices did it cover? Federal prohibition agents?" asked Senator Blaine.

"Yes."

"Commissioner of Prohibition?"

"I think so."

"United States District Attorneys?"

"I think I can answer that," replied Mr. McBride, "as the officers having to do with prohibition enforcement."

Most of the information furnished by the league, he added, comes from people "who are acquainted in the community where these people reside."

Regarding the issuance of the statement concerning Mr. Morrow two weeks ago, Mr. McBride said:

"We just had a little conference sitting around the table. The newspapers said I warned him. I did not warn him. That was the action of the committee up there." He was questioned by Senator Caraway as follows:

Q.—How did you come to say that unless Dwight Morrow was dry you were going to beat him? A.—That was the newspaper reporters. They thought it would make a better story.

Q.—It did make a good story, didn't it? A.—Yes.

Q.—Was it acted on? A.—There is no threat in any statement we gave out.

Q.—Is there a purpose back of it? A.—Not in relation to Dwight Morrow particularly.

Threat to Morrow Denied.

"In that resolution," Mr. McBride continued, "we said the drys were going to do the best they could to have a candidate in the field for whom they could conscientiously vote. If that got in Dwight Morrow's way it wasn't our fault."

Referring to the report that Representative Fort may run as a dry for the Senate, Senator Caraway asked if Mr. McBride knew this, which he denied, adding:

"I don't know Congressman Fort personally."

Mr. McBride also denied cooperating with Dr. James K. Shields, New Jersey superintendent of the league, in a statement saying the drys there "expect to have a candidate for whom they can vote with good conscience." But he added he approved the action.

"Congressman Fort made a speech in the House in which he rather wanted to upset the dry program, didn't he?" Senator Caraway asked.

"I think not," replied the witness, adding that Mr. Fort had given "his interpretation of the law as it is."

Q.—You don't agree with his interpretation? A.—We think that was a very good speech that he made, as a whole.

Q.—That isn't what I asked you. A.—That is his interpretation. I think that probably he is right.

Q.—That you can make all the liquor— A.—I am not a lawyer.

Q.—Does the Anti-Sallon League agree with him that you can make your liquor in your own home? A.—There is a difference of opinion as to his interpretation.

Q.—Would you be satisfied with an interpretation of the act that would allow every one to make liquor in his own home? A.—No—that—I think there are certain phases to the law—I think under certain conditions liquor can be made in the home without being a violation.

Q.—And you think that ought to be the law? A.—Well—I—we haven't gotten—that law is not 100 per cent good yet. We are on the way.

Q.—I remember one time having been told that it was. A.—No, it isn't. We have found a great many holes in it.

League for Dry Transfer.

Mr. McBride testified that the league is in favor of the proposed transfer of the prohibition enforcement work from the treasury to the Department of Justice, stating that the league had joined with other dry organizations in presenting petitions to members of Congress.

When Senator Blaine alluded to wet-drinking, dry-voting Congressmen, he asked if the league applies any test to candidates for office other than their attitude on prohibition. The witness replied that it does.

"You will recall that there was before the committee a list of wet-drinking, dry-voting Congressmen. You are not concerned about the personal habits of members of Congress, I assume?" Senator Blaine asked.

"We do not think it is a good thing for any man, whether he be in Congress or out of Congress, to drink," Mr. McBride said.

"But you support men who are wet-drinking, do you not?" asked Mr. Blaine.

"In some districts," Mr. McBride admitted.

"In some districts?"

"Not very many of them. Most of them are on the pages of the newspapers, not in fact."

"I want to say," Mr. McBride explained, "as I have gone in and out of Congress and associated with the men, I have seen very little drinking. I think the members of the Congress, House and Senate, are as high class a group of men as you will find in any group in America, and they are drinking just a little."

Suicide of Son Frees Father in Liquor Case; Note Exonerates Parent in Michigan Court

Special to The New York Times.

LANSING, Mich., May 13.—Eric Warren, 43 years old, squared things for his father in court today by sacrificing his own life.

The father, William Warren, arrested for the first time in his seventy-one years, stood before Judge John McClellan on a charge of making beer. Eric made the beer at his father's home and told the father it was near-beer. When the police came they took his father to jail with him.

This morning Eric took the family name off the police records and cleared his father by taking poison and leaving a note in which he took all blame for the home-brew. On receiving information of the suicide the judge struck the names from the docket.

The younger Warren had gone to the home of his sister, Mrs. John Barriger, four miles north of Owosso, and last night left the house to take a walk. Early today he was found near death by the side of the road. A few hours later he died. A note was found in his room addressed to "The Judge" and Harry Hittle, a lawyer in Lansing. It read:

"As I have only lived in Lansing for a short time, I have been trying to help my people along, but you law dogs will not give a poor man a chance. All you want to do is frame and shove him behind the bars. So this is to testify that my father, William Warren, 1,313 Vine Street, does not and did not know that the beer made at his home was illegal, as I told him it was near-beer."

The beer-making charge was his fourth offense and he would have received the maximum sentence if convicted.

That he had planned for a month to end his life to evade another prison sentence was revealed by Mr. Barriger, who said Warren had boasted that he would not "pay" and had shown a paper bag which he carried, but the contents of which was not known to his brother-in-law, who had not taken the threat seriously. The bag contained poison.

SENATE SENTIMENT TURNS TO ROBERTS

Borah Predicts That His Nomination Will Be Confirmed Without Roll-Call.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—Senator Borah, chairman of the subcommittee of the Senate Judiciary Committee, considering the nomination of Owen J. Roberts to be Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, said today that sentiment in the Senate was very strong for prompt confirmation. His committee, he said, had received no protests and he predicted that the nomination will be favorably reported to the Senate early next week and probably confirmed without a roll-call.

Inasmuch as even the criticisms of the drys against Mr. Roberts are disappearing, those favoring the nominee believe that he will have the honor of being confirmed without a roll-call and perhaps unanimously.

President Green of the American Federation of Labor, which organization strongly opposed Judge Parker's confirmation, said tonight that labor had no objection to Mr. Roberts.

"The American Federation of Labor will not interpose any objection to the confirmation of the appointment of Owen J. Roberts to the Supreme Court of the United States," he said. "Such information as we have been able to secure leads to the conclusion that Mr. Roberts is eminently fitted to serve as a member of the Supreme Court. His experience and training have been in a field where he has had wide opportunity to understand the problems which grow out of human relations in industry and those profound economic and social problems which so vitally affect human relationships.

"Labor insists that men appointed to such a high and exalted position as the Supreme Court of the United States shall be able, qualified, fair and just. We ask that in decisions affecting the lives, well-being and liberties of the people righteousness and justice shall characterize all decisions."

CANADA BARS PARROTS.

Government Acts on Outbreak of Psittacosis in British Columbia.

OTTAWA, May 13 (By Canadian Press).—An order-in-council issued by the Department of Agriculture under the authority of the animal contagious diseases act prohibits the importation into Canada of parrots, parrakeets, cockatoos, macaws, lories, lorikeets and love birds.

This step, announced today, was deemed necessary by the Department of Health because of an outbreak of psittacosis or parrot fever in British Columbia. Up to the present time eleven cases have been reported from ports in that province.

During March and April 112 birds of the various parrot species have been brought into Caandian Pacific ports in that Province.

these imported pets have been the cause of the disease coming into Canada, this being its first appearance in the Dominion.

CHARGES ATTERBURY ORDERS P.R.R. VOTES

DEMANDS HE RECALL WORD

By The Associated Press.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., May 13.—Gifford Pinchot, candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor, today sent a telegram to W. W. Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, in which he charged him with issuing orders to company employes directing them to vote for Francis Shunk Brown, also a candidate for the nomination for Governor.

This action, Mr. Pinchot declared, violates "the rules of decency in politics," and he called upon General Atterbury, as president of the railroad as well as Republican national committeeman from Pennsylvania, to revoke the order.

The telegram, in part, follows:

"As Republican State Committeeman you have not only violated the rules of decency in politics by taking sides within the Republican party, but you have permitted, or more probably directed, Bernard J. Myers, one of your legal counsel of the Pennsylvania Railroad and its representative at Lancaster, to take the chairmanship of the Brown State Committee.

Demands Two Things "at Once."

"I call on you to do two things and to do them at once:

"First—Revoke the orders issued to the Pennsylvania Railroad employes and cease interfering with their right as free American citizens to vote as they believe;

"Second, publicly withdraw yourself as a member of the war board managing the Brown campaign in obedience to the principle that it is utterly wrong for any official of the Republican party to take sides in a primary campaign. Roosevelt and every President since has stood squarely on this principle. The Philadelphia organization disregards it, and so does the Pittsburgh organization, but people with even the smallest sense of political decency do not."

Atterbury Awaits a Reading.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, May 13.—General Atterbury, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, has not seen Gifford Pinchot's telegram sent him today from Williamsport, and he will have nothing to say until he has read it, his secretary said tonight.

"There will be no statement from General Atterbury tonight," he added, "and it is not likely that there will be one at all."

Associates of the railroad executive recalled that he had ignored previous attacks directed at him by Senator Joseph R. Grundy early in the primary campaign.

New York Watches Contest.

With the wet and dry issue assuming prominence in the Republican primaries in Pennsylvania, Republican leaders in this State are watching with some degree of interest the three-cornered contest in the Keystone State, now in its final week.

The party fight in Pennsylvania and its outcome are fraught with significance to the G. O. P. leaders here because of the similarity of the situation within the party in that State, and this, where the prohibition issue is bound to become dominant this Autumn. In both States the Republican party is a house divided against itself on the wet and dry issue.

The Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, while not sponsoring the wet third ticket that has been entered in the Republican primaries in Pennsylvania, is giving its moral and financial support to the limit of its resources.

The association is preparing to play a prominent rôle at the Republican State Convention in this State, contending for a wet nominee for Governor and a wet plank in the Republican State platform. It is no secret that its present venture in the checkered politics of the Keystone State was largely with a view to roll up a big vote for the wet contenders in the primary, and thus create an object lesson and deter the Republicans in this State from naming a dry or straddling the prohibition issue in their platform.

Curran Visits Pennsylvania.

Henry H. Curran, president of the association against the amendment, has made several visits to Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, and has acted as chief strategist of the campaign now made for the three candidates entered into the race by the wet wing of the Republican State organization in Pennsylvania.

It was learned yesterday that plans are even now under consideration which contemplate carrying the contest beyond the primaries with a new set of candidates, in the event that the wet trio of present contenders should go down to defeat in the primary fight.

Should former Governor Gifford Pinchot, running on an anti-Vare platform, come out of the primaries a winner, those plans, it was said yesterday, almost certainly will be carried into effect, and possibly assume the form of a fusion movement backed by the regular Democratic organization and the wet Republicans, which might prove formidable to the Republican nominees even in such a stronghold as Pennsylvania.

Former United States Senator James W. Wadsworth, it was announced yesterday, will be the headliner at a large final meeting of the wet campaign in Philadelphia on Saturday night. Mr. Curran and Representative Fiorello H. La Guardia will deliver addresses at Scranton and Wilkes-Barre the same evening, as will Mrs. Marion Booth Kelly of the Women's Organization for Prohibition Reform, of which Mrs. Charles H. Sabin is the national head.

Brown Avoided Open Stand.

The wet candidates in the Pennsylvania primary, according to Mr. Curran, are making a telling fight. Thomas W. Phillips Jr., candidate for the Gubernatorial nomination, has served two terms in Congress. He hails from Butler County. Francis H. Bohlen of Philadelphia is opposing Secretary of Labor James J. Davis for the nomination for United States Senator. He is Professor of Law at the University of Pennsylvania. Charles Dorrance, a mining engineer, of Scranton, is contending for the nomination for Lieutenant Governor on the wet ticket.

Gifford Pinchot is known as an out-and-out dry. His rival, Francis S. Brown, has the backing of the Vare forces. It was the latter's refusal to take a stand openly on the wet and dry issue that led to the wet contenders entering the race, according to Mr. Curran.

"We believe our candidates have a chance of coming out of the primaries, victors in the wet and dry contest," Mr. Curran said. "Phillips, Bohlen and Dorrance will get a larger vote by 50 per cent than any of the old Republican leaders of Pennsylvania are willing to credit them with at the present stage of the contest. They will carry practically all of the Vare districts in Philadelphia carried by Al Smith in 1928.

"This is the first time that we have entered actively into a Republican primary fight in a large State in the wet East and the outcome will be watched with interest not only in New York but in all parts of the country. We have made it clear to the Republican leaders in Pennsylvania that this is only the beginning and that Gifford Pinchot, should he prove successful next week, will have his toughest fight after the primaries.

"We are not in this fight to keep one dry out of the Governor's chair only to let another dry in. We have served notice on them that we will be there every year, because we know that the people of Pennsylvania are opposed to national prohibition. We will give the voters in the Keystone State their chance to vote for wet candidates in every election until the Republican leaders catch up with the people. At the present time they are five years behind public sentiment in their own State when it comes to Prohibition."

Mrs. Hoover to Be Restricted By Her Recent Accident

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—Mrs. Herbert Hoover, who suffered from a severely wrenched back about a month ago, will not be able to resume her normal activities for several weeks, it was learned today. However, reports that her condition was more serious than had been anticipated were denied at the White House. It was thought at the time of her accident, it was said, that she would be unable to go about her daily routine for from six to eight weeks.

Mrs. Hoover slipped on a rug and fell, spraining the muscles of her back and tearing a ligament. For a time she remained in bed. Later she was able to receive a few visitors and has used a wheel chair.

A few days ago she went out on the south lawn of the White House to watch an airplane squadron manoeuvre, and today she had luncheon on the south portico. She is cheerful over the situation.

She will be unable to accompany the President to the fleet review next week, nor will she go with him when he speaks at Gettysburg on Memorial Day.

PHILIPPINE UNIVERSITY GETS $150,000 GIFT

Public Health School in Manila to Be Built With Donation by Rockefeller Fund.

Eugene A. Gilmore, Vice Governor General of the Philippine Islands, announced here yesterday that the Rockefeller Foundation had granted $150,000 to the University of the Philippines, a State-owned and operated institution in Manila, for the construction of a building to house the university's Graduate School of Hygiene and Public Health.

The gift, he said, was made on condition that the university provide a suitable site and a yearly operating budget of about $40,000. The conditions, he said, have been met, and the gift received.

Construction, according to the Vice Governor General, will start very soon on the building, which will be three stories and in harmony with the general scheme of the campus. It will contain laboratories, classrooms, studies and libraries. Plans have already been drawn for the entire building. The school has been in existence for three years and has hitherto been housed in buildings of other branches of the university.

Only students with medical degrees, Mr. Gilmore said, are admitted to the school's course, which is a year in duration.

"I am very grateful to the foundation for its generous gift," Mr. Gilmore declared. By virtue of his office Mr. Gilmore is secretary of instuction for the island, as well as chairman of the university's board of regents. He is also head of the island Bureau of Public Health, which is connected with the school.

The university, he said, now has 5,000 students, most of whom are Filipinos. Of his own contemplated resignation, announced recently by Secretary of War Hurley, Mr. Gilmore had nothing to say. It had been reported that he was to become Dean of the Idaho University Law School.

"I have no announcement to make about that," he said. "I am in this country attending to island business and may return to the islands."

SCOTS DROP TURK MISSION.

All Missionaries to Leave Country by End of June.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 13 (AP).—The Scottish mission here, the oldest in Turkey, founded by the Church of Scotland eighty-eight years ago, will end its work next month. The old mission is to be closed and all Scottish missionaries will leave Turkey by the end of June, the mission school's director said today.

The director said the Turkish Government's petty persecutions of the mission's teachers and the probability that a new Turkish law would require all the foreign schools to have Turkish directors would make mission work in Turkey impossible.

STARTLING DEVICES AID PLANE RESEARCH

Engineers at Langley Field Meeting See Machines Do the Test Work of Pilots.

COCKPIT DIALS ARE FILMED

LANGLEY FIELD, Va., May 13.—Tunnels that carry the wind currents at 900 miles an hour, Diesel motors with cylinders carrying quartz lens windows and delicate recording manometers that write the history of every component part of airplane while it is spinning or diving at four miles a minute were some of the devices displayed here today in the laboratories of the national advisory committee for aeronautics before 200 aircraft engineers and manufacturers gathered for the fifth annual aircraft engineering research conference.

Present also were officials and engineers of the Army and Navy Air Services and the Department of Commerce. The day started with a general meeting at which the chief engineers of the various branches of study described the work of the past year.

Dr. Joseph S. Ames, chairman of the N. A. C. A., opened the discussions on topics including the latest information on the measurement of loads on wing-tail and fuselage surfaces, with particular reference to spins; the study and the progress attained in further cowling and cooling radial air-cooled engines, and the progress in the development of the Diesel and semi-Diesel type engine.

Camera Films Recording Instruments

In the laboratories, perhaps more than in any other place in the United States, aviation and everything connected with it ceases to be a matter of stunts and daring. The functions of the test pilot are being assumed by the camera and other recording instruments.

Dr. Ames showed his guests a moving-picture camera which takes a film of all recording instruments in the pilot's cockpit. By this dummy observer engineers studying performance are able to learn with much greater accuracy than any pilot could tell them just what evolutions that plane went through in its flight, just how high it went, how fast it flew, how many loops were made, what the engine revolutions were, how much fuel was consumed, what the temperature of the motor was at all altitudes and a number of other important facts.

Beside the camera stood another type of photographing apparatus, one part of which consisted of a flat black rectangular plate, carrying sixty studs or couplings. These in turn, when installed in the plane, are attached to pressure tubes, each connected with small areas on the upper and lower sides of the wing.

This instrument, called the recording multiple manometer, is the mechanical trouble shooter. It is a silent detective that tells more than any trained human observer can learn of just what is going on in an airplane wing in flight. By it a record is made of 120 pressures at a time on various parts of the wing surface. In the same display were recording accelerometers, turnmeters, air speed and altimeters.

With a plane thus equipped, W. H. MacAvoy, chief test pilot for the N. A. C. A., goes aloft and deliberately puts it into a spin. As do other test pilots, after landing he makes his report of the action of the plane.

Among the new exhibits since last year is the atmospheric tunnel, in which today an experiment was being carried though on the new ice-guard developed for the leading edge of wings by Dr. William C. Geer at Cornell.

A miniature wing, carrying a flexible rubber covering over the leading edge of the wing is mounted in the tunnel and the temperature brought down to freezing.

Moisture is introduced and the fan turned on. In a few seconds a formation of ice appears on the wing. The method of removal is simple. Beneath the rubber "boot" are tiny "balloonets" which when inflated change the contour, break up the ice formation and it is blown off.

Takes 4,000 Pictures a Second.

The camera, which has come to be so important in the construction of planes, is being used with equally great effect in the engine laboratories. Engine building and testing is a slow process.

Here at Langley a camera has been built which records impressions at the rate of 4,000 a second, which takes the picture of what goes on in the cylinder at the moment the fuel mixture enters, its mixing with the air, its ignition and the expansion of the gas.

Another development at Langley Field on which work has commenced is a water channel for the testing of flying boat hulls and pontoons. This channel is to be 2,500 feet long, twenty-four feet in width and nine feet deep. Powered drums will reel the models through the channel at sixty miles an hour, giving designers exact engineering data on which to build the floats and boats in which this country has been somewhat behind Great Britain and other nations abroad.

Following the tour of the laboratories the visitors again met in conference and talked about the needs of the industry. W. S. Stout of the Ford Company said that in his opinion there had been no progress in aviation for two years comparable to that made in radio and talking pictures.

Says Aviation Is Stagnating.

"We need improved landing gears, new means of propulsion and great simplification of controls," he declared. "Aviation in the United States has been stagnating for two years. We are all copying.

Take the plane that Colonel Lindbergh used on his flight across the Atlantic and think of how many copies have been made of that. The same holds true for other famous planes. None of us are building the plane that the public wants to buy, and that proves that we are standing still.

"Things are going to be different. We are going to fix it so that a man can take a couple of lessons on Friday and fly his plane home on Monday without the Department of Commerce saying anything about it."

Among those who attended the conference were Colonel Clarence Young, Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Aeronautics; F. Trubee Davison, Assistant Secretary of War for Aeronautics; Major Gen. James E. Fechet, chief of the Army Air Corps; Brig. Gen. Benjamin B. Foulois, Igor Sikorsky, William B. Mayo, chief engineer of the Ford Company; Grover oLening, Temple Joyce and Henry Borliner.

HOOVER TO REVIEW FLEET ON TUESDAY

Exercises Will Take Place Off Chesapeake Bay—Vessels Here to Participate.

PRESIDENT TO SEE 'ATTACK'

Destroyers, Cruisers, Planes to Oppose Battleships—Los Angeles Will Fly to Scene.

ADAMS TO BE IN PARTY

Secretary, With Executive, Will Start From Capital Monday—Salt Lake City Is Reviewing Ship.

With the announcement from Washington yesterday that President Hoover had decided to review the fleet off the Virginia Capes next Tuesday, plans for the review, which is to be the largest American naval pageant since 1927, were virtually completed last night by officers of the fleet. The occasion will mark President Hoover's first official contact with the fleet as a unit since his inauguration, and will be the first Presidential review since President Coolidge watched a similar sea parade three years ago.

In the June sunlight of 1927 President Coolidge stood on the deck of the Mayflower and received salutes from twenty flagships, a total of 420 guns, as one of the largest fleets ever assembled at the Virginia Capes steamed past.

On Tuesday the new 10,000-ton cruiser Salt Lake City, first of the "treaty" class to be commissioned in this country, is expected to replace the cast-off Mayflower as the reviewing ship. The Salt Lake City completed her final acceptance trials yesterday in a four-hour high-speed run off Ambrose Channel Lightship and returned to port last night to anchor off Dyckman Street. The tests were called satisfactory.

Ships Here Will Participate.

Most of the ships now in port will participate in the review, and will be joined at sea by the battleships Florida and Utah, and the aircraft carriers Lexington, Saratoga and Langley, now at Norfolk. The Arkansas and Wyoming, now at the Brooklyn Navy Yard, are expected to remain in the yard for overhauling. Eleven battleships, including the Texas, flagship of Admiral W. V. Pratt, commander-in-chief of the United States fleet, three aircraft carriers, nine cruisers, about twenty-five destroyers and two fleet submarines are scheduled to pass in a long column before the President. Training vessels will not take part in the exercises, and because of the few destroyers available, the number of ships to participate this year will not equal the numerical strength of the fleet reviewed in 1927.

The exercises will take place about fifty miles at sea off the entrance to Chesapeake Bay. The main body of the fleet is to leave New York Monday afternoon and after joining the destroyers, which are to leave earlier in the day, will steam in formation to the rendezvous. They will be joined en route by the vessels now at Norfolk. The review will commence about 12 M., Daylight Saving Time.

The naval dirigible Los Angeles also is expected to participate in the fleet review. She will fly from her hangar at Lakehurst, N. J., after completing a portion of a series of demonstrations of berthing, mooring, and launching of airships.

The fleet submarines V-2 and the V-3 will be the first vessels to pass the Salt Lake City. They have been ordered to cruise past the reviewing ship on the surface and then will flood tanks and depress their bow planes and dive for ten minutes to exhibit the manoeuvring and diving qualities of the navy's latest submersibles. In long column behind the submarines, their sharp bows slicing the waves, will come the cruisers, steaming at twenty-five knots. They will be followed by the destroyers, led by their flagship, the Concord, also steaming at high speed.

The huge ships of the line, the battleships, will follow more sedately, and the plane carriers will bring up the rear. As the carriers pass the Salt Lake City they will launch their 130 planes, and the "flying fleet," gaining formation in the air, will zoom and dip above the cruiser.

Battleships to Be "Attacked."

The final phase of the exercises will consist of a destroyer and cruiser "attack" upon the battleships. The torpedo planes of the air squadrons will lay a smoke screen on the unengaged quarter of the battleships. During the review the ships will be "dressed" in honor of the President. According to navy regulations, "dressing" ship requires the national ensign to be hoisted to both fore and main trucks, as in battle. The flagships of the various units will fire the national salute as they pass the Salt Lake City.

After the review the ships will disperse. The vessels of the Battle Fleet will assemble at Norfolk for a few days preparatory to returning to the Pacific Coast, and the ships from the Scouting Fleet will rendezvous at Newport, R. I., before participating in joint army and navy manoeuvres in the Long Island Sound-Narragansett Bay area from May 26 to 28.

Long queues of persons waited again yesterday afternoon at the fleet's landing places at 124th, Ninety-sixth and Eightieth Streets to visit the ships. About 3,000 persons were taken by the battleship's motor launches to the three most popular ships off Ninety-sixth Street, the California, Colorado and West Virginia.

Three thousand officers and men will be guests of the National Navy Club at a dance at the Astor tonight. The club has arranged a number of entertainments for the sailors during the fleet's stay in port, and has held "open house" at its headquarters at Fortieth Street and Park Avenue. Dance partners will be provided tonight.

About seventy officers of the fleet will be the guests this morning of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company on a visit of inspection of the radiophone receiving centre at Netcong, N. J., and the transmitting centre at Lawrenceville. Yesterday the officers saw a demonstration of two-way television in the Bell Laboratories.

President Starts Monday Night.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—President Hoover will leave Washington with Secretary of the Navy Adams and Assistant Secretary Jahncke, and a party of officials and friends, on board a special train Monday night and arrive at Old Point Comfort next morning. Embarking on the Salt Lake City, the President will steam out a few miles beyond Cape Charles and Cape Henry to review the fleet.

After the sham battle the special destroyer squadron of the battle fleet will form an escort for the Salt Lake City and remain with her until sunset.

House Votes $332,000 for Navy Sound Films; Acts Quickly on Hoover Request for Movies

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—The desire of President Hoover that "Jack" have opportunity to see the latest in talking pictures was met in the House today with an addition to the navy appropriation bill of $332,000 to be used largely in equipping ships of the fleet with sound-picture facilities.

The President sent a message to Congress today asking that some steps be taken to provide ships of the navy with such equipment. Hardly an hour had passed before Representative French of Idaho, chairman of the Navy Department appropriations subcommittee, presented an amendment to his own bill then under consideration to raise the recreation fund for enlisted men from $400,000 to $732,000. The addition was voted unanimously.

The President had been informed, it was said at the White House, that the men of the navy were almost without moving pictures, as talkies have taken the field and silent films are not being made.

Representative Stafford sought information about what sort of talkies would be selected.

"Frankly, what I want to know is, if the Navy Department is going to exercise a too rigid censorship on the talkies the boys get to see and hear," he said.

BUTLER GIVES BOOKS TO MIDDLE TEMPLE

He Presents 2,000 Volumes on American Jurisprudence From Carnegie Foundation.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 13.—In behalf of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, of which he is the president, Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler today presented a collection of 2,000 books on American jurisprudence and judicial reports to the library of the Middle Temple.

In accepting the gift the master and treasurer, Mr. Justice Horridge, said that all gaps in the Middle Temple's library of books on American law now are filled, the library possessing now the finest and most complete collection of its kind outside the United States, numbering more than 7,000 volumes.

Dr. Butler characterized the presentation as a symbol of the good-will between the two nations and as a permanent record of the indebtedness of American jurisprudence to English common law as well as an indication of the underlying unity of the social and political structure of the English-speaking world.

"It is our proud privilege," Mr. Justice Horridge replied, "that the Middle Temple is more closely connected with the United States than any other of the Inns of Court," pointing out that five signers of the Declaration of Independence were members of the Middle Temple, as were the original discoverer of Virginia, the explorer Drake, and the jurist Blackstone.

Among the Master Benchers present at this ceremony today in the Middle Temple hall was the Honorary Master, Ambassador Charles G. Dawes.

LONDON, May 13 (AP).—David Lloyd George, the Liberal leader and former Prime Minister, today gave a private luncheon in the House of Commons in honor of Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler of New York.

Among the prominent persons attending were the Marquess of Reading, Sir John Simon, Professor Gilbert Murray and Miss Megan Lloyd George, M. P., daughter of the host.

ACQUITTAL OF KOHLER IS DEMANDED IN COURT

Wisconsin Governor, on Stand, Denies Campaign Charges in Ouster Trial.

SHEBOYGAN, Wis., May 13 (AP).—A directed special verdict of acquittal was asked for Governor Walter J. Kohler of Wisconsin today by defense attorneys in his ouster trial.

Ten minutes after the millionaire Executive had concluded his testimony on the stand both sides rested. The motion, and arguments on it, followed. The jury was excused until 9 A. M. tomorrow.

Defense action came as the climax to a busy session. The Governor had spent most of the day testifying. He outlined his life, the history of his factory and "model village" of Kohler, near here, and ended by making a detailed denial of all charges filed against him by four leaders of the rival La Follette-Progressive faction.

Should Judge Gehrz direct he be acquitted the case will end summarily, to be followed by a promised appeal to the State Supreme Court.

However, if the jurors receive the case it may be weeks before the final decision is known. Under the "special verdict" the judge submits a series of questions to jurors. At least ten of them must agree on each. Their answers go to the court for a final decision.

NORRIS ASKS ACTION ON CUNNINGHAM

In Senate Resolution He Urges Trial of Philadelphian on Old Contempt Charge.

LA FOLLETTE EXPLAINS CASE

Member of Reed Committee Says Questions Asked Witness Are Moot After Vare Decision.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—Senator Norris, chairman of the Judiciary Committee, offered a resolution in the Senate today calling on District Attorney Rover of the District of Columbia to inform the Senate of the status of the proposed suit against Thomas W. Cunningham of Philadelphia, who was adjudged in contempt for refusing to tell the Reed Investigating Committee the source of $50,000 he contributed to the Vare campaign in 1926.

The resolution asked if a motion for a rehearing in the case had been disposed of and if not, why the delay? If, the resolution inquired, the motion had been disposed of, why had Cunningham not been tried?

Explaining his resolution, Senator Norris said two actions were pending against Cunningham. One is for violation of the criminal code and the other an action by the Senate to compel a witess to answer proper questions.

Senator Norris disclosed to Senator Fess his reason for bringing up the nearly four-year-old difficulty the Senate had with Cunningham. He said the object was to let the Nye committee know that witnesses appearing before that committee "are required under a Supreme Court decision to answer all pertinent questions."

"I also wanted the witnesses to know that if they refused to answer as Cunningham did they will be punished," he added.

He said the Senate had "a right to have Mr. Cunningham brought before the bar."

Senator La Follette, who was a member of the Reed committee, explained the inactivity of the committee, which is still alive, by saying that the questions Cunningham declined to answer had "more or less become moot in view of the decision in the Vare contest."

Mr. Norris, however, contended that under the indictment found against Cunningham the Philadelphian could be punished by a jail sentence, as was Harry F. Sinclair.

Senator Walsh of Montana sided with Mr. Norris, holding that Cunningham could still be compelled to break his silence.

"I can see no reason," he said, "why the proceedings should be in any sense discontinued."

"Everybody knows Cunningham never had $50,000 in his life, unless it was on a similar election occasion," Senator Norris added. "He was a go-between.

"If we knew who paid it, we would know who it was who had invested his money in an illegal attempt to buy a seat in the United States Senate. That man is guilty. His own testimony shows that he is guilty of that crime. He has been indicted for it, and he ought to be prosecuted before those of us who are living die of old age."

MERCHANTS REPORT HUGE BUILDING SAVINGS

Association Code Cut Costs Here $12,000,000 in Year, Booth Says—Directors Are Elected.

An annual saving of about $12,000,000 to rent payers, taxpayers and builders through revision of the building code at Mayor Walker's request was among the important achievements of the Merchants Association outlined at the annual meeting yesterday by Willis H. Booth, its president. Mr. Booth named, among its other accomplishments, its work in opposing the attempt of New Jersey to abolish free lighterage, its services in allaying unemployment, the bringing of convention visitors to the city, who spent $75,000,000 here, and its activity in focussing public attention on such transit unification and the immediate removal of the Sixth Avenue elevated line.

The association reported that it had enrolled more than 1,000 active members on committees to carry out its business and civic program.

Eight directors were chosen to serve for three-year terms. John Lowry, president of John Lowry, Inc., and Robert B. Wolf, president of the Pulp Bleaching Corporation, were elected to the board for the first time.

The other directors, all of whom were re-elected to second terms, were:

GEORGE E. CULLINAN, vice president, Graybar Electric Company.
RICHARD F. HOYT, Hayden, Stone & Co.
W. H. LA BOYTEAUX, president, Johnson & Higgins.
JOHN H. LOVE of Roslyn, L. I.
OWEN D. YOUNG, chairman of the board, General Electric Company.

The association during the year, Mr. Booth said, analyzed 6,819 local, State and Federal bills affecting New York business. He reported that the organization had also made real progress in its efforts to bring about the removal of the old Federal post-office building from City Hall Park.

Extends Time for Auburn Slayer.

ALBANY, May 13 (AP).—The Court of Appeals granted today to Claude Udwin, one of three Auburn convicts convicted of the murder of a fellow-convict, an extension of time until June 9 in which to appeal the judgment of conviction. Udwin is awaiting execution in the death house at Sing Sing prison. He was convicted of murdering Henry Sullivan during the December riot at Auburn. His accomplices were Jesse Thomas and William Force.

HOOVER PLANNING FISHING TRIP ONLY

He Apparently Does Not Relish the Idea That He Will Make Political Speeches.

MAY BE AWAY ONLY MONTH

Washington Clings to Opinion That Executive Cannot Avoid Making Some Addresses in West.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—It was made apparent today that President Hoover does not relish the efforts that are being made to turn his mid-Summer holiday into a political speech-making tour. While political wiseacres continued to insist that the President cannot escape making a number of addresses, which necessarily would have a political slant, all the information obtainable indicated that Mr. Hoover will have none of it, and contemplates nothing more during his absence from Washington than a series of fishing excursions.

According to what was said today by some persons having knowledge of the President's plans, he contemplates being absent from Washington for only about a month, and will not remain away from the early part of July until some time in September, as was the understanding yesterday.

There was a disposition to make humorous critical comments on Washington dispatches appearing this morning, which represented that, in the opinion of politicians here, the President would be unable to avoid stopping at a number of cities on his route to California, and it would be necessary for him to appear in public at all of them with a speech at each or most of them.

Seeks Complete Relaxation.

What the President is seeking, it was indicated, is complete relaxation from official duties, and he expects to find this chiefly in adopting an Isaak Walton rôle in the Glacier and Yellowstone National parks, and, perhaps, in other public playgrounds under the control of the Federal government.

It was recalled in this connection that the President in a speech to the people residing in the region of his Virginia camp had stressed that fishing and prayer were two things which a man likes to undertake alone. In this connection it was asserted that the President intended to adhere to that principle, although it was conceded that there would be a good-sized party, including newspaper correspondents and cameramen, traveling with him.

Despite what is understood to be the attitude of the President, opinion continues to prevail very generally in political quarters that the President will not be able to steer clear of making public addresses on his trip across the continent. Furthermore, there is strong opinion here that he cannot carry out his projected program, which will include a visit to his home at Palo Alto, Cal., and get back to Washington in a month or thereabouts.

Parks Invite Fishermen.

An announcement which has an indirect bearing on the President's vacation was issued by the Department of the Interior today. It said:

"Fishermen planning to visit the national parks this Summer for the first time will be interested in knowing that the United States Government makes no charge for the privilege of fishing in these areas, which are administered by the national park service of the Department of Interior. Therefore, no Federal fishing licenses are required."

The statement explained that State fishing licenses are required in some of the national parks over which the State in whose boundaries they are situated has not ceded exclusive jurisdiction to the Federal government, or in which the State government has reserved the right to collect fishing license fees. The Glacier and Yellowstone Parks are not subject to such restrictions.

ALARM BALKS THIEVES AT LAMONT RESIDENCE

Second Attempt in Four Months Made to Enter Secretary's Home in Lake Forest, Ill.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, May 13.—For the second time in four months, robbers tonight made an unsuccessful attempt to gain entrance to the home of Robert P. Lamont, Secretary of Commerce, at Lake Forest.

A window on the east side of the home set off an alarm when opened by the robbers. The alarm relay wire aroused the Lake Forest police, who responded and found the robbers had fled. Mr. Lamont at present is in Washington.

JERSEY BANK CHARGES BRING TWO RECEIVERS

Backes Also Enjoins Loan Calls on Bankshares Corporation and One of Its Units.

Custodial receivers were appointed yesterday in Newark for the Journal Square Securities Company of Jersey City and the assets in New Jersey of the Bankstocks Corporation of Maryland by John H. Backes, vice chancellor. The concerns are subsidiaries of the Bankshares Corporation of the United States, for which Samuel I. Kessler, Newark lawyer, was named statutory receiver by Mr. Backes on Monday.

Mr. Kessler made application for the appointment. A hearing on the order to show cause why statutory receivers should not be named for the subsidiaries will be held next Tuesday. The receivers named were Charles L. Lynch for the Journal Square concern and M. Casewell Heine for the Bankstocks. Both men are Newark lawyers. Bond was set at $10,000 in each case.

Mr. Backes enjoined also the Journal Square National Bank and the Midtown Bank of New York from their intention to call loans made to the Bankshares and Bankstocks concerns. The former bank lent $129,523 and the Midtown $120,000. According to testimony in court the two banks were virtually controlled by Bankshares.

The statutory receivership for Bankshares was ordered by Mr. Backes Monday after testimony taken four days, at the close of which the court denounced as "criminal conspiracy and grand larceny" the deal by which was financed the acquisition of control of the company by a group headed by Frank C. Thomas, its president.

In yesterday's application Morris H. Cohn, counsel for Mr. Kessler, alleged mismanagement and manipulation of assets by the directors of each company. It was charged that the directors of the Journal Square Securities Company authorized payment of a $125,000 commission for the sale of 9,000 shares of its stock to Bankshares and Bankstocks, and that no service was rendered in consummation of the sale, and that payment was improper.

It was charged also the Bankstocks concern had lost $1,500,000 since last July.

CHICAGO BISHOP INSTALLED

CHICAGO, May 13 (AP).—The Right Rev. Sheldon Munson Griswold, Suffragan Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of Chicago for thirteen years, was enthroned today as Bishop of Chicago in ceremonies opening a special diocese convention. The Rev. George Craig Stewart of Evanston was elected Bishop Coadjutor.

Bishop Griswold was elected three months ago to succeed the late Bishop Charles P. Anderson, his associate in administration of the diocese for many years. His induction into the high church office was delayed by recent illness.

Election of a Coadjutor Bishop, who eventually will succeed to the bishopric, was to follow the installation ceremony.

and it is desirable that these vexed questions be settled in the courts."

Several months ago the Justice Department undertook the final phase of its investigation of the alleged radio monopoly, revolving around the Radio Corporation of America. The Senate, particularly the Interstate Commerce Committee, of which Senator Couzens, Republican, of Michigan, is chairman, had urged more rapid action and on several occasions called upon John Lord O'Brian, assistant to the Attorney General in charge of anti-trust matters, for information as to the progress of the study.

Mr. O'Brian some time ago replied that an answer would be given to Senator Couzens in about ten days, but later the Senator was notified of a necessary delay. About that time Mr. O'Brian said that the Radio Corporation was filing with the department a list of its radio patents and that this procedure would hold up action.

Investigation Long Under Way.

Within the last week Mr. O'Brian was summoned before the Interstate Commerce Committee, but he asked to be excused for a time, as he did not wish to discuss matters involved in the investigation which possibly would adversely affect the government's case. At that time Senator Couzens announced that he understood the government would proceed against the Radio Corporation within a short time.

Since 1921 the government, in effect, has been investigating the Radio Corporation of America and its related companies. The Federal Trade Commission conducted an exhaustive study for several years without definite result. The most recent inquiry of the Trade Commission related to a clause in the contract for licensing Radio Corporation patents to manufacturers of receiver sets which provided that receivers made under these licenses should be equipped initially with RCA tubes.

The De Forest Company eventually brought suit in the Federal court at Wilmington, but the clause was abandoned by the Radio Corporation before the suit was terminated. It was understood, however, that some features of the action are still pending in the Wilmington court, following appeals to the Supreme Court.

Suit Welcomed, Says Young.

Following receipt of information that suit had been brought by the government against the Radio Corporation, Owen D. Young, chairman of the executive committee of the Radio Corporation of America, made the following statement:

"The Radio Corporation of America welcomes the suit of the government of the United States to test the validity of its organization, which has now existed for more than ten years, and in every step of which the government has been advised.

"In 1919, when the company was organized, no one concern in the country had the necessary patents to enable it to develop the radio art and create a business. Each of several had some, and each could block the other. The purpose of the organization of the Radio Corporation was to release the art by grouping patents enough in one place so as to enable sending stations to be created and receiving sets to be built. That this was accomplished is shown by the rapid development of the radio business.

"In order to promote competition in the art and in the business, and to avoid patent litigation which would have prevented development, licenses have been issued to thirty-four concerns to make radio receiving sets and to fourteen concerns to make radio tubes. Between them, as the public knows, competition is severe.

Sees Benefits in Licenses.

"These licenses provide a royalty payment, which was intended to represent the fair contribution of the licensees to the expenses of the research and the cost of the original patents. It was intended to be less than the royalty payment would have been had the patents remained in scattered hands. All these licensees are licensed under all new inventions, and have the benefits of all existing research of the Radio Corporation and its associated companies in the field which the licenses cover.

"This arrangement seemed wise. As a result an industry was born, thousands of people were employed, and millions were enabled to listen, without charge for programs. There can be no question of benefit to the public. There is apparently now, looking backward, and because of a recent court decision in another industry, some question in the mind of the Department of Justice of a technical violation of the law.

"Certainly, if there be anything illegal in the set-up of the Radio Corporation, its officers, directors and stockholders are more deeply interested in that question than either the government or any other group can possibly be. It is very glad, therefore, that a test case has been brought. It prefers very much to have such a question out of politics."

SENATORS PRESS STIMSON ON TREATY

in a treaty on the basis of "fleet strength." This basis was essentially fair, he reiterated.

Says Large Saving Is Made.

Mr. Stimson defended the value of the 6-inch-gun cruiser, contended that substantial parity had been achieved by the United States with Great Britain in all categories, and asserted that both large savings and real reductions had been accomplished by the London conference.

The reductions for the United States in auxiliary ships, he said, amounted to 13,000 tons below the program outlined by Secretary Hughes at the Washington conference of 1921-22, while through the extension of the battleship holiday of the Washington Treaty, there would be a saving to the United States of more than $400,000,000.

Senators Swanson, Robinson of Arkansas, Johnson of California, Reed of Pennsylvania, Fess of Ohio and Chairman Borah at times interrupted with inquiries directed to various technical points, and the answers appeared to satisfy the Senators.

When Senator Robinson of Indiana questioned Secretary Stimson sharply about the British merchant marine, Senator Robinson of Arkansas jumped into the fray and told the Indiana Senator that to reach a basis of parity on any such element was a practical impossibility, and that public opinion in the United States would not sanction the building of sufficient cruisers to offset British merchant ships that might be converted to war uses.

He asked the Indiana Senator if it was his suggestion that, in order to have parity with Great Britain, the United States should have a far bigger navy than [illegible]and's because of the merchant marine element, but received no definite reply.

Robinson's Statement on Parity.

Later the Democratic leader returned to the issue of parity with especial reference to merchant ships, saying:

"With respect to the definition of parity for the purpose of this treaty, it seemed impractical to accept any other than equality of combat value or power.

"There are two practical obstacles in the way of taking merchant shipping into consideration in defining parity or in negotiating a treaty by which the present superiority of Great Britain in merchantmen shall be offset by superiority in cruisers on the part of the United States.

"First, there is no scientific process and no comparatively accurate way to determine the potential combat value of a merchantman which may be converted into a fighting ship, nor is there any process of determining their comparative value accurately with respect to cruisers. It is thought that their chief value is defensive.

"Second, it would be impossible at this time to secure any limitation whatever with respect to auxiliary craft and particularly with respect to cruisers, if an attempt should be made to secure for the United States a sufficient number of cruisers estimated to offset the possible value of the merchantmen which Great Britain might arm and convert into fighting ships in case of war. You could not do that and have limitation. You could not do that and have a stable equilibrium unless you also limited merchant ships to be constructed by each power.

"No one who has talked about limitation has ever dreamed of that. No one would suggest that, in order to accomplish limitation of naval armament, the nations who are rivals in commerce should agree upon limiting the ships that they would employ in that commerce.

Too Great a Problem Now.

"It might be possible in the course of time to arrive at some agreement by which the use of merchant vessels for defensive purposes, their conversion into fighting ships in time of war, might be abolished or restricted. There is nobody about this board who is familiar with the problem who thinks that it could be accomplished in the immediate future.

"It is a difficult problem; so that for practical purposes I was prompted to accept substantial equality in combat strength for fighting power between the two fleets as a satisfactory definition of parity. The best we can now have is reflected in a practical agreement.

"Of course, every one realizes that, in the merchant ships of the two powers, you would have a variable factor of limitation dependent upon future construction in so far as its effectiveness is concerned.

"No one can say that, if the commerce of the United States grows as it is now growing, the foreign commerce, the disparity between the number of British merchantmen and the number of American merchantmen will not diminish. On the other hand, any one can see that, if the number of ships of other powers of this class were to vary from the present standard, any limitation made with reference to the present standard would have to be changed in order to conform to future change.

"Then there is a third suggestion, and that is that I do not believe public sentiment in the United States would justify a building program on the part of this government which would contemplate the construction of a sufficient number of cruisers to effect every possible advantage which a United States superiority in merchantment might oppose at this time."

Stimson Holds to Battleships.

In raising doubts concerning the wisdom of the United States building any more 6-inch gun cruisers, Senator Robinson of Indiana started from the premise that battleships were a weapon of the past.

Secretary Stimson asserted that in his opinion battleships were the body of the fleet and that, when the Indiana Senator assumed otherwise, he was not basing his position on the accepted naval policy of the United States. Cruisers, Mr. Stimson added, were no substitute for battleships.

The Secretary contended that the United States was acting wisely in dividing its cruisers fairly equally between 6-inch and 8-inch gun ships, as the real value of the latter was not clearly known, they being a development of competitive building since the Washington conference. Six-inch guns under the treaty could be placed by the United States on 10,000-ton cruisers, but the American delegation had felt that all the eggs should not be put in one basket.

Moreover, he added, the pre-conference ratio in 8-inch gun cruisers had been maintained, for, whereas Great Britain before the London conference had a program of nineteen of these ships, the United States had planned twenty-three 8-inch gun, 10,000-ton cruisers. Under the treaty the figures are fifteen for Great Britain and eighteen for the United States.

In addition, he said, the United States had improved its standing as to 6-inch gun cruisers, for, whereas the ratio before the London conference was twenty-six for Great Britain and ten for the United States, under the treaty it would be thirteen to ten.

Mr. Stimson then took up the situation in the negotiations and in the treaty as between the United States and Japan.

"The Washington treaty in battleships, which was based largely upon the status quo at that time," he said, "laid a ratio of 10 to 6 in the battleship fleets of those two countries and in the aircraft carriers which were still entirely unbuilt. Japan never agreed that that ratio should be extended to the auxiliary vessels.

"Quite the contrary, when the conference (at Geneva) was called in 1927, the Japanese proposals were for 65 per cent in auxiliary surface vessels and equality in submarines; and at that time the British, on July 28, put forward proposals which substantially accepted those figures. They put forward proposals which attempted a ratio of 10 to 6.5 on the total tonnage of cruisers, destroyers and submarines. That was a British proposal, and when it came up for discussion it was not rejected by our delegates.

Japan Wanted 10—7 Ratio.

"On the contrary, in the colloquy which took place, one of the British representatives in one of the discussions said that he understood that those figures were acceptable to the United States; and the American delegate replied that he did not state that those figures were actually acceptable, but that they did not present an insuperable obstacle, the calibre of the gun being the difficulty that he felt.

"Now when you come to the actual status of the Japanese fleet, which is the practical thing that we had to deal with in cruisers, there is this situation. We had two 8-inch cruisers in the water. We had one pretty nearly ready for launching. We had five on which a certain amount of construction had been done. Whatever else was done had been merely begun, but there were two in the water.

"Japan had eight 8-inch cruisers in the water and she had four more, twelve in all, which were very much more nearly completed than any of ours. In 6-inch cruisers, she had 98,000 tons, while we had only 70,000 tons.

"Our problem was to ask Japan to stand still for six years and let us build past her until we had fifteen cruisers of the 8-inch variety in the water to her twelve, and three more so closely finished that they would be finished—two of them would be finished—in the year 1936.

"In respect to 6-inch gun cruisers, we had to ask her to stand still at an increase of only 2,000 tons—she had 98,000; the treaty gives her 100,000—while we build past her from 70,000 tons to 143,000 tons.

Persuaded Japan to Agree.

"Now that is the practical proposition which faced the American delegation, and the solution of which was as I have stated it. That was what we persuaded Japan to do.

"No country is so poor that it cannot be frightened into competitive building and I take off my hat to the Japanese Government in this treaty."

"In other words, at the last naval conference, the Japanese had frankly put forward proposals which provided for, in the aggregate of three classes, very nearly 10 to 7, and they had been received with favor, so far as teh discussion went, by the others.

"When you consider that Japan had been having a very active popular campaign in her own country in behalf of a higher ratio, a 10-to-7 ratio, joined in by all of the prominent newspaper in Japan; when you consider that she had a very active Big Navy party that was conducting that work; when you consider that her Admiralty under the Japanese Constitution is treated as a favored class, not subordinate to the Cabinet and having direct access to the Emperor, I speak deliberately when I say that the Japanese delegation and the Japanese Government, which confirmed the action of the Japanese delegation, had a harder problem and solved it with a greater faith in the pacific relations of the three great powers than any other nation at the conference.

"They had a very hard job and a very hard problem. You can best estimate it by trying to put yourselves in their position. I know the entire American delegation came away with a greater admiration for the Japanese delegation and Japanese Government in respect to these matters than they had ever had before, a government that had the courage to go into a treaty that tied its hands to stand still.

"It has put itself in a very bad position in case the treaty does not continue after 1936, has got a very hard problem, and no amount of argument can minimize that problem. No amount of talk about cost or expense involved can minimize that problem.

Favorable on Other Categories.

As for parity with Great Britain in categories other than cruisers, Secretary Stimson said that there was no issue over destroyers or submarines, particularly as the treaty gave elasticity for the United States to replace ships in these classes on a broad program where most of the present vessels could come of age by 1936.

In battleships he said that not only was parity to be achieved within the next year or more but that this would overcome a slight disparity that had existed since the Washington conference and which would not have been done away with under the Washington treaty until 1942.

In addition, he asserted that if the three remaining battleships of the battle fleet were modernized, in accordance with the program already approved by the Navy Department, the United States would have a slight preponderance in tonnage; in modernizing the ships about 5,000 tons would be added to each.

As for aircraft carriers, he said that absolute parity was arranged under the London treaty.

When the escalator clause was brought up by Senator Borah, who designated it as the "escape clause," Mr. Stimson explained that it called for no conference, but left the matter of building by Great Britain, the United States or Japan to meet construction by France or Italy to the independent judgment of the government which felt that its security was being imperiled.

In response to inquiries the Secretary said that if one of the powers signatory to the three-power treaty built in any category under the escalator cause, the other two would be privileged to raise their levels correspondingly in that category.

Clause Provides for Publicity.

Moreover, the nation that exercised the right to build would be required to give notice to the other powers and the reasons therefor, so that the matter would not be a "causeless one" and would have to face the judgment of world public opinion.

Great Britain, he said, agreed to the escalator clause only after it felt that it had a chance to get an arrangement with France and Italy by negotiations before long that would prevent any necessity for exercising the right to resort to additional building.

In discussing savings and tonnage reductions under the treaty Secretary Stimson said:

"In regard to battleships there are two elements in saving. First, the battleship holiday, which is a postponement of expense. Ten ships under the Washington treaty were to be laid down before Dec. 31, 1936, and five of those were to be completed. We are by that saved from a commitment to 350,000 tons, or over $400,000,000 during that period. In addition, three ships are to be scrapped immediately, which will make a probable saving in maintenance during the next three or four years.

"In respect to cruisers, there is a decrease made by the treaty of 50,000 tons in 8-inch cruisers and an increase of 73,000 tons in 6-inch cruisers, making a net increase of 23,000 tons.

"That is not exactly correct because we are comparing what we know will happen under the treaty with something that we are not sure would happen under the situation if we are not without a treaty. The British might well have gone on building more cruisers if the treaty did not limit them; and in that case, if we wanted parity, we would have to build very much more in cruisers than we have under the treaty.

"In destroyers our present tonnage is 290,000 tons counting everything—those are not all in commission. The treaty fleet is 150,000, making a reduction of 140,000.

"In submarines our present tonnage is 85,000. The treaty fleet is 52,700.

Comparison With Previous Cuts.

"There are several other ways in which you can measure the reduction. I think one of the most striking ways is to compare it with what Mr. Hughes started to do in 1922. When he outlined his proposal he gave a proposal for a treaty covering the entire fleet. And this treaty which we have actually signed, which covers the entire fleet of these three powers, goes below his proposal for auxiliaries by 13,800 tons.

"One way is to compare the reductions with the British best offer that we got in 1927. Supposing that the British position, below which they would not then go, had been accepted and a treaty made on that basis. It would have been 211,000 tons higher in the auxiliary fleet than the one under this treaty; and when you take the three auxiliary fleets we accomplished a reduction of all three of 521,000 tons in the auxiliary fleets below what the British were willing to do and what they proposed to do three years ago. Now that 521,000 reduction is nearly 120,000 bigger than the whole Italian fleet today, so there is a marked coming down.

"The last comparison that I want to make is between the three fleets as they stand today, taking them in their most elastic condition. On that basis the treaty accomplished a reduction in the United States total fleet of 175,000 tons and in the three total fleets of 434,000 tons."

Table Submitted by Stimson on Fleet Strengths Of the Three Powers at Present and Under Treaty

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—A table of the strengths of the American, British and Japanese fleets in terms of tonnage at present and as provided under the London naval treaty was submitted by Secretary Stimson today to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee as follows:

CALLS NAVAL TREATY POLITICAL PRODUCT

Admiral Hepburn Says Experts Were Pushed Aside at London Conference.

LAUDS OUR DELEGATION

Compact as a Whole Is Best That Could Be Obtained, Officer Tells Western University Men Here.

"The only partial success at the London naval conference" was due to political causes, Rear Admiral Arthur J. Hepburn, chief of staff to the Commander-in-Chief of the United States Fleet and one of the American delegation's technical advisers at London, told members of the Western Universities Club at a luncheon at the Hotel Commodore yesterday. He preceded this by saying that the cause of "the failure at Geneva" was also "not military but political," despite the large number of naval officers in the delegations to that conference, to whom a large body of opinion has ascribed its failure.

"Civilians are likely to 'out-Herod Herod' and be more hard-boiled than any naval officers on military matters," he declared. He said that the phrases in the news from Europe about "national aspirations" and "manifest destiny" were not used by military but political men, and when they were used in regard to armaments the armaments were not the essential thing but the means to an end.

He asserted that in his opinion our delegation "brought back the best treaty obtainable under the political conditions that existed." There will be disagreement on technical differences in regard to the treaty, he said, but termed these differences of no great importance.

In urging that the United States build up to the parity permitted this country by the treaty he said that we wanted the London conference because we were so far behind in building up to parity eight years after the Washington conference that reduction in armament to a point we could reach was our only hope of catching up. The attitude of the English representing the Admiralty, he said, was, as expressed in informal talks, "We're not going to be such damn fools as to sacrifice the superiority we got for nothing because your Congress won't build up to it."

PERTINAX RETORTS TO BORAH CRITICISM

French Political Writer, Here, Repeats Our Policies Balk European Peace Moves.

AIM NOT REFORM, HE SAYS

Tells 200 at French Institute That Our Attitude on Freedom of Seas Is Disastrous to the League.

André Géraud, the "Pertinax" of the Echo de Paris and one of the best known European political writers, replied yesterday to Senator Borah's criticism of his expressed views on some aspects of American foreign policy. He objected particularly to having been criticized jointly with H. Wickham Steed, British journalist, remarking, "I never agree with Mr. Steed."

M. Géraud's defense was made before 200 persons at the French Institute, 20 East Sixtieth Street. On the platform with him were the French Consul General, Maxime Mongendre, who presided; James W. Gerard, former Ambassador to Germany; Joseph Delaitre, French Councilor of State, and Louis Wiley, who introduced "Pertinax."

"Senator Borah objects to my statement that the European problem cannot be solved so long as America's attitude remains an unknown factor," said M. Géraud, who spoke in French. "He objects also to my remark that the League of Nations at present is little more than a conference of nations subject to deadlock and failure.

"Let me make clear that I have never believed this country would be drawn out of its traditional policy of isolation. During the past ten years I have criticized all French governments for their tendency to be too optimistic on this score. It would be all the more unbecoming for me, a foreigner, to try to interfere with American affairs, particularly since its foreign policy is dictated and allied with its Constitution.

"I was merely attempting to point out (and not to reform) that America's attitude regarding the freedom of the seas has had a disastrous effect on the League of Nations. So long as America declines to state its trade policy with a nation it admits to be an aggressor, the British Government will refuse to carry out the sanctions of the League through fear of going against the United States."

He pleaded for frankness and honesty in international negotiations such as disarmament conferences which, he asserted, would dominate the future history of Europe. He explained that this was not intended to slight American diplomats although some of them at the recent London conference, he said, had raised vain hopes for the future in order to rescue the conference from an impasse.

In introducing M. Géraud, Mr. Wiley said "the historical friendship between our two nations is one of the important international associations of history. There is a great fundamental understanding between our two nations which is significant and we look forward always to Franco-American cooperation in preserving the peace and amity of the world."

The speeches were broadcast by Station WGBS, the program being sponsored by the French Chamber of Commerce, Cartier's and the French Government Tourists' Office.

$2,700 BUYS JOURNAL OF AN ASTOR PARTNER

Record Kept by Robert Stuart on Third Overland Trip Is Sold to Aid Church.

A manuscript journal of the third overland expedition in the United States made by Robert Stuart, one of the partners of John Jacob Astor in the founding of Astoria, was sold at auction last night at the American Art Association-Anderson Galleries, Inc., for $2,700. The volume, which was sold for the benefit of the building fund of All Souls' Unitarian Church and bought by W. R. Coe, was the source from which Washington Irving drew material for his "Astoria."

A set of four rare fox-hunting colored aquatints, engraved by T. Sutherland after R. B. Davis, went to Gabriel Wells for $2,250. A first edition of Stephen Crane's "Maggie," one of the rarest books in modern American literature, went to W. H. Kenneth for $2,100. The volume was sold by a niece of Crane. Sixty-eight letters by Lewis Carroll relating to "Sylvie and Bruno," with a manuscript of two of the poems and with drawings by Harry Furniss for the work, went to Maurice Inman, Inc., for $1,700.

John Kellogg paid $1,700 for a copy of "The National Sports of Great Britain," with colored plates by Henry Alken. Mr. Kellogg also gave $1,100 for four rare fox-hunting colored aquatints by Alken. Gabriel Wells gave $1,650 for letter files of Augustin Daly, containing about 6,000 letters by well-known persons, including actors and actresses.

An exceptional copy of the first edition of Hawthorne's "Scarlet Letter" was obtained by C. Ratz, agent, for $1,550. This is said to be a record auction price for this volume. A copy of the first edition of Fielding's "History of Tom Jones," with the leaf of errata, went to Thoms & Eron for $1,400. The books in the auction came from the library of the late Lois C. Levison of this city and other consignors. The two sessions of the sale brought a grand total of $42,365.

CITY BREVITIES.

SEEK TIGHTER RULES TO CUT AIR DEATHS

URGE 50-HOUR MINIMUM

This Would Apply to Passenger-Carrying Pilots—Strict Curb Sought on Private Fliers.

Aircraft manufacturers, airline operators, flying school heads and others interested in the advancement of aviation have taken steps after a conference with Department of Commerce officials to curb fatal airplane crashes, it was announced by Major Robert L. Cropsey, former inspector of the Department of Commerce, who is now director of the Newark Air Service.

The representatives of the aviation industry have outlined a new set of licensing regulations governing the curricula of flying schools, the inspection of students by the government and the restriction of certain types of flying by licensed but inexperienced pilots, Major Cropsey said.

The first meeting was held a week ago at the Park Central Hotel. Recent crashes and ways by which they might have been prevented were discussed.

First among the changes which have been suggested to Assistant Secretary of Commerce Clarence M. Young is the strict regulation of passenger carrying by private pilots. The conferees favored prohibiting the carrying of passengers, whether for hire or as guests of the pilot, by private pilots with fewer than fifty hours of solo experience. The regulations now give private pilots permission to carry friends in their planes as soon as licenses are granted after ten hours of solo practice. It was also recommended, to compensate for this drastic ruling, that preliminary licenses for solo flying be granted after five hours flight before examination.

It was pointed out that most of the accidents to new pilots occurred when they had friends riding with them. Public opinion has forced stringent regulation of such practices, Major Cropsey said.

Further recommendations to Major Young include changes in the examination for private licenses, which heretofore have been based on plane recovery from spins and other acrobatic manoeuvres and the facility of the pilot in making good airport landings. These changes demand that license examiners test thoroughly the ability of the student to make emergency landings. The addition of such regulations to the private pilot code will do much to avert future crashes and prevent unnecessary loss of life, the operators and officials agreed.

For the higher grade licenses changes were also suggested. Requirements for the limited commercial grade, which is now granted with fifty hours solo flight and a knowledge of airplane mechanics and elementary meteorology, is to be increased, Major Cropsey said. Limited commercial students must have seventy-five hours of solo flight, or fifty hours, of which forty must be dual controlled instruction, before they will receive licenses. The same passenger regulations are to cover them as the private pilots, he added.

The 200-hour requisite for transport pilot's licenses is to be increased to 275 hours, together with a thorough knowledge of air traffic law, advanced meteorology, aerodynamic theories and practical airplane construction.

Further changes in present Department of Commerce rules for the air were suggested in granting the local inspectors more option in suspending licenses for infraction of air traffic rules, hazardous flying and carrying passengers without authority.

Major Cropsey said no definite action had been taken by the Department of Commerce on the proposed changes, but added that he was informed that Major Young and his advisers in Washington looked favorably toward their early incorporation in the code of flying.

FAVORS $21,000 FOR BOYLAN

Committee of the Whole Overrides Protest on College Head's Pay.

Over the opposition of Stewart Browne, president of the United Real Estate Owners' Association, the committee of the whole of the Board of Estimate approved an annual salary of $21,000 for Dr. William A. Boylan, now president of the Brooklyn College yesterday.

"No president of a college should receive $21,000 a year," Mr. Browne said. "I wouldn't mind it if we got real education. But the sor of education we get is Ford car education—the parts go in one end and come out all assembled at the other.

Ignoring Acting Mayor McKee's suggestion that the school system might occasionally produce a Packard or Cadillac, Mr. Browne said Dr. Boylan's proposed salary was more than Mr. McKee received as President of the Board of Aldermen before his salary was raised. The Aldermanic President's former salary was $15,000. It was raised last year to $25,000.

The committee voted to recommend approval of the salary to the Board of Estimate at its meeting a week from Friday. Its action restricted the salary to Dr. Boylan and recommended approval of an appropriation of $11,550 to meet it when he takes office on May 15.

BISHOP FREEMAN SEES CHALLENGE TO CHURCH

Tells Washington Diocese Many Forces, Besides the Soviet, Are Fighting It.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—Asserting that militant and malevolent forces are working through an organized movement world-wide in scope to destroy Christian faith and practice, the Right Rev. James E. Freeman, Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of Washington, tonight called upon the Episcopal ministry to "accept the challenge of the modern world and stand forth before men as the authorized ambassadors of Christ."

Addressing the convention of the diocese at its opening session, Bishop Freeman said that a united Church must meet the attack of the "society of the godless," which, he said, is "by no means confined to the restricted area of Russia."

"Religion as an 'opiate for the people' is by no means an affirmation in a foreign tongue," Bishop Freeman asserted. "It is reasonable and conservative to say that no such determined and aggressive frontal attack has been made upon Christian institutions and Christian ideals as is now being vigorously pressed through well-organized agencies."

Deploring tendencies in the Church to seek popularity by substituting 'topical' for doctrinal preaching, Bishop Freeman said that "such ephemeral favor is bought at too great a cost."

The violent course of the Soviet Government with respect to the Church, according to Bishop Freeman, "was caused in part by long standing abuses and misinterpretations of the mind of Jesus."

"The Church," he asserted, "cannot be holy on Sunday and worldly on Monday. It cannot preach justice for a preferred class while it ignores its responsibilities to the less fortunate."

Buses and Planes to Meet Ships.

The United States Lines announced yesterday that bus and airplane service had been begun for passengers at landing points at Cherbourg and Hamburg. The bus service was started by the State Railroad of France as an adjunct to the connecting trains which meet the ships at Cherbourg, and airplanes will be available at Hamburg for transportation of passengers to various interior points of Europe.

DEADLOCK INDICATED ON THE TARIFF BILL

Disagreement Between House and Senate Threatens to Prevent Passage.

SMOOT IS PESSIMISTIC

He Says He Expects to Be Forced to Report Failure of Conference to Senate.

HOUSE CONFEREES FIRM

They Seem Unshaken in Demand That Senate Vote Separately on Items in Dispute.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—While a determined effort will be made to bring the Senate into line with the position of the House on the remaining controverted tariff items when the conferees of both chambers meet tomorrow, everything indicates that an awkward deadlock exists, with possibilities that it will continue for a protracted period and perhaps endanger the ultimate passage of the measure.

The House seems determined to insist that its conferees shall not abandon their stand that the Senate shall vote separately on the items in dispute. Senator Smoot, chairman of the Senate conferees, said this evening that the indications were that as a result of tomorrow's conference, he and his colleagues would be obliged to report to the Senate that they were unable to effect compromise with the representatives of the House.

A hope apparently exists on the part of some of the Republican leaders in both bodies that the Senate will rescind its instructions to its conferees not to recede from Senate amendments modifying the present authority of the President to raise or lower a tariff rate 50 per cent, if a report from the Tariff Commission indicates that a change upward or downward is desirable. This feeling is coupled with the further hope that the Senate will recede from its action in inserting into the bill the so-called farm export debenture plan, which had been vigorously condemned by President Hoover when the Senate made it part of the legislation creating the Federal Farm Board and was deleted from that measure on account of the President's opposition. But nothing has appeared to indicate that the Senate has any intention of backing down.

The hope of the House leaders has some foundation, however, in a proposal that is to be put forward for dropping the debenture provisions and compromising on the President's rate-changing authority so as to retain some of the appropriate features of the Senate amendment, but to continue the right of the President to raise or lower tariff duties which the tariff commission finds are too high or too low, as the case may be.

While the President has withheld public comment on the tariff conference, which now has assumed the appearance of a formidable deadlock, it is well known that he is as much opposed to having his rate-changing power curtailed as he is to the debenture provisions. In this attitude he has the backing of an overwhelming majority of the House. It is evident that the House membership is very thoroughly impregnated with the feeling that it would be a very embarrassing thing for Representatives to have the tariff in a constant state of revision by Congress, as would be the case if the pending Senate provisions with respect to tariff flexibility should prevail.

See "Political Dynamite."

Under the Senate's flexible tariff amendment, rates agreed on by the Tariff Commission would be revised by Congress and not, as at present, by the President. According to the way the generality of Representatives are represented as viewing this state of affairs, they frequently would be called upon to vote on tariff rates, and they realize the political dynamite involved in such procedure. Therefore they prefer that the current authority of the President to function under the flexible system shall be continued.

The determination of the great majority of House members to adhere to that position seems to be so strong that a protracted deadlock is believed to be assured unless the Senate recedes from its substitute for the flexible tariff clauses or is willing to agree to a compromise that still will leave the President as the determining authority in raising or lowering duties.

This attitude of the House has brought thinly veiled threats from proponents of the Senate amendment that Congress will be kept in session indefinitely, which apparently means throughout the Summer, unless the House accepts the amendment.

Neither house may adjourn for more than three days at a time without the consent of the other house. Many members of the House are represented as viewing such a situation with complacency. Some of them, who are credited with reflecting the views of a large number of their associates, contend that if the Senate should refuse to assume a more conciliatory attitude, and the deadlock should be protracted into the coming Congressional campaign, House members would be in a position to go before their constituencies with an exposition of the Senate's position which would bring that body into bad repute and strengthen the Representatives in their contests for re-election.

Unable to Agree.

This would be especially the case, according to what members of the House are saying, if the Senate declines to accede to the demand of the House, which its conferees are expected to lay before the Senate conferees tomorrow, that the Senate shall have separate votes on the remaining controverted provisions of the tariff measure. The House, it is pointed out, has voted separately on these unadjusted items. They were reported to both houses by the conferees as those on which they were unable to reach an agreement.

At that time the conferees reported a partial agreement comprising all rates and administrative provisions on which they were able to bring their views into harmony. But the Senate sent back the partial agreement along with the remaining controverted items. It is the contention of the House conferees, backed by the House, that the Senate should have voted on the partial report and on each of the items remaining in dispute instead of making an omnibus rejection of the whole report. In these circumstances, House leaders are claiming that the Senate will not have a leg to stand on with the electorate if it refuses both to vote separately on these features and keep the Congress in session.

The provisions of the tariff bill which still remain open to adjustment between the two Houses are the rates on silver, lumber and shingles; the Senate amendment permitting cement for public works to be imported free; the debenture and flexible tariff provisions, and some other provisions of the administrative sections of the bill.

It seems to be pretty well agreed among informed Senators and Representatives that if the President's flexible authority over rates is continued along the lines of the present tariff law, he will undertake a revision of the bill in order to overcome what are described as some of its "monstrosities."

Some effort to compromise on the flexible provisions has been made by proposals that if Congress did not pass upon a rate-raising or rate-lowering report of the Tariff Commission within a specified period the rate should become law, but this is objectionable to the administration, which apparently has the support of a majority of the House.

The plans of the congressional leaders of both political parties contemplate a final adjournment of the legislative session about June 15.

PLOT TO KILL FAMILY BY POISON IS FOILED

Intended Victims Become Suspicious When Chocolate and Pie Filling Arrive in Mail.

WORCESTER, Mass., May 13 (AP).—What appeared to be a murderous attempt to poison the family of Joseph Fish was revealed today when police started an investigation of the mailing to them of poisoned foodstuffs.

On two occasions packages containing a chocolate compound and a lemon pie filling were sent to Mrs. Jeanette Fish.

Police today had under surveillance the west side home of a prominent family, in the belief that a suspect living in the house was responsible for mailing the poison.

Both packets were mailed at a west side sub-postoffice, while a third package, which was apparently intended for the mails, was found discarded in a gutter near the postal station.

Mr. Fish is manager of a Trumbull Street store.

A chemical analysis disclosed that the pie-filling and the chocolate contained a powerful poison.

The packages carried no return address, police said, but the name of a Worcester store had been enclosed with a notation that the goods were "with the compliments" of the store. Police were early satisfied that the store knew nothing of the packages.

POLICE BRUTALITY CHARGED

Croat Political Prisoner Is Accuser —Chief's Arrest Asked.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BELGRADE, May 13.—Professor Jacob Jellasich, the most important defendant after Dr. Matchek himself in the trial of twenty-four Croatians for conspiracy against the dictatorship, told on the stand today a story of police brutality which caused his fellow-prisoners, all of whom have been on a hunger strike, to break out into cries of "shame."

Professor Jellasich said his health had been completely shattered by his treatment, that he had suffered internal injuries and hemorrhages and still bore external evidence of mishandling over his whole body. He had to receive medical assistance from time to time during the hearing and fainted at its close.

Defense attorneys have requested that Dr. Bedekivich, chief of the Zagreb police, be arrested for perjury because he had sworn the prisoners were not mistreated.

ALABAMAN REPLIES TO TARIFF ATTACK

DEFENDS VOTES FOR RATES

Walsh of Massachusetts Also Supports Party Members on Question of Protection.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—Senator Black, Democrat, of Alabama, among those accused of duplicity by Senator Watson, Republican leader, for voting for certain tariff rises and then opposing the bill, replied in a speech today in the Senate.

Senator Black said that he had read Senator Watson's statement in THE NEW YORK TIMES and that he resented its implications.

"It is an attempted smoke screen," said Mr. Black, "to defend the tariff bill, which he cannot and dare not defend on its merits. It is an effort on his part to lead the country to the conclusion that, because some Democrats happened to vote for a tariff on mustard seed and a tariff on dates in packages, thereby it is their duty to swallow the entire iniquitous scheme which the Republican administration is seeking to put through."

Senator Black, who was criticized by Senator Watson for an amendment relating to graphite, defended his action. He denied that, because he had voted for increases, it was his duty to "swallow the entire tariff bill which will wring millions and millions of dollars out of the pockets of the people of the United States in order to put them into the pocket of a few beneficiaries of the Republican party."

"I deny," he asserted, "that, because I have voted for these increased tariffs on farm products, four of them in number, that it is right to give to the country misleading information that I have supported high tariffs on products which are produced in my own State."

Mr. Black said he would oppose the bill, if for no other reason, because it contained "a provision giving the President the right to fix tariff rates without limitation."

"This measure," he added, "would give to him the power to reward that section which he sought to punish, and God knows the section from which I come has suffered enough from punishment by sectional parties."

Senator Walsh of Massachusetts said that the Democrats did not have to apologize for voting for protective tariff duties when actual need for protection against importations was shown.

TEN NOMINATED FOR SUFFRAGAN BISHOP

given $300,000 the previous year for the same purposes. He said this $500,000 was to be known as the "St. Peter and St. Paul Foundation."

The convention adopted a resolution offered by Thomas J. Powers Jr., a lay delegate, stating that "Whereas our beloved Diocesan was consecrated ten years ago last Saturday, and whereas yesterday was the sixty-fourth birthday of his birth": the convention extends to Bishop Manning "our great appreciation of having him as our leader and our wishes and prayers that he may be spared many years to continue in his great work."

Certificates of merit were presented to laymen who had served twenty-five years or more as vestrymen. Among those to receive a certificate was Edmund L. Baylies, a vestryman in St. James's Church, Manhattan, and president of the Seamen's Church Institute, for which he has labored forty years.

Bishop Manning eulogized Bishop Shipman, saying in part:

"At this convention we are all thinking of the great loss that has come to the diocese and to all of us personally in the death of our beloved friend and fellow-laborer in Christ, Bishop Shipman," said Dr. Manning. "His work and service to the Church is known to all of you. Through his whole ministry, in his work as chaplain at West Point, in his rectorship of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, in his work in the army during the World War he gave himself in devoted service.

"We shall remember Bishop Shipman always for his lovableness of nature, for his humaneness and friendliness in his dealings with others and for his friendliness and devotion in his office and work as a Bishop."

Bishop Manning devoted much of his report to the cathedral. "The mistaken idea seems to exist in some quarters that there are funds enough on hand or promised to complete the cathedral," said Dr. Manning. "This is far from being the case. There are no funds at present provided for the colossal central tower, the south transept, the transeptal porches, the sacristies and offices, nor for the supremely important reconstruction of the choir and sanctuary to bring these into harmony with the present glorious design. Our efforts at this time are concentrated upon the completion of those portions of the great edifice which are now under construction, the nave, the west front, and the women's transept.

"In thepast four years we have expended practically $10,000,000 on the nave and the west front, and let us remember that this sum has all been paid to the artists and workmen engaged and so has kept large numbers of men employed.

"At this time the scaffolding is being removed from the lower portion of the west front so that the dignity and majesty of the structure and the great beauty of the sculpture and carved work in the portals can be seen.

"The nave now stands almost complete, but before it can be opened and used the west front must be built up to the full height of the roof of the nave, thus closing its western end. The cost of construction has increased, owing to the higher wages that are being paid. To carry the magnificent façade up to the required height and bring the nave into use, another million and a quarter dollars is needed. I trust that this will be contributed. To stop now would mean waste and loss from every point of view. With the nave nearly ready for use and the west front more than half finished, and the north transept well under way, I do not believe that the work will be allowed to stop. I believe that those who are able to do so will gladly make their contributions of large or small amounts, to aid this great civic and religious undertaking so that the portions of the cathedral now under construction and so far advanced may be carried to completion.

"The opening of the nave for worship will be the greatest event in the whole history of the cathedral."

The convention opened with a celebration of the holy communion in the cathedral proper, Bishop Manning officiating and Bishop Arthur S. Lloyd and Dean Gates assisting. Last evening Dr. and Mrs. Manning gave a recepttion in the Bishop's House to the clerical and lay delegates and women of their families.

8 AMERICAN GIRLS MEET QUEEN TODAY

Mrs. Dawes Will Present Eight More at Buckingham Palace Tomorrow Evening.

WHITE IS COSTUME KEYNOTE

Longer Dresses and Radio Announcer for Cars Are Innovations—King's First Court Since Illness.

LONDON, May 13 (AP).—In a swirl of feathers and long trains excited girls of a dozen nations, including eight Americans, were anxiously practising sweeping curtsies before their mirrors tonight in preparation for the bows they will make at the season's first royal court at Buckingham Palace tomorrow.

The formal white gowns with their long court trains have received their final fittings. The prescribed ostrich feather head-dresses have been tried on bobbed coiffures, and long white gloves laid out in anticipation of tomorrow's curtesy before the twin golden thrones.

One change will be noted in the costumes of the girls who make their court bows this season. Most of them have chosen to carry small, old-fashioned bouquets instead of the tremendous feather fans long in vogue.

The presence of King George at the court for the first time in two years will lend particular glamour to the occasion tomorrow night, as 800 notables, his Majesty's subjects and foreign guests, take the opportunity to give public thanksgiving for the King's return to health after a year's illness and convalescence.

Tomorrow night dinner will be served at Buckingham Palace half an hour earlier than usual. That concluded, the King and Queen will head the formal procession through the state rooms to the ballroom, followed by princes and princesses of the blood royal.

Accompanied by the ladies and gentlemen of the household the Lord Great Chamberlain and such century-old functionaries as the Gold Stick and the Silver Stick-in-Waiting, their Majesties will take their places on the gold throne on the scarlet and gold daïs under the golden canopy. Then the princes and princesses, including the Prince of Wales and Princess Mary, Countess of Harewood, will take their places in the royal box behind the thrones and the pageant of presentation will begin to unfold.

Mrs. Charles G. Dawes wife of the United States Ambassador to Great Britain, will present eight American girls tomorrow night. On Thursday she will present two girls and six married women.

One or two innovations will mark the procedure this year, both inside and outside the palace. For the first time a wireless loud speaker will be used to summon cars of the waiting débutantes parked in the Mall.

The Queen herself has devoted much time and study to the problem of speeding up court presentation, and by her suggestion, two sets of courts will be held at near dates, thus avoiding complete upheaval of the palace routine twice.

This season's courts will mark a reversion to Victorian simplicity in the matter of costumes. White has been chosen for the majority of court gowns worn by the guests. Their lines will be simple, the design accentuated by flounces and rosettes rather than the ornate capes of last year. Universal adoption of the long skirt will add stateliness and dignity to the scene.

ASSERTS LOW PRESSURE CURES CANCER IN RATS

Dr. Sundstroem of California Medical School Tells Effects of Low Oxygen Tension.

BERKELEY, Cal., May 13 (AP).—Although he said the effect of the treatment on humans could not be prophesied, Dr. E. S. Sundstroem of the University of California Medical School today announced that he had cured cancer in rats.

Using low-pressure tanks in which atmospheric conditions of from 20,000 to 25,000 feet were simulated, Dr. Sundstroem declared he had effected a fair percentage of healings.

When rats suffering either from cancer of the skin or of the internal tissues were subjected gradually to a low-oxygen environment, from 24 to 83 per cent of the animals were definitely freed of the ailment, he reported. From 12 to 22 per cent showed apparent recovery, he said.

Dr. Sundstroem said that one of the possible dangers of the treatment was that when insufficient care was taken in adapting the rats to the low pressure by gradual process, 50 per cent of them died.

Three hundred rats were used in the experiment, and of these 133 were subjected to the full treatment of from three to six weeks.

Dr. Sundstroem said previous workers who have conducted experiments on the effect of lowered oxygen tension on cancerous growths have reported a retarded growth and extensive destruction of cancerous tissue, but no positive cures.

BERLIN HONORS ROSENWALD

Chicago Philanthropist Receives Gift for Aid to War Victims.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, May 13.—Julius Rosenwald, who was decorated last week by the Austrian Government, received today from President von Hindenburg of Germany a porcelain vase as a token of appreciation for Mr. Rosenwald's gifts to German war widows, orphans and prisoners.

It was revealed during the luncheon that the philanthropist had given $427,000 to German charities before and after the war, including $100,000 in 1917 for the benefit of prisoners in warring countries, irrespective of nationality, and $100,000 in 1923 for the relief of German children.

In a letter accompanying the gift, President von Hindenburg expressed the "deep appreciation" of Germany for Mr. Rosenwald's gifts and termed the philanthropist a "benefactor of mankind."

The presentation was made by H. F. Simon, Consul General of Germany, at a luncheon at the Union League Club. Among those present were Max Adler, Eugene Buffington, Brig. Gen. Abel Davis, Oscar G. Foreman, Edward N. Hurley, M. E. Greenbaum, S. O. Levinson, Jacob Loeb, Joseph E. Otis, Martin A. Ryerson, Dr. Otto L. Schmidt, the Rev. Frederick Siedenburg, Harold H. Swift and Melvin Traylor.

BRITISH WAR ENVOYS WIN DAWES'S PRAISE

Modern Diplomacy Had Origin in Their Negotiations, Ambassador Says.

HOOVER SENDS GREETINGS

By CHARLES A. SELDEN.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 13.—The British official missions to the United States in time of war held their tenth anniversary celebration tonight, and Ambassador Dawes told them that the world's modern diplomacy today had had its origin in the type of negotiations they learned to carry on in the war period.

Sir Alan Anderson, the chairman, read the following dispatch from President Hoover: "The President sends hearty greetings to the members of the British war missions at their annual dinner. He assures them of his interest in their desire to keep alive the memory of fruitful cooperation between Great Britain and the United States."

There was also a message from the King and Queen wishing the missions "all success in their efforts to improve still further the cordial relations which happily exist between our two peoples."

Ambassador Dawes, who said he had been limited to ten minutes for his speech, declared he could talk all night about the good relations of the two countries, which he attributed very largely to the frank methods of negotiation made necessary by the emergency of the war.

"In those days," he said, "all normal and traditional diplomatic procedure broke down under the strain. Men had then to act directly, not merely with delegated power subject to constant revision and supervision from home. They had to know their own countries' needs and how much public opinion at home would stand, but within those limits they did things.

"Nobody could afford to get mad and walk out of a conference without getting results. There was often great bitterness in the fight among the Allies themselves to get an indispensable common agreement. But they got it, and in doing so they laid the foundations of our modern diplomacy."

Egypt Plans Parley on Locusts.

This friendly, rugged Pine Furniture Costs so Little!

IF you are keen about early American pine furniture, you will want your reproductions to have much of that crude, informal simplicity of the originals. And that is just what you will find in these pieces. They'll fit into an early Colonial house as if they were made to order. The cupboard is modeled after an early New England pine ship's cupboard. $64.50. The table is after a "sawbuck" table dating about 1670. 72 inches long, $29.75. The bench is 60 inches long, $9.94; the peg stool, $4.89. Our early American pine group includes tables, chairs and cupboards in different, but equally authentic designs. They are all carefully made by craftsmen who have a feeling for this type of furniture and have invested it with the charm that has kept it popular from early days right down to our present time.

ITALO-FRENCH PACT SOUGHT AT GENEVA

FUTURE PARLEYS ARRANGED

Foreign Ministers Hope for Solution This Year—Germans Pleased by French Concessions.

By CLARENCE K. STREIT.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

GENEVA, May 13.—No time will be lost by Great Britain, France or Italy in seeking to settle, not only their naval limitation problem, but other questions which have long prevented the conclusion of a Franco-Italian friendship treaty before the year is out. To this end they are going to carry on fairly continuously throughout the Summer the negotiations adjourned at London with a view to the Foreign Ministers being in a better position to reach conclusions when they next meet here at the September Assembly of the League.

This was decided at a luncheon Foreign Minister Briand gave Secretary Henderson and Foreign Minister Dino Grandi here today which some Italians hopefully liken to the famous Thoiry luncheon of M. Briand and Gustav Stresemann of Germany.

The conversations will continue during the present sessions of the council, M. Briand probably being Signor Grandi's guest tomorrow. The aim of the talks here, it is stated on all sides, is not an attempt at settlement now but to outline a general working program for the Summer negotiations.

The Geneva conversations are not by any means being confined to naval subjects. Foreign Minister Curtius of Germany saw M. Briand for an hour this afternoon and, according to the Germans, they reached an important decision to hasten negotiations for the return of the Sarre Basin to Germany with a view of the League Assembly in September being in a position to decide definitely on the question.

Developments Elate Germans.

The Germans are elated by this development as well as by M. Briand's consent todav that the troops be withdrawn from the Sarre at the same time as from the Rhineland, namely by the end of June.

Details of the Rhine evacuation also were discussed, M. Briand, according to the French, saying that every effort would be made, despite technical difficulties, to have all troops out by that date.

M. Briand was greatly pleased by Herr Curtius's attitude, likening him to a second Stresemann.

Another important conversation, it was learned today, was held quietly last night between Signor Grandi and the Yugoslav Foreign Minister, M. Marinkovitch, the first contact in years of the Foreign Ministers of these two countries, whose difficulties provide one of the complications in the Franco-Italian naval problem. Tomorrow M. Briand is going to see M. Marinkovitch and the Polish Foreign Minister, August Zaleski, who discussed the Polish-German difficulties last night with Herr Curtius, who is dining with Signor Grandi tonight.

So the Geneva conversations go in this council session devoted especially to them.

In regard to the program of British, French and Italian negotiations one of the questions still to be decided is whether to confine the negotiations to diplomatic channels until September, the plan M. Briand is understood to favor. Mr. Henderson fears this method is too slow and favors hastening them if necessary by the Foreign Ministers themselves meeting again in the interim.

Signor Grandi is understood to lean to the third solution, whereby the political experts of the three Foreign Offices who were present at London would meet quietly. If this is done the work probably will be entrusted to Mr. Henderson's secretary, to Selby Leger, chief of the political section at the Quai d'Orsay, René Massigli and Augusto Rosso, who are the chiefs, respectively, of the League of Nations section of the French and Italian Foreign Ministries, all four of whom were present at today's luncheon.

The method adopted may be a combination of all three plans, but in any event every effort will be made to keep the negotiations as quiet as possible.

The decision that the negotiations for a Franco-Italian friendship treaty are to be carried on parallel with the naval talks is considered most important, particularly by the British, who believe the way to solve the latter is to solve the former. The two remaining difficulties preventing a friendship treaty are the status of Italians in Tunis and the territorial dispute over the Tibesti and Borku regions along the Sahara frontier of Tripoli. The frontier dispute is the keystone, according to the French, who assert that Premier Mussolini, in discussions last Autumn, agreed to accept a proposal the French made for Tunis if his demands were granted for 20,000 square kilometers more than the 40,000 France offered in the Sahara.

Communications Line Important.

The importance attached to this desert area from the viewpoint of communications appears to be the main difficulty. The French never answered Signor Mussolini's demand.

Although solution of these matters undoubtedly would improve the situation, it is obvious that an understanding on the broader political issues also is needed to precede a naval settlement. The Italians, for one thing, also object to the French system of alliances.

Mr. Henderson and M. Briand both appeared to be pleased by Signor Grandi's attitude, M. Briand remarking later to a friend that Signor Grandi had a good understanding of international affairs. Mr. Henderson left the luncheon table at 3 o'clock, Signor Grandi remaining with M. Briand until 4.

Although the tone all around is more optimistic than it was at London, prudent observers warn against building too great hopes of a solution being reached this year. It is noteworthy that French circles, with their tendency toward realism, are the least sanguine, one reason being Premier Mussolini's Leghorn speech. They believe if the British and Americans want the French and Italians to reach a naval settlement, they ought to frown on bellicose speeches.

BRAZIL CELEBRATES FREEING OF SLAVES

Marks the 42d Anniversary of Emancipation by Princess as Regent in Emperor's Absence.

RIO DE JANEIRO, May 13 (AP).—Brazil today celebrated one of the most important of its holidays, the forty-second anniversary of the emancipation of the slaves.

It was in 1888 that Princess Isabel, acting as Regent in the absence of the Emperor Dom Pedro II in Europe, issued a proclamation freeing all the slaves.

The action was accomplished without bloodshed inasmuch as public sentiment for some time had been in favor of the emancipatory proclamation. In 1871 a proclamation had been issued by Princess Isabel, Regent, then also in the Emperor's absence, fixing as free the status of all children born thereafter of slave parents.

HENDERSON REBUKES LEAGUE COMMITTEE

CONDITIONS HERE ATTACKED

Appalling Depths of Misery, Moral and Physical, Are Declared Prevalent in New York.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

GENEVA, May 13.—The League Council session today was chiefly noteworthy for a sharp rebuke by Arthur Henderson, British Foreign Secretary, administered to the League's child welfare committee when the report of its recent session was heard. Henderson wanted the Council to remind the committee that "its functions are concerned with child welfare and it should not attempt to discuss social questions which concern adults even more than children." He admitted that it was not always easy to separate the two, but felt that the committee in its zeal had risked straying beyond its proper sphere. Moreover, he said he believed the public was more ready to accept recommendations for child welfare than for adult welfare.

Although Mr. Henderson confined his remarks to generalities, it is believed he was aiming specially at the recent report which Mlle. Marie Chaptal made to the committee as the League commissioner to investigate "children in moral danger." The United States and Canada are the only ones of eight countries on her list in which she so far has finished her inquiry.

The French woman's outspoken criticisms of social conditions in America are reported here to have aroused more protest than commendation there, but if Mr. Henderson had her in mind he apparently forgot that her inquiry was being made at the order of the Council itself. The Council confined itself to transmitting his remarks to the child welfare committee.

Otherwise, all routine reports before the Council were adopted without a hitch, including those of traffic in women and educational cinema films. The delicate question indirectly involving prohibition posed by the International Wine Office's application to be placed under the auspices of the League in accordance with Article XXIV of the covenant was referred to a special committee of inquiry.

Periodical reports that the Secretary General, Sir Eric Drummond, was going to resign received his usual flat denial today. The frequency of these reports is causing his friends to think they are attributable to some intrigue against him.

Yugoslavia has announced she is going to sign at the present session the optional clause making jurisdiction of the World Court compulsory for her. Poland has announced she has ratified the Root protocol for American entry into the court and the protocol for the revision of the court statutes.

Attacks New York Conditions.

GENEVA, May 13 (AP).—Criticism of certain activities of the League of Nations child welfare committee voiced today by Arthur Henderson was interpreted in some quarters as a rebuke for the committee's interesting itself without authorization in moral conditions in the United States.

Mlle. Chaptal, who is president of the International Council of Nurses, had severely attacked those conditions as touching childhood. She wrote of New York as follows:

"We encountered such depths of misery, moral and physical, as would appall the most experienced of welfare workers.

"Hygiene frequently takes the place of morals, and physical health sometimes takes precedence over conscience. The human soul does not seem to be regarded as a living reality. * * * We think one of the principal dangers to girls of the working class lies in the lack of family unity and the habit of seeking recreation outside the home."

TO PERMIT OUR MEMORIAL.

British Will Not Object to London Cenotaph to American Navy Men.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 13.—The government will not object to the proposed American naval war memorial in London, it was indicated today at the office of the Commissioner of Works. Official consideration already has been given to the request, which was made by the American Embassy in behalf of the United States Battle Monuments Commission for permission to build the monument.

So far there has been no reply from the government, but the chief reason, it was stated today, is that no decision had been reached on the site. The government favors the south side of the Thames, opposite the British Air Force Memorial on Victoria Embankment, but the American officials may prefer a site nearer to central London.

Unofficial hints have been circulating that a memorial to the dead of the American Navy might not be welcome in London, which still has no memorials to the thousands of British sailors lost in the World War. The only naval memorial is a bronze plaque on the Embankment, which commemorates the dead who served in British submarines.

NITRATE INTERESTS TO CONSOLIDATE

Bill for $375,000,000 Company, Uniting Industry Soon to Go to Chilean Parliament.

EUROPEAN ACCORD SOUGHT

Paris Conferees Progress Toward Pact With Synthetic Producers for World Cartel.

By CARLISLE MacDONALD.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, May 13.—The international nitrate conference called together here to bring the producers of natural and synthetic nitrates into one of the most powerful world cartel agreements yet conceived, has virtually accomplished the first important step.

As an outcome of the negotiations begun several months ago and just terminated here between representatives of the Chilean nitrate industry—including the Guggenheim-Ryan interests—Señor Don Antonio Huneus, former Finance Minister of Chile, and the banking groups, a bill authorizing the creation of a $375,000,000 corporation and consolidating the entire Chilean nitrate industry into a single operating unit will soon be introduced in the Chilean Parliament.

The negotiations have progressed with great speed, and with the Chilean industry disposed of, the Paris negotiations, it is understood, have moved on to the second and concluding step in building up a world-wide nitrate cartel—namely, an agreement between those responsible for the production of natural nitrates in Chile and those responsible for the production of synthetic nitrogen. Furthermore, it can be said on good authority, the latter agreement is already well on the road to a successful conclusion.

Look to Stabilized Prices.

Assuming, therefore, the world nitrate cartel becomes a reality in the near future, another great branch of the chemical industry will have gone far in the solution of its present problems—overproduction, wide fluctuations and depression of prices and excessive competition between the different types of producers. World prices, it is pointed out here, will be so stabilized as to enable both the natural and synthetic industries to carry on "with reasonable, but not excessive profit."

The consolidated Chilean industry, by using the Guggenheim process and modern business methods, will also be in a position to regain its rapidly declining share in the world trade, a share which is now less than one-quarter of the total world production. World production of all forms of nitrates last year was more than 2,000,000 tons, of which 52 per cent was synthetic and of which only 25 per cent was from Chile.

Further details of the combination's financial plans were ascertained today. The Chilean Government, it is reported, will hold half the stock and the other half will be issued in exchange for the stocks of the various private concerns now operating in Chile, including, it is assumed, the American ones. The company will be known as the "Compania Salitrera Nacional," and the shares will be allocated in proportion to the relative values contributed by the different companies to the consolidated company.

Export Tax to Be Abolished.

The Chilean Government will abolish the export tax on nitrate and iodine, and will deliver the remaining deposits, at a price to be agreed upon, and to be paid for as the company needs them. The undeveloped deposits, according to a new estimate, are said to contain 150,000,000 tons, and not 50,000,000 as was originally reported.

The company, it is understood, will guarantee the government's revenue during the first three years, at totals not less than $23,000,000, $20,000,000 and $17,000,000, respectively. These sums the company will be authorized to raise by the issue of debentures, which will be the first charge on the profits. After 1933 the government will renounce its right of priority treatment and will depend for revenue on its shares in the consolidated company.

The company will be governed by a board of twelve directors, four of whom will be nominated by the President of Chile and eight by the shareholders of the absorbed companies. The life of the company will extend for sixty years, with the right of renewal if desired.

Coal Interests to Be Included.

The negotiators have perhaps a more delicate problem in arranging the second part of the scheme. It involves bringing the British, German, French, Italian, Belgian, Polish, Yugoslavian, Rumanian, Czechoslovakian, Swedish and Norwegian producers into a working accord which will stabilize market conditions and solve the overproduction question.

Natural nitrates, it will be seen, are provided for in the consolidated Chilean company. The producers of synthetic nitrates are already partially organized through an accord reached between Britain, Germany and Chile last September, and the European producers of limestone nitrates have just entered an agreement at Berlin, thereby simplifying their adhesion to a world accord. It now remains to include the coke and coal mining interests, which produce another form of nitrate.

STIFF TASK FACES BANKERS AT BASLE

Revival of Discord Threatens Difficult Session Thursday on World Bank Issues.

REICH GUARANTEE DELAYED

Salaries of International Bank Heads Fixed—President McGarrah Will Get $50,000 a Year.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, May 13.—The bankers and treasury agents who have been summoned to meet at Basle on Thursday to solve the difficulties which impeded the initial session of the board of the Bank for International Settlements will face an impressive array of such complications and suspicions as constituted the very problems the Young plan aimed to eliminate.

When the Young plan protocol was signed at The Hague last January it was thought an official signal had been given for the burial of the rivalries and discords left over from the peace conference at Versailles. Then came the naval conference in London, leaving a bitter taste for some nations.

This, coinciding with France's reentry as the dominating Continental monetary centre, and Britain's empire difficulties, together with general European resentment against the American tariff policies, is generally admitted to have impaired the good feeling preceding the founding of the world bank.

Germany has been assured by Dr. Schacht that she has been imposed upon, and she is seeking every loophole to diminish her burdens. In France there is much doubt about the advisability of hastening the Rhineland evacuation, which was promised as a sequel of The Hague accords. Britain, under the stress of financial pressure and irritated by the repeated concessions demanded by the Continent, has cooled in enthusiasm for the objects of the world bank.

Witnessing London's elimination as the site of the bank and seeing the bank's organization oriented in a way which looks to the British like dangerous competition have done nothing to improve matters.

Taking all these contingencies, together with Belgium's discontent over the loss of the bank site for Brussels, and Italy's general lack of approval for things internatonal, it would appear that the nations have drifted a long way from the situation at the time when Owen D. Young outlined his scheme for liquidating the war. Added to this, many nations in Europe, in face of the American tariff action, show but slightly veiled hostility to American predominance in the direction of the world bank.

It was the smoke from this smoldering accumulation of bitterness that prevented the first meeting of the bank's board from making headway and which makes a decisive return to the spirit of the Young plan urgent in the deliberations which are to follow.

As matters now stand, all progress appears to be blocked. Germany has failed to forward the certificate of indebtedness and the railway covering certificate as the guarantee for reparation payments. These documents will not arrive here before Saturday. The Reparations Commission and the Kreiglasten [war burdens] Commission will not proclaim the Young plan operative until these certificates have been received. Until this difficulty is solved the board of the world bank will not be able to take action on the Young plan loan, and so long as the international reparations bonds have not been launched, France will have a reason for remaining in the Rhineland.

A special committee of the bank's board conferred with German delegates and with some treasury experts at Basle today in an effort to assure the necessary action. These conversations will continue tomorrow and it is hoped the bankers' meeting on Thursday will remain in session until effective decisions have been made, permitting the board of the world bank to proceed with its primary purpose of serving as trustee for the administration of German reparations upon a commercial and not a political basis.

BASLE, Switzerland, May 13 (AP).—The Bank for International Settlements today fixed the salaries of its heads.

The president, Gates W. McGarrah, will receive $50,000 a year; Leon Fraser, deputy chairman, $40,000, and Pierre Quesnay, general manager, $30,000 a year.

Ex-Richthofen Flier Is Guest In Canada of Former Air Foe

EDMONTON, Alberta, May 13 (Canadian Press).—"Wop" May, rated as Canada's outstanding flier for 1929, was host today to one of the famed Richthofen "flying circus," just twelve years after clashing with that squadron in the great war. Captain May's guest was Baron Heinz von Eschwege Lichberg, now on a special assignment for a German news syndicate.

The Baron, an original member of the Richthofen Squadron, is in Canada for the purpose of retracing the trail of Dr. Kurt Faber, German scientist whose wolf-mangled body was found in Northern Alberta this Spring.

The two war fliers met by chance in Montreal and talked of their battle flights. The Baron was delayed in Edmonton until May's arrival by air from the East.

LAUDS FRENCH HOME TRADE

Flandin Urges Further Development of Domestic and Colonial Markets.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, May 13.—Reviewing the French trade position at the Congress of Foreign Trade agents at Algiers today, Pierre-Etienne Flandin, Minister of Commerce, declared that the position of France is highly favorable, compared with that of other countries.

In a world which is suffering from overproduction, France had escaped the troubles and difficulties of unemployment, he pointed out. Her domestic market had withstood well the influence of general uneasiness, and her colonial market was very year developing more and more, he said.

The wealth of the French colonies as producers of raw materials and consumers of French manufactured articles, he said, could be enormously developed and in such development lay one of the guaranties of safety, France against the policy of protection and super-production as practiced by foreign countries.

France had within her empire a population of 100,000,000, nearly equal to that of the United States, in which to find markets, and it was toward the development of these that attention should be directed, M. Flandin said.

FRENCH SKEPTICAL OF ITALIAN ACCORD

Wish Henderson Well, but Think Mussolini and Grandi Have Gone Too Far in Speeches.

NEW PARLEY IS ENVISAGED

Political and Naval Conference of Mediterranean Powers to Seek Solution Suggested in Paris.

By P. J. PHILIP.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, May 13.—The efforts at Geneva of Arthur Henderson, the British Foreign Secretary, to help Aristide Briand and Dino Grandi find some common ground for agreement by which the Franco-Italian naval parity issue can be at least temporarily relegated to a secondary place have every one's good wishes in France, but it is felt here that both Signor Grandi and Premier Mussolini in recent speeches have gone rather too far to make such an arrangement possible.

Those with the best experience of Italy and a deeper understanding of the Fascist system, with its necessity for maintaining both discipline and faith, are inclined to minimize Signor Mussolini's words in his Leghorn speech, and believe that his less public statements to French visitors in the quiet of his study in Rome are to be taken more seriously. Still even they are moved to wonder whether the Fascist leader seriously believes that France in any way menaces Italian independence and threatens the Fascist régime.

Premier Mussolini's speech is regarded here somewhat as a counter move to President Doumergue's tour of Algeria. There is no doubt that the core and centre of Italian nervousness about France derives from the fact that the republic has developed colonies on the coast of North Africa which Italy feels should have been hers by right of inheritance from the Roman Empire.

Yet between desiring territory and going to war about it there is such a long distance that no one in France will admit that all the recent Italian speeches or even the claim of naval parity constitutes anything like a menace. It is believed that it will be M. Briand who will be conciliatory in the conversations at Geneva and that if nothing comes of them the responsibility will not be on his head.

PARIS, May 13 (AP).—It was considered possible here today that a political and naval conference of the Mediterranean powers—France, Italy, Great Britain, Spain, Yugoslavia and Greece—would emerge as the first attempt to find a solution of the Italo-French naval difficulties.

France, it was believed, will not wish to omit other powers from a discussion of the Mediterranean problem, which includes other phases of the relationship between the countries than that of naval ratio.

It was officially admitted today that no progress had been achieved on problems fixing the legal status of Italian residents in Tunis or in the handling of current frontier problems in Tripoli with Italy.

TESTIFIES OFFICIALS SPIED ON MRS. DODGE

PARIS, May 13 (AP).—Testimony to prove that commercial espionage enabled American customs officers to uncover smuggling for which Mrs. Robert L. Dodge of New York paid $213,000 was given before an examining magistrate by the general manager of the Maison Poiret today.

M. Recope, chief of the fashion establishment, testified before Magistrate Bracke how he became "aware of the surveillance of Mrs. Dodge by an American Treasury Department representative in Paris."

M. Recope explained the circumstances under which a letter, exchanged between Mrs. Dodge and the head saleswoman of the Maison Poiret, was communicated to an American attaché, adding that the latter also became cognizant of the texts of telegrams which Mrs. Dodge was receiving at her hotel.

The magistrate directed Police Commissioner Ameline to check up M. Recope's testimony in the public records.

Doumergue Back From Algiers.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MARSEILLES, May 13.—President Doumergue landed here this evening from the French cruiser Duquesne, which made a rapid crossing from the Algerian port of Oran. Forty-five minutes after his debarkation he left by special train for Paris. He had been attending the ceremonies commemorating the hundredth anniversary of France's acquisition of Algiers as a colony.

BRITAIN MAKES PUBLIC INDIA CORRESPONDENCE

Letters of Premier and Viceroy Give Rise to Optimism Over the Simon Report.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 13.—Correspondence between Premier MacDonald and Lord Irwin, Viceroy of India, fixing the date for the round table conference between the British and Indian delegations as Oct. 20, was made public by the India Office today.

The most significant implication of these communications is that the Simon commission report to be published next month really contains recommendations that may go a long way toward restoring peace in India.

Premier MacDonald, in his letter to the Viceroy, dated March 26, emphasizes the fact that the conference is being summoned by the British Government on the strength of Sir John Simon's own suggestion. A fair inference is that Sir John would not risk the bad effect on India at the present time of a futile conference in which there would be no chance of that country receiving a materially increased measure of constitutional freedom. Inasmuch as the conference is to discuss whatever recommendations the Simon commission has to make, a further inference is that the report will approve dominion status or some other device which meets the growing demands of Indian nationalism.

It is agreed by the Prime Minister and the Viceroy that the best method of selecting a personnel of the conference that will be thoroughly representative but not numerically cumbersome is by invitation to all interested groups in India to send delegates.

The India round table conference is to begin about the time the Imperial Conference, which convenes Sept. 30, is getting ready to adjourn. So it is suggested that the Indians come to England a fortnight before their own meeting for the sake of informal discussions with the delegates from the dominions concerning the affairs of the empire as a whole, with special reference to India's problem. The only adverse comment from India on this proposal it to the effect that the Indians fear the influence on Premier MacDonald of the representatives of those dominions which refuse to grant citizenship to Indians and which in some cases even deny them admission to their territory.

MARTIAL LAW ENDS REVOLT IN SHOLAPUR

The tightening of government attitude everywhere was in evidence. It was estimated tonight that from 200 to 500 natives had been seized, many of whom already were on their way to prison.

It also officially announced that, for the first time in weeks, the government was in absolute control of Peshawur, a key city of the Northwest.

Mahabaleshwar, the Summer capital of the Bombay Presidency, tonight was the scene of a gathering of all high officials of the Presidency, summoned post haste by Sir Frederick Sykes, the Governor. This conference immediately followed the seizure of Sholapur by the insurgent natives and the restoration of government control under military law.

Eighty arrests in Calcutta alone served to sober the civil disobedience forces in that district.

All the Hindu shops and markets at Karachi today were closed. The Moslems refused to participate in the hartal (cessation of work), but there were no reports of disorders.

Eighty Seized in Calcutta.

CALCUTTA, May 13 (AP).—Eighty persons were arrested this forenoon by the police in a raid on the headquarters of the Bengal Presidency unit of the All-India National Congress and on a branch camp of the organization on warrants charging murder and rioting in the recent Chittagong incident.

In the Midnapore district the civil disobedience council and the Tamluck Ghatal and Contai civil disobedience committees were declared unlawful associations by the government.

At Calicut the president and secretary of the congress committee and four others who illegally manufactured salt on the beach were sentenced to nine months' rigorous imprisonment.

Four Killed in Moslem Fight.

KARACHI, May 13 (AP).—Four persons were killed and twelve seriously injured in a fight with hatchets and axes between Moslem peasants of Kakiri village today.

Kakiri is twelve miles from Matli station near Badin in the Hyderabad district.

Gandhi Leader Given Three Years.

AMRITSAR, May 13 (AP).—Dr. Kitchlew, a follower of Mahatma Gandhi, was sentenced to three years' rigorous imprisonment today on a conviction growing out of his participation in the civil disobedience campaign.

The All-India National Congress workers, Shiekh Hissandin, Dr. Sanram Seth, Sardar Teja Singh and Chuharkana, were sentenced to eighteen months' rigorous imprisonment on convictions of sedition.

ALLAHABAD, May 13 (AP).—The working committee of the All-India Congress met today in executive session, and it is understood that in general the meeting favored a stiffening of the civil resistance movement.

Differences of opinion arose in the discussion on boycotting foreign cloth.

Other questions considered were the continuance of the fight against the salt tax, the breaking of the foreign and grazing laws, the non-payment of the village watchmen's tax in Bengal and Bihar, and the non-payment of the land revenue in the Bombay and Madras Presidencies.

NANKING REPORTS 2 MAJOR BATTLES

Says Northerners Are in Flight on Anhwei and Honan Borders in Decisive Initial Fight.

RESISTS SHANTUNG DRIVE

Nationalists to Intensify Bomb Attacks From Air—29 Slain in Shanghai Riot.

SHANGHAI, May 13 (AP).—The Nanking Government announced tonight that its forces had driven the Northern Alliance's rebel army westward along the northern borders of Anhwei and Honan Provinces in a "decisive initial battle." Much ammunition, the announcement adds, was captured from the rebels in their precipitate retreat.

The battle for supremacy in China has lasted five days. The Nationalists said if they won it, the coalition of General Yen Hsi-shan, Governor of Shansi Province, and Marshal Feng Yu-hsiang would collapse speedily. President Chiang Kai-shek is personally directing the government troops from his headquarters at Suchow.

The Nationalists said they repulsed the Northerners attacks in Western Shantung Province, but fighting was continuing. Government bombing planes were reported to have done heavy damage to Northern troops concentrated along the railroad west of Kaifeng. Saying the government intended to intensify aerial bombing of rebel armies in Honan Province, the Nationalist Foreign Ministry has requested foreigners to evacuate the province. Bombing was expected to be severe near Chengchow.

Foreign diplomats were notified by the Nationalist Government that search was planned of all steamships entering Tientsin for war munitions destined for the Northern alliance. Vessels carrying such contraband, said the Foreign Ministry, would be seized and their fate decided by Chinese law.

Chinese soldiers killed twenty-nine persons and wounded scores of others in breaking up a riot today caused when a hungry mob attempted to loot food shops at Huchowfu, Chekiang Province.

Grain prices in most part of China recently reached new high levels as the result of the depreciated value of silver; banditry, which has raged in many of the provinces for months and the disorganized political condition. Many persons have not been able to purchase supplies.

Porto Rican Educator Coming Here to Teach Classed as a Laborer.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

SAN JUAN, May 13.—An auueal has been made to Washington to have the passport of Dr. Samuel Gil y Gaya, visiting Professor of Spanish at the University of Porto Rico, corrected so that he can keep his engagement as Professor of Spanish at the Summer session of Middlebury (Vt.) College.

Señor Gill found, when he asked for an extension of time to remain in the United States, that a passport had been issued to him as a laborer rather than as an educator. The immigration authorities here today advised him that no extension will be granted.

MEMOIRS BY FOCH TO BE ISSUED SOON

Family Consents to Immediate Publication by Doubleday, Doran and French Firm.

WORK TOOK SEVEN YEARS

Was Done Before Other Writings Which Gave Rise to Posthumous Controversy.

By P. J. PHILIP.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, May 13.—Marshal Ferdinand Foch's own memoirs, written during the last seven years of his life and making a manuscript of 150,000 words, will shortly be published in the United States, France and elsewhere.

Even the fact that Marshal Foch had left any extensive memoirs has never been generally known outside the close circle of his friends and after his death it was said that his "notes" would not be published until at least ten years had elapsed. However, there have been so many publications claiming to be the authentic words and judgment of the Marshal and these have aroused so much controversy that his widow and family have at last consented to immediate publication.

The sales contract was signed this morning by Mme. Foch, the purchaser being the publishing firm of Doubleday, Doran & Co., represented by Ralph H. Graves, for America, and the firm of Plon in France. The rights of Doubleday, Doran will cover all the English-speaking countries and South America, as well as editions elsewhere in Spanish and Portuguese.

The late Marshal's design in writing his memoirs was to make a book which would be interesting for the general reader and which would not be just a technical handbook or a dry recital of events. His style as in all his military orders, is clear, terse and brief. Into each sentence he packs so much meaning that the translator's task is going to be a difficult one, but on the reader the impression left is one of perfect clarity and truth.

The book is written dispassionately—it was done before other publications gave rise to the posthumous Clemenceau-Foch controversy—and is full of flashes of humor and anecdotes about all the leading figures of the war, such as King George, Earl Kitchener, Sir John French, who later became Earl of Ypres, Lord Roberts, Lord Milner, General Bliss, David Lloyd George, Colonel House, General Plumer, Marshal Petain, General Mangin, Marshal Joffre, General Pershing and General Sir Douglas Haig, later Earl Haig. As much attention is given to the operations of the American and British armies as to the French and Marshal Foch is generous and just to his colleagues and to the men who fought under his command.

The Marshal's manner of writing was curious. The memoirs were almost entirely written in his own hand. Such parts as were retyped were carefully corrected and interlined. When a correction or addition was long the Marshal marked the place for the insert and wrote on the back of each sheet.

The Marshal deals fully with all his controversies with General Pershing, Marshal Haig and Georges Clemenceau and it will be found that his own account differs in some cases from those which have already been given to the public—in each case he explains his decisions and tells why he stuck to his own view or yielded to the opposing arguments.

The book will be illustrated with facsimile letters and orders not hitherto published, which will throw important light on some of the crises of the war and the rivalries of the leaders. Marshal Foch's meetings with General Pershing, their varying opinions and plans, their compromises and conclusions and on the whole their united effort are the subject of many pages.

Colonel Bentley Mott, Military Attaché of the American Embassy here, whose life of the late Ambassador Herrick was published recently, has consented to translate the memoirs. During 1918 he was a liaison aide to Marshal Foch.

FOUR MORE ARABS ON TRIAL.

Four Palestine Witnesses Tell of Seeing 24 Persons Slain.

JERUSALEM, May 13 (Jewish Telegaphic Agency).—Four witnesses of the murder of twenty-four Jews in the house of Rabbi Jacob Slonim at Hebron in last Summer's riots testified today at the opening of the trial of four Arabs charged with the murder. Two Arab policemen and Yehuda Leib Schneurson also gave evidence, the latter describing the attack on the Slonim house, which he saw from his house near by.

Hanania Slonim, 11 years old; Hayim Kastanovitch, Mina Orliansky, a daughter of a rabbi, who says she saw the first defendant killing her father with a stick, and a 17-year-old servant girl in the Slonim house, who says she saw Rabbi Slonim's son and daughter-in-law murdered, all vividly described the massacre in which two dozen persons lost their lives.

With the testimony of these witnesses the prosecution completed its case. Counsel for the defense asked that the court discharge two of the defendants because of insufficient evidence, but the court did not agree on this request. The defense witnesses will take the stand tomorrow.

ST. AUGUSTINE OF HIPPO IS HONORED IN ALGERIA

BONE, Algeria, May 13 (AP).—St. Augustine of Hippo, described by the Pope in an encyclical last month as "one of the great fathers of the Church," was honored here today by the commemoration of his fifteenth centenary.

Several thousand pilgrims who attended the thirtieth international Eucharistic Congress last week at Carthage, came on to Bone, which lies near the site of the ancient but now buried Hippo. The main party arrived last night from Tunis, headed by Cardinal Verdier.

The Cardinal immediately led a procession of many thousands to the monument for the war dead, where he placed a wreath. Today he celebrated high mass at the famous Bone Cathedral, after a long procession which began religious and commemorative services that will continue for several days.

TUNIS, Tunisia, May 13 (AP).—Cardinal Lepicier, the Pope's official delegate to the Eucharistic Congress, said farewell to Tunis today. With his retinue he departed for Italy on the steamship Citta di Tunisia.

Before leaving, Cardinal Lepicier had a long and cordial interview with three Jewish rabbis, whom he thanked for their cooperation in the success of the congress.

BRITAIN REBUFFS PALESTINE ARABS

ENDS LONDON DISCUSSIONS

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 13.—The Grand Mufti of Jerusalem and his colleagues on the Palestine Arab delegation have met with a sweeping rebuff from Lord Passfield, the Colonial Secretary, and at the same time have given the MacDonald Government an opportunity to reaffirm its fidelity to the Palestine mandate.

The delegation, which included the Mayor of Jerusalem and other notable Arabs, arrived here shortly before the publication of the Shaw commission's report. Among other things, the delegation urged the immediate creation of a Palestine Parliament in which Arabs and Jews would be represented in proportion to their present population.

Whatever hopes the delegation may have had, however, were shattered tonight by the following statement from the Colonial Office:

"The conversations which have taken place in London between members of the Government and the Palestine Arab delegation are now at an end. The delegation has expressed its views on a number of subjects, particularly land, immigration and the grant of a constitution. His Majesty's Government has taken note of its view on these subjects.

"It was pointed out to the delegation that the sweeping constitutional changes demanded by them were wholly unacceptable since they would have rendered it impossible for his Majesty's Government to carry out its obligations under the terms of the mandate. It was made clear that no proposals could be considered which were incompatible with the requirements of the mandate."

Thus, with nothing accomplished, the Arab delegation will leave London on May 23 in a bitter and hostile frame of mind. A statement on behalf of the delegates issued later tonight said:

"We have decided to leave for home with the impression that the Palestine Arab case will not be justly solved by the British Government, with which the Zionists have such great influence as to hinder it from doing justice or from removing injustices in our case. We are convinced that every Arab in Palestine prefers to die in defense of his natural rights and existence than to submit to the oppression inflicted by any measure of coercion. As the Arab and Moslem worlds are our copartners in Palestine, it is our duty to make them acquainted with the dangerous situation threatening the very existence of their holy country and brother inhabitants."

The references to their fellow-Moslems in other countries are directed especially toward the Moslems of India, whom the British Government is counting upon to support it in the present struggle with the Hindu Nationalists. The Palestine Arabs have been making a weapon of the resolutions of the Moslem congress at Bombay, which recently denounced the British Government's Palestine policy.

Whether or not there are repercussions of the Grand Mufti's statement in India, tonight's exchange leaves the Palestine situation worse than before. The Zionists are still smarting from the Shaw report and the Moslem threats tonight are expected to fan still further the flames of racial hatred in Palestine.

PEACE SOCIETY HOLDS 3 OPEN-AIR MEETINGS

Three open-air meetings were held yesterday under sponsorship of the Women's Peace Society as a part in observance of Peace Week. The first was held at the Sub-Treasury at noon before a crowd of about 400 office workers. A second meeting was called at 2:30 P. M. at the foot of the Lincoln statue at Union Square, and the third was held at 5 P. M. at Columbus Circle. Mrs. Anna E. Gray, executive secretary, and Mrs. Blanche Watson, second vice chairman of the society, spoke at the meetings.

A tableau was staged on a truck to commemorate the opening of The Hague Tribunal in 1899. Literature was distributed and the public was urged to take a stand against all wars. Statistics were cited to show the disastrous results of the World War.

Mahatma Gandhi was compared to Christ as an agitator against imperialism, and his non-violent methods of warfare were seen as examples for the Western world.

The proposed tariff was attacked as a cause of international difficulties, creating "distrust, apprehension and misgiving among the various nations of the world."

58th Anniversary of Arctic Record.

Yesterday was the fifty-eighth anniversary of the establishment of what was at the time a new record for penetration into the Arctic by Brig. Gen. James B. Lockwood, then a Lieutenant. Lieutenant Lockwood and Sergeant David L. Brainard discovered and named Lockwood Island and Cape Washington, Greenland, May 13, 1882. The anniversary was recalled yesterday by the Army Information Service here.

ERIN BANS 13 BOOKS UNDER NEW STATUTE

Five of Censored Volumes Are by Americans and Balance by English Writers.

DEALERS ALREADY WARNED

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

DUBLIN, May 13.—Thirteen books by leading American and English authors comprise the first list of publications banned from the Irish Free State under the censorship act. No Irish authors are on the list.

The American books banned, as made public tonight in The Dublin Gazette, are "Home to Harlem" by Claude McKay, the young Negro intellectual, and four books on birth control by Margaret Sanger.

The English works are Aldous Huxley's latest and best seller "Point Counterpoint," Radcliffe Hall's "Well of Loneliness," which was banned in the United States; "Conjugal Happiness" by Dr. Lowenfeld, and five more books on birth control by Dr. Marie.

No detailed reasons have been made public concerning the first list of banned books other than "offending public morals," on which ground the censorship act permits the action taken.

It was stated here tonight that the names of the thirteen books were given to all booksellers two or three weeks ago with a warning that all copies on their shelves should be returned immediately to their publishers and that heavy penalties would be incurred by failure to do so.

The Irish censoring authority is the Minister of Public Justice, Fitzgerald Kenney, who acted upon a report of the board of censors recently appointed under the chairmanship of the Rev. Canon Boyland of Maynooth College, a leading Catholic institution.

It has been remarked that the first list of banned books follows by only a few weeks the death of the last of Ireland's intellectual weeklies, The Irish Statesman, which long and strongly protested against censorship in Ireland.

W. R. Chapin Not in S. B. Chapin & Co.

Wallace R. Chapin of Rumson, N. J., who was injured in an airplane crash at Red Bank, N. J., last Saturday and died the following day, was not a member of the firm of S. B. Chapin & Co. of 111 Broadway, as was stated in the account of the accident in THE NEW YORK TIMES. S. B. Chapin said yesterday that Wallace R. Chapin had no connection with that concern.

THREE COMPANIES BID FOR GIANT CUNARDER

Line Says Communications Have Been Received, but Withholds Further Statement Now.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LIVERPOOL, May 13.—The Cunard Steamship Company admitted today bids had been received for the construction of its new monster liner, but declined to reveal the details.

"The Cunard Company announces it has received communications regarding the building of a new ship for its express service," said an official statement from S. J. Lister, director and joint general manager of the line.

These have been received, according to the statement, from Swan Hunter and Wigham Richardson, Ltd.; Vickers-Armstrong, Ltd., and John Brown & Co., Ltd., the last named being the Glasgow firm which has most often been mentioned in connection with the new Atlantic giant.

"These communications are now the subject of consideration by the company," the statement continues. "In view of the number of important factors involed, both within and without the company, some time must necessarily elapse before any further statement can be made."

Each of the three shipbuilding companies mentioned in the statement is on an equal footing as regards its relations with the Cunard Line. Swan Hunter and Wigham Richardson will always be famous in the shipping world as the builders of the Mauretania. The John Brown company built the Aquitania just before the war. Vickers-Armstrongs in their naval yard at Walker-on-Tyne have built several smaller post-war Cunarders.

Each company has the necessary facilities, equipment, experience and manpower to handle the new liner, which is expected to be of 75,000 tons and 1,000 feet in length. Its construction is regarded as the greatest single shipbuilding task ever to be undertaken.

CITY UNDER MARTIAL LAW.

Proclamation Follows Riot of 5,000 Rhineland Wine-Growers.

GERMERSHEIM, Germany, May 13 (AP).—This little city of the Rhineland was put under martial law tonight after 5,000 indignant growers of the American hybrid vine stormed the District Court House in protest against fines imposed on 400 wine-growers for raising the hybrid vines.

To check the demonstrators, the authorities summoned 150 police from various points in the Palatinate and in Baden who were armed with carbines. The demonstrators, however, broke through a police cordon and attacked the Court House. Bloodshed was averted only through timely intervention by their leaders, and martial law was proclaimed.

NANSEN WAS FAMED IN VARIED BRANCHES

Scientist, Explorer, Patriot, Diplomat, Peace Worker and Humanitarian.

EAGER FOR POLAR FLIGHT

But Death Prevented Last Venture—Had Been Into Arctic Region Before 20 Years Old.

Explorer, Scientist and Peace Worker, Who Died Yesterday.

Fridtjof Nansen, like many of his compatriots, began life in the most obscure of ways to gain not only national but international fame. While the careers of such men as Henrik Ibsen, Bjornson, Amundsen and Grieg remained within the frames of author, explorer, composer, that of Dr. Nansen was to be one of many branches. He was a scientist, an explorer, a patriot, a diplomat, a worker for world peace and a humanitarian.

Into his life he crammed more adventure and work than most men, and the intrepid sexagenarian was eager for the last and crowning achievement of his career, the flight by airship across the north polar regions. Death stayed that last venture.

Dr. Nansen was born at Froen, near Christiana (now Oslo), on Oct. 10, 1861, the son of a well-to-do lawyer. In his boyhood days he roamed about on skis in Winter time, sailing and rowing on the fjord in the Summer days. Before he was twenty he shipped with a small sealing vessel and sailed out of the port of Arendal to hunt seal and polar bear in the regions about Jan Mayen Land. These early experiences were not recorded until years later, when in 1925 he published "Blandt Sael of Bjorn" (Among Seal and Bear), profusely illustrated by himself, for among his many accomplishments Nansen was an excellent pen and ink artist.

On this trip he gained an insight into conditions in the Artic, and this was to stand him in good stead, when years afterward he planned the famous expedition that took him further north than any man had yet attained. He selected a seaworthy ship, a vessel that could buck the ice—the Fram, perhaps most famous of polar ships, which also took Captain Roald Amundsen to the Bay of Whales in 1911. From there Amundsen reached the South Pole with his famous dog teams.

Expedition to Far North.

His first academical position was that of curator of the National Museum at Bergen, a post he held from 1882 to 1888. That year he undertook his celebrated walk across Greenland on skis. Upon his return he was apopinted curator of comparative anatomy at the Christiania University. But his yearning for the far north was not to be stayed, and with a carefully selected lot of companions he began his expedition which brought him to a latitude of 86 degrees and 14 minutes.

The Nansen expedition, which lasted from 1893 until 1896, was one of great and many hardships. Winter after Winter they were screwed into the ice, and their fate was often in doubt.

The Fram returned and the achievement was hailed the world over as one of the most outstanding. Dr. Nansen was appointed Professor of Zoology at Christiania University, and for a number of years he devoted himself to science and teaching. When the bloodless revolution of 1905 came and Norway separated from Sweden Nansen was much in the foreground. King Haakon VII appointed him Norway's first Minister to the Court of St. James's, and he was in London from 1906 to 1908.

Dr. Nansen always scorned the formal and traditional, and he shocked the diplomatic world not a little when he wore a plain ski costume, gray closely buttoned coat and gray trousers and cap, while his colleagues wore morning coats, striped trousers, spats and silk hat.

When the World War came Dr. Nansen found another outlet for his great energy. He came to the United States several times, and in 1918 he successfully negotiated a trade treaty with this country, particularly with regard to the release of Norwegian food ships in American ports. In 1921, while taking an active part in the League of Nations deliberations, he was named High Commissioner, together with Herbert Hoover, with full powers to conclude arrangements with the Russian authorities for the control of relief work. With characteristic energy, Dr. Nansen threw himself into this task. He also worked for the repatriation of prisoners of war in Russia and the Balkan countries. His appeals for relief for the starving thousands in Russia, Armenia and Greece did not meet with great success, but his indefatigable work was observed everywhere and he was awarded the Nobel Peace Prize and hailed as "the viking of peace."

Millions were fed in Russia and the Ukraine. Dr. Nansen successively visited the famine regions of Southern and Eastern Russia, Siberia, Armenia and Greece. A rapprochement with Kemal Pasha was not successful.

As conditions gradually adjusted themselves Dr. Nansen again retired to his academic activities. By this time his fame was high, and societies, institutions and universities in all parts of the world honored him. Among the tributes that came his way was the election to the rectorship of St. Andrew's University in Scotland in 1925. In 1927 the Explorers Club of New York awarded him its medal, which was presented by Lauritz S. Swenson, American Minister at Oslo, on behalf of the National Geographical Society of America.

Planned Polar Flight.

In 1926 Dr. Nansen first became interested in Arctic exploration by airship. The ill-fated Italia expedition and General Nobile's failure, followed by the tragic death of Roald Amundsen, had stirred the Norse veteran and he began negotiations to fly with Dr. Hugo Eckener in the Arctic regions. The chief object of these flights was to study meteorological conditions in the far North, and the route of flights was to be from the Murman Coast over Franz Joseph Land, or between that and Spitsbergen through the polar region toward Alaska and thence to Nome or Fairbanks, where a base would be established.

The zeppelin, it was planned, was to carry fifteen scientists. Whenever possible sleigh journeys were to be made and forty-five dogs were to have been taken along.

With the name of Dr. Nansen are linked those of such famous Norwegian explorers as Sverdrup and Johansen, the Norwegian naval officer who was Nansen's companion on the ski hike across the Greenland wastes and who went with him on the main north polar expedition.

Physically Dr. Nansen was a typical Norseman. Fair-haired and blue of eye, he recalled the figure of King Olaf Tryggvason, the hero ruler of ancient Norway. He was a great sportsman and an excellent swimmer. In 1895, when off Franz Joseph Land, his kayak had drifted away. Without hesitation Dr. Nansen leaped into water of about 30 degrees and swam a great distance swifter than an off-ice wind was driving the boat. His arms and hands being numb when he reached the kayak, he pulled himself aboard by looping one heel through the lashings; then he paddled back to his companion, pausing to shoot two birds on the way.

Dr. Nansen first married Eva Sars, daughter of Professor Michael Sars of Christiania. She was a noted singer. His second wife was Mme. Sigrun Munthe. Besides his many contributions to science, Dr. Nansen wrote "Across Greenland," "Eskimo Life," "Farthest North," "The Norwegian North Polar Expedition, 1893-1896," "Scientific Results," "Norway and the Union with Sweden," "Northern Mists," "Through Siberia," "Sporting Days in Wild Norway," "Hunting and Adventure in the Arctic," "Adventure and Other Papers," "Armenia and the Near East."

SEEKS CHILDREN'S CUSTODY

Mrs. J. C. Kimball Gets Writ—Says Husband Beat Her.

Mrs. Gladys Kimball got a writ of habeas corpus from Supreme Court Justice Gavegan yesterday directing her husband, Joseph C. Kimball, his brother, Moses Kimball, and his attorney, Leroy Perkins, to produce her two children, Frank, 2 years old, and Mary Ann, 7 months, in court for a ruling as to their custody. Mrs. Kimball alleges that because her husband beat her on May 4 she was compelled to leave their apartment at 91 Central Park West and that when she went there on May 6 she found that the children had been taken away.

Mrs. Kimball asserts that Mr. Perkins told her she could have the children back if she would accept $100 a week alimony. She believes that her husband's brother, who lives at 140 West Fifty-fifth Street, knows where the children are. She had the police search for them, she said.

solution of the union with Sweden, in arranging which the explorer played so important a part.

Dr. Nansen's old associates on the Fram expedition are grief-stricken tonight at their leader's sudden death. Otto Sverdrup, veteran of the Arctic, had been in almost daily telephone communication with Dr. Nansen's sickroom and, like everyone else, believed the crisis past.

Calls Him Good Comrade.

"I cannot express my feelings," he said. Dr. Nansen was a good friend and a good comrade. It is hard that he should die so early. But death we cannot checkmate, even though Dr. Nansen warded it off many times in the Arctic."

From Russia's woman Minister to Norway, Madame Kollontay, came a tribute of gratitude for Dr. Nansen's relief work in the Russian famine.

"The sad news will cause the greatest sorrow among the masses of Soviet Russia," she said, "especially in the famine districts, where the memory of his great relief activities is still vivid. His feats in the Arctic are written in golden letters in the history of exploration, but he was much greater than a mere explorer. Millions in all countries will mourn him, and his loss is irreparable, not alone to Norway but to the whole world."

Many Pay Nansen Tribute.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 13.—Commander Louis Charles Bernacchi, long associated with Captain Robert Scott in Antarctic work and friend of Fridtjof Nansen, said today that Dr. Nansen as a man was as magnanimous as he was courageous and effective as an explorer.

"Although Dr. Nansen's work was all in the Arctic," said Commander Bernacchi, "there never was any jealousy on his part of other men doing the same thing in the Antarctic. His friendship for Captain Scott and his appreciation of Captain Scott's endeavor was one of the finest things on the human side of the business of exploration.

Dr. Nansen's own methods were absolutely sound and no man had a higher rating with the Royal Geographical Society than he. His first crossing of Greenland was one of the outstanding events of his own record and gave tremendous impetus to continental exploration of the Arctic. The results of his marine work in the Fram were invaluable for those who followed him."

Vice Admiral R. W. Skelton, engineer-in-chief of the British fleet at the Admiralty, who was chief engineer of Scott's expedition in the Discovery, said:

"I regard him as one of the greatest of polar explorers. He was highly cultured and with the highest scientific attainments. Very few explorers have those qualities at the same time combined with the faculty of leadership in practice—a rare combination.

"He spent years of investigation into the best methods of travel and the best foods to carry out his work. His crossing of Greenland was a wonderful piece of work, as was his long expedition in the Fram, for he was responsible for the entire plans. He approached polar exploration with no other motive save the advancement of knowledge, and I don't believe he ever made a fortune.

"I knew him when I was with Scott in the first Discovery voyage and I knew his warm friendship for Scott. All polar explorers subscribe to the highest opinions of Dr. Nansen without exception."

Sorrow in London.

LONDON, May 13 (AP).—News of the death in Oslo of Dr. Fridtjof Nansen was received with sorrow today by his many friends in London, particularly members of the Royal Geographical Society.

"The society has heard of Dr. Nansen's death with profound regret," said A. R. Hicks, the secretary. "He was a most distinguished explorer and had been for many years one of our corresponding honorary members and recipient of a gold medal."

Geneva Mourns His Passing.

GENEVA, May 13 (AP).—The news of Dr. Fridtjof Nansen's death was received at the League of Nations headquarters with sorrow.

The explorer had been one of the most faithful workers in the League's activities, especially as director of relief for homeless refugee peoples in the Near East. He was warmly admired and loved in Geneva for his generous, youthful spirit and genial nature.

Called "Prophet of Coming Age."

Dr. Henry Goddard Leach, president of the Scandinavian-American Foundation and Dr. Nansen's close friend, was host to the explorer on his last visit to New York.

Dr. Leach, when informed of his friend's death, issued a statement in which he praised Dr. Nansen as "a prophet of the coming age of planetary consciousness" and said that in his death "American ideals have lost one of their most understanding friends in Europe."

The following cablegram was sent to the King of Norway by Neilson Abeel, secretary of the foundation:

"Trustees of Scandinavian-American Foundation send their deepest sympathy to you and the Norwegian people on the death of Fridtjof Nansen, Norway's first citizen and the friend of humanity."

Publisher Offers Praise.

Herbert S. Houston, publisher, who arranged in Geneva last year for Dr. Nansen's last lecture trip to the United States, said:

"All his life Nansen was the true explorer, whether drifting through the Northwest Passage in the Fram, bringing the Czechs home from Siberia, succoring the Armenians, planning his Arctic flight in the Graf Zeppelin or lecturing in America or before his classes in the University of Christiania. He embodied always and everywhere the spirit of high adventure. This spirit animated his statesmanship and humanitarian activities as it did his exploration.

"He was devoted utterly to the principles of the League of Nations, and no one has done more than he to carry those principles into practice. In particular he rendered to the League a service of incalculable value in illustrating that one could be both a stanch nationalist and an enlightened internationalist. Surely, no one could love his country more devotedly than he loved Norway, and he demonstrated completely that that devotion in no degree lessened his love and service for the world."

Was Writing a Eulogy of the Norwegian Explorer When He Received the News.

SHIP DUE AT CANAL TODAY

Air Circus Will Greet Admiral, Who Expects to Sail for New York on June 1.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BALBOA, May 13.—Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd had just finished writing, aboard the S. S. Rangitiki today, about the superhuman accomplishments of Fridtjof Nansen when he received the news of the death of the explorer, according to a radio message received by Captain H. H. Railey this evening. "All explorers will feel sorry at the death of Fridtjof Nansen," radioed Admiral Byrd. "He was the dean of explorers and one of the most romantic figures in history. I have just finished writing about the superhuman things he accomplished on his long Arctic expedition and am greatly distressed at this news."

The Rangitiki, by speeding up, will arrive here at 6:30 A. M. tomorrow, three days ahead of her schedule. Admiral Byrd is expected ashore about 9 o'clock, when he will be welcomed by representatives of the Canal Zone, the army and navy, the Republic of Panama and the American Legation. Before reaching the pier he will be welcomed by an air circus from France Field and Coco-solo, the army and navy air stations. In a Boeing plane will be Dean Smith, a member of the expedition, welcoming his leader.

Joe De Ganahl, a member of the expedition, will greet Admiral Byrd with Captain Railey and other members of his staff, which handled the affairs of the expedition in the United States.

After reviewing a group of Boy Scouts, Admiral Byrd will make his official calls in the Canal Zone and Panama, which will begin a program of entertainment lasting until May 18.

When the Rangitiki passes into the waters at the canal entrance under the jurisdiction of the United States, the guns of Fort Amador, protecting the canal, will fire a salute of honor.

Admiral Byrd received a tribute in an editorial in Estrella of Panama today which expresses astonishment at what Admiral Byrd has accomplished. The paper says:

"The famous explorer returns triumphant in every way after a period of hard work of a kind that does not bring quick applause, work that cannot and need not win popular acclaim. The heroic feat of the illustrious American has been in the field of pure science and idealistic adventure, because he has not tried to win fortune or break a world record, as is the usual case in the present epoch. But his purpose has been investigation, an exceptional labor for the sole and admirable purpose of learning and rendering high service to humanity.

"It is possible that tomorrow, or in ten or twenty years, the discoveries of Admiral Byrd in the Antarctic and the data which he is going to arrange and give to the academies of learning and to the centres of investigation as his admirable contribution to the sum of human knowledge will be transformed into a splendid investment, a fountain of immeasurable riches.

"However, Admiral Byrd will be satisfied with what he has now in the way of notes on the Pole, to which, for the first time, a man has been borne on the wings of an airplane. He is not the type of man born to accumulate fortune. He leaves that to others, because he considers that a secondary matter in his life.

"We salute Admiral Byrd. We salute the investigator, the man of science who has just crowned his marvelous feat with success. Admiral Byrd is one of the figures most worthy of attention in our time."

Admiral Byrd is expected to remain in Panama ten days. Then he will join the ships of his expedition, which he radioed Captain Railey today would reach Balboa May 25. After a round of official functions he will seek a place of retirement to clear up with Captain Railey the work which has accumulated in the two years of his absence.

AMERICANS SEARCH FOR AIDE OF SIDAR

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, May 13.—Because of an unconfirmed report that Colonel Pablo Sidar's co-pilot, Captain Carlos Rovirosa, jumped with a parachute before their plane, the Morelos, fell into the sea off Costa Rica, marine headquarters here dispatched two planes this morning to aid in the search through the Costa Rican jungle. Aid given by planes of the United States Government has received much favorable comment.

Captain Rovirosa's body has not been found, despite reports from Mexico that it had been.

Arturo Quiros, Minister of Public Security of Costa Rica, who was visiting Managua, returned by plane today to San José to arrange proper honors for Colonel Sidar's funeral.

Aerial Hearse Goes for Sidar.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

MEXICO CITY, May 13.—A hydroairplane lent to the Federal Government by the Governor of the State of Yucatán left Valbuena airdrome this morning for Costa Rica to bring back the body of Colonel Pablo Sidar, who perished Sunday with Captain Carlos Rovirosa on an attempted non-stop flight to Buenos Aires.

The plane, named the Maya, was piloted by Captains Jorge Llenas Silva and José Leon Díaz, and it had as passenger General Juan F. Azcarate, chief of the aeronautic section of the Mexican Army, as well as an American pilot, Henry Williams, and a mechanic, George Keighley.

The exact cause of the loss of Colonel Sidar's plane, the Morelos, may never be learned, but General Azcarate, after an inspection of the spot where it fell, will make a report to the War Office.

Colonel Sidar's body probably will reach Mexico City toward the end of this week, and an appropriate tribute is being arranged for the reception.

Calles's Daughter Sidar's Fiancée.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., May 13 (AP).—Shocked by the news of the death of her fiancé, Colonel Pablo Sidar, Mexican aviator, Artemisa Calles, daughter of the former President of Mexico, was in seclusion here today at the home of her uncle and aunt, Señor and Señora E. Ferriera. Señor Ferriera is the Mexican Consul here.

Señorita Calles, who is 16, is attending a private school here. That she had been engaged to marry the flier was not generally known until news of his death was received Sunday.

Señorita Calles and Colonel Sidar first met in Mexico City two years ago. Six months ago, when the young Colonel was in California supervising the construction of his ship, he frequently visited Señorita Calles here. He was with her last Easter Sunday, departing the following day for Mexico City.

They were to have been married this Summer, though no definite date had been set.

ATLANTIC CITY WET BY 6½ TO 1 VOTE

A majority of 6½ to 1 against enforcement was registered in second returns from Atlantic City, N. J., issued yesterday in The Literary Digest national prohibition poll. Of five cities reported for the first time, all cast anti-dry majorities, but in one, East Liverpool, Ohio, enforcement received more votes than either modification or repeal alone. Three other cities listed in second reports favored repeal.

The vote in Atlantic City showed 57.3 per cent in favor of repeal. A majority for repeal was also polled in Racine, Wis., and a plurality for repeal in Sacramento, Cal. The vote in St. Joseph, Mo., was extremely close, repeal winning a plurality of 14 in a total of 3,365.

There were close results also in two of the newly reported cities. Peru, Ind., gave repeal a plurality of 9 votes, and Mankato, Minn., a plurality of 17. In Taunton, Mass., the repeal vote fell just short of a majority, West Palm Beach, Fla., also giving a plurality for repeal. The figures follow:

FRENCH FLIERS SPAN ATLANTIC WITH MAIL

Mermoz and Companions Land in Brazil, Doing Hop From Africa in 20 Hours.

MAIL IN ARGENTINA TODAY

Time From Paris Cut to 4 Days or Less—Rio de Janeiro to Greet Airmen—Seaplane Mark Set.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

SAO PAULO, Brazil, May 13.—The first transatlantic mail flight was successfully terminated this morning when Jean Mermoz, French war ace, and two companions landed at Natal at 6:12 (5:12 A. M., New York Daylight Saving Time) after a flight of twenty hours and sixteen minutes from St. Louis, in Senegal, Africa.

Their powerful seaplane, equipped with a 600-horsepower Hispano-Suisa motor, left Africa yesterday at noon, Greenwich Time, and followed approximately the same course which will be steered by the Graf Zeppelin ten days hence.

French cruisers were stationed along the plane's course and received periodical reports of its progress.

Rio de Janeiro Awaits Them.

RIO DE JANEIRO, May 13 (AP).—The three intrepid French fliers who conquered distance and storms over the South Atlantic were eagerly awaited tonight by the people of Rio de Janeiro, who had declared a holiday in their honor.

Jean Mermoz and his two companions, who brought the Paris mail, were planning to continue on as soon as possible. Mermoz, however, was suffering from eye-strain and at last reports planned to remain at Natal for the night.

The three fliers had soared out into uncharted air lanes over a stretch of sea 3,160 kilometers (1,975 miles) and unerringly, in spite of a terrific electrical rainstorm that at times sent a flood of water across the floor of their hydroplane, had reached their goal. It was a glorious deed, and this enthusiastic port has never prepared a more regal welcome.

Nearly two and a half hours were consumed in the last 125 miles or so of the flight, but, despite the adverse weather he encountered, Mermoz today declared that the hop was not "a serious one," saying he and his two companions had at no time greatly extended themselves in the effort.

The Aeropostal Company announced tonight that the Paris-Natal mail time had been cut to three days and the transoceanic time to Buenos Aires to four days or less. Authorities on both sides of the ocean today looked forward to the time when daily Atlantic flights by special mail-carrying craft would be a link in continuous short airline service from Europe to South American capitals.

Tomorrow here will be given over to celebrations for the fliers, whose achievement was the ninth successful air crossing of the South Atlantic.

Buenos Aires Gets Mail Today.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BUENOS AIRES, May 13.—The air mail which left Paris at 7 P. M. on Saturday and was successfully carried across the Atlantic by Jean Mermoz, is expected here at 4 P. M. (local time) tomorrow, less than four days of elapsed time. Mail to France has previously required seven days.

Complete Air Chain Formed.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, May 13.—For the first time the Atlantic Ocean has been crossed by a regular airmail carrier, Jean Mermoz, and mail which left Paris on Saturday evening is being delivered today in South America, with a complete air chain established.

The France-South America mail service utilizing land planes has been in existence two years, but until now the transatlantic service from Africa to Brazil has been carried out by fast naval vessels, the mail being taken from Toulouse to St. Louis in Senegal by air and distributed by air throughout South America as far as Santiago, Chile. Between the two termini, Toulouse and Santiago, the time taken with the boat service was nine days.

Two hundred and seventy pounds of mail were carried by Mermoz and an ordinary Latecoere mail-carrying hydroplane was used. The flight established a world record for a hydroplane flight in a straight line.

With Mermoz were Jean d'Abry, navigator and former naval captain, and Leopold Gamie, radio operator. Gamie was able to maintain contact with St. Louis throughout the night and his messages record very varied weather conditions, the fliers encountering hailstorms, clouds and bad visibility and torrid heat. The winds were mostly light and varied from the northeast to the southeast. The landing was made in a rough sea.

MAXON RELEASED ON BAIL.

Bishop's Son Pleads Not Guilty to Murder Charge.

James Matthew Maxon Jr., son of the Episcopal Bishop Coadjutor of Tennessee, pleaded not guilty before Judge Donnellan in General Sessions yesterday to a second-degree murder indictment, in the death of 73-year-old David Paynter in a brawl April 18 in a rooming house at 550 West End Avenue.

M. A. Walsh of the staff of Martin W. Littleton, Maxon's attorney, entered the plea, and asked that Maxon, who is 21 years old, be released in $10,000 bail. This was opposed by Assistant District Attorney Brothers, who demanded that it be set at $20,000. Judge Donnellan set bail at $15,000.

Bond was furnished, and Maxon, accompanied by a young man and a girl who refused to give their names, hurried out of court.

It was announced that Maxon would go immediately to his parents in Chattanooga.

CUBA RAISES MEAT TARIFF.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

HAVANA, May 13.—Cattle men of Camaguey and Oriente Provinces won a victory this morning when President Machado, upon recommendation of the Secretary of Agriculture, signed a decree increasing the import duties on foreign meats and by-products.

For some time the cattle men of Cuba have been facing competition from the import of dried beef, which has been sent to Cuba in large quantities from Spain and Argentina.

TERRORISTS WARN SHERMAN NEGROES

Texas Guardsmen Find Placards Advising Them to Leave or Homes Will Be Destroyed.

EMPLOYER ALSO WARNED

Guard Commander Pledges Protection "If We Have to Shoot to Kill to Do It."

SHERMAN, Texas, May 13 (AP).—Typewritten warnings advising Negroes that unless they left Sherman within twenty-four hours their homes would be destroyed, were found tacked on several residences in an outlying Negro section by National Guardsmen today.

Another warning was found at the business place of a Sherman contractor who employed a number of Negroes. It advised the contractor that he must discharge his Negro workers within thirty-six hours.

Colonel L. S. Davidson, Provost Marshal, advised the Negroes and the contractor to disregard the warnings, and reiterated his statement that the lives and property of Negroes would be protected.

"If we have to shoot to kill to do it, we will," the Colonel said. He said guards in the Negro section had been strengthened and troops had been ordered to shoot any one they caught attempting incendiarism.

The officer added that the military court of inquiry had some leads as to last night's activities, and that it was prepared to make a thorough investigation.

Thirty Witnesses Called.

Thirty witnesses were called to appear before the military court today. Ten witnesses yesterday "willingly answered questions," the Colonel said. The immediate purpose of the investigation is to determine the mob's numbers.

Colonel Davidson explained that the court was a fact-finding body which held secret sessions similar to a grand jury. Its findings will be given to civil authorities for the filing of charges, he said. He said the court's work probably would end this week and that he saw no reason for continuing military rule past that time.

Heavy rains last night assisted the troopers in their work of gradually helping the town return to a normal basis. The gaunt brick shell of the court house still stood. Deeming it unsafe, the authorities had ordered it dynamited yesterday, but this was postponed because of the rain.

FEDERAL DRY SLAYER LOSES ON HIS APPEAL

Court Sustains the Two-Year Sentence for Roy Miller, Who Killed Kentuckian.

CINCINNATI, May 13 (AP).—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals today affirmed an opinion of the Federal court for Western Kentucky convicting Roy V. Miller of manslaughter. Miller was the first Federal agent ever convicted of taking human life during a liquor raid. He was sentenced to two years' imprisonment.

Miller killed Frank Sears in Hopkins County, Ky., nearly five years ago. The slaying occurred when Sears became frightened and ran from a tent near the little town of Daniel Boone when Miller and several deputies were searching for a still.

Clarence Gossett, a Christian County Deputy Sheriff, and James Fox, a farmer, did not join with Miller in the appeal and are serving two-year terms in the Kentucky penitentiary at Eddyville. Miller received a similar sentence, but appealed.

Search of the tent that was the home of Sears, his wife and children and a girl who worked for them disclosed no still and only a half-filled pint bottle of whisky.

Though the constitution is dead for at least four years, hope is still entertained for what was regarded as the chief provision of it—the setting up of a judicial council that shall be a supreme court of Southern Methodism to have appellate jurisdiction in practically all instances. This provision and others, among them one restricting the tenure of Bishops, may be brought before the conference as memorials from various committees.

These can be brought in either as majority or minority reports, so it is certain that they will again come before the conference.

There is widespread dissatisfaction with conditions surrounding the episcopate and its exercise of unlimited powers. Those who drafted the constitution believe that the proposed judicial council by transferring the powers of church judiciary from the hands of the episcopacy and leaving its members free to exercise only executive and administrative duties will almost completely allay the spirit of protest against the Bishops. The Bishops themselves are declared to be quite willing to be free of a position that at times is embarrassing since they are required to pass on appeals from the decisions and to review the acts of their own colleagues.

If there should be four new bishops there probably would be two from each side of the river.

The conference took out of the regular order today the memorial of Congress urging speedy enactment of law enforcement measures submitted by President Hoover and adopted it.

The resolution had been part of the report of Bishop James Cannon Jr., as chairman of the board of temperance and social service and had been reported out of the committee on that work.

Efforts of the general conference to admonish the press for giving prominence to charges against four members of the College of Bishops came to naught. The committee handling the subject, headed by W. R. Odell of Concord, N. C., a former newspaper man, brought in a report which expressed a desire to cooperate with the newspapers in enabling them to publish all the news of the conference, but deplored the prominence given to routine matters by some newspapers as making "the wrong impression on the public mind regarding the conference's attitude toward the Episcopacy and other issues."

KANSAS PROSECUTOR HELD IN BIG DRY RAID

Score Are Arrested With Seizure of Extensive Distilling Plant and Vast Stock of Liquor.

WICHITA, Kan., May 13 (AP).—A Kansas County prosecutor of high standing, an accused "kingpin" bootlegger, and more than a score other persons were caught today in wholesale arrests of what Federal agents declared was the most extensive liquor "pay-off" ring in the history of the Kansas-Oklahoma-Nebraska prohibition enforcement district.

Forty-five prohibition officers, led by Dan B. Cowie, Deputy United States District Attorney, struck unexpectedly late last night and today in Central Kansas and diverted a flood of whisky and other contraband to government storage places.

Heading the ring, officers said, was Everett C. Minner, for three terms County Attorney of Ford County and a respected Dodge City lawyer. Charged with trying to bribe John Madden, Assistant District Prohibition Administrator and with giving him several thousand dollars, Minner pleaded not guilty over the telephone today to Oliver Fenn, United States Commissioner at Hutchinson, and was to furnish $15,000 bail.

The alleged master distiller, Marcus George, of Wichita, for whose stills and secret caches the government alleges Miner sought "protection" from Madden, was freed late today on $20,000 bond following arraignment on conspiracy charges here before Commissioner George Ashford.

Other accused conspirators, still hands and bootleggers were taken here, at Dodge City and Hutchinson. Six thousand gallons of whisky, 700 of alcohol, six stills, seven motor cars, seven "plants," tons of sugar, rye and other contraband poured in a seemingly endless stream into the Wichita Municipal Farm all day today.

SAYS CHURCH PARTY ENDED IN SPEAKEASY

Mrs. Boole Tells W. C. T. U. That Drys Are Too Prone to Regard Fight as Won.

In an address before the annual convention of the Kings County Woman's Christian Temperance Union in Bay Ridge, Brooklyn, yesterday, Mrs. Ella A. Boole, national president of the W. C. T. U., told delegates of a church party that had ended in a speakeasy, and said it was becoming increasingly difficult for the W. C. T. U. to get its speakers before church and Sunday school audiences.

"We have not given up in any degree our plans for work among young people," Mrs. Boole said in part, "but the superintendents of Sunday schools are too prone to think the fight already is won. In addition, it is harder to talk to children now than in the old days. We can't point to the drunkard as we did then, because we don't see so much of him. We can't warn them against delirium tremens, because we have fewer cases. It also is harder to obtain churches for public meetings.

"In one case of which I heard, a number of young people leaving a church party decided they wanted to dance. They visited one or two places and it wasn't long before they wound up in a speakeasy. One of the young women, who had had nothing stronger to drink than lemonade, told her mother what had happened and the mother reported the matter to the minister of the church, asking him if he could not do something about it. He answered that circumstances were such that he could not for the present but that he was feeling his way and that in a year the time might be opportune."

"Conditions among the poor have been enormously bettered under prohibition," the Rev. H. H. Leavitt Jr., pastor of the Union Church of Bay Ridge, told the convention. "Practically none of the cases in charity work now is traceable to liquor. Most charity work now is constructive—the giving of courses in business schools to girls whose fathers have been incapacitated through illness, the securing of medical attention for needy and deserving cases, &c. I stopped three years ago keeping the figures concerning charity cases arising from drunkenness, for they were no longer of any importance.

"We hear, of course, that some of our young people have been injured by prohibition, particularly those from better homes. I wonder though if it is quite fair to credit these results to prohibition. That class always did drink."

Fred A. Victor, superintendent of the New York State Anti-Saloon League, was a speaker as was the Rev. A. A. Bouton, pastor of the Bay Ridge Methodist Episcopal Church, Fourth and Ovington Avenues, in which the convention is being held. Sessions will be held this morning.

No-Moth protects your clothes the whole year round

ONE sure way to keep those pesky moths out of clothes closets is to use Reefer's No-Moth. It comes in a small container that fastens to the baseboard. No-Moth gives forth a pleasant cedar fragrance. (It doesn't cling to clothes.) Moths hate that cedar odor and carefully keep their distance from it. I keep No-Moth in every one of my closets the year round because it's the best way I've found to give day-by-day protection to clothes. Since I've done that, never once have I had trouble from moths. Complete with holder, $2.00. Re-fill, $1.50.

Only $2.00 for twelve months' protection—for each No-Moth lasts a whole year.

MORE WAR MOTHERS LEAVE FOR FRANCE

VETERANS ALSO ON LINER

More than 250 Gold Star mothers and widows, some of them New York women who lost sons and husbands in the World War, sailed last night on the United States liner Republic to visit French and Belgian battlefields. It was the second group of a pilgrimage of more than 6,000.

Accompanying them were nearly 200 veterans of the Twenty-seventh Division, also bound for a tour of European battlefields and a visit to London, where they will meet some of their comrades of British divisions, with whom they fought on several fronts. The veterans will go to London after the Republic lands them at Plymouth and later will cross to France and Belgium. They will meet King Albert and Queen Elizabeth during their stay in Belgium. On Memorial Day they will go to the Flanders battlefield, where many of their comrades are buried. A visit to the Somme also has been planned.

The Twenty-seventh Division was composed of New York National Guard regiments. The veterans sailed last night on the ship which carired them out of New York when they journeyed to France as a fighting unit in 1918. They are paying their own way to Europe, and most of them took advantage of tourist third class accomodations.

Last week the first group of Gold Star Mothers sailed on the liner America on the thirteenth anniversary of the departure of America's first shipment of fighting men in 1917.

The Republic is commanded by Captain A. M. Moore, and sails to Plymouth, Cherbourg and Hamburg. At Cherbourg the Gold Star Mothers will be met by Brig. Gen. J. Leslie Kincaid, who has been in Europe completing arrangements for the thousands who will visit France and Belgium as the guests of the government.

Major Gen. John F. O'Ryan, who went to Europe earlier in the year to work on arrangements, sailed with the veterans as the representatives of the War Department. Sailing with the Gold Star Mothers were Captain Steven W. Winfree and Captain R. H. Darrell, who will conduct the group.

WARRANT SOUGHT TO ARREST MARCHAND

Artist May Face Trial at Buffalo if Lila Jimerson Will Testify.

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 13 (AP).—Possibility of the arrest of Henri Marchand, sculptor and artist, on a statutory charge appeared today to hinge on whether or not Lila Jimerson, Cayuga Indian woman, facing a second trial for the murder of the artist's wife, would testify against him.

Application for a warrant for the arrest of Mr. Marchand was made yesterday at Fredonia by Alice Lee Jemison, Seneca Indian woman and friend of Miss Jimerson. The application was accompanied by evidence of Marchand's testimony at the first trial of Lila Jimerson in which he admitted an intimacy with the woman and said it was a case of "professional necessity," and by a page from the register of a Fredonia hotel at which Marchand and Lila were said to have registered as man and wife.

Louis G. Monroe, justice of the peace at Fredonia, withheld action on the application pending the production of further evidence in its support. John S. McGovern, attorney for Miss Jimerson in her efforts to escape a second trial for murder, was to consult with the Indian woman in an attempt to obtain from her an affidavit which would support the other evidence produced against the artist.

Meanwhile, in Supreme Court, doctors who examined Lila after she collapsed in the county court room during her first trial, continued to testify as to her condition. It is the contention of the defense that the woman's trial ended in an acquittal because County Judge Thorn declared a mistrial after she had been removed to a hospital. The defense contends that the declaration of the mistrial was illegal because the defendant was not present, and further that her condition was not such as to necessitate termination of the trial.

Although a failure at most colleges, this plan has attained success at Princeton. A total of fourteen classes has employed this system of collecting money for their gifts to the university.

$965,000 REPORTED IN CATHOLIC DRIVE

MANY EXCEED 1929 FIGURE

Cardinal Did Not Ask for Fixed Sum Because of Severe Financial Conditions, It Is Said.

Returns from approximately two-thirds of the parishes in the archdiocese of New York have increased the amount received in the eleventh annual appeal by Catholic Charities, Inc., to $965,000, it was announced yesterday at the organization's headquarters, 477 Madison Avenue. The amount represents the receipts from 286 parishes; there are 373 in the diocese. A meeting of the district managers will be held tomorrow morning at the society's headquarters, when it is expected the final returns will be announced.

Although no fixed quota was set by Cardinal Hayes in opening the appeal more than a week ago, many parishes have exceeded the amounts raised last year. "The amount received to date is far more than we expected," Father James B. O'Reilly of the Catholic Charities, Inc., declared yesterday. "Conditions this year," he continued, "are much more severe, and that was one of the reasons why his Eminence did not ask for a stipulated amount." It was thought that this year's total might surpass hat of last year, when $1,082,070.17 was received.

The appeal officially ended Monday evening, but it was said that meetings are still being held in several of the churches, where it is believed that all contributions have not yet been made. More than 20,000 workers volunteered their services for the drive.

The following parishes exceeded last year's figures:

MANHATTAN.

St. Ignatius Loyola, Holy Trinity, St. Gregory the Great, St. Veronica, St. Peter, Church of the Annunciation, St. John the Evangelist, St. Mary Magdalen, St. Vincent Ferrer, Our Lady of the Scapular of Mount Carmel, St. Joseph's, Our Lady of Guadalupe, Our Lady of Loretto, Sacred Heart of Jesus and Mary, Our Lady of Vilna, Our Lady Queen of Martyrs, St. Alphonsus and Ss. BOSTON POLICE FRAUD CHARGED TO GARRETT

Former Liquor Squad Raider Held in $2,500 Bail on Six Larceny Counts.

BOSTON, May 13 (AP).—Oliver B. Garrett, former raider of the police liquor squad, today was indicted for larceny from the city of Boston by the Suffolk County grand jury.

The indictment charges larceny in six counts of $545.50, the amount he received in six pension checks. Attorney General Warner recently found Garrett obtained his pension through fraud.

Soon after the indictment was returned, Garrett appeared at the court house for arraignment. He was held in $2,500 bonds for a hearing at a later date.

Garrett's indictment followed a long investigation by the Attorney General's department, which was ordered by the Legislature. The investigation revealed that Garrett, during his activities as a police raider, acquired considerable wealth, although his salary as a policeman was $38 a week.

In his report, Mr. Warner cast doubt as to the circumstances of an alleged injury which was given as the reason for Garrett's pensioning. He also criticized the recently relieved Police Commissioner, Herbert A. Wilson, and other police officials for their failure properly to investigate charges of grafting which named Garrett.

NEW METHOD RECORDS CHLORINE IN WATER

Princeton Professor Uses Electric Cell to Check Drinking Supply Continuously.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., May 13.—The development of a method of automatically and continuously recording the amount of chlorine in drinking water, a process of immediate practical value, and the development of a new method for detecting and measuring small amounts of lithium, which may be used in rock analyses, were announced today by members of the Department of Chemistry of Princeton University.

Professor N. Howell Furman, working with Edgar B. Wilson Jr., 1930, of Yonkers, N. Y., has succeeded in applying the principle by which an electric cell is used to measure the chlorine content of water. Two electrodes, one of platinum and the other of tungsten, are placed in the water to be tested. Negative chlorine ions in the sample set off a slight current, which is registered by an extremely sensitive galvanometer. This, in turn, records variations in chlorine content on a sheet of graph paper. The apparatus may be placed in water mains and will automatically and continuously analyze the water for chlorine.

Dr. Earle R. Caley, research worker in the chemistry laboratory, announced the new method for detecting small amounts of lithium. It is at least five times as accurate for small amounts as any process previously employed, according to Dr. Caley.

Using a solution of ammonium stearate in amyl alcohol, Dr. Caley has been able to precipitate small quantities of a lithium compound which give the solution a turbidity, measurable by passing through it a beam of light. A turbidometer registers the actual amount of precipitate in suspension by the intensity of the light after it has been passed through the solution.

This method eliminates applying corrections and weighing solutes accurately, as is necessary under the present method.

What Do You Owe Your Company?

WHEN a man has reached a position of such responsibility in his company that his personality gives color to that of the entire organization, the question of his office furnishings is no longer a private affair. It is decidedly a company matter. That is why, in many notable instances, we have been commissioned to express a richness in decoration and furnishings that an individual might hesitate to choose for himself. But as one high official, for whom we had just executed an especially beautiful office, said: "I owe this to the company I serve."

But not all the offices we furnish are occupied by Presidents and Chairmen of the Board. We furnish many for junior officials and private individuals—where budgets are small, sometimes as low as from $300 to $500, and with delightful results. You should visit our Exhibition of Business Offices and consult with our staff on any phase of office layout, decoration and furnishing. These men are trained specialists and will gladly advise with you on any phase of office layout, decoration, and furnishing—without obligation.

ACT TO KEEP CURB BY POLICE ON YOUNG

Crime Board and Civic Leaders Draft Bills to Perpetuate Whalen Bureau.

GRAND JURORS BACK PLAN

Department Has Handled 1,878 Cases With Only 142 Arrests, Director Reports.

A movement to have the Crime Prevention Bureau, established a few months ago by Police Commissioner Whalen, placed on a more permanent basis so that no future Commissioner could abolish it was started yesterday at a meeting attended by members of the advisory committee of the bureau and representatives of civic organizations in the trial room at Police Headquarters yesterday.

A proposed amendment to the City Charter governing the organization of the bureau, which was drafted by former Magistrate W. Bruce Cobb at the suggestion of the Crime Prevention Commission, of which he was a member, was unanimously approved, as was another providing that the bureau shall be directly under the supervision of a deputy police commissioner.

In supporting the resolution O. N. R. Lovejoy of the Children's Aid Society referred to the persistent reports of Commissioner Whalen's impending resignation and added:

"It is not unusual for a new administration to seek favor by economy. If a new administration found that the public was not interested in the Crime Prevention Bureau it might seek to save the amount the Board of Estimate has authorized for it."

Harry Marsh, civic director of the City Club, who presented the resolution to endorse the amendments, said that the City Club had already approved the proposal. Robert Appleton, president of the Association of Grand Jurors of New York County, said that the board of directors of that organization had also gone on record in favor of the bill.

Miss Virginia Murray, director of the bureau, told the gathering that since its organization last Winter the bureau has handled 1,878 complaints and has found it necessary to make only 142 arrests. Wherever possible other action has been taken, she said. More than fifty outside social agencies have cooperated with the bureau in handling these cases, she reported.

Commissioner Whalen and Deputy Inspector Louis F. Costuma also spoke briefly of the work of the bureau. Members of the Advisory Crime Prevention Commission who attended the meeting included Mrs. Sidney Borg, Lady Margaret Armstrong, Jane Hoey, William L. Butcher, who presided; William Edwin Hall, George Worthington and Thomas S. Rice.

PRAISES WHALEN METHODS.

Lady Armstrong Calls Him First "Socially-Minded" Police Head.

Lady Armstrong, wife of Sir Harry Gloster Armstrong, British Consul General, praised Police Commissioner Whalen yesterday as "the first socially minded Police Commissioner I have ever met." Lady Armstrong spoke at the annual luncheon of the Junior Emergency Relief Society at the Hotel Biltmore. Mr. Whalen, who was to have spoken, was unable to attend.

"After nearly twenty-eight years of social service in this city, he is the first socially minded Police Commissioner I have ever met," said Lady Armstrong, who is a member of the Crime Prevention Bureau. "Some people are laughing at the Crime Prevention Bureau which he organized, but I am sure that no woman in this room will laugh at any movement intended to aid children."

She said she wished to give "in my unofficial way, the official thanks of the British Government" for the clothing supplied by the society last November to the victims of the St. John's, N. F., tidal wave.

Mrs. Walter E. Lambert, president of the society, reported that the past year had been one of the most successful in its history. There are 661 enrolled members, she said, and the society during the year distributed 171,000 articles, bringing the total distribution since war days to 2,522,688.

Captain Colin Keith Johnston, actor, was another speaker. Fourth Deputy Police Commissioner Nelson Ruttenberg conveyed Commissioner Whalen's regrets to the 500 women present.

CAUSE NIGHT RIDER SCARE.

Maryland White-Clad Horsemen Resume Moonlight Steeplechase.

BALTIMORE, May 13 (AP).—Residents of the Worthington Valley section, on the outskirts of the city, worried by the presence last night of galloping, white-clad horsemen, were assured by newspapers today that night riders of a sinister kind were not at large. The figures were those of a dozen participants in the Maryland Moonlight Steeplechase of the Maryland Hunt Club, resumed after twenty years.

The mounted sportsmen in white took the white-washed jumps over the two-mile course of the hunt club. The white garb and lanterns over the course were used to aid visibility.

TREBLED BAIL SET FOR BLOCK'S WIDOW

Woman Who Saw Cabaret Man Shot Planned to Go to Europe, Prosecutor Says.

CRAIN DOUBTS HER STORY

Dunne, Brother of Slain Beer-Runner, Is Freed After Being Questioned on Murder.

At the request of Assistant District Attorney Saul Price, Judge Collins in General Sessions yesterday, increased the bail of Mrs. Dorothy Block, held as a material witness in the murder of her husband, Harry, ex-convict night club owner, in the elevator of his home at 175 West Seventy-third Street on April 30, from $5,000 to $15,000.

The added bail was furnished by a surety company, after the court had stipulated Mrs. Block was not to leave the city, but be available at any time the prosecutor desired to question her.

Mr. Price insisted that the bail be increased because of a report that she contemplated a trip to Europe. He also called the attention of the court to the fact that District Attorney Crain was not satisfied that Mrs. Block had told all that she knew about the slaying. Block was killed by two gunmen as he entered the apartment elevator with his wife. Mr. Price pointed out that Mrs. Block had refused to permit a representative of the District Attorney to be present when she opened a safe deposit vault in which, it was suspected, evidence in connection with the murder might be found. Supreme Court Justice Ingraham denied yesterday an order permitting Mr. Crain to examine the contents of the box.

Mr. Price also said that District Attorney Crain believed she could identify the two slayers, and her presence would be constantly necessary.

Assistant District Attorney Price also told the court that Miss Boff, several days ago, told the detective Mrs. Block was out of town and was closing up her apartment preparatory to a trip to Europe.

Earlier in the day it developed that Mr. Price, accompanied by Detective Sergeant William Sullivan of the District Attorney's office and Detectives Gorman and Stepath, had gone the night before to Police Headquarters in Hoboken, where, in the presence of Inspector of Detectives Kiley of that city they had questioned Joe Dunne as a possible witness in the Block killing. One theory of the police is that a beer-runners' feud is responsible for the slaying. Dunne is a brother of Frank Dunne, former beer runner chief, who was killed with machine guns recently in Hoboken. Dunne said that he was on the liner Olympic when he read a bulletin telling of the Block murder. Dunne was not held.

CONDUCTS OWN CASE FIGHTING LIFE TERM

QUESTIONS BROKER'S CLERK

Makes Witness Admit He Did Not See Shares Put in Envelope Taken by Accused.

Faced with possible conviction as a fourth offender, which would mean a mandatory life term of imprisonment, Frederick Mark, 47 years old, who gave the address 298 Whitestone Avenue, Roosevelt, L. I., conducted the cross-examination of a vital witness against him yesterday at his trial before Judge Koenig in General Sessions for the theft of $12,000 in government bonds from a Wall Street brokerage house on Nov. 6.

"This is a very serious matter to me," Mark informed his lawyer, Edward Tighe of the Voluntary Defenders, who had been assigned to defend him by the court. "I myself shall cross-examine the important State witnesses along my own lines."

Assistant District Attorney Rose Rothenberg, who is prosecuting him, has before her a police record which shows that Mark has served felony terms in Sydney, N. S. W.; Boston and Sing Sing.

Alfred Van Ness, a fugitive ex-convict, was jointly indicted with Mark last December for defrauding Salomon Brothers & Hutzler, brokers at 60 Wall Street, in the bond transaction, by presenting a spurious certified check to which, it is charged, the name of Alfred Johnson of the machinery manufacturing house of Johnson & Crowley, 180 Centre Street, had been forged.

Theodore A. Von Glahn, an employe of the brokers, had told the circumstances of the theft when Mark arose to cross-examine him. Mark wanted to know if Nov. 4, the day Mark first visited the brokerage house, was not an unusually busy one. The witness replied that he could not recall that it was.

The witness admitted, however, that, although he had seen the cashier give Mark an envelope which he supposed contained the stolen bonds, he could not actually swear the envelope contained the bonds, because he had not seen them inserted.

"Somebody got the bonds," interjected Judge Koenig, in an effort to stem the flow of questions along this line.

"Yes," retorted Mark. "That somebody isn't on trial. I am on trial."

ADOPT FIVE-DAY WEEK.

Chicago Printers Act to Give Work to Union's Unemployed.

CHICAGO, May 13 (AP).—As a means to provide work for fellow-printers out of employment, the 6,000 members of the Chicago Typographical Union have voted to adopt a five-day week.

The action was taken under provisions of the International Typographical Union laws permitting its locals to adopt abbreviated hours for a 90-day period. Similar action to combat unemployment has been taken in some other cities.

At present members of the Chicago Typographical local work five and one-half days, taking a day off every two weeks to give work to unemployed members.

1,712,000 IDLE IN BRITAIN.

Number Greatest in Eight Years, Largely Due to Trade Depression.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 13.—For the first time in eight years unemployment figures in Britain soared above 1,700,000 today, when the Ministry of Labor announced that 1,712,000 persons were out of work.

Since the beginning of this year there has been an increase of 233,000 in the number of registered unemployed. Most of the increase is due to trade depression, which is now more severe in all branches of British industry than at any time since the post-war crisis of 1921.

WITNESSES MISSING IN DOYLE INQUIRY

BALDWIN DEMANDS ACTION

Warrants for the arrest of Mrs. Lottie Cutler of Passaic and her sister, Elsie Blum, known on the stage as Elsie Bell, will be applied for this afternoon by United States Attorney Tuttle unless they are located before that time by Deputy United States Marshals who have been trying since Saturday to serve Federal grand jury subpoenas on them. The two women are wanted as witnesses in Mr. Tuttle's investigation of Mrs. Cutler's reputed payment of $10,000 to Dr. William F. Doyle and others for a gasoline station permit from the Board of Standards and Appeals. The inquiry has a direct bearing upon the conduct of the board, which is also under investigation by the New York County grand jury.

Without their testimony Mr. Tuttle's inquiry would be seriously crippled as would also the investigation by the county grand jury which is being personally conducted by District Attorney Crain. Dr. Doyle, who has denied Mrs. Cutler's statement that she paid him a fee of $5,000 for his work in obtaining the permit, said recently that Mrs. Cutler telephoned to him several weeks ago and told him she had listed his fee in her bankruptcy report at $5,000 and asked him to "corroborate" her. He said he had told her he would not do so and she must "tell the truth." Dr. Doyle asserted also that Miss Blum had appeared at his office last week and had attempted "ramblingly" to "apologize for her sister's conduct."

Mr. Tuttles investigation was reported to have been held back further by Dr. Doyle's refusal to answer questions before the grand jury which were not directly concerned with the bankruptcy of Mrs. Cutler. Yesterday Mr. Tuttle said the former veterinary and head of the Fire Prevention Bureau had answered all questions in the grand jury room. It was understood, however, that he was not questioned about matters other than the bankruptcy. Dr. Doyle and his attorney, former General Sessions Judge Alfred J. Talley, refused to make any statement.

Demands Full Inquiry.

While the county grand jury marked time yesterday, Alderman Joseph Clark Baldwin 3d, Republican minority leader, introduced before the board a resolution calling for a thorough public investigation of the Board of Standards and Appeals over a period of twelve years. Although the resolution was referred to the Committee on Rules, it served to stir Alderman Fred R. Moore, Negro Republican from Harlem, to charge Mr. Baldwin with losing votes for the Republican party by playing "petty politics."

"I object," declared Mr. Moore, "to a man using the name of the Republican party in assailing a public official and in charging that official with corruption without taking definite charges to the proper official. Chairman William E. Walsh of the Board of Standards and Appeals, serves under the Mayor and I can't believe the Mayor would stand for corruption in any branch of city government. If you want to make these charges why don't you make them to the District Attorney?"

The prelude to the resolution contained a paragraph to the effect that the Commissioner of Accounts had "failed to undertake such an investigation on his own initiative, despite his power to do so," and anotner which stated:

"The Mayor has not seen fit to order an investigation into the activities of the Board of Standards and Appeals despite the overwhelming evidence that, instead of protecting 'the public health, safety, comfort, convenience and general welfare,' for which purpose it was established, it has abused its discretion in a way to justify charges of favoritism, usurpation of authority and serious dereliction, and despite requests for such investigation from taxpayers and civic organizations."

Criticizes District Attorney.

Still another paragraph set forth that the criminal investigations under way by two grand juries did not relieve the Mayor of his responsibility, nor the Board of Aldermen of its duty, to see that the "spirit of the law" was carried out. The Alderman later explained that he wanted an investigation that would look into injustice and inefficiency as well as possible criminality. He criticized District Attorney Crain for his recent statement that he did not want complainants who did not have complaints of a criminal nature to make to waste their time or his. The remainder of the resolution was as follows:

Resolved, That this board hereby requests the Commissioner of Accounts to conduct an investigation independently and openly, though in proper cooperation with other investigations now under way for the purpose of examining from the administrative and legislative viewpoint such matters as may be developed in the grand jury investigations and for the purpose of obtaining information on such matter as the following:

A. The organization of the Board of Standards and Appeals and the methods of transacting business.

B. The qualifications of the members of the board compared with charter requirements, with particular attention to any false or misleading statements made to enable appointment, and present business connections, if any.

C. The attitude of the board toward placing the burden of proof on those who wish to change existing legal conditions and requirements and the execution of its duty in giving due notice to those likely to be affected by a change from such exicting conditions.

(d) The use of powers of the board in relation to the zoning authority of the Board of Estimate and in relation to its own previous determination;

(e) The issuing and disposition of orders of the Fire Department, whether or not appeal was actually brought to the Board of Standards and Appeals;

(f) The basis of the general impression that favoritism is shown and that favorable decisions can be obtained only for the high fees, and justification therefore;

(g) Any tspect of the situation, such as relation with other city officials or employes, or with political leaders or organizations, as may be prejudicial to general public interest;

(h). Possible remedial legislation and other measures to prevent recurrence of any graft, dishonesty or corruption in places or methods as may be discovered in the course of any investigation; and be it further

Resolved, That the Commissioner of Accounts be requested to invite the full cooperation of the public, of experts, and of civic organizations, and be it further

Resolved, That he be requested to report to the Board of Aldermen the results of his investigation, together with his recommendation for changes in the charter and zoning rules of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment or other action at the earliest possible date.

Asks Chairman's Removal.

After the board meeting Mr. Baldwin made a statement which said in part:

"In calling for action regarding the Board of Standards and Appeals my first concern was and still is to protect the public. It seemed to me that the first step in this direction was to remove as chairman of the board a man who, irrespective of any criminality, had proved himself unsuitable and incompetent by his record.

"It was my hope that Mayor Walker and my colleagues on the Board of Aldermen would take the opportunity I offered in my resolution of bringing about Mr. Walsh's resignation and his replacement by a man thoroughly in sympathy with the purposes of the Board of Standards and Appeals as set forth in the charter.

"Failing this, it seems to me that it is essential to provide a public investigation which will take up not only any possible criminal aspects of the situation but also the handling of the public business and the functioning of what is an important public bureau.

"Mr. Crain has stated that he is only interested in the criminal aspects. I am, of course, interested in the criminal aspects myself, but I am also interested in protecting the public from 'impatient, discourtesy, bias, prejudice, partiality, favoritism or misjudgments.'

"As a legislative official of this city I intend to force a complete public investigation of every aspect of the functioning of the Board of Standards and Appeal since the adoption of zoning laws twelve years ago. Mayor Walker who has assumed publicly responsibility for Mr. Walsh, cannot afford to keep him in office without a full investigation. To single out and prosecute some minor employe for a possible criminal act, as has so often been the sole result of these investigations, is not going to cure the situation. What the public welfare demands, and what the citizens should receive is the whole truth."

Asks Attitude of Walsh and Day.

Mr. Crain said he had sent communications to Chairman Walsh and Dr. Doyle asking them whether they would waive immunity from prosecution if called to testify before the county grand jury. He added that he had heard from Mr. Talley, Dr. Doyle's counsel, that Dr. Doyle would not consider waiving immunity. He said he had heard nothing from Mr. Walsh, but expected a letter today.

"I have served William J. O'Gorman, secretary of the Board of Standards and Appeals," Mr. Crain continued, "with a subpoena duces tecum for the production next Thursday of records of appeal certiorari in proceedings involving the zoning laws and records of appeal from the rulings of the Fire Department or any other bureau.

The District Attorney disclosed that he had received a complaint from Ruth Davis of 476 Green Avenue, Brooklyn, secretary to Judge Frederick Crane of the Court of Appeals, who came to his office with Eugene Kelly, her attorney. She said that after an application for an addition to a factory building at 259 Lexington Avenue had been denied, the case was reopened without the knowledge of those who had originally opposed the application, and it was then granted. She declared, Mr. Crain said, that the board had met secretly to grant the permit.

The Board of Standards and Appeals, at its regular meeting yesterday, ruled adversely to Mr. Doyle in a case in which he represented the appellant, although he did not appear in person. The application was that of the Howard Funding Company which, on Dec. 10, asked permission to change its first floor, at 1,615 University Avenue, the Bronx, from residential to business use. John Stratton O'Leary, real estate man and former patrolman, opposed the application on the ground that it would adversely affect his property at 1,661 Andrews Avenue, the Bronx. O'Leary said he had been "approached," but when asked by Mr. Walsh if he meant he had been offered a consideration, replied he had said nothing about such a thing. The board voted against the application.

The Federal grand jury will resume its inquiry this morning. This afternoon, if any complainants appear at Mr. Crain's office, they will be questioned in the presence of reporters, unless they request secrecy. The county grand jury will resume its investigation tomorrow.

OPPOSE FILM THEATRE IN ZONE ON EAST SIDE

Residents of 71st and 72d Streets Appeal Standards Board Ruling Allowing It.

The Appellate Division reserved decision yesterday on an appeal by wealthy residents of the section embraced between Third and Lexington Avenues and Seventy-first and Seventy-second Streets from a ruling of the Board of Standards and Appeals permitting the construction of a vaudeville and motion picture theatre on the Third Avenue frontage. The construction of the theatre was authorized by the Board of Standards and Appeals in July, 1928, and this action was later upheld by Supreme Court Justice Valente, who dismissed proceedings brought by Lansing P. Reed to review the action of the board in favor of the Wiltham Realty Company.

The record showed that the appeals board first denied the application in 1926, but that the realty company later acquired the property of General Sessions Judge Nott at 185 East Seventy-first Street, which was wholly in the restricted district. The Reed suit is supported by other property owners in the district, including Vanderbilt Webb, Caroline W. Morrs, DeCoursey Fales, Charles H. Strong, Kingdon Gould and the Junior League, who contend that there was no reasonable ground for granting a variance in the zoning restrictions in favor of the Wiltham company and that the value of their property and the quiet of the neighborhood would be affected.

The Park Avenue Association also opposed the ruling, which the Wiltham company contends was justified.

BAR HEAD ASSAILS 'POLITICAL' JUDGES

Burlingham Charges Quality of Nominations Has Lowered Prestige of the Bench.

CRITICIZES GOV. ROOSEVELT

In Annual Report to City Body, He Praises Its Work in the Mancuso, Vitale and Bankruptcy Cases.

The qquality of judicial nominations in New York City has deteriorated and the bench does not command the respect it once had, according to statements made last night by Charles C. Burlingham, president of the Bar Association of New York City, in his annual report at association headquarters, 42 West Forty-fourth Street. He urged concerted action to end the system by which "politicians are free to select judges at their own pleasure."

He praised the organization for its work in the bankruptcy investigation, the Magistrate Vitale case and the case of Judge Mancuso, as "work that had to be done, was well done and we hope it will have a lasting effect."

In his talk against judges selected by politicians, Mr. Burlingham said:

"We thought it a sign of promise when a few years ago the political organizations for the first time sent our committee the names of persons whom they were considering as candidates; but we cannot flatter ourselves that any serious attention has been paid to our opinions or recommendations. Political considerations have invariably determined the choice of candidates, save in the case of renominations. However, we have made progress, and if the three bar associations of this department will stand together and refuse to give their approval to inferior or mediocre candidates, we may be able to improve the quality of the naminations.

Praises Court of Appeals.

"Fortunately, the politicians have for the most part kept their hands off our highest cuort—the Court of Appeals has never ranked higher than it does today. And the power given the Governor by the Constitution of 1894, to designate the justices of the Appellate Division has usually been exercised wisely, with the result that the Appellate courts of New York have a deservedly high reputation.

"No one can be certain that even a good lawyer will prove to good judge; but it must be coceded that learning, experience and character afford a better assurance than political activity and party fealty. I cannot believe that the lists submitted by the political organizations to our Judiciary Committee represent the best lawyers available for juidcial office.

"One would expect that in the case of nominations by the Governor to fill vacancies caused by resigation or death a higher standard would be set up, for a Governor is in a position to demand that any candidate proposed by a political organization shall measure up to his standard. I regret to say that during the past year our committee has been able to render little aid to the Governor. Approval by the Bar Association is desired but it is approval of a person already determined on for political reasons—not to be considered judgments of a body of disinterested lawyers who know better than any other class in the community the character, ability, experience and temperament of their fellow lawyers.

"Unsuccessful" in Aiding Mayor.

The association's efforts to help the Mayor in the choice of candidates, Mr. Burlingham said, was "unsuccessful," and he deplored the fact that the bill requiring the Mayor to publish the names of candidates he expects to appoint to the bench had been "lost" in the Assembly after passing in the Senate.

Up-State aid would be needed to bring about a reform, Mr. Burlingham said, and he called for closer relations between bar associations toward that end. Efforts toward co-ordination are already under way.

"A united bar can accomplish much," he said. "New machinery, however, will not be enough—nor federations, nor councils, nor commissions, nor reports, nor resolutions, nor questionnaires. Public opinion regarding the administratih of justice, civil as well as criminal, is aroused. The public and the press look to us for leadership and to lead successfully calls for knowledge, wisdom, determination, persistence and enthusiasm."

Mr. Burlingham expressed the wish that the Board of Estimate would take action on the association's recommendation for centralization of the magistrate's courts and spoke of the failure of the Crime Commission to take steps to abolish the third degree. The association adopted a resolution asking for removal of the Postoffice Building in City Hall Park and for erection of a new courthouse in the Civic Center "as soon as practicable."

The folowing nominations were announced:

President—CHARLES C. BURLINGHAM.

Vice Presidents—ALLAN McCULLOH, LANGDON P. MARVIN, JOHN BASSETT MOORE, CHARLES NEAVE, JOSEPH M. PROSKAUER.

Aproves West Point Houses Bill.

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP).—The House Military Committee approved a bill today to authorize $45,000 for completion of officers' quarters at the Military Academy at West Point.

VAUSE, HARRIMAN IN PIER FEE INQUIRIES

Mr. Tuttle in disclosing that Judge Vause reported income of $30,000 in 1926 violated Section 1025 of the Annotated U. S. Code which holds that any officer of the government who does so "shall be dismissed from office or discharged from employment."

In view of the invasion of Judge Vause's constitutional rights, as part of "a publicity stunt" by Mr. Tuttle, Mr. Untermyer said he would advise the judge, whether "innocent or guilty of any of the charges that have been hurled against him in this lawless manner," to "hereafter stand upon his legal rights and answer no further questions from any source except as provided by law."

In conclusion Mr. Untermyer said:

"I do not mean by this for a moment to imply that District Attorney Crain would be tempted to follow what I regard as the indefensible action of Mr. Tuttle, but after such disregard of the legal rights of Judge Vause by a high public official of unsullied reputation who is sworn to protect those rights, I see no alternative for Judge Vause but to rely upon the safeguards that the law has beneficently thrown around him. That is what he should have done in the first instance instead of permitting himself to be beguiled into answering questions on a subject on which Mr. Tuttle and the grand jury had no more right to inquire into than you or I."

Elsewhere in the letter Mr. Untermyer explained that he could express no opinion regarding the "guilt or innoceuce" of Judge Vause because he knew nothing about the merits of the charges except what the judge or his lawyers had told him.

No Cosgrove Report Since 1926.

While the many-sided investigations were going forward at the offices of Mr. Crain and Mr. Tuttle, it was discovered that Michael Cosgrove, Dock Commissioner, has filed no report on the business of his department since 1926, despite the requirement in Section 829 of the city charter that an accounting be rendered annually. Commissioner Cosgrove admitted it was true that he had neglected to file reports for 1927, 1928 and 1929, but declared that reports for 1927 and 1928 were "in the hands of the printer." The difficulty of assembling data under the press of business was given as an explanation by the commissioner, who recommended to the Sinking Fund Commission the approval of the leases.

When Acting Mayor McKee was informed of this he said:

"While the city charter requires the submission of annual reports from all city commissioners, their failure to comply with that charter position is a matter for the Mayor himself to take up."

The charter provision reads:

"The Commissioner of Docks shall annually present to the Mayor of the city a report containing:

"First, the name, occupation and compensation of all officers, clerks and agents appointed and employed by said department.

"Second, a statement of the actions of the Department of Docks for the past year, classified with reference to the various subjects and duties which have engaged his attention.

"Third, a list of the orders and rules made by said Commissioner of Docks and a description of the contracts made by said commissioner, the payments made by said commissioner and the purposes and amounts thereof, and the leases made by said commissioner, for what term, at what rent, to whom and for what property.

"Said Commissioner of Docks shall at the time he presents his annual report to the Mayor also file with the Civil Service Supervisory and Examining Boards of the city of New York a complete statement of the name, address and salary or compensation of all persons employed in any capacity by said Department of Docks which shall be published in the City Record."

One of the important developments of the day was the appearance of Mr. O'Brien at the United States Attorney's office at the request of Mr. Tuttle. Mr. O'Brien is a member of the law firm of O'Brien, Boardman, Conboy, Meinhard and Early, and Mr. Tuttle made it clear both before and after his examination by Mr. Mintzer that the attorney obviously knew nothing of the connection of Judge Vause with the matter he thought he was handling alone.

Mr. O'Brien told Mr. Mintzer he was retained by Mr. Robinson, then president of the United American Line in May, 1926, to open negotiations with the city for the leasing of the two unusually long piers strategically located near Forty-second Street on the North River.

"Did Mr. Robinson tell you any other counsel had been retained?" the attorney was asked.

"No," he replied.

"Had you heard that in 1926 Judge Vause or Joseph S. Boyle were also employed to do the same thing for which you were employed?"

"No; I was under the impression that I was initiating the whole matter concerning the piers."

"How many conferences did you have with Mr. Robinson?"

"Two or three, as I remember."

"Did you speak with any other officer of the United American Line?"

"To Mr. Harriman, an official of the company and a friend of mine."

"Did Mr. Harriman tell you whether or not Judge Vause or Boyle were employed in the matter?"

"He did not."

Mr. O'Brien's Statement.

"Prior to 1926, and subsequent thereto, I have been employed in different capacities by Mr. Harriman, who controlled at that time, the United American Lines and in the course of said employment, was retained in May, 1926, to apply to the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund for leases to piers 84 and 86 North River, on behalf of the United American Lines.

"Pursuant to this employment, I appeared before the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund in June of 1926 at a public hearing at which time, at the request of one of the members of the board, the hearing was adjourned until a particular member of the board making such request could make further study of the leases. At a subsequent hearing, the application came on for public hearing and it was stated at that time by the member of the board requesting the adjournment in order to make a thorough study, that the leases in his opinion were very advantageous to the city, inasmuch as the city was to receive a return under the proposed rental of about 9½ per cent of the city's money invested, which was much higher than they were receiving from any of the other piers.

"The representative of the Dock Department substantially said the same thing, and the report of the Controller which was on file recommended the approval of the lease as most desirable from the standpoint of the city. The board unanimously approved the leases and they subsequently were executed.

"Throughout the proceeding I appeared as sole attorney. I was always under the impression that I was the sole attorney and would be very much surprised to know that any other attorney was directly or indirectly concerned with this application."

The mystery as to the alleged retention of Judge Vause at so great a fee was heightened by Mr. O'Brien's statement. In 1923, according to information in the hands of the United States Attorney, piers 84 and 86 and 90 were turned over under permit, subject to revocation, to the United American Lines. The International Mercantile Marine Company and the Cunard Steamship Company almost immediately filed protests. These documents, received by the Sinking Fund Commission on May 17, 1923, called attention of the need of these two lines for long piers such as 84 and 86.

The United American Lines, according to Mr. Tuttle, continued in possession of the three piers and during 1923, 1924 and 1925 payments approximating $118,000 were made to the law firm of Vause & Vause. In 1926, before Mr. O'Brien was retained, Mr. Tuttle said, $72,000 was paid to Judge Vause and another $60,000 was paid after the leases were granted, although the judge never appeared before the Sinking Fund Commission.

Officials Who Testified.

Mr. Tuttle also revealed the names of the United American Lines officers who appeared before the grand jury which indicted Judge Vause in connection with the Columbia Finance Corporation failure. Apparently none of them had said anything about the employment of Mr. O'Brien to negotiate for the leases, for Mr. Tuttle did not know of his connection with the case until a notice of his appearance was found on the minutes of the Sinking Fund Commission. It was understood that the calling of Mr. Harriman and Mr. Robinson today had to do with this phase of the matter.

The officers who testified before the grand jury were: Alfred Engelke, treasurer of the Hamburg-American Line and a director of the United American Line; Christian J. Beck, a director of the Hamburg-American Line and vice president of the United American Line; Russell W. Hart, a director of the United American Line and Mr. Robinson, its president. Mr. Robinson refused to discuss the leases with newspaper men yesterday, and at Mr. Harriman's offices it was said that he was out.

Mr. Mintzer, supplementing Mr. Tuttle's remarks, said Mr. Robinson had admitted engaging Judge Vause to act as attorney in obtaining the pier leases. Mr. Robinson, however, said there had been no written retainer, nor any detailed bills for services from Judge Vause. Bills had been rendered for legal services in Judge Vause's behalf and promptly paid, he asserted.

While Mr. O'Brien was being interviewed at the Federal Building, Hans P. Freece, who with Mr. Boyle made up the firm of Vause & Vause after the elevation of Judge Vause to the bench in 1923, was explaining his connection with the leases at his office, 11 West Forty-second Street. From 1923 until Jan. 1, 1926, when he was appointed chief of the Bureau of Law and Adjustment in the Department of Finance under Controller Berry, he carried on active negotiations for the leases, he said. His share of the fees for the whole period, he asserted, was $3,000, and if any such amount as $250,000 was paid "it must have all gone on behind my back," he added.

At the time the leases were granted, Mr. Freece said, he was holding a city job in Mr. Berry's department. Subsequently he resigned at the Controller's request over "a difference of opinion." When he left Vause & Vause he said he had nothing further to do with the leases and never turned over any data or memoranda to Mr. O'Brien or anyone else, although he admitted his correspondence with the Dock Department was "extensive," while actively connected with the matter.

In all the time he was connected with the law firm, he said, he never heard any mention of Frank Baxter, who Mr. Tuttle says was a fictitious person used to cover the real recipient of $35,000 of the $250,000 fees. Nor had Mr. Freece ever heard the name of William Jerome, in whose name a bank account was opened by George Vause, a brother of the judge, according to Mr. Tuttle.

Mr. Freece began his remarks with a complaint that reference to him as one of the backers of the American University Club failed to include the information that an investigation of the financing of that project failed to disclose the misappropriation of a single penny. The club, he said, is in good shape today in spite of the investigation. He declared he had the highest regard for Judge Vause and could not believe "that he is guilty of any of the irregularities alleged against him."

Hamburg Line Replies.

District Attorney Crain, who on Monday sent fifteen letters to persons connected with the leasing of the piers, received one reply. It was from the Hamburg-American Line, the present occupants of the piers, asserting that they had taken over the leases from the United American Line, which no longer operates ships. It was the failure of Judge Vause to reply to a request of the District Attorney for information on what he did with the money he is alleged to have received which prompted Mr. Crain to issue the request subpoena for him to appear today.

A request subpoena is tantamount to an invitation to call upon the District Attorney. Failure to respond entails no penalty, but such failure usually is followed by the issuance of a grand jury subpoena, disregard of which is contempt of court. The summons was given to James Murphy, a process server, for execution.

Mr. Crain announced in the afternoon that District Attorney George E. Brower of Kings County had requested permission for one of his assistants to sit with the New York County officials in an observer's capacity in order that any crimes committed in Brooklyn might be prosecuted promptly. Mr. Crain said he would grant the request.

An indication of the breadth of the investigations now under way was seen in the statement of Mr. Crain in the afternoon that "the giver of a bribe is as guilty in the eyes of the law as the man who receives it."

United States Attorney Howard W. Ameli of Brooklyn said he was waiting until an investigation of Judge Vause's income tax returns was complete before determining his course of action in that phase of the case. Mr. Tuttle has charged that the judge failed to include a $132,000 fee from the United American Line in his 1926 report.

This afternoon the trustees of the Brooklyn Bar Association will meet at 4:30 o'clock to discuss what action, if any, should be taken in view of Mr. Tuttle's charge that Judge Vause practiced law while on the bench of a court of record in direct violation of the statutes.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

FORMBY, England, May 13.—The second and third rounds of the women's British golf championship were decided today and as a result America may well be proud of the golfers sent over to try to bring back the one great trophy still to be won. Out of twelve who survived the first day's play, five have fallen, but seven remain to do battle tomorrow and these seven make a truly formidable band.

The include Miss Glenna Collett, Miss Helen Hicks, Miss Virginia Van Wie and Miss Maureen Orcutt—the "big four"—supplemented by Miss Edith Quier, Mrs. Stewart Hanley and Mrs. Leo G. Federman—the last named one of the coolest, steadiest players I have yet seen.

Miss Collett and Miss Molly Gourlay will meet in the fourth round tomorrow and the result of their match may decide the championship, with the posibility of an all-American final.

Praise for Miss Quier.

Special word must be given to Miss Quier. I hear that opinion in America regards her as likely to prove the one on whose shoulders Miss Collett's mantle is most likely to fall. What I have seen of her golf—and I hope I see more—leads me to the same opinion.

Certainly she has found a particular niche for herself in the band of golfers who have won golden opinions among us both on and off the links, for she has a personality as attractive as her game. It is difficult to estimate the respective qualities of the others, but outside of Miss Collett I regard the Misses Hicks, Van Wie and Orcutt as chiefly to be feared.

Miss Collett was not at her best today against Miss Mary Beard, who was carrying far lighter artillery, yet fought bravely. Had Miss Beard not taken three putts on the second and third greens, which made a difference of two holes, and had she holed her eight-foot putt for a birdie 3 on the eighth green—she only missed it by inches—she would have turned 2 up instead of 1 down.

As it was, Miss Collett turned with a lead, pulled herself together and became 3 up. After that, although she lost the thirteenth, where she was over the green with her second, she always had the match in hand and won by 4 and 2.

Miss Hicks Displays Power.

Miss Hicks played two matches and won both by 7 and 5, her great power obviously paralyzing her opponents. Miss Orcutt won both her victories in most convincing style, but Miss Quier had harder rows to hoe and won only on her merits from Mrs. Sturgess-Wells, who beat Miss Enid Wilson last year in the English ladies' championship, and from Mrs. Cautley, a champion of Kent.

Mrs. Federman had to go to the seventeenth hole before disposing of Mrs. J. B. Walker, a good golfer who still is improving each year. In fact, she had to hole a niblick shot out of a bunker for a birdie 2 at the short fifth to keep in front. Mrs. Federman went out in 39, but was only 2 up, after which holes were exchanged until the end came.

As for Mrs. Hanley, she had a desperate encounter with Miss Doris Park—daughter of the famous golfer of that name. Miss Park proved herself at St. Andrews last year and again played her own neat, accurate game today. Near the end, Mrs. Hanley's greater power and cool determination just got her home on the eighteenth green, but it was a desperately close thing.

Miss Fordyce Loses on 18th.

Miss Fordyce, one of the five who fell, only lost to Miss Howe on the last green. Miss Stifel encountered Mrs. Walter Payne, a noted match player, at her very best. Miss Wattles found Miss Fishwick in invincible mood, as did Mrs. Hill in the case of Miss Rudgard.

Mrs. Lenihan was the victim of a wonderful recovery by Miss Garnham, who in addition to being a good golfer, is a good artist as well, having designed and supervised the mural decoration of the new Smithfield Market in London. Miss Garnham was 5 down on the eleventh tee, but then played so finely as to square the match when another five had been played and went on to win with a birdie 2 at the short sixteenth and a birdie 4 at the long seventeenth.

Today we could hardly see wood for the trees, but tomorrow there will be clearings to let in light and at least one great match—the Miss Collett-Miss Gourlay encounter.

Four in Upper Half.

Of the seven American survivors I have mentioned, four—Miss Collett, Mrs. Federman, Miss Hicks and Miss Orcutt—are in the top half of the draw, the three in the lower half being Miss Quier, Miss Van Wie and Mrs. Hanley. It will be seen, therefore, that America has her forces strategically deployed.

On the British side Miss Gourlay, Miss J. B. Watson, Mrs. Garon, Miss Enid Wilson, Miss Corlett, Miss Fishwick, Mrs. Guedalla and Miss Garnham are well distributed, with Miss Beryl Brown, Miss Rudgard and Lady Alness, as well as some others less well known in support.

As for Miss Collett's chances tomorrow, I am not going to prophesy. Certainly she did not shine today against Miss Beard, but my experience is that great golfers always benefit from an escape and Miss Gourlay will, I know, leave no stone unturned to beat her best.

Mrs. Federman will meet Mrs. Dudley Charles and Miss Hicks will try conclusions with Mrs. Percy Garon. Mrs. Garon is not a long player, but she is very accurate up to and around the green and has the heart of a lioness.

Miss Orcutt will have Miss Rudgard as her opponent—a much improved Yorkshire player with all the fighting qualities of a fighting country, while Miss Quier will meet Miss Daisy Ferguson from royal County Down—another corner of the United Kingdom accustomed to receiving and giving hard knocks.

Miss Van Wie will try conclusions with Miss Kathleen MacCondla—a Highland woman from Moray, and lastly, Mrs. Hanley will be up against a Scotswoman doctor, Marion C. Alexander, who hails from St. Andrews, the sacred city of the game.

Field Reduced to 32.

FORMBY, England, May 13 (AP).—The big field in the women's British golf championship tonight was reduced to thirty-two. Two rounds will be played tomorrow and when the day's play is done the quarter-finalists will emerge.

Heavy mists spoiled the morning matches. However, the skies cleared and big galleries followed the feature matches in the afternoon. Earlier in the day the players unlimbered their umbrellas and battled their way through wind and rain.

Most of the Americans added an extra sweater and Miss Helen Hicks donned knitted mittens, leaving the tips of her fingers free. Miss Glenna Collett started wearing a waterproof but quickly shed it to do some heavy work in a bunker at the third hole.

Following are the summaries of matches in which the Americans figured:

Second Round.

Miss Kathleen Garnham, England, defeated Mrs. E. F. Lenihan, Pasadena, Cal., 2 and 1.

Argentina's Champion Coming Here.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BUENOS AIRES, May 13.—Argentina's champion middleweight boxer, Justo Suarez, who recently was appointed chancellor of the Argentine Consulate General in New York, will sail for the United States on May 30 on the Northern Prince, accompanied by his manager, José Lectoure. He expects to fight in the light-heavyweight class in the United States.

BOBBY JONES PAIRS MEN FOR GOLF TEST

Line-Ups Used in Practice Are Likely to Remain Intact for Walker Cup Play.

WILLING IS HIS PARTNER

Voigt-Von Elm, Mackenzie-Moe and Johnston-Ouimet Listed to Play Together.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

SANDWICH, Eng., May 13.—Bobby Jones paired off his men today for a tryout in foursomes play for the Walker Cup match, and so successful was the experiment that it is unlikely that any change will be made when the American team meets the Englishmen here on Thursday.

Jones had with him the veteran of the team, Dr. O. F. Willing. George Voigt was partnered by George Von Elm, Don Moe by Roland Mackenzie, and Harrison R. Johnston by Francis Ouimet.

The Von Elm-Voigt partnership returned a score of approximately 74 and the three other pairs had 73s, which Jones considered good enough.

Play Well Together.

These were the first two-ball foursomes the American team has played since it began practicing here. The players soon had accustomed themselves to the task of getting each other out of difficulties and held well together as a team.

In only two respects have the Americans found St. George's strange to home conditions. The greens contain many undulations which are difficult to detect at first and they vary considerably in pace.

They also are not too enamoured with four or five fairways which have been found to give a nasty kick to a well-hit drive. In the foursome today in which Von Elm and Voigt defeated Moe and Mackenzie by 2 and 1, both Mackenzie's and Voigt's drives were perfectly hit from the thirteenth tee, but Voigt found himself lying in the edge of the rough as a result of a kick, while Mackenzie was nicely placed for his approach shot.

Satisfied With Their Game.

All the Americans are fit and well and on the whole quite satisfied with their game. Jones has the support of his old caddie, Jock McIntyre, who caddied for him in England in 1927 and 1928.

The English have not yet announced their pairings. J. A. Stout and Sir Ernest Holderness were well on their game today and in a four-ball match defeated Roger Wethered and Cyril Tolley by 2 and 1. The best ball score was 69.

Jones Now Bank Director.

ATLANTA, Ga., May 13 (AP).—Now it's the Atlanta lawyer-banker-golfer instead of merely the lawyer-golfer when one talks about Robert Tyre Jones. It happened this afternoon.

Bobby was elected to the board of directors of the First National Bank here.

Officials of the bank cabled Bobby about it as soon as the election was over, but the news won't throw Mr. Jones off form for his golf engagements with the British. He had been told in advance what was slated to happen.

M'DONALD TRIUMPHS IN ADVERTISERS' GOLF

Gains Leg on New Trophy in Association's Tourney Over Winged Foot Links.

Special to The New York Times.

MAMARONECK, N. Y., May 13.—Joseph McDonald, who gained permanent possession of the Metropolitan Advertisers' Golf Association trophy last year, won a leg on the new cup in the association's first tournament of the season over the links of the Winged Foot Golf Club today.

McDonald led the qualifiers in the morning with a nine-hole score of 38 and had the best twenty-seven hole aggregate with a total of 119. E. N. Gants, with 130—20—110, scored the low net for Class A.

In Class B Paul West won the low gross honors with a total of 154, while J. E. Smith was the net winner with 159—41—118. The matches in the afternoon were divided into flights of four.

The other tourneys scheduled this year will be held at McDonald's home course, Knickerbocker Country Club, June 19, at Lakeville, July 17, and the concluding event at the Eastchester Country Club, Sept. 18.

The flight winners were:

MRS. LAKE TRIUMPHS IN SOUTHERN GOLF

Defeats Mrs. Crichton Easily by 6 and 4—Miss Maddox Turns Back Mrs. Brown.

GREENSBORO, N. C., May 13 (AP).—Favorites survived the second of the nineteenth annual women's southern golf tournament at the Valley Brook course today. The last of the Virginians fell by the wayside today, leaving only eight States with representation in the second round tomorrow.

All of the four ranking favorites won today's encounters with plenty of room to spare. In fact, only four of the sixteen matches developed into anything resembling contests.

Miss Margaret Maddox, the defending champion from Atlanta, had no trouble disposing of Mrs. K. J. Brown of Durham, N. C., 5 and 4; Mrs. Marion Turpie Lake of New Orleans won easily from Mrs. Marshall Crichton, Durham, 6 and 4; Mrs. David C. F. Gaut, the Memphis veteran, ran up a score of 8 and 7 to defeat Mrs. Barham Jones of Norfolk, and Mrs. Leon Solomon of Memphis gained an easy 6-and-5 decision over Mrs. Jack Vilas of Hot Springs, Ark.

Matsuyama Wins at Billiards.

Kinrey Matsuyama defeated James Clemens in an 18.2 balkline billiard exhibition at Lawler Brothers' Brooklyn Academy last night by a score of 200 to 20 in seven innings.

CARTER'S 73 SCORES ON POMONOK LINKS

With almost a record entry reporting, the Long Island Golf Association's 1930 activities began yesterday with the first of the one-day tournaments over the links of the Pomonok Country Club, Flushing, L. I. There were 146 in all who teed off from morning until mid-afternoon, and the honor of leading this vast number went to the former Irish champion, Captain E. F. Carter of Sands Point, who had a 73—one over par.

Carter kept within a stroke of par at every hole—either he was one shot over or else he had a birdie when he failed to hole out in par figures. For the first nine he was exactly 35, or par, but coming back he needed 38, a 4 at the short seventeenth sending up the score that seemed destined to be almost a replica of par itself.

E. L. Beard of Pomonok was among those to break 80, returning a satisfactory 76, while Paul Cavanagh, the young golfer from Southward Ho, followed with a 77 to tie R. F. Kilthau and B. W. Eichell of Rockville.

The first low net went to James Ellison of Lido with a 66, who scored an 87 with a twenty-one handicap, and Harry Hitt of Brentwood, another high handicap player, found the course to his liking and turned in an 88, his twenty-stroke allowance bringing him a net 68.

MET. ONE-DAY TOURNEY WON BY MRS. LAWLOR

Captures Low Gross Prize With 86 at Gedney Farm—Low Net Award to Mrs. Dreyfus.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., May 13.—Although Mrs. Joseph J. Lawlor of Gedney Farm came within a stroke of gaining a tie for the low gross prize in the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association tourney at Garden City last week, she led the eighty-eight competitors, undisputed, this afternoon in the association's one-day tournament over her home course with an 86.

Despite the fact that the round was some four shots above the best she has ever had over the Gedney Farm links, Mrs. Lawlor played steadily for the major part of the round. She was out in 41, five over men's par, and back in 45.

Both Miss Martha Parker of Westchester Hills, the New Jersey champion, and Miss Marie Jenney, former district titleholder, followed with 87's. In a nine-hole playoff, Miss Jenney proved the second gross winner, with a 42 to a 44.

Mrs. Charles Dreyfus of North Shore captured the low net award, returning a score of 101—25—76, Mrs. R. Lard of Winged Foot followed with 105—25—80. In the putting and approaching contest, which occupied most of the afternoon, Mrs. S. M. Gonda of Leewood won with a score of 35.

Joe Stecher, former heavyweight wrestling champion, will meet Joe Malcewicz of Utica in the main exhibition at Madison Square Garden tonight. The bout is listed to go to a finish. In the preliminary bouts Renato Gardini will oppose Mike Kindos, Reginald Siki will meet John Grandowitch, Joe Dtocca will tackle Abe Kaplan, Charley Manugian will clash with Carol Novina, Abdul Ghafoor Khan will oppose John Kuhlberg and Henri De Glane will face Jean Bruce.

KURZROK ADVANCES IN NORTH SIDE PLAY

Is Extended, However, to Defeat McDermott by 7-5, 6-4, to Gain the Quarter Finals.

With Jack McDermott of the home club distinguishing himself by carrying Dr. Lawrence Kurzrok to a deuce set and two more members of the seeded group going down in defeat, play in the north side championship reached the quarter finals yesterday at the University Heights Tennis Club.

McDermott, playing the same steady, resourceful tennis that he showed at Staten Island last week, surprised the gallery by staying on even terms with the hard-hitting southpaw from the Bronx to 5-all in the first set and after losing it continued to press his younger opponent closely in the second chapter. Kurzrok won at 7—5, 6—4.

Martin Buxby, youthful player from Florida, who gave a fine account of himself in the Greater New York championship a week ago, fell an unexpected victim of Frank Bonneau, local southpaw. Bonneau's smooth work at the net and fast forehanders were just a little too much for the youngster, who yielded at 6—4, 3—6, 6—3.

Richard Lewis of Staten Island was the other seeded player to fall by the wayside. He was eliminated by Jerome Minster of University Heights at 6—3, 5—7, 6—2.

Percy L. Kynaston, the defending titleholders, and Perrine Rockefellow were the other two winners of the day. Kynaston accounted for E. Ralph Martin at 6—2, 6—3, while Rockafellow defeated Mac Jacobs, 6—2, 6—0. The summaries:

Fourth Round—Dr. Lawrence Kurzrok defeated Jack McDermott, 7—5, 6—4; Percy Kynaston defeated E. Ralph Martin, 6—2, 6—3; Jerome Minster defeated Richard Lewis, 6—3, 5—7, 6—2; Frank Bonneau defeated Martin Buxby, 6—4, 3—6, 6—3; Perrine Rockafellow defeated Mac Jacobs, 6—2, 6—0.

HUBBELL-ARMSTRONG GAIN IN NET DOUBLES

Ralph Hubbell and Clinton Armstrong of Flatbush School gained the quarter-final round of the fourth annual private schools tennis championship tournament when they defeated Earl Watterman and Orin Beasley of Poly Prep, 6—1, 3—6, 8—6, in a second round match on the West Side tennis courts at Forest Hills yesterday. Hubbell, teamed with George Traston, won the private schools doubles championship for Flatbush last year.

Bill Donovan, Fordham Prep star, defeated Jonas of Poly Prep, 6—1, 6—1, in a second round singles match. Harris of Horace Mann also turned in an impressive victory in a second-round contest when he triumphed over Lazarus of McBurney School, 6—1, 6—0.

THE SUMMARIES.

Singles.

First Round—Jonas, Poly Prep, defeated Riordan, Dwight School, 6—0, 6—0; Cohn, Columbia Grammar, defeated Adams, Riverdale School, 5—7, 6—2, 6—2; Williams, Collegiate Prep, defeated Leavitt, Hamilton Institute, 6—3, 6—3; Maynard, Barnard School, defeated Pairitz, Kelvin School, 3—6, 6—4, 6—4; Lazarus, McBurney School, defeated Dauneman, Flatbush School, 6—1, 6—0; Donovan, Fordham Prep, drew a bye.

Second Round—Donovan, Fordham Prep, defeated Jonas, Poly Prep, 6—1, 6—1; Williams, Collegiate Prep, defeated Cohn, Columbia Grammar, 6—1, 6—0; Maynard, Barnard School, defeated Turner, Brooklyn Friends, 6—2, 11—9; Harris, Horace Mann, defeated Lazarus, McBurney, 6—1, 6—0.

Doubles.

First Round—Hubbell and Armstrong, Flatbush School, defeated Haslach and Freeman, Dwight School, 6—0, 6—0; Cockrell and Herbst, Barnard, defeated Berry and Epstein, Hamilton Institute, 6—0, 6—0; Wallace and Woodrow, Brooklyn Friends, won from Strauss and Greene, Kelvin School, by default; Gersten and Stemper, Columbia Grammar, defeated Kridel and Tolson, Collegiate Prep, 6—1, 6—0; Law and Verstraten, McBurney School, defeated Cushman and Dowley, Trinity School, 6—1, 6—2; Watterman and Beasley, Poly Prep, drew a bye; Peters and Biehn, Riverdale School, drew a bye; Holsmith and Quglis, Horace Mann, drew a bye.

Second Round—Hubbell and Armstrong, Flatbush School, defeated Watterman and Beasley, Poly Prep, 6—1, 3—6, 8—6; Cockrell and Herbst, Barnard School, defeated Peters and Biehn, Riverdale School, 6—1, 6—2; Wallace and Woodrow, Brooklyn Friends, defeated Goldsmith and Quglis, Horace Mann, 6—4, 6—3; Law and Verstraten, McBurney School, defeated Gersten and Stemper, Columbia Grammar, 6—1, 6—2.

Stone Wins 3-Cushion Prize.

Jerry Stone captured first prize in the semi-weekly rapid-fire three-cushion billiard tourney conducted at White's Billiard Academy last night. Edward Sherman was second and Art Vogle third.

Ruth to Be Referee Tomorrow In N. Y. A. C. Members' Bouts

Babe Ruth will step forth as a boxing referee tomorrow night, when he will be the third man in the ring during the bout between the light-heavyweights who are to clash in the New York Athletic Club members' boxing tournament at the city clubhouse. The home-run king will be making his first appearance in New York in this capacity, although he has officiated in boxing bouts in other cities. The program will include seven bouts between members of the New York A. C. and will mark the first such occasion in twenty-five years at the Winged Foot club.

LOTT AND VAN RYN NAMED FOR SINGLES

Chicagoan Is Picked for No. 1 Position in Tie Against Canadian Davis Cup Team.

DOUBLES PAIR SELECTED

PHILADELPHIA, May 13 (AP).—George M. Lott of Chicago and John Van Ryn of East Orange, N. J., will play No. 1 and No. 2, respectively, in singles, and Wilmer Allison of Austin, Texas, and Van Ryn will be paired in the doubles for the United States in the First American Zone Davis Cup tennis tie against Canada at the Philadelphia Country Club Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

Selection of the United States representatives was announced tonight by Fitz-Eugene Dixon, captain of the Davis Cup team, after a conference with Joseph W. Wear, chairman of the United States Davis Cup committee. The draw will be made tomorrow.

Captain Dixon expressed his appreciation for the "fine team spirit" of the American players and said he felt confident of their ability to emerge victorious over the Canadians. He warned the players against overconfidence, pointing out that the Canadian representatives had worked hard in their preparation for the matches and were in fine condition.

Both the American and Canadian teams put in a day of strenuous practice. Vincent Richards took on Lott, breaking even with the brilliant young Westerner, 6—2 and 6—3. Allison played good tennis in disposing of Richards, 7—5, in a one-set encounter. Then Doeg defeated the tiring professional in a single set, 7—5. The Canadians worked hard under Garrett H. Meldrum, president of the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association.

ENGLAND TOPS POLAND IN DAVIS CUP PLAY

Sharpe Beats Tloczynsky and Lee Turns Back Stolarow in Final Two Matches.

TORQUAY, England, May 13 (Canadian Press Cable).—The English Davis Cup team won both singles matches with Poland today to gain the third round.

Snigel Sharpe, who easily defeated Max Stolarow of Poland yesterday, played Tloczynsky and scored in straight sets, 6—2, 6—1, 6—1. H. G. N. Lee, England's ace, had more difficulty, however, in disposing of Stolarow, 6—4, 6—2, 8—6.

England will play either Australia or Ireland in the third round.

RAIN BALKS CRICKETERS.

Prevents Play in English Matches—Australian Test Abandoned.

LONDON, May 13 (Canadian Press).—Rain prevented play in a number of cricket matches in England today. The match at Sheffield between the Australians and Yorkshire was abandoned, the scores yesterday being Australia 320, Yorkshire 155. Other matches which were abandoned were Surrey vs. Northamptonshire at the Kennington Oval and Middlesex vs. Derbyshire at Lord's. In the county matches the clubs divide the points for the championship table.

Not a ball could be bowled at Manchester today, and the match between Gloucestershire and Lancashire was given up, with the latter winning on the first innings.

CUTLER IS DOUBLE VICTOR.

Defeats Ribas, 25-16, and 25-19, in Three-Cushion Matches.

Albert G. Cutler evened his score with Isidro Ribas by capturing both blocks in their exhibition three-cushion matches at Dwyer's Recreation Academy yesterday. In the afternoon, Cutler scored 25 to 16 for Ribas. This block lasted twenty-six innings, and both players had high runs of 3. At night, Cutler won, 25 to 19, in twenty-five innings. His high run was 6, and Ribas's 5.

SAKMAN CAPTURES TITLE.

Paired With Lennon, He Wins State 4-Wall Doubles Handball Crown.

William Sakman, paired with Arthur Lennon, representing the Trinity Club, captured the New York State four-wall doubles handball championships last night by defeating Cy Regan and John McGuire, New York A. C., 15—21, 21—8, 21—10, at the New York A. C.

JOHANN WINS CUE TITLE.

Joseph R. Johann captured the National Class B 18.2 balkline billiards championship when he turned back David Weiner, 200 to 184, in a play-off match at Cranfield's Billiard Academy last night. The match lasted thirty-six innings with Johann registering a high run of thirty-two and Weiner one of fifty-three.

YACHT ENTERPRISE OUTFOOTS VANITIE

New Cup Boat Which Defeated Resolute Monday Beats Other Noted Racer.

MARGIN 2:20 FOR 10 MILES

Lambert Craft 1:13 Faster in 5-Mile Reach, but Falls Behind Against Wind.

SOFT AIRS ON THE SOUND

Enterprise May Get Lighter Mast Today—Two More Racing Dates for New Cup Yachts.

By JAMES ROBBINS.

Having outfooted Resolute in her first test race Monday, Enterprise, one of the new America's Cup defense yachts, took on Vanitie yesterday and defeated her by 2 minutes and 20 seconds over ten miles.

Vanitie, tossed in the discard when Resolute was chosen to defend the cup ten years ago, had far surpassed the old defender in their matches in the last few years, and with her lighter construction and large sail rig was looked upon as likely to beat all the heavier new boats, particularly in light weather.

It was light weather yesterday, with a breeze of only four to seven miles an hour, yet the new racer clearly had the better of it. On a broad reach of five miles, Vanitie was 1 minute and 13 seconds faster, but in the turn around over the same distance against the wind, Enterprise again demonstrated her quality with sheets trimmed in flat, and she zigzagged that five miles 3 minutes and 33 seconds faster.

Vanitie really had an alibi, as she was dressed in a new suit of sails so new the wrinkles had not been ironed out of them by the wind. It was her first spin of the year and her new crew had not had a single workout together.

Resolute at City Island.

Resolute, Enterprise's trial horse was at City Island to have longer spreaders put on her mast and her mainsail recut. She will not be ready until Friday. Vanitie was lying there waiting for Weetamoe, the yacht being rigged at the Herreshoff shipyards in Bristol, R. I., and which she is scheduled to test. Gerard B. Lambert, Vanitie's owner, was willing to race, so a contest with Enterprise was decided upon.

Vanitie went over to Glen Cove where Enterprise lay, Mr. Lambert sailing his boat. Harold Vanderbilt took Enterprise's wheel. With him was C. Sherman Hoyt, behind smoked spectacles. It was the first taste of shirt sleeve racing of the season.

The Sound was like a smooth sheet of slate, with no more motion on it than in a pan of set milk. Overhead were tufts of stringy white clouds, the makings of a breeze, but optimism had to be buoyed in the Caribbean-like heat.

Finally a faint breath came up along the Westchester shore and the two racers, with sails up and ready for what might come, headed over to it, little more than drifting. They made for Parsonage Point, off Rye, and there found the air like young Lochinvar, out of the West. It hauled northwest and a course was chosen diagonally across the Sound to Oak Neck, west of Oyster Bay, and back. This gave a broad reach and a beat.

Start Made at 4:15 P. M.

A start was made at 4:15 P. M. from a line between Mr. Vanderbilt's motor yacht Vara and the Parsonage Point buoy. Vanitie made a rush for the line, traveling fast under the light air, and Enterprise shot along it, filling away as they came toward each other, and they hit the line like a team, with big ballooners bellied out.

Enterprise, standing further to the north, went into the lead. Vanitie headed true to the buoy on the Long Island shore. Those on Enterprise thought the breeze might come more northerly, but it suddenly veered more to the west. She was forced to jibe for the mark. Vanitie thus rounded ahead of her.

They went off toward the Connecticut shore on the first windward tack. Vanitie had the windward berth, but encountered a delay in setting her jib topsail. Without it she footed fast. Enterprise, not gaining on the tack, came about. Vanitie also turned, not taking any chance of Enterprise getting away into a slant of breeze that would favor her.

Vanitie's jib topsail then was set, but Enterprise was pointing up higher. She also seemed the tenderer and heeled more in the light air. There was no mistaking the fact that she was footing faster, and in a short time she worked down under Vanitie's lee and out into the lead.

This time Vanitie came about, as she was losing on the tack, and Enterprise turned to keep the advantage she had gained. Later Enterprise kept on until she was clearly up to windward before she turned.

Vanitie Has Better of Breeze.

Standing in toward Greenwich, Vanitie had the better of the breeze for a short time. She came about in it, hoping to carry it to the westward. Enterprise made the same move. Soon they made another short hitch inshore. Then as they laid the course for the finish Enterprise crossed well ahead and kept her lead. lead.

Enterprise was towed to City Island last night and her lighter wooden mast may be stepped today. If it is, there probably will be no more racing until Friday. Those handling the big boats, however, are hankering for breezes, and should Old Boreas come to life any day, rigging plans may be cast to the wind and sails set.

Two more formal races between the new cup boats and the old also have been arranged to be held on the Sound. The Seawanhaka Corinthian Yacht Club of Oyster Bay is to hold them, probably on June 16 and 17 after the New York Yacht Club's June 11 and 12 dates at Glen Cove.

THE SUMMARY.

Start, 4:15 P. M. Course, 10 Miles.

Hoyt Holds Browns to Five Hits as Yanks Win; Cards Stop Giants

YANKS WIN AS HOYT GIVES ONLY 5 HITS

4TH IN ROW FOR NEW YORK

By WILLIAM E. BRANDT.

The rising tide in Yankee affairs carried them to the .500 line in the percentage table yesterday for the first time this season. Their 4-to-1 victory over the St. Louis Browns in the Browns' first appearance of the season at the Stadium stretched the Yanks winning streak to four straight, the best they have done so far this year.

It was a clean-cut triumph, featuring Waite Hoyt's five-hit suppression of the Browns, brilliant base running by Byrd and Lary and some timely hitting by Chapman, Ruth and Lazzeri. The pitchers ruled for the day. The two teams had only thirteen hits to split. One two-bagger for each side was the extent of the extra base hitting. It required something besides hits to give the Yanks as big an advantage over the Browns as three runs. Byrd and Lary provided the extra element with their nimble footwork on the bases.

Hoyt held the Browns in check without any severe strain after the first inning. Their run had color and menace only because it happened so early and because their pitcher, Dick Coffman, for three innings gave every sign of having the Yanks where he wanted them.

Kress's Double Scores Blue.

With two out in the first inning and Blue on second base as the result of a pass and an infield out, Kress doubled, scoring Blue. Badgro beat out a hit to deep short.

Then they tried to double-steal on Benny Bengough, who made his season's first start as Yankee catcher. Ben's doubtful arm rifled the ball to Lazzeri and Tony rifled it back in time to nab Kress coming home from third. That was all for the Browns. They never pushed a man past second base in the last eight innings, and only once did a Brownie get past first.

The Yanks had no success, either, until Byrd stole second in the fourth inning. Young Sam staged a dramatic return to the line-up. He doubled in the second inning and singled to centre with one out in the fourth. Then he dispelled all doubt as to the recovery of his foot from its spike-wound by making a dash for second with Coffman holding the ball. Coffman threw to first, and Byrd beat Blue's relay to second base. Chapman delivered a hot single to centre, scoring Byrd and tying the score.

Yankees Make Double Steal.

Combs led off the fifth with a single. Lary dashed a single through the pitcher's box. Ruth rolled a single to right, scoring Combs and putting Lary on second. Then Lary staged base-line scamper No. 2. As Coffman pitched Lary dashed safely to third as the front-runner of a double steal, Ruth prancing from first to second. Lazzeri drove them both home with the inning's fourth straight single.

Coffman left and Chad Kimsey, a large, lean right-hander, took the slab. Whereupon the Yankees stopped hitting for the duration of the afternoon. They were just as passive in the last three innings as were the Browns under Hoyt's mighty spell.

ATHLETICS' HITTING ROUTS WHITE SOX

Victors Hammer Three Pitchers for 17 Hits, Scoring Six Runs in Sixth Inning.

PHILADELPHIA, May 13 (AP).—The Athletics held their winning pace today by defeating the Chicago White Sox, 14 to 7, in a slugging match that opened their three-game series.

Each team had to call on three pitchers and the Athletics hammered the Chicago trio for seventeen hits. The world's champions hit the peak of their attack in the sixth inning, when they slammed the offerings of young Ed Walsh and Bob Weiland for six runs. The Sox hit Bill Shores and Jack Quinn for fifteen hits before Walberg stopped them.

ROCHESTER TOPS BEARS FOR FIFTH IN A ROW

Wings Sweep Four-Game Series—Score 6 in 5th and 3 in 7th on Collins's Homer.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., May 12 (AP).—Rochester benefited by Jersey City's defeat of Toronto and Bill Zitzmann's error in left field with two out in the fifth to beat the Newark Bears, 9-5, and jump into a tie for second with Baltimore today. The Wings scored six runs in the fifth, all unearned, off Jim Faulkner and added three more in the seventh on a homer by Rip Collins.

The victory marked a clean sweep of the four-game series. It was the fifth triumph for Rochester in a row, the fifth consecutive defeat for Newark, and the second time that Newark has lost five in succession this season.

INDIANS HIT HARD TO BEAT SENATORS

Tally 5 Runs in First and 6 in Third to Take Opener of Three-Game Series.

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP).—The Cleveland Indians took the first of a three-game series with the Senators today, 11 to 6. All the scoring was done in the first three innings, Cleveland driving Lloyd Brown from the box in the first with five runs, and sending Thomas to the showers in the third after scoring six more.

Washington scored its runs in the second and third innings, pounding Miller out of the box. Harder, for the Indians, and Moore, for the Senators, pitched good ball as relief hurlers. Morgan, in right field, for the Indians, hit a homer.

JERSEY CITY WINS SERIES AT TORONTO

TORONTO, May 13 (AP).—Jersey City defeated Toronto, 5 to 3, today to take the odd game of the series. It was the first series the Leafs have lost this season.

The game was decided in the first inning when the Jerseys scored four runs, with one man out and two men on base, an infield misplay allowed one run to score. Wera hit a double and Selkirk a single to drive in three more runs.

Prudhomme pitched effectively after the first inning. He was opposed by Henderson, who held the Leafs to five hits. It was his second victory of the series, having blanked Toronto on Saturday.

TIGERS BUNCH HITS AND TAME RED SOX

BOSTON, May 13 (AP).—Detroit hit Russell hard in the second, fifth and seventh innings today and beat the Red Sox, 4 to 1. Arthur Herring did mound duty for the Tigers and humbled the Bostonians.

Clean hits chased the deciding runs across the plate for Detroit. Funk led the Tigers, both at bat and in the field.

PHILLIES' 18 HITS SUBDUE PIRATES

PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 13 (AP).—An eighteen-hit offensive, including three home runs, today carried Philadelphia to a 14-to-8 victory over Pittsburgh and shoved the Pirates into the second division.

Klein, Whitney and Davis hit for the circuit, Klein's home run being his eighth of the season.

Benge went the route for the Phillies, while four Pirate hurlers, including the starter, Petty, were hit hard.

Stuart Clarke, utility infielder, was added to the growing list of Pirate injured when he turned an ankle in practice prior to the game.

MARCH OF GIANTS HALTED BY CARDS

Doubles by Hafey, Wilson, Gelbert Erase 4-3 Lead in 6th—Hafey Also Hits Homer.

WALKER GOES THE ROUTE

But Yields to St. Louis, Which Wins 7th in Row—Losers Score 3 Runs in Sixth.

By JOHN DREBINGER.

Special to The New York Times.

ST. LOUIS, May 13.—The Giants planted their heavy cannonware on the west bank of the Mississippi today, determined to carry on their successful operations along the western front without interruption, but somebody, it seems, dropped a little water in their powder caskets and, as incidents of even lesser significance have been known to overthrow great dynasties, one can already guess the result. It was a complete disaster, as the Cardinals carried the day in the opening clash of the three-game series by 6 to 4.

It was the seventh straight triumph for the Cards, the first setback in four days for the Giants, and lopped off a full game on the league lead which the McGraw legions so forcefully had compiled for themselves during the past week.

Only once in the entire afternoon did the vaunted Giant offensive that in succession had overwhelmed Pittsburgh and Chicago manifest itself. That was in the sixth inning, when a spirited McGraw attack leveled Willie Sherdel with a three-run barrage that put the Giants in front, 4 to 3.

Three Hit Doubles.

But in the same round Willie Walker blew the lead in no time at all. Chick Hafey doubled, Wilson doubled and Gelbert hit still another two-bagger. This trio of two-base blows accounted for two runs and put the Cardinals ahead once more. When Hafey returned in the eighth to slap a homer into the left-field bleachers it made the decision unanimous.

Walker, though he went the route, which in itself is a matter of no small moment with the Giants today, encountered frequent difficulties, the first of these coming in the third, when a single by Gelbert, a sacrifice, a pass and a wild pitch put runners on second and third. A single by Sparky Adams put both of them over the plate.

In the fourth the Cards picked up another tally on a single by Peel and a double by Hafey that scored the former when Jackson fumbled the relay into the infield.

Score Run in Fourth.

In the meantime Sherdel was moving along smoothly. A pair of doubles by Ott and Reese gave the Giants their first tally in the fourth, but nothing developed in the fifth, and not in many days have the McGraw swatters been held to one run in five innings. Finally, in the sixth the Giants got their sights adjusted. Lindstrom and Terry singled, Ott banged his second successive double against the right-field pavilion and Lindy counted. A pass to Jackson, filling the bases, followed, and Sherdel left for the clubhouse.

Jimmy Lindsey, a righthander, took the mound. A sacrifice fly by Leach scored Terry, a single by O'Farrell drove in Ott, but a double steal went wrong for the Giants at the plate and the rally was over.

BOARD WOULD BIND SCHMELING TO GARDEN

Commission Rules He Must Defend Title, if He Wins It, Under Corporation's Auspices.

For getting the chance to win the world's heavyweight championship title in his scheduled battle against Jack Sharkey in the Yankee Stadium on June 12 in the Milk Fund benefit, Max Schmeling, German heavyweight, must bind himself to make his first defense of the title, in the event he wins it, under the direction of the Madison Square Garden Corporation.

This was the ultimatum of the State Athletic Commission yesterday when Schmeling's application for a license as a boxer in this State again came up for disposition, along with the application of Joe Jacobs, Schmeling's American manager. After prolonged consideration of the applications the meeting adjourned with action deferred.

Under its ruling the commission makes it mandatory on the part of Schmeling to violate one of the hard and fast rules of the administrative boxing body in this State. Furthermore, this ultimatum involves Madison Square Garden in a situation similar to one existing last year at a time when the Garden was threatened with the loss of its boxing license for doing exactly what the commission insists it must do now.

It is an inflexible rule of the commission that no licensed organization or individual can transact business with a boxer under suspension in this State, or a boxer whose license has been revoked. The rule extends to include managers. The punishment for offenders is summary, theoretically, at least.

Schmeling's license was revoked along with that of Jacobs last year when the German refused to fight Phil Scott under a contract signed by Arthur Bulow, Schmeling's repudiated manager.

The Garden, eager to match Schmeling and Sharkey last Summer, negotiated with the ineligible fighter and made arrangements to transfer its interests in the match to Detroit, where it was to be held under the auspices of Olympia. The match fell through over a difference in terms.

8-RUN LEAD FADES, BUT CUBS TRIUMPH

Braves Score Six in Sixth and Add Two, Only to Lose in Eighth.

WILSON HITS 9TH HOMER

Malone of Chicago and Moore and Welsh of Boston Also Drive Circuit Clouts.

CHICAGO, May 13 (AP).—The Cubs frittered away an eight-run lead today but managed to squeeze out a 9-to-8 decision over the Boston Braves in the opening game of the series.

Assaults on Ben Cantwell and Cunningham gave the Cubs an 8-to-0 margin at the end of the fourth, but the Braves put on an uprising in the sixth and scored six runs. They added another pair in their half of the eighth, but the National League champions scored the winning run in their section of the inning.

Four home runs were made, including Hack Wilson's ninth of the season. Pat Malone got one for the Cubs before he was driven to cover, and Moore and Welsh got one each for the Braves.

SHARKEY IMPRESSIVE IN FIRST WORKOUT

Looks Stronger Than Ever as He Starts Training—Schmeling Has Round of Golf.

Special to The New York Times.

ORANGEBURG, N. Y., May 13.—Looking stronger than ever Jack Sharkey officially opened his training grind today for his bout with Max Schmeling at the Yankee Stadium on June 12.

The session, performed in Gus Wilson's indoor gymnasium, consisted of nine rounds of floor work. Four on the small bag, three more on the big bag and one each of rope skipping and shadow boxing comprised the opening work out. Sharkey impressed onlookers with his condition.

Special to The New York Times.

ENDICOTT, N. Y., May 13.—Max Schmeling did no boxing today. He went on the road this morning and about noon motored to the links with Trainer Max Machan and Franz Duelberg, the German cyclist. Schmeling went around in 110, the best card he has turned in here.

SLAVIN GAINS VERDICT.

Jimmy Slavin of the Twenty-seventh Special Troops received the decision over Arthur De Champlain of the 102d Medical Corps in the feature bout of ten rounds before 3,000 at the Twenty-second Engineers Armory last night. The victor at 126½ weighed one pound more than De Champlain.

In the semi-final contest, scheduled for eight rounds, Louis (Kid) Santi of the Fourteenth Infantry won on a foul from Maxie Leiner of the 244th Coast Defense Corps at the end of the second round. Santi weighed 135, and Leiner 132½.

Frankie Lapera of the 156th Field Artillery of Mount Vernon gained the decision over Eddie Cavanaugh of the Fourteenth Infantry of Hempstead, L. I., in a six-rounder. Lapera scaled 156, Cavanaugh 158.

Frankie Cinque of the Twenty-second Engineers, 126½, knocked out Al Rockman of the Sixty-ninth Infantry, 128, in the third round, while in the six-round opening contest, Mickey Ladamada of the Sixty-ninth Infantry, 140, outpointed Sid Solomon of the Twenty-seventh Special Troops, 145.

FORDHAM DEFEATS ST. JOHN'S IN 10TH

WINNERS TIE IN NINTH

Loehwing's Double Starts Rally—Foley Stars on the Mound in Relief Role.

Tying the score, 3 to 3, in a ninth-inning rally, the Fordham baseball team then went on to score a 4-to-3 victory over the St. John's nine in ten innings at Fordham Field yesterday. The victory marked the Maroons' second triumph over a metropolitan rival and its tenth in fourteen starts.

Twice Fordham had the bases filled, once in the third and again in the seventh, but the batsmen failed to came through, due to fine pitching of Jack MacElroy and admirable support in the Indians' outfield.

MacElroy's wildness, however, was his undoing, for the winning run was scored on a single after he had walked two men. Aube, the first man up in the tenth, received a walk. Sabatini sacrificed and Loehwing walked after Sheerin had flied out. Then, with two down, Maynard, Maroon first sacker, singled past second to score Aube with the winning run.

Loehwing Starts Tying Rally.

With Fordham trailing, Loehwing, Maroon second baseman, opened the ninth with a double and went to third on a passed ball. Maynard was passed after Elcewicz had flied out and Foley struck out. La Borne hit a hard grounder to Hinchcliffe at short, who fumbled and allowed Loehwing to score with the tying run.

Foley, Fordham relief pitcher, who followed Comerford to the mound, put the Maroon back in the game in the sixth inning after MacElroy had held the home team scoreless for five innings. The moundsman tripled to deep centre field with two out to score Sheerin and Elcewicz. Sheerin had reached first by being hit, while Elcewicz singled.

St. John's Gets Three-Run Lead.

St. John's took a three-run lead by getting two runs in the second and scored its final counter in the next inning. Kinsbrunner singled, Di Dominico sacrificed him and Hinchcliffe tripled, scoring Kinsbrunner. Hinchcliffe then came in from third on a wild pitch by Comerford.

The losers scored their last tally after Posnack had singled in the third and Comerford gave three bases on balls in succession, Pace, Kinsbrunner and Di Dominico in that order, to force in Posnack.

ST. LAWRENCE VICTOR OVER CORNELL NINE

Overcomes 4-2 Lead of Ithacans With Three Runs in Sixth—Score Is 7 to 4.

Special to The New York Times.

ITHACA, N. Y., May 13.—St. Lawrence defeated the Cornell nine on Hoy Field today, 7—4, after Shumacher, St. Lawrence pitcher, tried to present the game to the Ithacans in the second inning by issuing six passes. Those six walks forced in two runs and Heye's single scored two more to give Cornell a 4—2 lead.

St. Lawrence scored three runs in the sixth on a triple by Tenney, errors by Moon and Handleman, and Walthart's single. Walthart hit a home run in the fourth after he had singled in the first. A single, a passed ball by Heye, and Walthart's sacrifice fly in the eighth gave the visitors another tally.

Karlip's Homer Features 8 to 5 Victory Over Bucknell.

Special to The New York Times.

READING, Pa., May 13.—Opportune hitting gave Albright an 8-to-5 victory over Bucknell today. Although Bucknell nicked Joe Betz, the Albright, right-hander, for ten hits, two fast double plays helped him out of tight pinches.

Karlip's home run over the left field wall in the fifth, with two on bases, featured.

COLGATE'S 7 IN 9TH FAIL TO STOP YALE

Stage Spurt as Climax to 5-Run Rally in First, but Elis Triumph by 13-12.

EACH USES THREE HURLERS

Victors Tie Score at 5-All in Fifth, Then Acquire Margin of Eight, Only to Falter at End.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 13.—Yale's 13-to-12 victory over Colgate today came with a closing climax which surpassed even the Colgate five-run rally and in the initial inning nearly ruined Yale's achievement of tying the score at 5-all in the fifth and obtaining a 13-to-5 advantage when the final chapter opened.

Unable to send a base runner around the circuit from the second inning until the ninth, Colgate unleashed an attack in the final frame which drove Tommy Taylor and Angus MacDonald from the box and found Ned Johnson facing Terry, Colgate clean-up batsman, with two runners on the paths and only one run needed to tie the score at 13-all. Charlie Snead ended the contest by hauling down Terry's long fly. The drive netted Colgate seven runs, but it fell short.

Taylor Ineffective at Start.

Taylor was pounded for four singles in the initial inning and with infield misplays they aided in the scoring of five Colgate runs.

In the second inning, with Warren on first, Aldrich's long fly to left bounded into the bleachers for a home run. In the fifth, Vincent singled to left, scoring Quinn and Walker with the tying runs. Taylor doubled to centre in the sixth sending Warren and Beyer home. Quinn followed with another double and scored later to give Yale the lead, 9 to 4.

Yale's eight-run lead vanished in the final inning, when singles by R. Terry and Callan and passes to Bonacker, Dashner, Hagy and W. Terry paved the way for seven runs.

Both Teams Field Loosely.

Both teams fielded loosely, though Beyer, Booth and Dashner contributed brilliant individual chances.

Taylor of Yale pitched air-tight ball after the first inning and until the ninth. Each team used three pitchers.

PRINCETON ELECTS TWO.

Freshmen Name Bartlett and Firestone Tennis and Polo Captains.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., May 13.—Edmund Bartlett Jr. of Upper Montclair, N. J., and Ray Firestone of Akron, Ohio, were elected captains of the Princeton freshmen tennis and polo teams, respectively, it was announced here today.

Bartlett, No. 2 man on the tennis team, entered Princeton from Montclair High School. He has not met defeat in any of the cub tennis matches this season.

Firestone prepared for Princeton at the Hun School where he was prominent in basketball and polo. He is rated with a handicap of three goals and is a brother of Len Firestone, a member of the Princeton varsity championship indoor polo team.

PRINCETON JAYVEE REPULSES MONROE

Triumphs, 7 to 1, as Blackwell Holds New York School Nine to One Safety.

MANHATTAN NINE LOSES IN THE 15TH

Error With Man on Third Gives Victory to Seton Hall by Count of 7 to 6.

DEVANY HITS HOME RUN

Puts Losers Ahead in 13th, but McAteer's Timely Single Deadlocks Score.

Special to The New York Times.

SOUTH ORANGE, N. J., May 13.—Manhattan College lost a fifteen-inning game today to the Seton Hall College nine by a score of 7-6. The game was featured by the hurling of Carrigan, Manhattan twirler, who went the whole route and fanned sixteen batsmen.

Manhattan gained an early lead, but the home team tied the count in the sixth at 5 all. Neither team scored again until the first of the thirteenth, when Devany put Manhattan in front with a hard smash that went for the circuit. Seton Hall again made matters even in the same frame by some expert base running and a timely single by McAteer.

An error with a man on third spelled defeat for Manhattan in the fifteenth inning.

PRINCETON EIGHTS IN HARD WORKOUT

Varsity Beats Jayvees in 2 of 3 Races in Preparation for Carnegie Cup Regatta.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., May 13.—Coach Chuck Logg sent the Princeton crews through an unusually hard drill today in preparation for the Carnegie Cup regatta here on Saturday. One change was made in the varsity seating, with Abe Wolfe replacing Hal Jones at bow.

The Orange and Black varsity and jayvee boats engaged in three races during the course of the afternoon, with the jayvees showing marked improvement. On the outward trip the two boats were ordered to line up for a two-mile race, with the jayvees receiving a length and a half start. With the stroke set at 32 for the jayvees and 33 for the varsity the two boats remained practically in their starting positions for a mile and three-quarters.

About a quarter of a mile from the finish the beat was steadily increased in both boats, the varsity finishing at 40, while the jayvees reached only 37. In the final quarter mile the varsity failed to gain very much ground, with the jayvees still about a length and a quarter ahead at the finish.

Following a short rest at the dam both eights lined up once again for a race covering a mile and a quarter. Starting at a slow pace, around 28 for the first mile, the beat was raised to 38 for the last quarter mile, the varsity winning by a length and a half. The varsity took the third race also, covering about the same distance as in the second brush by some three lengths.

The freshman eight went through a fairly light workout, traveling the course alone with the beat low. The pace was pushed up occasionally, however, for frequent sprints.

Preparing for the race with Yale and Columbia on Saturday, Coach Gordon Sikes sent the freshman lightweight crew through a seven-mile workout today, emphasizing starts and a high stroke.

SELIGSON DOUBLE VICTOR.

Leads Lehigh Team to 7-2 Tennis Triumph Over Penn.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, May 13.—Julius Seligson of New York maintained his record of being undefeated in intercollegiate tennis today when he conquered Gabe Lavine to lead Lehigh to a 7-2 victory over the Penn team.

Paired with Snitkin, Seligson also won the doubles, beating Lavine and Kardon, Penn's indoor intercollegiate champions, in a three-set match.

THE SUMMARIES.

Singles—Seligson, Lehigh, defeated Lavine, 6-0, 6-1; Snitkin, Lehigh, defeated Fox, 6-0, 6-1; Engleman, Lehigh, defeated Hall, 6-3, 6-3; Montencart, Lehigh, defeated Kardon, 6-2, 5-7, 6-4; Spangler, Lehigh, defeated Greene, 6-2, 4-6, 6-1; Epstein, Lehigh, defeated Ryan, 4-6, 7-5, 7-5.

Doubles—Seligson and Snitkin, Lehigh, defeated Lavine and Kardon, 4-6, 7-5, 7-5; Ryan and Lucha, Penn, defeated Spangler and Engleman, 6-3, 7-5; Greene and Hall, Penn, defeated Epstein and Montencart, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3.

HALLOWELL IS LOST TO HARVARD EIGHT

Illness Prevents Him From Rowing With Varsity in Quadrangular Race Saturday.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 13.—John W. Hallowell, who has rowed at No. 4 in the Harvard varsity for the past seven weeks, will not be able to be in the Crimson shell on Saturday in the quadrangular race with Navy, Penn and M. I. T., Coach Charles Whiteside announced today.

Charles F. Hovey, who roved at No. 2 in the strong freshman eight of a year ago, will take Hallowell's place for Saturday's race. Hovey has been at No. 2 in the jayvee shell and Robert I. McKesson, stroke of the third varsity, will occupy Hovey's seat in the jayvee boat.

Hallowell will be idle for two more days and it is possible that he will take a light workout on Friday. He has been suffering from the grip and it has left him in a weakened condition. Coach Whiteside prefers to give Hallowell the rest and then put him back in the shell for the triangular race with Cornell and Syracuse a week from Saturday.

Only one boat of the Navy will take part in the racing on Saturday. It was thought here that four Navy shells would participate, but only the varsity will make the trip.

DINNER SET FOR OARSMEN.

Crews of 4 Colleges to Be Guests of President Stratton of M. I. T.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., May 13.—President Charles W. Stratton of M. I. T. announced today that he would entertain at dinner all of the oarsmen of Harvard, Navy, Pennsylvania and M. I. T. on Friday night preceding the quadrangular regatta among the colleges on Saturday.

William Kirkpatrick, the 135-pound stroke of the M. I. T. varsity 150-pound crew, strained a muscle in his back and will be out of Saturday's race. John Lawrence, who has been at No. 6 in the lightweight shell, will stroke the crew, while William Bannon, who has seen service on the junior varsity and first and second 150 crews, will be at Lawrence's seat.

The varsity and junior varsity rowed six miles today.

N. Y. U. WINS AT TENNIS.

Turns Back Colgate, 9-0, for 11th Victory of Year.

New York University's tennis team won its eleventh match of the season by defeating Colgate yesterday, 9 to 0. The Violet netmen have lost only one match this year.

BOATINGS INTACT FOR 3 YALE CREWS

Leader and Spuhn Confident No Changes Will Be Needed for Carnegie Cup Events.

Special to The New York Times.

DERBY, Conn., May 13.—No changes were made in any of the Yale crews today and Coaches Ed Leader of the varsity and Fred Spuhn of the freshmen were confident tonight that the three eights which will be sent to the Princeton-Cornell-Yale regatta on Lake Carnegie for the Carnegie Cup events next Saturday would be kept intact.

Because of the hot weather today's rowing was slightly curtailed, but the eights covered their racing distance of a mile and three-quarters during the practice. Coach Spuhn has felt less confident of retaining the present line-up in his freshman boat than has Coach Leader in the first varsity. The three changes which went into effect in the second varsity yesterday were maintained today.

It was announced tonight that the Yale rowing squad will leave Thursday at about 7 P. M. and will be quartered at the Princeton Inn on Thursday and Friday nights. All three crews will row over the Lake Carnegie course on Friday.

Wrestling Flying Tackle Barred.

LOS ANGELES, May 13 (AP).—The flying tackle used by Gus Sonneberg, claimant of the world's wrestling championship, was banned officially from California rings today.

COLUMBIA OARSMEN ROW ELEVEN MILES

Columbia continued its search yesterday for more powerful crews, and although the varsity eight remained unchanged the junior varsity and freshman boats each came in for one change.

Bill McDuffee, stroke of last season's freshman crew, who has been rowing in the bow of the junior boat, was demoted to the third varsity. McDuffee took Gene Slade's place at stroke, Slade going to McDuffee's former position at 2. The 2 berth has been the scene of considerable changing all season and Glendon is anxious to find the correct combination so that it will have a long period in which to prepare for the Poughkeepsie regatta on June 26.

In the freshman crew, John Higginson took Robert Lilly's place at bow.

The Morningside fleet rowed eleven miles, the session being one of the longest the Lions have had this year. The lightweight crews rowed along with the big boats for about seven miles.

This long row was in accordance with Glendon's system of coaching—to have the men row enough together so that they actually row themselves into first-rate crews. Coming downstream, racing starts were practiced and then to top off the drill the crews sprinted over the last half mile. The varsity eight showed considerable power in this brief race, but it lacked smoothness and rhythm.

CESARE, AT 40 TO 1, WINS SOUTHAMPTON

POMFRET IS DISQUALIFIED

Scot's Grey Moves Up as Second-Place Horse Is Set Down—The Tattler Victor.

By VERNON VAN NESS.

What was probably the biggest surprise winner of the present meeting slipped home to victory in the Southampton Handicap at Jamaica yesterday. This was William R. Coe's Cesare, lightly weighted and in receipt of a clever ride by Jockey Schenck.

He was a 40-to-1 shot and triumphed by a nose, getting up in his last stride to take down the first prize of $4,000. Second to the colt was Frank E. Brown's Starpatic, the 3-to-5 favorite. The victory was the first in the racing career of Cesare.

All of the surprise was not in the fact that so rich a long shot scored as in how he did it. There were only five in the race, the Rancocas Stable's Khara, Cesare, the Belair Stud's Sir Ruley (also a maiden and still one), Starpatic and Harry Payne Whitney's Frumper. Starpatic's winning race of last week brought him heavy and sustained support, some also going to Khara and Frumper, but little to Cesare.

Khara Away in Front.

At the break Fator, who rode Khara, got his filly in front and raced into a two-length lead at the paddock turn and increased this to half a dozen through the next quarter of a mile. Khara, running easily, gained with each stride until the turn into the backstretch. Then Cesare and Starpatic began moving up. Starpatic had been hemmed in earlier, but got clear and Ellis moved him rapidly forward.

As the field turned home and straightened out Khara had plenty to spare, and Fator, passing the eighth pole, turned his head to look back and saw Starpatic and trouble rapidly approaching. Fator went to the whip and kept his filly in front to the sixteenth pole, when Starpatic flew past him half a length. But before any one could decide that Starpatic had the race the Coe colt came winging into the picture on the inside. Schenck staged a game, hard finish and three or four yards from home got Cesare's nose in front and kept it there. Khara, on the rail, slipped back to finish third, two lengths behind Starpatic.

Firetape Second to Smear.

On top of this form upset came a victory for the Whitney silks and a reversion to form. Smear carried the Whitney silks home to the easiest sort of victory over Firetope, with Zinn next, in the fifth test. The race was for 2-year-olds. Smear was held at 1 to 5 and justified such support. Workman brought Smear to the front and past Firetope at the top of the stretch and from there on just breezed home.

A disqualification resulted in the sixth race. As the horses finished the mile-and-70-yard race the Tattler was first, Pomfret second and Scots Grey third. The judges called Jockeys Sullovey, who rode Pomfret, and Chesquier, who had the mount on the Tattler, to the stand and after some questioning disqualified Pomfret. This was a result of a bumping bee in the stretch when Pomfret bore over on the Tattler. Scot's Grey was placed second and Billie Leonard third after the disqualification.

Sports of the Times

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

By JOHN KIERAN.

WHEN Stanley Raymond Harris was the "boy manager" of the Senators, he led his team to a world's championship. Now, he is older and wiser and manager of the Detroit Tigers, and the Tigers are in the American League cellar.

It was the late Miller Huggins who said when praises finally fell to his share: "Good players make great managers." What the little Miller meant was that no manager, no matter how able or experienced, could succeed unless he had the material. It is the quaint belief in this corner that Bucky Harris, directing a team that is in the cellar, is a better manager now than he was when he led the Senators to a world's championship against the Giants.

Connie Mack was a great manager when he had the old Athletics of Baker-Barry-Collins-and-McInnis fame. With the modern Athletics he is still a great manager. He was just as much a great manager in the years between, and that takes in the time when the Athletics spent seven consecutive years in last place.

The Woes of the Tigers.

Manager Harris is frankly puzzled about his team. About a month ago, as the season started, he thought the Tigers could make third place and possibly climb into second if the Yankees slipped. He had little hope of beating out the Athletics.

"That's about the only thing in which I wasn't fooled," said Bucky, just before he departed from the Yankee Stadium and headed for Boston. Asked what had happened to his club, he said:

"We seem to have discovered new ways of losing ball games. Every error we make seems to cost us a game. Errors of omission have cost us plenty. I thought shortstop was all settled, and now it's all unsettled again. We've had accidents, but other clubs have had accidents, and that's no alibi for us. It wouldn't take much of a change to put us back in the running again—a little improvement here and there—but in the meanwhile we're down, and there's no way of getting around it."

Was it his pitching that was to blame?

"Only partly. Uhle has pitched some good games. So has Sorrell. Hogsett has strengthened the team. No, I can't blame it on the pitching. When you're in a bad streak, the breaks just seem to go against you. You can't do anything right. When you're in a good streak, you can't do anything wrong. Another thing is that Gehringer and Alexander were slow to begin hitting. They are the key men for us on the attack. When your key men don't come through, your whole attack is disorganized. But they are great players and are bound to snap out of it. We'll get out of the cellar, but I admit I'm sadly disappointed at the start we made this season."

Easy for the Athletics.

Leaving out the ultimate fate of the Tigers, Bucky was asked his opinion of the American League race.

"Well, I've always been strong for the Yankees," said Bucky, "but I guess their pitching isn't what it was. I don't see any other club that looks to have anything better than an outside chance to beat the Athletics. The Senators and Indians are going well, but when you check over those Philadelphia hitters and pitchers, the answer is easy. The Athletics should win by a fair margin."

The Detroit manager wanted to know why the Yankees didn't win more games. For that matter, so does Bob Shawkey. Harris counts the Yankees very strong on the offense, and this is the day of the offense in baseball. It happened that Babe Ruth was discussing the same problem in the dugout.

"What we need," said the Babe, "is some of those big innings we used to have in other seasons. We'd pile up six, seven and eight runs in an inning. We wouldn't miss one day in four at it. Now we can't hook the hits together. If we get three hits together, it's a rally. We'll have to get back to our old habits."

"Yes, and the sooner the better," said Earle Combs.

More Puzzling Problems.

Just recently the Cleveland Indians played the hit-and-run combination to the extent of making twenty-five runs on twenty-five hits, which is par for the distance. Even more recently the Giants had a fourteen-run lead over the Cubs and lost all but a slim portion of it. It's the lively ball, of course. At any moment a ball game may explode in the face of a prospective winner. Any time a pitcher throws a ball now he takes a chance of losing a ball game and an arm or a leg with it. What the pitchers are advocating is a disappearing firing platform of the kind used in coast artillery defense. When the big guns fire, they drop back behind protective covering.

That's the general story, and most of the scores since the season started can be offered in evidence to support the tale. The Giants and Robins went along averaging ten runs to a game over a considerable stretch. That's hitting in salvos.

Then, how does it happen that Benny Frey, Sam Gray, Ed Morris and Milton Gaston can come along with those two-hit, three-hit and four-hit games, using that same lively ball? The St. Louis Browns got a total of four hits in Boston in two consecutive games. That's something else for the United States Senate to probe and investigate.

Crazy Plays.

A correspondent wants an explanation of a recent note here about a happening in the Coast League, where two men hit safely and a third sacrificed in one inning and no more came to bat. As the details are somewhat hazily recalled, the first man singled. The second man put down a sacrifice on which the first man was put out trying to reach third. The next batter singled. The runner on first tried to reach third and was out. The batter continued on in the hope of making second on the play at third, and he was thrown out, retiring the side.

Another correspondent sends a clipping from The Philadelphia Inquirer in which Connie Mack recalled an even worse bit of "Chinese base-running." Men were on first and second with nobody out. The batter singled and the side was retired. The runner from second loafed on his way to the plate and was chased back toward third, where the following runner was already perched. In the confusion, both men remained off the bag and were tagged out. The hitter, standing between first and second, thought that the side had been retired and made no move to escape when he, too, was tagged out.

But the prize play of recent years was the one that saw three Brooklyn players, one of whom was Babe Herman, slide into third base at the same time. It would take too long to explain, and anyway, the Robins may do it over again any day. Keep an eye on them.

UNCLE LUTHER WINS DERBY TRIAL IN MUD

BREEZING THRU STEPS FAST

Surprises Horsemen by Workout of Mile and Quarter, With 126 Pounds Up, in 2:11 4-5.

By BRYAN FIELD.

Special to The New York Times.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 13.—A Kentucky dark horse sloshed through the mud at Churchill Downs today to win the Derby trial and give the owners and trainers of other eligibles for the Kentucky Derby something to think about. The winner of the race, which is regarded as a prep for Saturday's big test, was Uncle Luther, owned by Luther Stivers, who bred the colt on his farm near Lexington.

Uncle Luther is by King Gorin out of Day Dream. He has lots of mud-running ancestors on both sides, and proved it when he cakewalked the mile in 1:41 4-5 to beat G. W. (Buck) Foreman's Ned O. by a length and a half, eased up.

Ned O. was eight lengths ahead of Hal Price Headley's Dark Entry, and the others in the order of finish were Broadway Limited, Playtime, Dick O'Hara, Niato and Brother Rank. All are eligibles for the Derby except Brother Rank. Most of the horses are probable starters.

A Threat if Track Is Muddy.

Uncle Luther's race will make him a very formidable competitor if the track is bad Saturday, and may bring about the same sort of twist which resulted last year when Blue Larkspur was the overwhelming choice, but with a mental reservation in favor of Clyde Van Dusen if the track became muddy. When race day rolled around the track was half a foot deep in mud and Clyde Van Dusen won, with Blue Larkspur, never a good mud runner, fourth.

Gallant Fox, which seems likely to be this year's favorite, although not as hot a one as Blue Larkspur, has yet to prove himself in the mud. And in going as deep as that today a colt like Uncle Luther can give any man's horse plenty of trouble.

Another impressive thing about the race was the fast time, 0:23 3-5 for the quarter, 0:48 2-5 for the half and 1:13 for the three-quarters.

To those who have seen Ned O. run in Maryland his race was a surprise, for this fellow ordinarily is so slow a beginner that he is generally twenty lengths off the pace at the half-mile mark and has to make up a tremendous gap in the stretch. This afternoon it was Ned O. which set the pace from the break and it was he that was in front when the very fast quarter and half were notched.

Ned O.'s Race a Tightener.

Uncle Luther took the lead rounding the far turn and romped on from there to win as he pleased. Ned O. was not abused and was permitted to go along until the quarter pole, when Mooney roused him with the whip. There really was no chance of Ned O. catching the leader, but the race was a great tightener for the Maryland horse.

There was a surprise for the crowd shortly before the running of the race when E. R. Bradley's Breezing Thru put on a smashing trial. Breezing Thru was regarded as the lesser of the two Bradley horses, and when he went the Derby route of a mile and a quarter through heavy mud in 2:11 4-5, there was a general raising of eyebrows. The Bradley horse had up his Derby weight of 126 pounds.

Obviously, Breezing Thru is willing and able to go over a bad track. The fractions were as follows: 0:27, 0:54, 1:20, 1:33, 1:46, 1:59 and 2:11 4-5.

Gallant Fox in Spotlight.

The rain began to fall early in the morning but it did not reduce the number of rail birds, stable boys, horsemen and others who came out to get their first look at the Easterners, Gallant Fox, Crack Brigade, Gone Away and Ned O. None of the four attempted anything pretentious and were merely walked and galloped around the oval to get the kinks of the train ride out of their legs.

Gallant Fox came in for a good deal of praise on the strength of his appearance, but the local men were not long in commenting on his only weakness, the fact that he is a little light in the quarters, where a route horse generally has plenty of beef. But his trimness and general demeanor were very pleasing to his admirers. The Preakness winner was slightly nervous but circled the track twice. Earl Sande was up.

Busy, owned by Jerome Respess, went the full Derby route under a snug hold and breezing in 2:17.

Buckeye Poet showed a snappy three furlongs in 0:34 3-5, and went the half pulled up in 0:49. High Foot clicked off a half mile in 0:48, and Racketeer went a handy six furlongs in 1:16 2-5. Longus, which now appears to be the only Pacific Coast starter, arrived today from Agua Caliente.

Scratched—Kai-Lo, Fatigue, Lord Britain, Devil's Due and Irish Marine.

Letalone, under perfect handling, worked his way up and, closing gamely, won going away. Sullivan Trail displayed good speed and ran a good race. Calamity was well up all the way and had no mishap. Ladala closed with a rush. Pygmalion ran a good race for the first effort. Master Sweep went wide in the stretch.

Owners—1, G. E. Phillips; 2, P. F. Joyce; 3, Mrs. W. E. Martin; 4, Log Cabin Stud; 5, E. F. Sanford; 6, V. Martin; 7, J. Goff; 8, G. Mangan; 9, Brandon Stable; 10, O. F. Burkart; 11, Pauline Stable; 12, F. Williams; 13, Mrs. M. P. Allen; 14, W. McQuade; 15, Mahopac Stable.

9604 SECOND RACE—The Nostrand Claiming Handicap; purse $1,200; 3-year-olds and upward; one mile and seventy yards. Start good; won easily; place driving. Winner, ch. h., 6, by Huon—Flying Jib. Trainer, M. A. Smith. Time—0:24, 0:48⅘, 1:13⅘, 1:40, 1:44.

There was a false start in which Wu, Clean Play, Sun Mission, Norse and Wrestler ran away about a furlong. Boom was left standing. In the real break Boom was away slowly and trailed the field to the top of the stretch, where he came around the field and, closing with a rush, won nicely in hand. Sun Mission was kept close to the early pace and held on gamely. Clean Play sprinted into the lead and displayed good speed, but weakened fast in the last furlong. Wu was miserably ridden. He was in close quarters the last three furlongs.

Owners—1, Mrs. M. A. J. Smith; 2, Dr. I. Jacobs; 3, Mrs. V. M. Duncan; 4, F. E. Brown; 5, Ramapo Stable; 6, Howe Stable.

9605 THIRD RACE—Purse $1,000; allowances; 3-year-olds and upward; six furlongs. Start good; won ridden out; place easily. Winner, ch. c. 3, by Dunboyne—Nellie Grey. Trainer, R. Waldron. Time—0:23, 0:46⅘, 1:12⅘.

Dunsany got away fast, raced Tuskegee into submission in the first three furlongs and drew away into a long lead, but in the final furlong tired and just lasted to win. Questionnaire broke well, but was allowed to drop back. He moved up very fast around the turn and just failed to get up. Tuskegee broke fast, showed speed for three furlongs, then dropped back. Keep On was well up for half a mile then stopped. Chio Boy was outrun.

Owners—1, Mr. Pembroke; 2, J. Butler; 3, R. Spreckels; 4, W. R. Coe; 5, Loma Stable.

9606 FOURTH RACE—The Southampton Handicap; $3,500 added; 3-year-olds; one mile and a sixteenth. Start good; won driving; place same. Winner, ch. c., by Fire Rock—Terentia. Trainer, B. Creech. Time—0:24⅕, 0:48⅘, 1:13⅘, 1:40, 1:46⅘.

9552	Sir Ruley	105	4	5	2 2	2 hd	4 2	5	5	Steinh't	15	20	20	6	2

Cesare broke well, was allowed to drop back to last place, moved up very fast around the turn and, closing with a rush, was up to win in the last stride. Starpatic was badly bumped going around the paddock turn, but closed gamely and ran a good race. Khara opened a wide lead in the early part and showed good speed, but tired badly in the last sixteenth. Frumper closed some ground. Sir Ruley had plenty of early speed.

MISS LEE MARRIES CHANDLER CUDLIPP

RECEPTION AT LEE HOME

Mrs. Robert E. Power of St. Paul the Matron of Honor—Bridal Couple Sail on Europa.

Miss Alice Bigelow Lee, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ivy L. Lee of 4 East Sixty-sixth Street, was married to Chandler Cudlipp, son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Cudlipp of Jersey City, N. J., yesterday afternoon in the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Dr. George A. Buttrick, the pastor, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, pastor of the Riverside Church, performed the ceremony in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends.

The church was decorated with Spring flowers against a background of Australian ferns and palms. While the guests were assembling there was a program of organ music.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory colored satin made on simple lines and embellished with old rose point lace. Her veil, also of old rose point lace, was arranged in cap fashion and fastened to the coiffure with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white iris, sweet peas and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Robert E. Power of St. Paul, Minn., was matron of honor. She wore a costume of daffodil yellow chiffon and a brown straw hat trimmed with velvet ribbons to match her frock. The other attendants were Mrs. David Eugene MacFarlane, Mrs. Edmund B. Osborne Jr., Mrs. Lewis H. Lee, Mrs. Chauncey Belknap, Miss Geraldine Rockefeller McAlpin, Miss Marion Georgianna Crabbe, Miss Roberta Briggs, Miss Mildred Harris and Miss Lisa Dougherty. They wore frocks of blue chiffon and brown straw hats trimmed with blue velvet ribbon. All carried arm bouquets of African daisies, sweet peas, and Talisman roses.

There were also two flower girls in the bridal procession, Jeanne Caroline and Emilie Constance MacFarlane, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. David Eugene MacFarlane. They wore ruffled frocks of pink chiffon, and carried small hats filled with Spring flowers.

W. A. Cudlipp Best Man for Brother.

William A. Cudlipp was best man for his brother. The ushers were James W. Lee 2d, and Ivy L. Lee Jr., brothers of the bride; Ranald Chambers, William A. Garriques Jr., James H. Blauvelt, Otto de Neufville Jr., V. Allen Hower and James Montgomery.

After the ceremony there was a large reception at the home of the bride's parents.

Mr. Cudlipp and his bride sailed last night on the Europa for a wedding trip on the Continent. On their return late in June they will live in New Canaan, Conn., for the Summer and next Winter will reside in New York. The bride attended the Brearley School and was graduated from the Westover School. She is president of the Mary R. Hillard Society, the Alumnae Association of the Westover School, and is a member of the Junior League. Her father is on the board of directors of the Metropolitan Opera Company.

Mr. Cudlipp was graduated from Princeton with the class of '19 and is a member of the Princeton Club. He is an executive of Bloomingdale Brothers, Inc.

MISS MOORE NAMES BRIDAL ATTENDANTS

Her Marriage to John W. Cross Jr. in Church of the Advent, Westbury, L. I., May 31.

RECEPTION AT THE GABLES

Bishop Stires to Perform the Ceremony—Fanny Moore, Cousin of Bride-to-Be, Honor Maid.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Small Moore have sent out invitations for the marriage of their younger daughter, Miss Marion Moore, to John W. Cross Jr., elder son of John W. Cross and the late Mrs. Cross, which will take place on May 31 in the Church of the Advent, Westbury, L. I. Owing to the smallness of the church, the invitations to the ceremony are limited to relatives and a few close friends. A large reception will follow at The Gables, the Summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Moore in Roslyn. Bishop Ernest M. Stires will perform the ceremony.

Miss Moore has chosen her cousin, Miss Fanny Moore, for maid of honor, and for bridesmaids she will have the Misses Mari Boise of Scranton, Pa., Barbara King of Chicago, Muriel Hedges and Frederica L. Frelinghuysen, whose marriage to Richard High Carleton Jr. takes place a fortnight later.

H. Page Cross will be best man for his brother. The ushers will be Edward Small Moore Jr., brother of Miss Moore; the Hon. Oliver Malcolm Wallop, her brother-in-law; John T. Adams, Daniel Catlin 2d, Kimberley Cheney and James Hopkins Smith 3d.

Other Wedding Plans

Aldcroftt—Kohler.

Details have been completed by Miss Elena de Rivas Aldcroftt and Robert Fischer Kohler for their marriage, which will take place on May 22 in the ballroom of the Colony Club. Miss Aldcroftt, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bradbury Aldcroftt, will be attended by Mrs. Sturtevant Erdmann, sister of Mr. Kohler; Mrs. Frank Dillon and Mrs. William Bartley Knox, all of this city.

MISS WYNDHAM BRIDE OF HOWLAND SPENCER

Marriage of English Girl and New Yorker Took Place April 22 at Highland, N. Y.

Announcement was made yesterday of the marriage three weeks ago of Miss Olivia Wyndham, daughter of Colonel Guy Wyndham of Ramsbury, Wiltshire, England, to Howland Spencer of 277 Park Avenue and Highland-on-Hudson. The marriage took place on April 22 at the estate which Mr. Spencer recently inherited, Crumbs Elbow, on the Hudson, opposite Hyde Park, the home of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt. After the ceremony, which was very quiet, the couple motored down for a luncheon at the home of Mrs. Greenough Townsend, 317 East Fifty-first Street. At midnight the bride sailed on the Berengaria, and is now the guest of her cousin, Lord Leconsfield. Mr. Spencer, who has been delayed by legal affairs, will soon join her there.

Upon the arrival of the Berengaria at Southampton, Mrs. Spencer's brother, Captain Richard Wyndham of the Coldstream Guards, and her cousin, Constance, Duchess of Westminster, circled over the ship in an airplane, dropping rice. Another plane, piloted by the Hon. Evan Morgan, dropped old slippers.

The couple met several years ago at the home of the bride's aunt, the Dowager Marchioness of Queensberry. Mrs. Spencer is also a niece of Lady Grey of Falloden.

Mr. Spencer was a member of the class of 1911 at the United States Naval Academy and, during the World War, served as an honorary captain on the British staff. He is president of the firm of Chanler, Spencer & Lowry, Inc., and is a member of the St. Nicholas Club.

HILLY ASKS INQUIRY ON PHONE RATE PLAN

Urges Service Commission to Open Public Hearings at Once on Depreciation System.

SEES $170,000,000 RESERVE

Corporation Counsel Arthur J. W. Hilly approved yesterday an official complaint against the New York Telephone Company, petitioning the Public Service Commission to open an investigation immediately and hold public hearings upon the company's accounting practices with a view to changing its depreciation system.

The complaint, which under the law automatically requires action by the commission, may reopen the entire question of rates which was raised on Feb. 1 and will be changed again on June 1, with material increases assessed upon business telephones.

Accompanying the complaint made public by Mr. Hilly a statement by S. B. Little, the city's utility engineer, estimated that a rate reduction of from $9,000,000 to $12,000,000 would be possible in 1931 if the city's program is supported by the Public Service Commission. The petition will be filed with the commission as soon as Mayor Walker returns to sign it. However, it may be submitted to Acting Mayor McKee for his signature.

Calls Rates Burdensome.

Mr. Hilly's complaint charges that the "straight line" depreciation method used by the telephone company sets up a theoretical depreciation that makes present rates "excessive and burdensome" and indirectly yields "exorbitant profits" to the company.

It declares that over a period of twenty years the company has annually charged to operating expense for retirement purposes a much larger sum than it has expended on actual retirements of property. The balance in the depreciation reserve of the company is now more than $170,000,000, the complaint asserts, predicting that at the present rate it will be increased to $242,077,000 in 1934. It says that the earnings on the reserve from interest alone has been more than $73,000,000 if calculated at 7 per cent compound interest over the period from 1910 to Jan. 1, 1927.

The city will demand that the company hereafter be allowed provision only for property retirements actually made. The same request was made in the recent proceedings before the commission, but at that time was rejected. The telephone company will fight the proposal on the ground that it must provide for huge retirements in the future.

Says Practices Are Unjust.

"Your petitioner alleges upon information and belief," the complaint declares, "that the rules, regulations and practices of the New York Telephone Company are unjust and unreasonable in respect to the method of charging for theoretical depreciation annual amounts greater than are needed to maintain the property in first-class operating and service condition and that by such practice of setting up excessive annual amounts to take care of theoretical depreciation the rates charged to the city of New York and to other subscribers in the city and State of New York are excessive and burdensome and indirectly result in yielding to the said telephone company exorbitant profits far beyond a fair return upon the reasonable value of the property devoted to the public use.

"Upon information and belief it is further alleged that an examination of the property, records and accounts of said New York Telephone Company reveals that the charges made against the subscribers and collected from them in the form of rates have resulted in the said company collecting from the city of New York and other subscribers amounts in excess of the needed requirements for operating expenses and a reasonable return on the property and, after providing funds sufficient to keep the investment intact, have permitted the said company to set aside excessive and exorbitant amounts in the depreciation reserve account."

Points to Other Utilities.

After pointing out that the State law authorizes the Public Service Commission to establish systems of accounts for telephone companies and thus gives it power over retirement funds, the petition asserts that gas and electric companies have welcomed the depreciation practice which is shunned by the telephone company.

"The telephone company," it continues, "has been setting aside annually sums in excess of its actual retirements, thus building up a huge reserve which has grown from year to year since 1910, nothwithstanding that there has been charged against such reserve, from time to time as occasion required, every element of cost to retire property no longer used or useful, property that has become obsolete and property, plant and equipment that has approached a state of inadequacy."

The complaint also points out that in its recent decision fixing telephone rates effective June 1 the commission expressed doubt as to the company's depreciation practices and said that if the present practices are continued it is doubtful if the depreciation reserve "will ever be required to meet accruing retirements."

New York City petitions an opportunity, it concluded, "to submit proof in support of its allegation that the rules, regulations and practices of the New York Telephone Company are unjust and unreasonable."

FIVE REDS SEIZED IN CUBA.

Strike Agitators Will Be Deported to Spain.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

HAVANA, May 13.—Five Communists were brought to Havana today and lodged in the Cabanas fortress, where they will be held until deportation papers signed for returning them on the first steamer to Spain.

The Communists were caught at Manzanillo on the southern coast of Cuba, where a general strike has been called due to the agitation of Red workers. A special investigator has been sent by the Interior Department and further arrests are expected. A strike of stevedores and dockworkers has been in progress at Manzanillo for eight weeks, other industries joining the movement in the last twenty-four hours after communistic propaganda had been distributed and leaders urged other workers to strike.

MISS NORMA BIDWELL TO WED J. S. FERGUSON

Wedding to Yale Graduate and Clubman Is to Take Place Early Next Month.

Announcement has been made by Mrs. Frederic H. Bidwell of 25 East End Avenue of the engagement and forthcoming marriage of her daughter, Miss Norma Bidwell, to John Sherlock Ferguson of 116 East Fifty-third Street, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ferguson. The wedding will take place early next month.

Miss Bidwell was graduated from the Spence School and was introduced to society several seasons ago. She is a sister of Miles Oakley Bidwell.

Mr. Ferguson's father was at one time the United States Minister to Sweden. Mr. Ferguson has been married previously. He and his first wife, who was Miss Donna H. Beach, were divorced in Reno in 1921. They had a daughter, Miss Donita Ferguson, who is now at Bryn Mawr. Mr. Ferguson was graduated from Yale in 1900 and is a member of the Union, Racquet and Tennis, New York Yacht, Riding and Oakland Golf Clubs.

GETS STAY ON FILM ORDER.

Paramount Publix Plant Fights Cutting Materials by 90%.

A stay preventing the Fire Department from enforcing an order to compel the Paramount Publix Corporation to reduce a large part of the inflammable film in the process of manufacture in its Long Island City laboratories was signed yesterday by Supreme Court Justice May. The stay is to be effective pending the trial of a certiorari proceeding brought by the theatre concern to review the order.

The concern has a $5,000,000 plant in Long Island City and keeps on hand large quantities of partly-processed film. Shortly after the Pathé Studio fire, in which eleven lives were lost, the Fire Department ordered the concern to reduce the amount by about 90 per cent.

An appeal was made to the Board of Standards and Appeals, but that body upheld the order and the certiorari proceeding was instituted. The company contended that the order was drastic and "forced." Justice May said "public hysteria, growing out of an accident, should not prevent courts or officials from using common sense."

Named Canadian Senate Speaker.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 13 (Canadian Press).—Senator A. C. Hardy of Brockville, Ont., was today selected by the Liberal Senators as speaker of the Senate. The selection was immediately made known to the government and an order-in-council was passed making the appointment.

40 CITIES DOUBLED IN CENSUS RETURNS

94 Other Places of Over 10,000 Gain 50 Per Cent—Kenmore, N. Y., Mounts 420.89%.

UP-STATE COUNTY LOSES 20

Hamilton Has Only 3,950 in Its 1,700 Square Miles—Providence Reaches 250,288—Lawrence Drops.

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP).—Five hundred cities of 10,000 or more inhabitants today had reported 1930 census returns, showing sections in which this country's population is increasing by leaps and bounds.

Of the 500 cities, ninety-four had increased by 50 per cent. Forty had more than doubled.

In East Kenmore, N. Y., with 16,460, gained 13,300, or 420.89 per cent; Irondequoit, N. Y., 17,935, 250 per cent; Linden, N. J., 21,111, 152.2 per cent, and Dormont, Pa., 13,139, 103.5 per cent.

California conceded the heaviest gain in representation in the coming reapportionment, was far to the front in the early returns, with thirteen cities showing gains of more than 100 per cent, and nine others increasing more than 50 per cent.

Texas came second on the list of States with fastest-growing cities, with six showing a gain of more than 100 per cent, and two more than 50 per cent.

Ohio had three cities in which population had doubled, and four more in which the increase had been more than 50 per cent.

Florida and North Carolina each had three cities on the 100 per cent increase list.

Michigan, which had been expected to be the heaviest population gainer next to California, thus far has reported but one city doubled, one gaining by more than 50 per cent, but the tally of the great automobile manufacturing centres is not yet in.

Washington, Oregon, Louisiana, Georgia, Oklahoma, Kentucky and Virginia had one city each in the 100 per cent increase class.

Alabama had four cities increasing by more than 50 per cent; West Virginia three; Tennessee and Arizona two each; Arkansas, Mississippi, New Mexico and Missouri one apiece.

County Has 3 to the Square Mile.

UTICA, N. Y., May 13 (AP).—Hamilton County, the third largest in New York State, has a population of 3,950, or a decrease of 20 from the 1920 census figures, according to announcement here today by J. Phil Bannigan, supervisor for the Third District. It is the first New York county outside the metropolitan area for which 1930 census returns have been made available.

With an area of 1,700 square miles, the county has an average of fewer than three persons to the square mile. Only St. Lawrence County, with an area of 2,701 miles, and Essex, with 1,836, are larger.

One enumerator, a woman, traveled 180 miles to get five names, for which, on the basis of the regular allowance, she will receive $2.50.

690,000 in Greater Buffalo Area.

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 13 (AP).—Buffalo's population figures, revised, show a total of 572,913, an increase of 11.75 per cent since 1920. The Greater Buffalo area has 690,000 population, a gain of 16.8 per cent.

Providence Rises to 250,288.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 13 (AP).—The population of this city is 250,288, census reports today disclosed. This was a gain of 12,693, or 5.3 per cent, over 1920.

Lawrence Declines by 10,927.

LAWRENCE, Mass., May 13 (AP).—This city, one of the centres of the woolen industry in the East and until a few years ago one of the leading textile cities in the country, dropped 10,927 inhabitants, or 11.5 per cent in the past decade. The 1930 census figure is 83,343, against 94,270 in 1920.

Only the neighboring city of Lowell, another large textile centre, exceeded Lawrence in New England in numerical decrease, losing 12,709, or 11.3 per cent, and now having 100,050 residents.

On the other hand, Methuen, a suburb of Lawrence where many mill workers dwell, reports a population of 21,077, a gain of 5,888, or 38 per cent. The place has 118 farms. Andover, also near by, with 158 farms as well as industrial residents, has a population of 9,913, an increase of 1,645.

Other Population Figures.

Other census results, reported yesterday by The Associated Press, include:

LACKAWANNA, N. Y.—23,974; increase 6,056, or 33.80 per cent.
KENMORE, N. Y.—16,460; increase 13,300, or 420.89 per cent.
PORTSMOUTH, N. H.—13,701; increase 132, or .9 per cent.
HIGH POINT, N. C.—36,708; increase 22,406, or 156 per cent.
GREENVILLE, Miss.—14,795; increase 3,235, or 28 per cent.
GALVESTON, TEXAS—51,939; increase 7,684, or 17.3 per cent.
LAREDO, TEXAS—32,661; increase 9,931, or 43.8 per cent.
KEY WEST, Fla.—13,118; decrease, 5,631, or 30 per cent.
CENTRALIA, ILL.—12,559; increase 68, or .005 per cent.
KALAMAZOO, MICH.—54,707; increase 6,220, or 12.8 per cent.
BENTON HARBOR, MICH.—15,406; increase 3,173, or 26 per cent.
ESCANABA, Mich.—14,516; increase, 1,413, or 10.7 per cent.
SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich.—13,552; increase, 1,456, or 12 per cent.
MANITOWOC, WIS.—22,973; increase 5,410, or 31 per cent.
FREMONT, NEB.—11,887; increase 2,282, or 24 per cent.
CLINTON, IOWA—25,722; increase 1,571, or 6.4 per cent.
SOUTH PASADENA, CAL.—13,724; increase 6,072, or 79.35 per cent.
WHITTIER, CAL.—14,808; increase 6,811, or 85.16 per cent.
SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH—140,058, increase 21,948, or 18.6 per cent.

Charles E. Murphy, attorney, of 280 Broadway was elected unanimously as president of the New York Advertising Club yesterday at the club's headquarters, 23 Park Avenue. He succeeds James Wright Brown, whose term expired.

Others elected were:

Vice Presidents—Lee J. Eastman, president of Packard Motor Sales Corporation of New York, and Oliver B. Merrill, advertising manager of Youths' Companion.
Treasurer—John A. Wilkens, vice president of the Charles Francis Press.

PORT CHESTER GAINS 35%, CENSUS SHOWS

Population Listed at 22,412 as Compared With 16,573 in 1920 —Town of Ossining 18,035.

MANHATTAN LOSES 375,000

Enumerators Revise Estimates in Various Districts—Warrants Out for Four Evaders.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., May 13.—Port Chester, the largest village in the State, has a population of 22,412, Census Supervisor James F. Arbuckle announced today. The population in 1920 was 16,573. This is an increase of 35 per cent.

The town of Ossining, of which the village of Ossining is a part, has a population of 18,035, as compared with 12,358 for 1920, the census reported stated. The village of Ossining, reported yesterday, has a population of 16,581.

Mr. Arbuckle also announced the count for the town of Lewisboro at 1,429, an increase of 360 persons since 1920.

Summit Adds 4,283 Population.

Special to The New York Times.

ELIZABETH, N. J., May 13.—Summit grew from a population of 10,174 to 14,457 from 1920 to 1930, according to census figures announced today by Supervisor Peter J. Olde.

Manhattan's Loss About 375,000.

Edward F. Corsi, census supervisor of the Twenty-third District, announced yesterday that warrants had been issued by United States Commissioner Garrett W. Cotter for the arrest of four residents at 511 East Seventy-eighth Street for failure to answer grand jury subpoenas for their appearance yesterday morning. The four are J. H. Moran, Nellie Madden, Rose Farkas and Margaret Hession.

The remainder of the residents of the City and Suburban Homes Development Company's apartments whose appearance was ordered yesterday presented themselves and were reprimanded for failure to comply with the census act. They explained that they had been in ignorance that a census was being taken and had not received the enumeration slips. The missing data was taken by Samuel Ullman, special enumerator, at the conclusion of the hearing.

Various estimates which have been made on probable loss in population in the Borough of Manhattan during the last ten years are inclined to be too large, some of the supervisors said yesterday. It is believed that the Twenty-first District will lose a maximum of 225,000 and the Twenty-third about 150,000, as compared with the 1920 figures. The Twenty-fourth, it is anticipated, should show an increase of about 50,000 persons, while the Twenty-second should vary practically none, thus bringing the total estimated loss for Manhattan to approximately 375,000.

It had been anticipated that Mr. Friedman might be able to announce the total for the Tenth Assembly District yesterday, but he said that no further figures would be made public tomorrow until after the meeting tomorrow with the Washington representative of the bureau.

A special representative of the Director of the Census will arrive from Washington for a conference of census supervisors of Manhattan and the Bronx tomorrow at the office of Bruno P. Saloschin, supervisor of the Twenty-second Census District.

Supervisors who will attend the conference are:

GEORGE N. JESSE, Twenty-fourth Census District.
BRUNO B. SALOSCHIN, Twenty-second District.
EDWARD F. CORSI, Twenty-third District.
LESTER FRIEDMAN, Twenty-first District.
GEORGE M. FAYLES and ERNEST W. BRADBURY of the Bronx.

AIR ATTACKS REPULSED IN MIMIC WARFARE

Army Communications System Works Perfectly in Warning of Planes' Approach.

ABERDEEN PROVING GROUNDS, Md., May 13 (AP).—Functioning perfectly today, the elaborate communications system used by the defending "Blue" force in the Army Air Corps' mimic air warfare centring here, enabled every attack of the "Red" forces made before noon to be repulsed.

Every flight of attack and bombing planes was spotted as the planes sped northward, and they were theoretically either shot down by "Blue" pursuit planes or accounted for by the two anti-aircraft artillery regiments at the landing field. Reports of the attacking planes' progress were flashed from observers as far south as 100 miles from here.

Swift fighting planes and massive bombers from Selfridge Field, Mich., and Fort Crockett, Texas, are taking part in the Manoeuvres to continue through the week, as well as organizations of the Coast Artillery Corps and anti-aircraft intelligence batteries.

Lieut. Col. G. C. Brant, in command of the defending forces, said today that the joint exercises are in no way a contest between the aviation and anti-aircraft arms, but have as their object the development of a technique of defense worked out for years on paper.

JERSEY AUTO DEATHS GAIN.

State Reports Increase of 17 Per Cent in Fatalities for 1929.

TRENTON, N. J., May 13.—An increase of 17 per cent in automobile fatalities in 1929 was reported today by the State Department of Health in a compilation of figures for the year, showing 1,275 persons were killed, as against 1,089 in 1928. The figures show 27 deaths due to motorcycle accidents but do not include 23 fatalities due to inhaling automobile fumes.

While the number of deaths has been increasing annually, the death rate per 100,000 registered motor vehicles has declined from 2.0 in 1923 to 1.6 for 1929.

The 714 pedestrians killed during the year make up approximately 55 per cent of the total. Approximately one-third of the pedestrians killed were children, and 18 per cent of the drivers and occupants of automobiles who were killed were less than 20 years old.

Collision of automobiles with railroad trains was responsible for 53 deaths, this being the lowest number since this type of fatality first was classed separately, in 1923. The highest number occurred in 1924, when 74 were killed.

SAYS HE DID NOT LIST CORTLAND WET SPOTS

New York World Reporter Ready to Tell Grand Jury He Took No Addresses.

CORTLAND, N. Y., May 13 (AP).—Subpoenaed to tell the Cortland County grand jury where he obtained liquor in this city, as, in newspaper articles in the New York World, he said he had done, A. A. Schechter, a reporter, before going before that body today said he was unable to furnish the addresses.

Mr. Schechter explained, in a statement published in the Cortland Standard, that he was taken to various resorts by taxi and therefore could not furnish the exact locations. He said he would tell the grand jurors the New York World had not furnished information, either directly or indirectly, to Federal agents who recently raided eight places in Cortland County.

Ralph E. Renaud, managing editor of The World, stated that he accompanied Mr. Schechter "as an observer in case there was to be an official witch burning." His statement to The Standard said in part:

"We established the fact that it was just as easy to get a drink or several or any quantity of liquor in Cortland as in any other American city of the same size. This is generally admitted by all but a few. Of course The World could not and would not act as an informer against individuals.

"Our purpose was merely to picture the true condition in New York's dry counties. Liquor flows as freely through them as through the admittedly wet counties."

BILL CUTS FIREMEN'S HOURS

Alderman Offers Measure to Establish 8-Hour Day Here.

Alderman William O'Reilly introduced a bill in the Aldermanic branch of the Municipal Assembly yesterday to set up the three-platoon system in the Fire Department, giving each man one day off a week and restricting his time on duty to eight hours on each tour.

Under the present two-platoon system members of the uniformed force remain on duty twelve hours on each tour. The bill provides that the three-platoon system shall prevail except in cases of emergency, or where an extra tour of duty is made necessary by the changing of shifts. The bill provides that the change shall not become effective until June 1, 1931. It was referred to the committee on local laws.

BOARD TO STUDY TALKIES.

Buenos Aires Plans New Ordinances for Regulation.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BUENOS AIRES, May 13.—The Mayor of Buenos Aires appointed a commission this afternoon to study the problems presented by talking movies, especially as regards the displacing of Argentine musicians in the theatres and the use of a foreign language. The commission will draw up new city ordinances regulating the presentation of talking films.

The commission has four members, of whom one is the orchestra director at the Colon Opera House and another is the technical director of the Colon.

The rapidity with which American talking films have been monopolizing entertainment in Buenos Aires has been the subject of bitter editorial campaigns and protests from musicians and actors for several weeks.

OBSERVE VERGIL'S BIRTHDAY

Latin Program on 2,000th Anniversary Attended by 1,200 New Yorkers

The bimillenial anniversary of the birth of Vergil, Roman poet, was celebrated yesterday afternoon at ceremonies held by the Arnold Classical Club of Manhattan College, under the direction of John Paul Barnes.

More than 1,000 members of the club and students attended the program, which consisted of recitations and readings in Latin poetry and prose, and a one-act play.

The play, which was written by Albert Commette and William Purcell, depicted conversations among a group of individuals, each upholding the talents of a great writer, including Milton, Dante, Vergil and Homer.

WOMEN ARTISTS WIN PRIZES FOR DESIGNS

GIFTS OF $36,400 REPORTED

Mrs. Dunlop Hopkins, Founder and Others Tell of Plans for Applied Art Study.

Prize awards to students of the New York School of Applied Design for Women amounting to more than $500 in cash and $900 in scholarships, were decided yesterday by a jury of award after study of the annual exhibition of the school which opened yesterday. The exhibition was preceded by a luncheon of the president and trustees of the school in honor of the jury at which brief addresses were made by Leon V. Solon, president, and Mrs. Dunlap Hopkins, founder.

During the last year gifts and pledges totaling $36,400.32 have been made to the school, Mrs. Hopkins announced. The endowment fund received a gift of $500 from Charles R. Flint, a bequest of $500 from Mrs. George Grant Mason, and an anonymous promise of $5,000. Mr. Flint also gave $1,600 to the general fund, to which Lucius N. Littauer contributed $7,800. Mrs. Sloan Colt also gave $3,000 to this fund. During the year 1929, Mrs. Hopkins announced, students of the school filled positions at salaries amounting to $124,634. The principal prizes decided upon yesterday were:

J. P. MORGAN TO AID HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Newly Formed Milford (Conn.) Body Plans to Acquire Home of His Ancestor for a Museum.

Special to The New York Times.

MILFORD, Conn., May 13.—Assurance that J. Pierpont Morgan will assist this town to form a historical society was given tonight at a meeting of leading citizens, which resulted in the passage of a vote to form the organization.

Mrs. C. H. Trowbridge, chairman of the Daughters of the American Revolution committee on the preservation of historical sites, announced that she had received a letter from Mr. Morgan pledging support in a moderate way. She told the Milford officials that the Society for the Preservation of Historical Antiques would contribute $200.

Plans are being made to secure as a museum the former house of an ancestor of Mr. Morgan, Captain Edward Eels, who for six years was an officer in the Revolutionary Army.

MORE JUDGES.

Congress cannot agree upon the main recommendations of the Wickersham Law Enforcement Commission. Nor can it give serious heed to the new "code" proposed by the American Law Institute. At plans to revise and simplify criminal procedure, and to clear up congested court calendars by means of improved methods, members of Congress look askance. But when it comes to creating a lot of new Federal judges, Congressional interest is promptly aroused and Congressional activity stirred. On Monday the Judiciary Committee reported favorably bills to create seven new Federal judgeships. The same committee had previously recommended the addition of four Federal judges in various parts of the country. It is now stated that the entire list in contemplation will number seventeen. This is the answer of the House to the question why it does not do something to expedite the administration of justice. The only way to do it that the House knows of, or cares much about, is to establish some new judicial offices and fill them with a due regard to politics.

It is conceded that in a few Federal districts there may be plausible reasons for enlarging the judiciary. The argument for more judges to take care of the legal business of Brooklyn, for example, seems fetching. In the State courts of that Borough litigation has been so rapidly expanding that the leaders of the two parties went to the Legislature and asked for eight more Supreme Court Justices. This demand failed from becoming too much enmeshed in the question of political division of the spoils. The same thing has happened before in the case of bills pending in Congress for new Federal judges in this State. Influential politicians are always sure that more judges are needed if the appointments are placed in the right hands; if not, then the courts can be left to stew in their own congested juice.

That any such number of additional Federal judges as the Judiciary Committee of the House would favor is really required, we believe that the honest opinion of Bar Associations in the various States would deny. What they would like is more competent judges, willing to work harder. But we admit that in the present mood of Congress this is too much like an iridescent dream.

TWO CAN PLAY TARIFF.

A detailed report by the Department of Commerce, showing the extent to which more than $200,000,000 worth of American exports to Canada will be hit by the "countervailing duties" just threatened by that country, reinforces the warning of the 1,028 economists that our tariff increases would lead to reprisals. It also translates into concrete examples their theoretical arguments. Coming from a department noted for its grasp of facts, it is free from the "curse" which, in the political mind, attaches to reports issued by "mere professors."

That our tariff policy would invite replies in kind from other nations has long been evident to all but our representatives in Washington. Heretofore such threats from abroad have been comparatively unimportant, since they affected enterprises lacking powerful defenders in Congress, or because they came from countries whose trade with the United States was small. Why should the proponents of a high tariff on lace or cement, for example, be disturbed if France and Belgium propose to exclude American automobiles? But Canada's action affects many American industries, including agriculture. As our largest customer, Canada is able to "talk turkey" about the tariff in a way to force us to give heed. It would be asking too much to urge Congress to think of the larger aspects of the question—to bear in mind that with no country are our relations so important as with Canada. Our tariff plans are alienating our closest friend and making more difficult our future commercial as well as political relations with the British Empire, which, including all its parts, takes about 40 per cent of our total foreign trade.

Canada's "countervailing duties," conditional on our own tariff increases, would handicap many American exports. Under a sensible tariff arrangement Canada would normally buy an ever-increasing volume of American goods. Our industrial products are peculiarly well fitted to her requirements. Our raw materials supplement her own. Yet, for the sake of a fancied protection which in fact would be chimerical, we are consciously giving Canada inducements to turn to England for the goods which she has been buying by the millions from the United States. Short-sighted greed seems to be making short shrift of "Yankee shrewdness."

THE HANDS-OFF POLICY.

The disclaimer on behalf of the President that he is concerning himself in any way with the Republican Senatorial primary in New Jersey might be extended to all States. With the prohibition issue uppermost, this would be an unusually bad year for Presidents to express preferences among candidates. In any year the practice is unwise and generally unsuccessful. History is full of dolorous precedents for the White House. In 1882 the Arthur Administration was jockeyed into taking under its wing Judge FOLGER, Republican candidate for Governor of New York. The candidate who defeated him was GROVER CLEVELAND. President TAFT had numerous setbacks of the kind. Missouri Democrats stood by JAMES A. REED against the recommendation of WOODROW WILSON. Even the popularity of Mr. COOLIDGE was not enough to induce Massachusetts to elect WILLIAM M. BUTLER. In such a tangled situation as that of New Jersey Mr. HOOVER very sensibly fears to tread.

Presidents cannot help it if persons known to be their warm supporters and close friends seek office. If Representative FORT enters the Senatorial contest, he will draw support from the former Hoover organization in New Jersey. But that will not put him in the position of carrying the Administration down with him if he is defeated. If Mr. HOOVER were seeking a recent precedent against endorsement or even suggestion, South Dakota furnished one last week. There—and the Administration wasn't responsible for it—Senator MCMASTER'S primary opponent ran as "a Hoover Republican." He was defeated. Because of the label he assumed, the Administration shared in the defeat. The President cannot prevent opponents of other Progressive Senators from ranging themselves with the White House. But he can prevent committing himself, and in New Jersey and New York the probability that Wet Republicans will be selected makes a hands-off policy doubly advisable.

It is not surprising to read that the leaders who conducted Mr. HOOVER'S pre-convention campaign in this State, and who have acted as unofficial patronage referees since the election, have decided to turn campaign responsibilities this year over to the regulars. With the White House showing Dry sentiment, it would be too embarrassing to wrap the personal gonfalon of the President around a dripping Wet.

FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION.

Senator COUZENS has not found the rôle of regulator of utilities easy to play in the atmosphere of Washington. Long ago he introduced a bill designed to regulate the "transmission of intelligence by wire or "wireless." That seemed like a reasonably large order, but it did not satisfy its author, who later added the interstate transmission of power to his program and amplified the title of the regulatory body he proposed to set up by calling it the "Commission on Communications and Power." The utilities objected to the scope of the commission's authority, and the State commissions denounced it as a usurpation of their prerogatives. Since their influence is considerable, the bill did not get very far. Later Senator COUZENS launched a new attack from a somewhat different angle, introducing a bill simply to reorganize the Federal Power Commission and give that body all sorts of responsibilities in connection with interstate power transmission. The local commissions did not take very kindly to that either, and now the Senate has finally adopted a measure making no reference whatever to the regulatory features originally advocated.

This experience of Senator COUZENS recalls Senator KNIGHT'S recent efforts in this State, when the commission of which he was chairman brought in an imposing program of legislation, only to see it gradually whittled away at Albany. The bill which the Senate has just passed and sent to the House is so innocent and harmless that even the "Power Trust" could not possibly object to it. It reorganizes the present Federal Power Commission, which has fallen on evil days, by providing for the appointment of three full-time commissioners to take the places of the three Cabinet officials now serving. They never really had much time to give to this task, which has grown increasingly important. Practically all the work fell on the shoulders of the secretary of the commission, and Congress never saw fit to give him enough money to employ an adequate staff. There is a bill pending before the House Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce which would go a good deal further and give the reconstituted commission the appellate jurisdiction suggested by President HOOVER in his message to Congress last Fall. But there is little time left in this session and it looks as if Congress would be content, for the present at any rate, merely to do the necessary job of reorganizing the old commission.

COOLIDGE OF FITCHBURG.

Mr. MARCUS AURELIUS COOLIDGE, sometime Mayor of Fitchburg, is to be a candidate for the nomination for Senator in the Massachusetts Democratic primaries. His entrance has been long and carefully prepared. The fact that he, a retired manufacturer, has been no niggardly subscriber to campaign funds can have had no part in his choice or in the good-will of "active party workers" toward him. Senator NYE'S committee is a sufficient warning to aspirants, though some haven't taken it. Mr. COOLIDGE'S hopes rest, in a considerable degree, upon political geography; a somewhat queer one. Both candidates for the Democratic nomination for Governor are Bostonians. One announced candidate for Senator and several "possibilities" are also dwellers in the Three-Hilled City or its neighborhood. Shall Boston hog everything?

No, say the friends of Mr. COOLIDGE, who are also largely the friends of Senator WALSH. Mr. COOLIDGE and Mr. WALSH are both of Worcester County. What does Western Massachusetts think of this neat arrangement? But this, like the Constitution, may be a little thing among friends. Let us turn from the map to the platform. Mr. COOLIDGE revives the often-made, excellent suggestion of a constitutional amendment to veto separate schedules in tariff bills and specific items in appropriation bills. This can hardly be marked as "immediate" in a primary campaign. His dissatisfaction with the tariff bill is shared by large numbers of Massachusetts Republicans. The live and kicking issue is prohibition. Of the Republicans seeking the Senatorship, or a chance at it, Mr. WILLIAM MORGAN BUTLER stands pat and lovingly on the Eighteenth Amendment. Mr. DRAPER is resolute for its repeal.

Mr. COOLIDGE dodges the amendment and damns the prohibition law. What is his remedy for "the great evil"?

> It is possible for Congress to provide penalties only for the manufacture, sale and transportation for beverage purposes of liquor containing a higher alcoholic content than 12 or 15 per cent. In this way the people would be permitted the use in their homes of real malt liquors and wines by which genuine temperance would be promoted and moral conditions in our country greatly improved.

By "possible" Mr. COOLIDGE must mean "thinkable." It is "thinkable" that the Anti-Saloon League will favor such a modification. How about the Massachusetts Wets? In 1928 the people of Massachusetts voted by a majority of 283,000 to instruct the State Senators to ask Congress to repeal the Eighteenth Amendment. Nearly 80 per cent of the whole vote of the State was cast. We commend to the Hon. MARCUS AURELIUS COOLIDGE of Fitchburg this saying of MARCUS AURELIUS ANTONINUS of Rome: "Fit thyself to the environment that is thy portion."

CHILD WORKERS.

Although the New York Child Labor Committee made no attempt at the last session of the Legislature to introduce new limitations on the paid work children may do in this State, it put in a busy year trying to keep the public and officials to the standards already set up. In the quarter-century of its existence the committee has been instrumental in getting many laws enacted for the protection of children. Long hours of work after school, night work and the use of machinery beyond their power to handle safely are forbidden. While progress has been admirable, much remains to be done before the best enforcement can be obtained.

Among families where economic distress is acute it is difficult to persuade parents that the weekly earnings of $3 brought in by a small son are less important than his education and the building up of his body. Such a situation cannot well be met by mere laws and rigid enforcement. The committee has found a satisfactory method of meeting the poverty plea. Last year forty-six girls and boys were given scholarships making it possible for them to continue their schooling for another six months or a year without depriving the family of the necessities which their wages would buy.

Until last year the committee gave its chief attention to children working in the factories or on the streets of cities. Now the service has been extended to rural districts, with results which call for further investigation of child workers in the country. Boys and girls in school are put to work in the truck gardens and onion fields at daybreak. Many living in the cluster of Long Island villages known as the headquarters of the scallop industry have their evening meal as soon as they are released from school, and run to the sheds, where they open scallops until the day's catch is ready for market. Often they do not get to bed until nearly midnight. The gardening children of Orange County work from dawn until school opens, and after school until dark. If any of these boys and girls are happy and successful in their studies, it must be cause for astonishment. Their teachers cannot be surprised to find most of them yawning over their desks and failing in examinations.

On discovering such conditions, the committee invoked the existing child labor laws, and the Industrial Commissioner has already prevented the worst violations. But constant watchfulness is required. Parents and employers must be made to realize that child labor under harmful conditions is intolerably expensive. Play, rest and recreation are needed after school, and plenty of sleep is essential. Many of the industrial accidents among the 2,000 which occurred last year to children under 18 years of age were due to mental or physical incapacity induced by lack of sleep. If the natural guardians of these boys and girls will not protect them, the New York Child Labor Committee, strongly supported by public opinion, must be their fairy godmother.

FRANCE AND ITALY.

The Foreign Ministers of Great Britain, France and Italy, gathered at Geneva on business of the League of Nations, are in the opening stages of a discussion of naval affairs. Mr. HENDERSON'S proffer of good offices to BRIAND and GRANDI has been well received. In Mr. HENDERSON'S warning against excessive optimism there is evidence that something more serious is under way than the perfunctory gestures that might have been sufficient to redeem the promises made at the London Naval Conference by France and Italy. Unable to enter a comprehensive five-Power treaty, the two nations pledged themselves, with fervent British approval, to seek a settlement of the issues outstanding between themselves. As Secretary STIMSON remarked in his testimony before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, the temper in which the two Latin countries left London, while leaving something to be desired, was much less disturbing than one might have predicted at certain overcast moments of the London conference.

Basic reasons compelled an agreement at London embracing the United States, Great Britain and Japan. Basic reasons point to an agreement between France and Italy, primarily in the Mediterranean, but actually on the Continent as a whole. It is all very well for Italy to reassert the manifest destiny to which she is resolutely marching, and for France to make more or less curt remarks about it. The three major naval Powers could not afford, materially and morally, to slip back into the competitive armament era preceding the Washington treaty. It is doubtful whether France and Italy can treat themselves to the luxury of indefinitely continuing to make faces at each other. Italy insists upon a naval parity in theory which in practice she cannot afford, and France will not listen to an Italian claim for prestige that has little reality. Far away, indeed, is that "hegemony" on the Continent for which Italy is supposed to be contending with France. It is not to be supposed that the Central European States whose destiny is bound up with that of France in the settlements of Versailles will in any appreciable future abandon such a natural alliance in favor of the leadership of Italy.

Naval parities in the Mediterranean and considerations of prestige may be expected to retreat into the background as agreement is sought in the realm of more material and immediate interests. To one of these an Associated Press dispatch from Paris pointedly refers. If Italian claims in North Africa, including the legal status of her nationals in Tunis and the rectification of the Tripoli frontier, can be met, there are many observers in Paris who believe the effect on the Franco-Italian naval dispute would be "favorable."

HAMPTON CHOIR ABROAD.

The Hampton Singers have been singing joyously even in a strange land. Far from hanging their harps on the willows, they have sung with such effect in London that the staid British audience forgot the "somber traditions" of Queen's Hall and cheered with voice and hands and feet. They kept the choir singing for nearly an hour after the announced program had ended. Then they sang their spirituals at the service in the great Abbey, where, in the presence of the memorials of Britain's great, their voices paid tribute especially to DAVID LIVINGSTONE. A spell was cast over the worshipers in that "temple of silence and reconciliation" which has quieted the enmities of many generations. Had any of those hatreds still lingered, they must have been soothed or banished by the melodies of these unusual voices in which were heard the whirring of wings from the land of Ethiopia.

They sang, too, for the Prime Minister and then in Albert Hall, and gave impromptu concerts wherever they passed. For they went to sing not for profit, nor alone for pleasure, but to raise up their race in the esteem of a world which had enslaved their ancestors, and to prove in freedom that it is capable of making a special contribution to the happiness of mankind. Those who came to America in slavery days brought with them out of Africa tones which had never been given to human voices by the other continents, as recent research has discovered. They are now being given, through the liberality of American citizens who have befriended the descendants of the dark land, to the enrichment of the art which was prompted by the same urgence "whereto BACH and MOZART obeyed." The folksong schooling which their ancestors must have had has its cultural fruit in other lands. To that fruitage has been added the "balladry of Bible tales," the melodies of the cotton fields and the mysticism that still lives in a sophisticated and practical civilization.

These singers are like the troubadours as they make their way from country to country, in that they do not tune their voices for fee. But theirs is an other-world theme and a song that has in it the faith and zest of children.

FRIDTJOF NANSEN.

The death of Dr. NANSEN comes as a grievous surprise. In a recent visit to the United States there seemed to be no waning of his extraordinary vitality. He was planning an exploration of the north polar basin in the Graf Zeppelin. Dr. NANSEN was ambitious to return to the field of polar exploration in which he had distinguished himself as a young man, and to crown a career of usefulness as a scientist and statesman by geographical discoveries and meteorological research. He still confessed that fascination of which he had written:

> From first to last the history of polar exploration is a single mighty manifestation of the power of the unknown over the mind of man, perhaps greater and more evident here than in any other phase of human life.

"The First Crossing of Greenland," his account of a perilous traverse of the unknown ice cap from the east coast to Amerilik Fjord in 1888, is still one of the most absorbing narratives of adventure. One of NANSEN'S companions was OTTO SVERDRUP, who later was master of the Fram, with which the then furthest north was gained. When the ship was frozen in, there began that adventure of NANSEN and Lieutenant JOHANSEN, with dog sledges and two kayaks, to fare north over the pack ice and look for new land. NANSEN and JOHANSEN reached 86 degrees 14 minutes North, and turned back to winter on an island 81 degrees 13 minutes North. In the Spring they fell in with the Jackson-Harmsworth ship and were landed at Vardo, Norway. It was an experience the like of which no other two men had ever endured. To hear the story from NANSEN'S lips was to realize that they were truly of the Viking breed.

Add the voyage through the Arctic and the Kama Seas to the mouth of the Yenisei River in Siberia, include Dr. NANSEN'S services to science in the laboratory and as a writer, his two years as Ambassador to Great Britain, and his greatest distinction was yet to come: the work to keep Norway in sympathy with the Allies during the World War, his championship of the League of Nations, his indefatigable labors not only to relieve famine in Russia but to acquaint the world with the economic position of the Soviet Government, and his protection of Armenian and Greek refugees. The Nobel Peace Prize was never more worthily bestowed than when FRIDTJOF NANSEN was singled out for it. One of the best friends of mankind and one of the most fearless, generous and chivalrous of men passed away at Oslo yesterday.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Bridging the Hudson.

Nobody who lives in New York can help taking an interest in the progress of the great Hudson River Bridge. Already its towers loom high above the skyline, visible across the city miles out on Long Island, and the graceful suspension cables are beginning to take form.

The bridge will be opened in 1932. The third progress report, just published by the Port Authority, contains a wealth of detail about the project. The illustrations give even the layman some notion of the way the engineers are going about spanning the river.

There are pictures of the steelwork, 500,000 rivets to each tower, and of the traveling sheaves laboriously "spinning" the 43,600 wires so far in place, and of the massive anchorages on which the security of the bridge depends.

A great deal of thought has been devoted to the approaches. The old proverb that a chain is as strong as its weakest link has been replaced, in the experience of New Yorkers, by the dictum that a bridge is only as wide as its narrowest approach. Intersecting grade-crossings and left-hand turns have been avoided, and motorists will be able to drive "at least three miles without interference."

Punishing Park Vandals.

Fining of a number of motor vandals who loaded up their machines with dogwood and other flowers picked in the Palisades Interstate Park on Sunday should serve as a warning to others who may be tempted to despoil the countryside.

Apart from the selfishness of thus robbing parks of their beauties, there is the further fact that flowers so picked and transported, especially on a dry, warm day, cannot possibly survive transportation to the city. They are so wilted by the time they are brought home that they are really of no use to the family that stole them.

Vandalism is too mild a word to describe this sort of destructiveness. The flowers in the parks belong to the State as custodian for the people. Too often the sort of person who will help himself to them does serious injury to the plants or trees. The damage does not stop with the theft. As a result of recklessness in picking, there will be fewer flowers next year. Only by severe penalties promptly enforced will it be possible to put an end to this practice.

Landowners Also Victims.

Incidentally, the inclination of motorists to steal flowers, fruits and vegetables and to harm private property is resulting in the closing up of private grounds to passers-by. Near the city more and more miles of high fences are being put up by those who can afford them.

In Europe walls and high, thick hedges are common. Here they are still somewhat of a novelty. But self-protection is making it necessary not only to shut out the public highways but also to revive in full strictness the laws against trespassing. Later in the season farmers whose unfenced property adjoins a main highway will have the usual experience of seeing their fields rifled by passers-by eager to seize fresh vegetables or fruits.

There is, of course, no more justification for "city folk" stealing farm products and flowers from private properties than there would be for "country folk" to enter a city apartment and walk off with the ornaments. Apparently, however, this parallel never occurs to the thieves. If charged with theft they would probably in good faith protest that it never entered their heads that they were doing wrong.

In the Shadow of the Tradition.

It is sixty-five years since Appomattox, but there is to be a Confederate reunion this year as usual. As on previous occasions, Southern newspapers speculate whether this reunion will be the last. Some one described the Civil War as a "boys' war" because of the youth of the majority of the combatants. But lads who were 15 in 1861 are 84 this year, and that is rather old to march in parades and make long, hot journeys. Nevertheless, accommodations have been prepared for 5,000, and a full attendance is expected, partly because there is much talk that this reunion will be the last, partly because it is being held at Gulfport, Miss.

Here was the home of JEFFERSON DAVIS. From his place near by, Beauvoir, he went to the Senate and to his tragic Presidency at Richmond. At Beauvoir, too, he wrote the story of the Confederacy. LEE and JACKSON, much more than DAVIS, were the idols of the Confederate Army. But the name of DAVIS stands for the tradition, and June 3 will see as many of the veterans as can reach Gulfport paying tribute to the Southern President and will hear them piping thinly the rebel yell.

Tribute to a Capable Jurist.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The movement on foot to renominate George A. Slater for Surrogate of Westchester County should have the support not only of Republicans but of Democrats. He is now completing his second term in that capacity, and is recognized as one of the ablest surrogates in this State. His published opinions are replete with sound learning in a technical and difficult field, and are widely quoted. He is a man of scholarly tastes, and his opinions possess a high order of literary merit and are instinct as well with good sense and humanitarian spirit.

The business of the Surrogate's Court of Westchester County has grown by leaps and bounds, owing to the increase in wealth and population of the county.

Judge Slater was one of the active members of the commission appointed by the Legislature to investigate defects in the law of estates, of which Surrogate Foley was chairman, which resulted in the enactment of the new decedent estate law. His activities have not been confined to his official or professional work. As a resident of Westchester County and of the village of Port Chester, he has set on foot and in part accomplished important civic works—for instance, the establishment of a normal school and a college in Westchester County and the construction of a public library and a system of parks in Port Chester.

THE SHEPPARD-TOWNER ACT

To the Editor of The New York Times:

All fair-minded persons, whether or not they favor the bill to re-establish the provisions of the Sheppard-Towner maternity and infancy act, which expired last year, should be in hearty accord with the action of the executive committee of the Sentinels of the Republic, as reported in THE TIMES, in asking that the measure be recommitted for a hearing.

Not only was this bill reported out of committee without a hearing, but when the maternity and infancy act was extended in 1927 to June 30, 1929, it was with the distinct understanding that the law was to be permanently repealed.

In his budget message to Congress Dec. 8, 1926, President Coolidge declared that he was in favor of the proposed legislation extending the period of operation of the maternity and infancy act, but with a view to the gradual withdrawal of the Federal Government in this field, and that he had referred in previous budget messages to the advisability of restricting and curtailing Federal subsidies to the States, and that the maternity act offered concrete opportunity to begin that program.

The act passed in 1927 definitely provided that the maternity and infancy act shall after June 30, 1929, be of no force and effect, and when the bill was under consideration in the House, Representative Parker, who had introduced the measure, in reply to the question, "Does the gentleman from New York construe the language of the Senate amendment to be a virtual repealer act?" said: "In answer to the gentleman, I will say I do, judging from the discussion which took place in the Senate regarding this amendment."

In other words, President Coolidge went on record as favoring the termination of the law; the act was allowed to pass extending the provisions of the original law another two years, with the definite understanding that it was to be repealed at the expiration of that time, and now a bill is introduced and railroaded out of committee without a hearing to permanently extend the work contemplated under the original Sheppard-Towner law.

INDUSTRIAL COMPARISON.

British Observer Analyzes Conditions in Printing Trades.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

A report by J. R. Riddell on the printing industry in the United States and Canada has just been published in London for the information of the London School of Printing and Kindred Trades. The report is interesting as affording an estimate of relative conditions of the printing business on both sides of the Atlantic. Mr. Riddell is a keen observer and an impartial one. The subjoined paragraphs from his report indicate its trend:

"The working people in the United States seem to be particularly well dressed and 'groomed,' evidently spending a good deal of time in this direction, thus helping to create an impression of prosperity and a feeling of confidence.

"There is a noticeable lack of discipline and control among many of the children and young people.

"The wages paid, hours of work and cost of living are important factors when considering and comparing conditions. On an average the American worker is paid just over twice as much as his British confrère, but the cost of living is proportionately higher. The working hours are slightly less, the average being forty-four hours per week, a number of firms adopting a five-day week of eight hours per day."

From Deorabi to Darby.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

A good deal of merriment has been aroused by the fact that a distinguished British visitor spells his titular name with an "e" and pronounces it as "a." To any one familiar with the etymology of many English names, the apparent contradiction presents no difficulty.

The late Max Müller in one of his lectures refers to the fact that the component parts of a name or word are apt to drop out like distressed soldiers on forced march. And when once they fall out they do not get back again.

In the case of Lord Derby the ancient British spelling of the territory from which he derives his title was Deorabi. It is apparent that with mankind taking a short cut to pronunciation, the name would eventually become "Darby." Thus, while the name has lost some of its texture, the evolved pronunciation remains.

Information Sought.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

For some time I have contemplated seeking advice on a subject which has been paramount in my mind, as I am not yet a full-fledged American citizen, having only my first papers.

Since my arrival in America ten or more years ago, I have yet to pick up a newspaper without seeing the name of the Anti-Saloon League mentioned prominently.

May I respectfully inquire—and the reply will be a serious determining factor as to whether or not I shall apply for my final papers as an American citizen—does the Anti-Saloon League run America?

Appreciation and Reaction.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The Topic of the Times "A Virtually Impeccable Record" deserves praise. The picture of the good fairy and her charm reminds me of the old couplet:

> The midwife laid her hand on his thick skull
> With this prophetic blessing: "Be thou dull."

NOT SUCH A GREAT ASSET.

Erie Barge Canal Has Faults Which Prevent Full Utilization.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In THE TIMES of May 11 William Pierrepont White, defending the Erie Barge Canal, unfortunately misses the point at issue, raised by your editorial and Mr. Browne's letter. The one fundamental fact that enters into the discussion is that the barge canal never has carried any appreciable portion of even the bulky freight to and from the Port of New York.

Ever since about 1880 the canal method of transporting goods across New York State has been on the decline, and the building of the barge canal did not arrest this decline. The reasons for this fact are not difficult to find. Nothing short of a canal sufficiently large to admit steamers from the Great Lakes can rid us of the necessity for transshipment of cargoes at Buffalo, Cleveland or some other lake port. This transshipment is the costly item in the haul from the upper lakes to the sea.

All arguments as to the natural advantages of the Mohawk-Hudson pass around the northern end of the Appalachians are entirely beside the point, for two reasons. The first is that this pass is unquestionably utilized to great advantage for very economical rail haulage by the six tracks of the New York Central system from Buffalo to tidewater. I say six tracks, because the West Shore line is an integral part of the system and is used for heavy freight haulage. The other reason is that there are other advantageous routes from the lakes to the Port of New York, utilized for at least as much freight service and at least as economical haulage as the Mohawk-Hudson pass. I refer to the combination of the Ramapo, upper Delaware and Susquehanna valleys, used by the Erie; to the combination of the middle Delaware, Lackawanna Creek and Susquehanna valleys, and to the Lehigh and middle Susquehanna valleys, used by the Lehigh Valley.

Commerce does not seek the Mohawk-Hudson pass to the exclusion of the others, or even by preference; the three other gaps carry jointly at least as much freight traffic as the Mohawk-Hudson pass. The growth of the Port of New York and of the lake regions can be ascribed with more exactness to the fortunate existence of these many routes than to any presumed superiority or economy of any one. Mr. White's argument might have been valid or reasonable fifty years ago; but in view of the present facts of the case it is entirely beside the point. Canal transportation, except by genuine ship canal, has ceased to be economical. The low cost of haulage is eaten up by costs of transshipment and by slow transportation on the canals. All our recent effective waterway developments have been such as to open new routes to through shipping of economically large size. I refer specifically to the Ohio River improvements, enabling river steamers to go from Pittsburgh to New Orleans, and to the enlargement of the Welland Canal.

There is no evidence that the annual cost of $11,000,000 for maintaining the Erie Barge Canal is producing a cent's worth of economy to the commerce of New York State or any part thereof. This $11,000,000 of public money is therefore just wasted. The money comes from the taxpayers of New York State. The mere fact that this money does not come from any taxes on real estate has nothing to do with the case.

In justice to the partisans of the barge canal, it must be stated that legislative jealousy of the railroads has gone far to make the barge canal the failure that it is. The railroads are prohibited by enactment from operating barge service on the canal. It is known that at least one of the trunk lines now carrying traffic that might go by canal would welcome the change to use barge service for such traffic as could be let travel slowly.

Parental Care Lacking.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Is there not some way to compel parents to look after their children? It is a pity that they are allowed to run the streets until 11 and 12 o'clock at night.

The other day I was shocked to see six boys, about 14 years of age, with a dozen bottles of beer, drinking like men. At night both boys and girls are on the street, screaming and using profane language. It is pathetic; and when trouble comes to them, who is to blame?

SWEETS.

Sweet for bitter, for bitter, sweet;
The paths of Beauty wait delicate
For them that seek her, at morn, at noon,
Or led by the light o' the Moon.

Happy, thrice happy, they rest their burden
Down where dark violets fill the garden
A font of fragrance; refreshed, more fleetly
Than little children they journey sweetly.

Where honeyed waves the west wind ripples,
Soft airs invite them under the apples
All in their season; that blissful bough
Balm for soothing distills enow.

Yes, I grant you these sweets be many,
But what of Love that skims their honey?
Never a bird, never a bee,
Shall filch honey so fast as he;

No Robin Redbreast so thieving tarries
To steal the heart out of June's red cherries—
Oh, were I cunning to catch him and bind him,
In a pot of honey, drowned, you'd find him.

MELVILLE G. BAKER, BANKER, DIES AT 54

Head of Penn National Bank and Philadelphia Union League Heart Disease Victim.

LEADING BACKER OF GRUNDY

Began Career as an Office Boy—Was Active in Many Religious and Fraternal Organizations.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, May 13.—Melville G. Baker, prominent banker and president of the Union League of Philadelphia, died of heart disease today at his home in Germantown. He was stricken last night while attending a meeting of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, of which he was treasurer. He was 54 years old.

Mr. Baker was president of the Penn National Bank, treasurer of the State campaign committee working for the Republican nomination of Senator Joseph R. Grundy for Senator at next Tuesday's primary, and an executive of religious and fraternal organizations. He had served for several years as a director and vice president of the Union League and was elected president last December, when Senator Grundy made a special trip here from Washington to cast a ballot.

Born in this city, Mr. Baker completed his formal education at Central High School. Although he received a scholarship to the University of Pennsylvania, he obtained a job as office boy in the Penn National Bank during the Summer vacation after his graduation and saw such attractive opportunities in the bank that he never went to college.

Elected president of the institution in 1919, he said he "had to fill every other job at the bank before taking the present one." He was elected in 1928 to the chairmanship of Group 1 of the Pennsylvania Bankers' Association.

Mr. Baker was chairman of the maintenance fund of the Salvation Army, chairman of the finance committee of the American Sunday School Union, vice president of the executive committee of the Board of Home Missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church, chairman of the finance committee of the Grand Lodge of Masons and a member of the Philadelphia Cricket, Philadelphia Country and Downtown Clubs.

He is survived by his widow, the former Miss Lillian E. Wise, whom he married at Baltimore in 1907, and a son, Thomas Baker, a student at Swarthmore College. Funeral services will be held at the Baker home on Friday afternoon.

BUYS PAMPHLET OF 1754.

New Hampshire Historical Society Acquires One of Three Copies.

CONCORD, N. H., May 13 (AP).—One of the three known copies of the pre-revolutionary pamphlet, "The Monster of Monsters," whose publication led indirectly to the founding of the first newspaper on what is now New Hampshire soil, has come into possession of the New Hampshire Historical Society, Otis J. Hammond, director, announced today.

In the pamphlet Thomas Thumb of Boston assailed the royal government of the Massachusetts Bay colony in strong terms. Its publication in 1754 led to both his arrest and that of Daniel Fowle, the printer on whose presses the 24-page document had been run off. Fowle upon his release from jail two years later resolved to quit Boston. He took his press to Portsmouth, where his first publication, a newspaper, was styled Good News From Home. This title, however, was soon changed to The Hampshire Gazette, predecessor of the present Portsmouth Herald.

Mr. Hammond said the document had been obtained from Charles F. Hartman of Jersey City.

TO OPEN $500,000 DRIVE.

McKee and Whalen Start Today Plan to Rebuild Irvington House.

Acting Mayor McKee at ceremonies at 11 A. M. on the steps of City Hall will open today a drive for $500,000 to rebuild the recently burned Irvington House, an institution for children with heart defects. Another ceremony will take place at 12:30 at Police Headquarters, with Commissioner Whalen officiating.

One sick child of Irvington House will present to Acting Mayor McKee a brick such as will be sold in the drive for funds. A delegation of fifty school children, all in good health, will also express to Mr. McKee their appreciation of the help given less fortunate children.

Leaders of the drive, who will attend both ceremonies, include Mrs. Irma B. Levy, president of Irvington House and formerly a member of the Board of Education; Mrs. Fred H. Greenebaum, Ernst Rosenfeld, S. W. Straus and David A. Schulte.

QUEEN SEES SOVIET ENVOY.

Sokolnikoff and Wife Are Received at Buckingham Palace.

LONDON, May 13 (AP).—Queen Mary received the Soviet Ambassador and Mme. Sokolnikoff at Buckingham Palace today. The visitors remained with the Queen for a short time in her private apartments.

When M. Sokolnikoff first came to London he was received by the Prince of Wales. King George had been ill and was not receiving foreign envoys. There was some speculation at that time as to the King's reason for not receiving the Soviet representative. High officials scouted the idea that the British ruler had refused to shake the hand of the representative of a government under which his cousin, the late Czar Nicholas, had been executed.

WALKER VACATION NEAR END

Mayor May Sail for Home Today—On Golf Links All Day.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

HAMILTON, Bermuda, May 13.—Mayor James J. Walker of New York, evidently feeling the beneficial effects of his rest here in the past ten days, spent the whole day today on the golf links. Mr. Walker will probably sail for home tomorrow, but it is considered possible that at the last minute he may decide to prolong his holiday here.

Last night, Dudley Field Malone, New York attorney, who is a member of Mayor Walker's party, addressed the Bermuda Suffrage Society. Mr. Malone urged the women to take direct action to obtain the vote in Bermuda, which now is limited to male landowners.

SALVATION ARMY AIDE ARRIVES FOR JUBILEE

Staff Chief Here From London to Confer With Commander Booth on Personnel.

Among the passengers who arrived yesterday from London on the White Star liner Majestic was Commissioner Henry W. Mapp, chief of staff of the Salvation Army, and his secretary, Adjutant William Ware.

The commissioner said he had come to attend the Salvation Army congress and also to confer with Commander Evangeline Booth on change in the personnel. This will include transfer of officers, the first since General Edward Higgins became the head of the organization to succeed General Bramwell Booth.

The program of expansion will next spread to Poland, Greece, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria, and three leper stations will be opened in India, the commissioner said. The Army already has two leper stations in the Dutch East Indies.

Commissioner Mapp said the national congress meeting in New York marks three major events in Salvation Army history, first the centennial of General William Booth, its founder; second, the jubilee celebrating fifty years of work in the United States, and third, the quarter of a century's leadership of Commander Evangeline Booth in this country.

Another passenger on the Majestic was Mrs. A. G. de Champlin, an American who has lived in Paris for many years. She is 92 years old, hale and hearty, and said she had come to pay one of her periodical visits to her young sister, Miss Susan R. Kendall, who lives at the Hotel Plaza and is only 86 years old.

CHAPEL PROTEST PUNISHED

Brown Suspends New Yorker for Ridiculing Pulpit Speakers.

Special to The New York Times.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., May 13.—Rollo Gabriel Silver, of 215 West Ninetieth Street, New York City, a student at Brown University, has been suspended from college on a charge of ridiculing chapel speakers in a letter published by the Brown Daily Herald.

Silver is said to have believed that the paper would not presume to print the letter, which focused attention upon the undergraduate protest against compulsory attendance at chapel.

In recording his impressions of occupants of the pulpit of the historic First Baptist Meeting House, he suggested that Dean Charles W. Whitney of the University of Chicago Divinity School might have "let us have some inside information about getting at least half way to Heaven," and remarked that Rabbi Abba Hillel Silver of Cleveland had "a lot of oratory clogging his throw."

The climax was reached with Professor William Lyon Phelps of Yale. Stating that he "admitted he was a Yale man," Silver added:

"The leading man and funny boy walked up a runway at the side of the stage and gave us a couple of good laughs," Rollo bemoaned. "Once in a while he became vulgar, but he admitted he was a Yale man."

BANCROFT HEARD ON ROW.

Movie Star Testifies About Assault on Rutger Bleecker Jr.

Special to The New York Times.

MINEOLA, L. I., May 13.—After testifying before the grand jury as to what he knows about an assault on Rutger Bleecker Jr., son of a Wall Street broker of Massapequa, whose jaw was broken when two men attacked him at the Panchard Inn, Massapequa, on April 4, District Attorney Elvin N. Edwards directed George Bancroft, the movie star to return again. Bancroft signed a waiver of immunity. Henry Fink, business manager for the actor, also was told to come back to testify.

The investigation is to determine who the assailants of Bleecker were. There was a party at the inn on the night in question. At the inn were Bancroft, Mrs. Bancroft, Bleecker, his sister, Helen, and Horace Wells, a friend. Many were congratulating Mr. Bancroft on his success in a picture and Bleecker, his friend, while dancing, called out: "George, I think you are rotten."

Then believing that Bancroft had taken umbrage at the remark, he apologized. Later Bleecker went into a washroom and while he was there, two men whose identity is not clear to him, assaulted him, fracturing his jaw. Bleecker was removed to Reid's Sanitarium at Amityville and yesterday was taken home.

FOR NEW FEDERAL JUDGES.

House Subcommittee Favors One Here, Two in West.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—A judiciary subcommittee of the House today recommended an additional judge for the United States Court of the Eastern District of New York, one for the Eastern District of Michigan and one for Missouri in an effort to help relieve the court congestion brought about largely by prohibition cases.

The bill creating the new judgeships is likely to be reported by the full Judiciary Committee Thursday or Friday along with other measures looking not only to court relief but also to future handling of prohibition cases.

PORTO RICAN FATHER OF 63.

He So Reports in Census Showing 18.7 Per Cent Population Increase.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

SAN JUAN, P. R., May 13.—Porto Rico's population increased 18.7 per cent, to 1,543,043, as shown by recent preliminary census figures.

One man was found who declared he had been thrice married and was the father of thirty-one children by his three acknowledged wives, while admitting being the father of thirty-two other children that he knew of.

One family reported a husband and wife and eighteen sons, all living.

Dinner by N. Y. U. Branch of "Y."

Officers were installed at the annual dinner of the New York University branch of the Young Men's Christian Association last night at the Laurence House, 2,205 Sedgwick Avenue, the Bronx. Among the speakers were Dr. George Stewart, vice chairman of the Northeastern district of the students' branch of the Y. M. C. A.; E. J. Woodman, Professor of Geology; Theodore A. Distler, chairman of the university committee on admissions, and Daniel Ecker, recording secretary of the branch. The officers installed were John S. Irwin, president; Robert Kerler, vice president; Arthur Mersselder, treasurer, and Robert Conber, secretary.

ENLISTED AT AGE OF 13

Had Been State and National Leader in Grand Army Activities for Many Years.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, May 13.—Colonel George A. Hosley of West Sommerville, national adjutant of the G. A. R., dropped dead today while in the company of William P. Long, chairman of the Park Department, and John F. Paramino, the sculptor, inspecting the site at Columbus Park, South Boston, where a memorial commemorating the services of sailors in all wars is to be erected.

Colonel Hosley, who was a native of Massachusetts, enlisted for service in the Civil War at the age of 13 years and was aboard the Kearsage during the battle with the Alabama. At one time he was a member of Post 2, Department of California, but in 1890 transferred to Abraham Lincoln Post 11, Department of Massachusetts, in Charlestown. He was made commander of this post in 1908 and for seven years was aide on the staff of the Commander-in-Chief and for several years had been a delegate or alternate to national encampments. He also had been commander of the Grand Army Club of Massachusetts and at one time was president of the National Staff Association of this State and a member of the executive committee of the association.

He was commander of the Kearsage Naval Veterans Association and had been national chief of staff of the Grand Army and acted in the same capacity for the present commander-in-chief, Edwin J. Foster of Worcester.

ELIZABETH J. RENARD, SOCIAL WORKER, DIES

She Was Matron for 37 Years of University Settlement, One of the First of Its Kind Here.

Miss Elizabeth J. Renard, for thirty-seven years matron of the University Settlement at 184 Eldridge Street, died on Monday at her home, 311 East Eighty-fifth Street, after several years of poor health. She is survived by a sister, Miss Emma Renard.

The University Settlement is America's pioneer social institution of its kind and Miss Renard had served it longer than any other worker. Her connection with the settlement began in 1893, when the Neighborhood Guild, under the leadership of the founder, Dr. Stanton Coit, was housed in a tenement building at 26 Delancey Street. In 1898 the Guild, by that time the University Settlement, moved into its own building at 184 Eldridge Street.

Miss Renard kept up her work until a few days before her death. Her long service had brought her into friendly personal contact with thousands of members of settlement clubs and classes. She was a Protestant of French descent.

FRANK ROBERTS.

Retired Business Executive and Former Boat Builder Dies.

Frank Roberts, retired business man, died suddenly after a stroke of apoplexy on Sunday at the home of a nephew, Frank Roberts of 139-72 Eighty-sixth Avenue, Jamaica, Queens, with whom he had recently made his home. He was 79 years old and retired eleven years ago as secretary of the Blackman Talking Machine Company, now the Blackman Distributing Company, 28 West Twenty-third Street.

Born in New York City, Mr. Roberts took up as a young man the building of racing shells and other small boats in the business which had been established on the banks of the Harlem River by his father, the late Stephen Roberts, once an Alderman. He continued in that line until the latter part of the last century, when he became associated with the Blackman Company. For many years he was a resident of Bay Shore, L. I., and only recently moved to Jamaica. He was a member of several fraternal organizations. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Clara Roberts. Funeral services will be held tonight at 8 o'clock at the Funeral Home, 138 East Fifty-seventh Street, Manhattan. Burial will be in White Plains tomorrow morning.

HARRY M. CUTLER.

Vice President of National Life Insurance Company Dies.

MONTPELIER, Vt., May 13 (AP).—Harry M. Cutler, vice president of the National Life Insurance Company, died tonight of angina pectoris. He was 62 years old. He had been associated with the company since 1889.

Prominent Philadelphia Physician and Golfer Dies.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, May 13.—Dr. Radcliffe Cheston, widely known physician and amateur golfer, died at his home in Chestnut Hill today in his seventieth year. He had been suffering with a heart ailment for three weeks after having been taken ill while playing golf. Despite this he attended a meeting yesterday of the board of directors of the Chestnut Hill Hospital, of which he was one of the founders and until two years ago chief of the medical staff.

Dr. Cheston was born at West River, Md., and was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania Medical School in 1883. As a member of the Philadelphia Cricket Club he won the Stewart Walker Cup tournament at the Augusta (Ga.) Country Club in 1928. He was also a member of the Rabbit Club. Surviving him are his widow, the former Eugenia Morris; five sons and two daughters.

FELIX GUILMANT DEAD.

French Painter Was Son of Founder of Guilmant Organ School.

Felix Guilmant, a French portrait painter, died recently at his home in the Boulevard Brune, Paris, and was buried in Paris, according to word received yesterday by Dr. William C. Carl, organist of the First Presbyterian Church here. The funeral was held in the Church of Notre Dame du Rosaire, Paris, and Joseph Bonnet, well-known Parisian organist, played two of the compositions of M. Guilmant's late father, Alexandre Guilmant.

M. Guilmant was about 60 years old and for years had maintained studios in Paris and at Meudon, France, abandoning the latter in 1911. His father was the founder and first president of the Guilmant Organ School, 51 Fifth Avenue, of which Dr. Carl is the director. Since 1897 M. Guilmant had been a member of Sociétaire des Artistes Français. He is survived by a widow and two sisters, Mme. Maurice Aliamet and Mme. Victor Loret.

CARLTON A. TALBOTT.

Poet and Former Flint (Mich.) Fire Inspector Dies at 39.

Carlton A. Talbott, author of "Ballyhoo for a Mendicant," and other poems, died on Monday at his home, 720 Riverside Drive, after a brief illness of heart disease, in his fortieth year. He is survived by a widow, Lorraine, and his mother and two brothers living in Baltimore.

Mr. Talbott was born in Baltimore on July 12, 1890. For fifteen years he was a fire inspector in Flint, Mich., where, in his leisure hours, he did a great deal of reading. In 1928 he wrote "Ballyhoo for a Mendicant" and submitted it in a competition conducted by the magazine, Poetry. The poem received honorable mention and attracted the attention of Horace Liveright, who later published both Mr. Talbott's books of poems. The second, "Droll Parade," appeared a month ago. For three years Mr. Talbott has lived here.

MILTON C. THAYER.

Former Champion Rifle Marksman and Hotel Owner Dies.

Special to The New York Times.

BROCKTON, Mass., May 13.—Milton C. Thayer, at one time champion rifle marksman of the United States and a rival of Buffalo Bill and Annie Oakley, died today at his home here.

For many years he was proprietor of the City Hotel here, and as a hunter he formerly sent quantities of game to hotels in Boston. He was a charter member of the New England Order of Protection. Surviving him are his widow and one son.

Robert B. Ross, Cherokee, Dies.

MUSKOGEE, Okla., May 13 (AP).—Robert Bruce Ross, a grandson and the last close descendant of John Ross, famous chief of the Cherokee Indian Nation, died last night at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Fannie Duncan, near Tahlequah, after an attack of acute indigestion. He was 85 years old. He had been in Chattanooga, Tenn., on Friday to attend the unveiling of a marker at Ross Landing, named for his grandfather and indicating the site of the beginning of the city of Chattanooga. He was treasurer of the Cherokee Nation for twelve years. He also served as a member of the first constitutional convention of Oklahoma.

Wiborg Funeral Saturday.

Funeral services for Frank B. Wiborg, ink manufacturer, who died on Monday at his home, 756 Park Avenue, in his seventy-sixth year, will be conducted at his home at 10 A. M. on Saturday by the Rev. Dr. Russell Bourne, rector of the Church of the Resurrection. A special train will leave the Pennsylvania Station at 11 A. M. for East Hampton, L. I., where a service will be held in St. Luke's Episcopal Church, of which Mr. Wiborg was a member. Burial will be in the East Hampton Cemetery, where Mrs. Wiborg was buried in 1917.

William Hamilton Hyndman.

Special to The New York Times.

GREENWICH, Conn., May 13.—William Hamilton Hyndman died yesterday at his home here as a result of an attack of the grip, which later affected the heart. He was 77 years old and was born in Ohio. He had lived in Greenwich for about fifteen years, being associated for some time with Russell Cowles in the erection of the Pickwick Arms Hotel. Later he joined E. W. Brown, Inc., insurance broker, at 1 Park Avenue, New York City, with whom he was associated until his death. He is survived by his widow, two sons and a brother.

Colonial Veteran's Daughter Dies.

RICHLAND, Mich., May 13 (AP).—Mrs. Helen M. Barrett, a real daughter of the American Revolution, died at the home of her son James here last night. She would have been 99 years old next Monday. She was the youngest of twenty-seven children of Johannes Van Dolson of Steuben, N. Y., a veteran of the Battle of Saratoga. She was married at the age of 14 years and had ten children, of whom five are living.

William E. Earl Dies at 92.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWBURGH, N. Y., May 13.—William E. Earl died on Sunday at his home here. He was 92 years old. Three sons survive him. For sixty years, until his retirement about ten years ago, he was a marine superintendent for the Pennsylvania Coal Company. Funeral services were held today.

Joseph Allen Moore.

ISLIP, L. I., May 13.—Joseph Allen Moore, 68 years old, former justice of the peace here, and assistant manager of the Islip railway station, died at his home today. He is survived by two sons, Joseph Jr. and Dudley.

PRESS CITY ACTION ON WHITESTONE LINE

Commuters, in Third Appeal, Urge Use of Branch as Part of Rapid Transit.

SAVING OF $808,980 SEEN

Operation by Interborough or B. M. T. Can Be Compelled Under Contracts, They Assert.

Commuters of the territory served by the Long Island Railroad's Whitestone branch made their third appeal to the Board of Estimate yesterday to take over the line as part of the city's transit system and save the area from the disaster which its residents foresee as a result of the Interstate Commerce Commission order authorizing the railroad to abandon the line.

In a letter to the board, submitted by Robert N. King, counsel for the commuters, it was asserted that the city, by taking over the line and converting it into a single track rapid transit route, with turnouts, could provide an adequate service at a cost not to exceed $3,500,000, which would give the city a yearly credit balance and saving of $808,980.

Prompt action was urged on the ground that the Long Island otherwise might withdraw its offer to deed to the city, without charge, the entire branch, including fifty-five acres of land of which twenty acres is shore property fronting 1,000 feet on the East River and available for park purposes.

Mr. King expressed confidence that the Long Island would continue to operate the branch line until the city had completed the grade crossing elimination work and other changes required to fit the line into its rapid transit system.

This plan, Mr. King declared, would meet the emergency now existing, would restore shrunken property values and save the owners of valuable real estate from threatened mortgage foreclosures.

In reply to questions by Controller Berry and Acting Mayor McKee, Mr. King said that the Interborough or the B. M. T. could be compelled, under their contracts with the city, to operate the line.

The hearing was adjourned a week, pending Mayor Walker's return from Bermuda.

YANKTON ENDS CAREER IN SHIP'S GRAVE YARD

Old Gunboat, Once King's Yacht, Laden With Memories of War and Romance.

BOSTON, May 13 (AP).—Freighted with memories of adventure and romance, the Yankton was towed across the harbor today to the ship breakers.

Once the private yacht of a British King, once the floating palace of the most famous of actresses, later a gunboat of its adopted country and more recently a stealthy-rum-runner, the rust-eaten hulk bore little resemblance to that of the days when youth and beauty and courage trod its decks.

The Yankton was built at Leith, Scotland, in 1893, of 544 tons registry, and christened the Penelope. For a time her master was Edward VII of England. There the Prince entertained Britain's fairest and bravest.

An American acquired the yacht, and, again defying maritime superstition, changed its name. To him it was the Sapphire.

When Spain and the United States came to war the yacht entered the government service as the gunboat Yankton, the name it carried to the scrap heap. All the social graces fled as guns were mounted on its decks and it was stripped down to fighting trim. At Santiago Harbor the gunboat spoke its piece in battle.

When Admiral Evans took the Atlantic Squadron around the world in 1907 the Yankton led the procession as a dispatch boat. The World War found it still in commission, detailed first to Cuban waters to protect American commerce, then on patrol duty off the New England coast, and later to anti-submarine patrol in the waters near Gibraltar. In 1921 the Yankton was honorably discharged from governmental service with at least one submarine to its credit.

But times of peace apparently failed to bring contentment to so active a spirit. Two years later agents of the government it had served so well boarded the craft off New York. They found the hold filled with rum, and the Yankton knew the ignominy of seizure. After litigation had been disposed of, the Yankton for a brief period engaged in honest commerce. But since 1925 it had rested, a disused hulk, at a local boat yard.

Today the vessel was taken across the way to the graveyard in Chelsea Creek, to rest on the mud flats until the ship breakers pick her bones.

MOORE WILL AIDS CHURCH.

Special to The New York Times.

CAMDEN, N. J., May 13.—An estate estimated at $1,000,000 was left by Henry D. Moore, snuff manufacturer and railroad builder, of Haddonfield, it was revealed today when his will was filed with Surrogate George W. Whyte. Mr. Moore died on March 23 at the age of 88. He left $70,000 for the maintenance of a parish house in Steuben, Me., his native town.

The First Presbyterian Church of Haddonfield will receive $20,000, the interest from which will be used to meet current expenses. Sums of $5,000 each were left to the board of foreign missions of the Presbyterian Church and the board of relief for disabled ministers and orphans.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., May 13.—The will of Colonel Alexander B. Crane, lawyer and resident, of Scarsdale, who died at his country place on Crane Road on April 16, filed for probate today with Surrogate George A. Slater, disposes of an estate estimated at more than $300,000. The White Plains Hospital and the Church of St. James the Less at Scarsdale, each receive $1,000. Laura C. Burgess, a daughter, gets a legacy of $25,000 in cash. The residue is divided among six children.

How did the world ever get on without electricity? How could the learned profession of surgery get on without radium? Who knows but gravitation may some day reveal itself and be harnessed to serve, as the wireless serves, carrying messages upon the waves of ether? Who can set the limits of possibilities? Let us strive to live on the heights and lengthen the ladder upon which we climb, adding another round to widen the outlook. RYAN SEES TRUANCY AS MAJOR PROBLEM

School Board Head, Re-elected for Ninth Term, Urges Need for Behavior Clinics.

ASKS SOCIAL INVESTIGATION

WOULD FOLLOW UP CASES

Contracts Awarded for Cleveland High School in Ridgewood and Three Primary Buildings.

The solution of the problems of truancy and delinquency was set yesterday as the main task of the Board of Education during the coming year by George J. Ryan, who was re-elected as President of the board for the ninth consecutive yearly term. William J. Weber, was re-elected as Vice President at the special annual meeting of the board.

Mr. Ryan emphasized the need for a comprehensive study of the causes of truancy and of a recognition of the social and economic as well as academic factors of the problem. After describing the relation of truancy to delinquency and that of delinquency to crime, the head of the school system recommended the establishment of behavior clinics for the conduct of social investigations into "problem children's" cases.

In dealing with problem children, Mr. Ryan said, not only must a thorough mental and physical examination be provided, but also a social investigation.

Urges Behavior Clinics.

"The solution seems to lie in the establishment of what are known as behavior clinics and in the provision of a special group of persons to make the necessary social investigation," he said. "Plans must be made for the establishment in our schools of specialized instruction more highly individualized and designed to meet the needs of the problem children.

"There must be a thorough diagnosis of each case. Those children who will not respond to treatment in the regular schools, either on account of factors in the home, neighborhood or companionship, may then be taken care of in another form of school, possibly one with a longer day to insure against hours of idleness without supervision. If it be necessary to overcome old habits and attitudes the best method, it would seem, is the substitution of new and interesting experiences. It may be necessary to consider also legislation looking toward placement in a foster home; this, of course, only in extreme cases where complete separation from household and neighborhood is found necessary."

Cases to Be Followed Up.

It was suggested that trained persons follow up the cases of problem pupils after their graduation from the proposed specialized schools or from the parental school. Mr. Ryan declared there was at present insufficient provision for dealing with truancy cases and announced that he would appear before the board's committee on finance and budget soon to ask for an appropriation to provide "machinery" for the initiation of the truant program he outlined last Fall. Superintendent William J. O'Shea appointed a committee to study retardation, a problem closely related to truancy and problem children, but its report and recommendations have not yet been submitted.

Just how far the board is ready to go in the direction of new institutions specially equipped to deal with the problem was not revealed, but Mr. Ryan said:

"There is no length to which the city of New York will not go in its effort to understand and provide for the problem child—we are the agency charged with that work."

After electing its officers by unanimous votes the board awarded a contract for the construction of the new Cleveland High School in Ridgewood at a cost of $1,568,870 to the George F. Driscoll Company, Inc. The school will seat 3,700 pupils. Contracts were also awarded for the erection of Public Schools 144 and 159 in Queens and Public School 22 in Richmond. The three schools, seating a total of 3,000 students, will cost, respectively, $458,900, $267,115 and $229,720.

Recommendations for the construction of several buildings, including an addition to Washington Irving High School, Public School 85, the Bronx, and Public School 229, Brooklyn, were approved.

FOR POLICE PENSION RISE.

Aldermen Approve Bill Giving Advances Up to $500 a Year.

Retired policemen and firemen who have served twenty years will receive substantial pension increases if a local bill passed yesterday by the Board of Aldermen of the Municipal Assembly becomes a law.

The bill applies to all those retired before Jan. 1, 1930, and would grant them increases up to $500 a year. In no case, however, would the increase bring the total pension above one-half the salary the men received while in active service. Alderman Curley, sponsor of the bill, said it had the approval of Police Commissioner Grover A. Whalen and that he expected the Board of Estimate branch of the Municipal Assembly to pass it. Similar bills have failed of passage in the Legislature and the Municipal Assembly in past years.

CATHOLICS GAIN IN CHINA.

Membership Last Year Totaled 2,473,619, a Rise of 47,637.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 13 (AP).—Receipt of an official report of the apostolic delegate to China showing a total membership in the Roman Catholic Church in China of 2,473,619, an increase of 47,637 last year, was announced today.

The report, made public by the Rev. James G. Keller, superior of the Maryknoll Junior Seminary at Los Altos, Cal., showed that, aside from the regular clergy there are nine Chinese Bishops, 1,371 Chinese priests, more than 5,000 Chinese nuns, and approximately 4,000 Chinese young men preparing for the priesthood.

School Board Puts Care Aside; Buys $10,000 Playground Toys

Preparations for Summer play in the public school vacation grounds received an early start yesterday afternoon when the Board of Education, pausing in the midst of its academic cares, awarded contracts for the purchase of $10,000 worth of toys and games, including parcheesi, building blocks, weaving sets and similar pastimes.

Anticipating the use of the playgrounds by hundreds of thousands of pupils in July and August, the board also provided for painting and polishing gymnastic, athletic and permanent play paraphernalia in playgrounds. Painting contracts totaling $17,000 were awarded.

POWER GROUPS HIT BY FRELINGHUYSEN

SPEAKS IN UNION COUNTY

Touring Union County, New Jersey, yesterday in his campaign for the Republican nomination for United States Senator against Dwight W. Morrow, former Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen linked the Morrow backers to the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey in an attack on the utility company.

Mr. Frelinghuysen, by inference, included Mr. Morrow, a former member of the Morgan banking firm, in his attack, asserting that the Public Service Corporation was a "child" of the "leading international banking house of America," which he asserted was seeking a monopoly on the power resources of the nation.

Mr. Frelinghuysen also reiterated his opposition to prohibition in a speech in Elizabeth and was cheered by about 500 workers when he addressed a noon-day meeting in the factory district. He said that while he had voted for the Eighteenth Amendment, he had changed his mind about the benefits of prohibition and now felt that it was a failure.

Morrow Consults Managers.

Ambassador Morrow visited his Newark headquarters during the day to consult with his managers about final plans for the opening meeting of his campaign at Krueger's Auditorium tomorrow night. Mr. Morrow will declare himself on prohibition and other issues of the campaign in this address.

In Jersey City, former Senator Edward I. Edwards issued a statement declaring that he would not enter the Democratic primaries as an opponent of Alexander C. Simpson, choice of Mayor Frank Hague for the Senate nomination. Mr. Edwards had been looked upon by the anti-Hague group as the man who could give Mr. Simpson the strongest opposition.

Mr. Frelinghuysen demanded more effective regulation of public utility companies in his Union County addresses and called for an expression of opinion by Mr. Morrow on this point.

"There is now in process of development," he said, "a gigantic power combination or trust which aims to set up a monopoly of the power and light business of the country, one of the most powerful factors in which is the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey, through ownership or control of its stock by the leading international banking house of America, J. P. Morgan & Co., and its affiliated interests.

Urges Stricter Regulation.

"These corporations seek to control the action of the National Government in order to prevent the passage by Congress of any legislation that would subject them to national control of their interstate business or bring their holding companies within the scope of any regulating commission.

"In our own State the political power of the public service corporation has become notorious.

"I am convinced that the time has come when the power of the Public Service Corporation and that of similar companies throughout the United States, largely controlled by the international banks I have referred to and their affiliated financial interests, must be more effectively regulated in the interests of the people. I have stated my position on the question of public utility regulation and now I ask my opponent to state his."

Mr. Frelinghuysen yesterday wrote to E. Bertram Mott, Republican State Chairman, charging that the State Committee was violating the primary law by taking an active part in the primary campaign. Mr. Mott issued a statement denying that the State Committee was actively supporting Mr. Morrow.

John A. Kelly, another candidate for the Republican nomination, demanded that Mr. Morrow resign as Ambassador to Mexico for the campaign. Mr. Morrow expects to return to Mexico City for a time to wind up his affairs there after the conclusion of the political contest.

Fort Is Still Undecided.

Representative Franklin W. Fort failed to give any decision on a proposal that he enter the race against Mr. Morrow and Mr. Frelinghuysen as a dry candidate.

Former Senator Edwards issued the following statement:

"Under no consideration will I be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator in the June primaries. This statement has been made by me before, but I find it necessary to repeat it, on account of the numerous pleas recently made to me to be a candidate.

"I am not at variance with the rank and file of the Democratic party, but I am unalterably opposed to the present unholy leadership of that party and I shall always be opposed to the present assumed leadership of the Democratic party in New Jersey."

HEAVY VOTE POLLED IN 7 JERSEY CITIES

Ninety-seven Candidates Up for Election to Municipal Governments.

MOST INCUMBENTS IN LEAD

But in Irvington Mayor Greene's Defeat Is Indicated, While Two Other Commissioners Lag.

New Jersey voters in seven cities yesterday turned out in comparatively large numbers to elect the officials of their municipal governments to serve for the next four years. Thirty-three commissioners were elected, three to serve in Beachwood and five each in Belleville, Irvington, Perth Amboy, Phillipsburg, Orange and West Orange.

The polls, which opened at 7 o'clock in the morning, did not close until 8 o'clock last night. Since there were ninety-seven candidates for the thirty-three available posts, the balloting was complicated. The system of indicating order of preference for candidates also delayed the count.

In most of the cities the present officeholders, most of whom are running for re-election, appeared to be holding the lead over their numerous competitors.

At Perth Amboy, four members of the old City Commission were re-elected in heavy voting. Thomas Garretson, Republican, was the only man not returned to office. He was beaten by Albert G. Waters, Democrat. The Commission is now made up of William C. Wilson, Frank Dorsey, Dr. Matchew F. Urbanski, Dr. John V. Smith and Albert G. Waters. All, with the exception of Wilson, are Democrats.

Final results in Beachwood showed the re-election of George F. Middleton, Republican, as a commissioner, and the election of two new men as his colleagues. They are George T. Rowe and Roland C. Staples. Rowe led the field in votes received, with Middleton second. Rowe and Middleton were administration candidates, while Staples was endorsed by Dr. Edward P. Robinson, whose claim to riparian rights was an issue in the campaign.

In Irvington there was an upset, with Mayor David H. Greene, Republican, going down to an indicated defeat. Two other present commissioners also were lagging, Francis S. Green and J. Edward Jacobi, Republicans. The four candidates well in the van, according to the count early today, were Dr. John F. Lovell, Republican; Commissioner Henry P. Bedford, Republican; Harry E. Stanley, Republican, and Commissioner August L. Lacombe, Republican. Herbert Kruttschnitt, Republican, was not in line, and close behind was Commissioner Joseph M. Degnan, Democrat, who was making a good run in view of the Republican leanings of the community. The results of an investigation of the city hospital were used against Mayor Greene with telling effect during the campaign.

Another Mayor, William R. Potts, Republican, was falling behind the leaders in the Phillipsburg elections. The election of three candidates, only one of them now a commissioner, was conceded. These were Commissioner William H. Fisher, Democrat; John F. O'Donnell, Democrat, and Floyd B. Taylor, Democrat.

Commissioner George L. Hartman, also a Democrat, was running a good fourth, while Commissioner John H. Houser, Democrat; Commissioner John Laughland, Republican, and Mayor Potts were fighting for fifth place with all but one district heard from, Potts believed likely to win.

In Orange Mayor Frank J. Murray, Republican, and Commissioner George Roach, Republican, were assured of their positions for another term, but a newcomer, Walter B. Savage, Democrat, will displace one of the other present commissioners who were competing for fourth and fifth places.

In West Orange Mayor Simeon H. Rollinson, Democrat, was re-elected, along with the three other commissioners, two of them Democrats, who were standing for another term. Armand C. Brundage, Republican, was elected to the fifth post. A woman, Mrs. Ethel M. Harlan, Republican, was among the eight defeated candidates.

Mayor Samuel S. Kenworthy, Republican, was apparently returned to office in Belleville along with Commissioners William D. Clarke, Republican; Frank J. Carragher, Democrat, and Patrick A. Waters, Democrat. James J. Davidson and William H. Williams, Republicans, were leading in the race for the vacant post. The election of Mayor Kenworthy was seen as a defeat for former Mayor John De Graw, who had backed an opposition ticket.

The Leading Candidates.

Election of the following candidates was generally conceded:

URGE LIMIT ON TAXIS TO SWELL EARNINGS

Independent Operators Say at Hearing Current Strike Has Brought Larger Profits.

ALSO FAVOR HIGHER RATES

Hack Stands on All Corners to End the Cruising Evil Advocated Before Walker Commission.

Police Commissioner Whalen's contention that limiting the number of taxicabs operating in the city would confer financial benefit upon the industry received support yesterday in evidence placed before Mayor Walker's commission on taxicabs, which indicated that the current strike of Brooklyn and Manhattan taxicab drivers had resulted in larger earnings for independent operators. The retirement of several hundred cabs owned by the Motor Cab Transportation System because of the strike of some 2,500 drivers, it was testified, had increased the earnings of the other operators.

Commissioners Frank P. Walsh, Daniel L. Reardon and George W. Mixter, who sat at yesterday's hearing in City Hall, were told by Otto Gutfreund, manager of the Five Boroughs Fleet Owners, Inc., that it was the general experience of the 2,000 drivers in his organization that their "bookings" had increased since the strike began six days ago. E. W. Hagadone, who operates thirty-nine cabs in Flatbush, also reported larger revenues. Both men declared that it would be wise to limit the number of hack licenses and also the number of licenses issued to drivers.

Representatives of independent cab owners and operators testified yesterday in favor not only of restricting the number of cabs, but also of increasing, rather than lowering, the rate. Almost without exception they advocated a uniform rate of 35 cents for the first mile and 25 cents for each succeeding mile.

Mr. Gutfreund urged the commission to protect the interests of the independent operators if the matter of taxicab franchises came up for consideration. The independents, he declared, were convinced that a franchise system would favor the large operating groups backed by manufacturers and would put the independents out of business, depriving the public of what he termed the safest type of taxicab operation.

"The little fellow is not in a position to pay for franchises, while the corporations can afford to do so," he said.

Mr. Gutfreund advocated public hack stands at all corners as a remedy for the cruising evil. The same position was taken by Jack Bregman, manager of the Federated Taxi Chauffeurs' Union; Charles Stoller, president of the Cosmopolitan Taxi Association; Albert Zuflacht of the Pioneer Taxi Company, A. Bernstein of the Half Moon Taxi Association and Mr. Hagadone.

All yesterday's witnesses agreed that under present conditions and rates taxicab operation was not profitable to individual owner-operators or independent fleets.

"My cab stands me $70 a week before I can eat," was the way Mr. Hagadone summed up the situation.

The Hackmen's Protective Union announced yesterday that the night drivers from the 134th Street garage of the Motor Cab Transportation System had joined the strike, bringing to 2,800 the number of the corporation's drivers on strike in Manhattan and Brooklyn. Six of the company's eight garages, it was reported, are now affected, and the two others are expected to join the strike movement soon. Union officials denied that the strike was being led by "racketeers."

WOMEN SMOKERS WARNED BY DENTIST

Dr. H. J. Leonard Says 'Trench Mouth' Has Spread With the Cigarette Habit.

CALLS IT PUBLIC MENACE

Women are becoming victims of "trench mouth" in large numbers since the cigarette habit has been adopted by them, Dr. Harold J. Leonard, professor of dentistry at Columbia University, told dentists yesterday at the second day's session of the annual meeting of the Dental Society of the State of New York at the Hotel Commodore. Nearly 5,000 dentists from all parts of the State are attending the sessions.

"Trench mouth" was practically unknown among women before the World War, but today this disease is common among women who indulge in cigarette smoking, Dr. Leonard explained. Men have been suffering from the disease for many years and during the war "trench mouth" was particularly virulent among soldiers, he said.

The increase in cases of "trench mouth" is a growing menace to the public health, as the disease germs are contagious, Dr. Leonard asserted.

"'Trench mouth' usually warns of its presence by an acute condition in the mouth which leads to frequent bleeding, soreness of the mouth and the rapid eating away of gum tissue," Dr. Leonard declared. "Cigarette smoking is conducive to this condition because of its irritation of the nerves and tissues in the mouth structure. Those who receive the first warning of 'trench mouth' should immediately take steps to cure this pernicious disease."

Dr. Leonard explained that "trench mouth" was often confused with pyorrhea. Most cases of pyorrhea, he said, can be treated if not too far advanced and cured with little trouble.

"Pyorrhea is a condition which develops slowly," he said. "It is not contagious. It develops from germs which are found in everybody's mouth. It is usually caused by the lowering of vitality of tissue in the mouth, together with the accumulation of bacteria on the root surfaces. When the mouth is badly wrecked by pyorrhea, the loss of many teeth or any other ailment, it is most advisable to have the remaining teeth in the mouth removed and a complete set of artificial teeth inserted."

In most cases of pyorrhea in the early stages thorough cleaning of the teeth and massage of the gums will restore the mouth to normal, Dr. Leonard said. The three chief causes of this malady are bacterial growth on the teeth, mechanical faults due to stress developed by movements of the teeth and faulty nutrition, he added.

The promise that medical science within a few years may be able to go a long way in preventing pyorrhea was held out by Dr. Leonard. He said that research to discover preventive measures was under way at Columbia University and the University of Chicago.

TICKET MEN HELD IN BAIL.

Charged with failing to comply with the Internal Revenue Department regulations concerning the sale of tickets by speculators, three men were held in $2,000 bail each yesterday by United States Commissioner Martin C. Epstein in Brooklyn for a hearing on May 22.

The defendants said they were Marcy Chernoff, 23 years old, of 1,228 Grand Concourse, the Bronx; Louis Milenthal, 53, of 170 Lexington Avenue, Manhattan, and Samuel Gibbs, 38, of 1,320 East Ninth Street, Brooklyn.

They were arrested Monday after revenue agents had purchased tickets for last Sunday's baseball game at Ebbets Field at prices higher than the box office rates. The men who were arrested did not mark on the tickets the prices at which they sold them and did not sign their names to the tickets, it is alleged.

CAGLE WED SECRETLY, IS FORCED TO RESIGN

West Point Football Star's Marriage in 1928 Revealed—Violated Academy Rules.

INELIGIBLE LAST TWO YEARS

Wife Is Louisiana Teacher and Former Fellow-Student at the Southwestern University.

Special to The New York Times.

WEST POINT, N. Y., May 13.—Christian (Red) Keener Cagle, who would have been graduated next month from the United States Military Academy with the accolade due to one of the greatest Army football stars of all time, suddenly resigned today as a West Point cadet following the disclosure that he was married on Aug. 25, 1928, in direct violation of the hard and fast regulations of the army's official training school.

The news of Cagle's marriage, hitherto guarded with the greatest secrecy, reached Major Gen. William R. Smith, superintendent of the Academy, at 11:45 A. M. A half hour later, at 12:15 P. M., Cagle's resignation was in the hands of General Smith and the whole incident was officially "closed." Army procedure had moved with despatch and romance had brought an abrupt finish to Cagle's military career.

Cagle's resignation, in the form of a certificate sworn to before a notary public, was drawn up in the West Point Hospital, where he has almost completely recovered from an operation performed last Thursday for the removal of his tonsils.

The news of his marriage and his resignation burst on West Point like a bomb, shocking Academy officials, fellow-cadets and those who hold army regulations sacred. The word spread rapidly throughout the West Point barracks that, while on furlough nearly two years ago, Cagle was married at Gretna, Jefferson Parish, La., to Miss Marion Munford Haile of Newroads, La. Mrs. Cagle, who has been teaching school in Louisiana since the wedding, is en route North, being due to arrive in New York tomorrow. Since the wedding Cagle had gained All-American gridiron honors and a football reputation that had made his name a byword to followers of the game.

Official Statement Issued.

A brief official statement, couched in the direct phrasing of a military dispatch, was issued here this afternoon. This statement read as follows:

"Major Gen. William R. Smith, superintendent of the United States Military Academy, when informed by The Associated Press this morning that records at Gretna, La., indicated that Cadet Cagle was married while on furlough in 1928 immediately directed that an investigation be made. Colonel M. A. W. Shockley, post surgeon, who is in charge of the cadet hospital, where Cagle is convalescing from a tonsil operation, made the investigation. Cagle, when informed of the dispatches, gave Colonel Shockley a certificate to the effect that he was married. This certificate was immediately brought to General Smith's attention, who requested Mr. Cagle's resignation. The resignation was forwarded to the War Department this afternoon."

The only direct comment made to reporters by General Smith was:

"Under the regulations we could probably court-martial Mr. Cagle for this violation of the regulations. The only possible penalty would be dismissal. It is much better to permit him to resign and to leave the academy exactly as other cadets who have married."

Reporters were informed that Mr. Cagle would have nothing to say and that he preferred to remain in seclusion for the present. It was believed here late today that word of the War Department's formal acceptance of the resignation would not be received until tomorrow. When the War Department notification is received the football hero will be at liberty to depart from the academy. He plans to meet his wife upon her arrival in New York tomorrow. It was said here today that the bride has never visited West Point, but that when she left her home in the South it was with the intention of visiting him in the West Point Hospital.

Had Planned to Resign.

Cagle had planned to resign after his graduation to accept a contract as football coach at Mississippi A. and M. College and also to enter the bond-selling business in New Orleans. Only a few weeks ago proposals were made for Cagle to return to West Point as an assistant Army coach. Instead the position will be taken over by his one-time teammate, Lieutenant Harry Wilson of the Flying Service, co-star with Cagle on the West Point teams of 1926 and 1927.

In being married while a cadet, to the girl with whom he had been a fellow-student for four years at Southwestern Louisiana Institute before entering West Point, and in keeping the marriage a secret, Cagle made two infringements upon the inflexible West Point regulations. One regulation, the old form of which read that a cadet could not have a horse, a dog or a wife, forbids marriage before graduation. Another regulation is that upon returning from furlough, a cadet must report if he became married while away from the Military Academy.

The action of the West Point authorities today was based entirely on the fact that Cagle had been married when he returned. He and his bride were 23 years old at the time of the wedding.

Cagle tonight received an offer of a Summer position as sports announcer for radio station WOR at Newark, N. J., from A. J. McCosker, director of the station.

Were Childhood Sweethearts.

NEW ORLEANS, May 13 (AP).—Home State friends of Christian Keener Cagle were surprised today over the announcement that the red-haired boy from Merryville, La., two years ago was married secretly in Gretna to his childhood sweetheart, Miss Marion Haile of New Roads, La.

The bride, daughter of Mrs. William Haile of New Roads, is attractive and socially prominent. She became engaged to Cagle about four years ago at Southwestern University, Lafayette, La., after her fiancé had received his appointment to West Point. Mrs. Cagle completed her education at Louisiana State University and at Newcomb College.

Mrs. Cagle is a member of Alpha Delta Pi Sorority.

Slayer of 7 Children Arraigned.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 13 (AP).—Mrs. Ethel Geller, slayer of seven of her eleven children, pleaded not guilty to a charge of first degree murder when arraigned today. The arraignment was held at the woman's bedside in the prison hospital. She waived examination and was held to the county grand jury.

Will Rogers Finds Cause For Criticism of Democrats

To the Editor of The New York Times:

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., May 13.—Mr. Hoover is to visit our national parks this Summer. He announced it at 9 o'clock Monday morning. At 9:30 (same morning) the Democrats denounced it. They claimed he was fishing for votes instead of black bass.

What the Democratic party has always needed is some smart, broad-minded man, whose business it is to inform other Democrats "what to denounce and what not to denounce." They are where they are today by picking on the wrong things.

Let the poor man go wherever he wants to. After all we only elected him. We didn't marry him.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

NEW HUDSON BRIDGE IS 55% COMPLETED

JOB HAS COST EIGHT LIVES

$35,000,000 Has Been Expended to Date—Contracts to Be Awarded Soon for Span Approaches.

Work on the $60,000,000 Hudson River bridge at West 178th Street is now 55 per cent complete and the bridge should be open in the Spring of 1932, according to information given out by the Port of New York Authority yesterday after it had made public the third progress report on the bridge by Chief Engineer O. H. Ammann. The report was transmitted to the commissioners of the Port Authority by J. E. Ramsey, chief executive officer.

To date the work on the bridge has cost $35,000,000 for all purposes. Eight lives were lost during its construction. Three workmen were drowned in December, 1928, when a coffer-dam blew out during the building of the anchorage on the New Jersey shore. The five others were killed by falls during the progress of the erection of the 50,000-ton steel towers, which now rise to a height of 635 feet.

Within a few weeks the detailed plans and specifications for the approaches on the New Jersey side will be completed, and the contracts will be advertised and bids received. Immediately afterward bids will be advertised for the approaches on the New York side. The next step toward the completion of the bridge will be the advertising and awarding of contracts for the floor of the bridge.

100,000 Tons of Steel Used.

The structural steel that will go into the floor together with the steel that has already gone into the construction of the towers will total approximately 100,000 tons. The bridge is described as the largest structural steel job in New York City by the Structural Steel Board of Trade, of which its contractors, McClintic-Marshall Company, are members.

The spinning of the four thirty-six-inch cables, the most spectacular feature of the construction, is now 55 per cent complete. It is expected that this construction will be finished next Fall. Until the cables are spun contracts for laying the steel floor structure will not be let. To date 55,000 wires have been spun into the sixty-one strands. The strands when placed in the saddles atop the towers lie against each other to form a hexagonal section. After all the strands have been constructed and placed in their saddles, the cables will be compacted in cylindrical form according to Mr. Ammann's report.

The Kiosk Contracting Company, which, with its bid of $149,000, obtained the contract to demolish the buildings on the site of the New York approach between Riverside Drive and Fort Washington Avenue, completed its contract in March, 1930, according to the chief engineer's report.

Palisades Rock Cut.

Mr. Ammann further reports that in preparation for the New Jersey anchorage and approach the excavators had to make a rock cut through the Palisades more than 750 feet long and 145 feet wide from the face of the Palisades to Hudson Terrace. The two inclined shafts for anchoring the cables into rock extend for nearly 200 feet from the level of what will be the lower deck of the bridge. Nearly 220,000 cubic yards of traprock were removed for this work.

The portion of the New York anchorage constructed comprises the central mass, or core, for the completed anchorage. The first portion contains 107,000 cubic yards of concrete and its construction involved the setting in masonry of 2,500 tons of steel.

The progress report describes the spinning of the cables, arranged in two pairs, 106 feet apart, one pair at each side of the bridge structure.

"The cables of each pair are spaced nine feet on centres," continues the report. "Each cable will consist of 26,474 parallel wires, compacted and bound together to act as a unit. Each cable will have a diameter of thirty-six inches and will weigh approximately 2,700 pounds per linear foot.

"Each wire has a diameter of approximately one-fifth of an inch. The wire is of the same kind used in all large suspension bridges since the construction of the Brooklyn Bridge. The quality of the material, however, has been improved gradually, with the result that the wire used in the Hudson River Bridge has a tensile strength of 230,000 pounds per square inch as compared with the strength of 160,000 pounds per square inch of the Brooklyn Bridge."

POLICE GIVE $3,500.

Salvation Army Gets Fund Raised for Maintenance Appeal.

Police Commissioner Whalen turned over to the Salvation Army Maintenance Appeal yesterday $3,500 contributed by the men of the department.

The amount is greater by 50 per cent than the sum given by the force last year during the Maintenance Appeal campaign, according to Lieut. Col. E. B. Underwood, campaign secretary.

TURNER FAILS IN TRY AT LINDBERGH MARK

BATTLED HEAVY STORMS

ALTITUDE OF NO AVAIL

Failure to Land at Roosevelt Field Would Have Disqualified Pilot Anyway, Officials Say.

Strong headwinds and "terrible flying weather" encountered by Roscoe Turner yesterday in his attempt to lower the transcontinental speed record of 14 hours 23 minutes and 27 seconds set by Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh on Easter Sunday forced him down at 8:40 o'clock last night at Curtiss Field, Valley Stream, L. I., within five miles of his goal.

The Lindberghs made only one stop. They landed at Wichita for twenty minutes. Turner was to have followed exactly the same schedule, but in addition to spending twenty-seven minutes in Wichita he was forced to come down at Middletown, Pa., for oil for his motor, wasting another fifteen minutes. This brought his total flying time down to 14 hours and 52 minutes, which is 28 minutes and 33 seconds longer than the flying time of the Lindberghs.

The Lockheed Air Express in which Turner had left Grand Central Airport, Los Angeles, at 5:03 A. M. (Eastern Daylight Saving Time) loosened a landing wheel when it hit the soft loam at the northern corner of Curtiss Field. Its propeller was motionless and its Hornet motor was silent. Turner, stepping wearily out of the cockpit, explained that he had been unable to make Roosevelt Field, his official destination, because he had run out of fuel.

It was dark when the ship came down and fewer than 500 persons were in the vicinity, because Turner had not been expected at Curtiss Field. The floodlights were on, however, and he had no difficulty in finding a landing spot.

"I was about 3,000 feet above Curtiss Field when I heard the motor sputter, indicating that I was out of gas," Turner said. "The floodlights were on. That helped. I put her nose down and made for the field. On landing the plane groundlooped, causing the rivets in my right landing wheel to pull out. There is no real damage."

Tells of Storms on Way.

Asked if he would make another attempt to lower the Lindberghs' record, Turner shook his head.

"I can't say, right now," he answered. "I had bad weather a good part of the way on this flight. I ran into storms in Illinois, over Ohio and over Northern Pennsylvania. In some spots the weather was actually terrible."

Walter Ward, official timer for the National Aeronautic Association, who was waiting at Roosevelt Field when Turner was forced down, hurried over to meet the flier. He explained that Turner's flight would have been in vain, even if he had beaten the Lindberghs' time, since he had not landed at Roosevelt Field. Unless a pilot actually reaches the point designated by the association the flight is not considered for official record.

Turner left Los Angeles with 400 gallons of fuel aboard. The start was made after a week of delay caused by bad weather, but Turner had hoped to find conditions better in the higher air lanes which the Lindberghs had followed. He was disappointed, however, running into bumpy air and bad weather over New Mexico only a short time after he took off.

Headwinds and broad areas of low pressure encountered on the first lap of the flight cut down Turner's speed, according to The Associated Press dispatches. When he brought his Lockheed down on the rain-soaked field in Wichita at 10:44:35, Central Standard Time, he was 46 minutes and 25 seconds behind the time made by Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh on Easter Sunday. They covered the 1,249 miles in 6 hours, 56 minutes and 10 seconds and Turner made it in 7 hours, 42 minutes and 35 seconds.

"I met miserable flying weather most of the way," the pilot said there as mechanics began refilling his tanks with an additional 188 gallons of fuel and 5 gallons of oil. "It was so terrible at one time over Mexico that I thought I would be forced to jump."

Flies On Without Eating.

Turner remained in the cockpit, but wasted no time eating. He merely adjusted his parachute to a more comfortable position for the next part of the journey and inquired as to weather conditions along the remaining part of his route. He was told he would find fair weather most of the way.

Bad flying weather and bumpy air had not, however, interfered with the appetite of the blinking lion cub, his mascot. It wore its special parachute as smugly as a veteran pilot, and when field attendants brought it rations of raw horse meat it devoured the meal with zest. It seemed comfortable despite the fact that it was hemmed in by the fuel tanks in the narrow cabin.

Turner told the officials at the Wichita airdrome that he had encountered the worst weather over Raton, in New Mexico. There, he said, the headwinds were extremely strong and he had to force his way through extensive areas of low pressure despite the fact that he was flying high.

"From Los Angeles to Wichita I flew at high altitudes, up to 15,000 feet," Turner said, "but from Wichita eastward I came lower. When we were over the Rockies this morning the motor began to steam because of the intense cold and for a time the lion and I were thinking about getting out. The cold was terrific and, in fact, the motor sputtered a couple of times but it picked up and we came through all right."

Turner's ship had 150 more horsepower than the Lockheed Sirius plane in which the Lindberghs flew. Its gasoline consumption, therefore, was greater by about 20 per cent. Although Turner carried approximately the same amount of fuel out of Wichita as the Lindberghs had when they left that city, he came down with empty tanks.

SOVIET RULE MAKING GAINS IN TURKESTAN

Promise of Power to Natives, Racial Equality and Red Doctrines Factors.

BUT INERTIA THERE HEAVY

By WALTER DURANTY.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

TASHKENT, May 4 (Delayed).—Three questions sharp as daggers attack a foreign reporter in this former capital of the Czar's Asiatic colonial empire—it is still a commercial capital despite the Soviet political readjustments—after a journey of more than 1,000 miles through Kazakstan and Uzbekistan from Ainabulak, the new railroad hamlet in its amphitheatre of hills, to the golden Samarkand, still glorious in ruins, and old Bokhara.

First and sharpest comes the query, Are all colonial empires alike—must each conquering race pursue the same inevitable rule of oppression, however tempered with justice, and exploitation, however concealed by cunning words and material benefits to the masses?

Soviet System a Question.

The second follows naturally—Is the Soviet wiser, more successful and more capable in dealing with the natives in its "colonial" policy than the great capitalist powers?

Third, a question which may have a great bearing on the future of Russian Central Asia, China and the British, French, Dutch and American colonial possessions—Can the Soviet give to these "subject" peoples that pride of citizenship which made St. Paul cry out, "I am a Roman citizen and I appeal to Caesar in Rome."

To answer such questions directly might seem impertinent, were it not for the clear and guiding contrast between Kazakstan, which might be compared to the Western prairies which the Americans conquered in the middle decades of the last century and Uzbekistan, with the same set Asiatic ways, traditions and civilization as Peking, Delhi and Hongkong.

Unlike the rest of Central Asia, Kazakstan is being and must be developed by Russian man-power.

The natives are nomads of whom only a comparatively few are able or willing to accommodate themselves to farm life, especially collective farm life, which one may say in passing has come to stay in Soviet Russia, or to industrialization, which in the next twenty years will make the Kazakstan Lake Balkash the "Russian Lake Superior" as the route for coal, iron, copper, zinc, phosphates and other minerals.

The Soviet appoints Kazaks as the nominal rulers of Kazakstan and offers the Kazak masses education and fair play. But when one comes down to brass tacks Kazakstan will be as Russian as Kansas is American. From Taskhent, however, the real problem begins with the first of the questions mentioned above, which your correspondent is inclined to answer in the affirmative. How and why this is so will be shown in subsequent dispatches, but it remains a fact that no foreign race in Asia has yet done more than scratch the hard jade surface of native life and has always been compelled—as the Bolsheviki are being compelled—to use force in the final issue to put its policies into effect.

Finds Soviet Offers Power.

To the second question, on all three counts one must also give an affirmative, though qualified, answer. Once it is taken for granted that foreign supremacy exists, it is possible to compare the methods of government of Tamerlane and the Soviet here and the British in India.

Tamerlane played an iron hand. He killed the enemies and made pyramids of their skulls as a monument and a warning. The British in India use the Hindus against the Mohammedans and the frontier tribesmen against the Buddhist Gurkhas to quell rebellion.

The Soviet quiver has three new arrows. First, the Soviet holds out the promise of power to native leaders, who may become by membership in the Communist party leading figures not only in Central Asia but in Russia as a whole. Secondly, the Soviet has the faculty of appearing not as a conqueror of an alien race but as equals with the Asiatics. The Russians are really Asiatics themselves, but the German Czars and Baltic barons since Peter the Great made czarism alien. The Bolsheviki do not feel race pride, and alone of the great master peoples have no "caste" barriers against subject races—not yet at least.

Thirdly there is the new Soviet trick of playing "have-nots" against the "haves," which is perhaps the most important arrow of all in Asia, where the rich are so few and the poor so numerous.

Finally, the smallest trump in Asia, the Soviet has force—hard-boiled Russian Ogpu soldiers like those we saw in Alma Ata—ready as Tamerlane's Tartars to smite the malcontents hip and thigh in the Soviet's name.

Oriental Inertia Opposes.

But there is another side to the picture. Bokhara and Samarkand, which for countless years have been wealthy merchant cities, are starving today, with private initiative dead and bazaars empty. In the rural field collectivization has been difficult, as Joseph Stalin himself has admitted, and Soviet farms and collective farms are hampered by Uzbek apathy. To Soviet reforms those two old cities oppose the inertia of the Orient which "sits and smiles and lets the West rush by."

The third question cannot yet be answered. That the Soviet has formed a "clientele" in the old Roman sense of the word is evident enough—trencher-fed hounds who know their master's voice. But the Uzbeks in Samarkand or Bokhara have their own racial pride and are as haughty and aloof from Soviet Russia as they were from the Russia of the Czars.

Soviet rule affronts them in two basic habits of commerce and religion. Nevertheless, it is a singular fact that they seem to like the Soviet far better than they did Czarist Russia and every artifice of propaganda is being devoted to reinforcing their sense of Soviet citizenship.

At present they have hardly got it, but I venture to predict that the next ten years will give it to them.

Samarkand a Dream City.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

SAMARKAND, May 3 (Delayed).—Samarkand is one of those dream cities which come true. The new Russian town with its wide streets, modern buildings and tall trees springs up from the surrounding desert like a green jewel with a withered hand. The native town is superb with the ruins of buildings erected by Tamerlane and Ulak Bek, his grandson, that make Rome's Coliseum ordinary and Westminster Abbey petty by comparison.

On the outskirts of the old town one sees a dome at once, burning bright in the Asian sun with the tiles, once blue, now motley and earth-colored from the mud-baked bricks beneath. A gate to the garden at the end of which the tomb of Tamerlane lies is a glory of blue-white tiles partly ruined by earthquakes but still lovely and gracious. Then an oblong garden, forty by twenty yards, scented with locust trees and flowers. And then the little building which was old before America was discovered where are hidden the remains of Tamerlane under an Arabic inscription, "Here lies the conqueror of the world." It is a perfectly proportioned square vault with a domed roof.

It is incredibly peaceful here in the twilight, which the windows carved iff cedarwood fretwork lets in from the glaring sun outside. Unexpectedly an old man in a long, colored Eastern robe, carrying a candle, appears and motions toward a stone stairs leading to a crypt below. Here is Tamerlane's real tomb—a long slab of white marble all covered with Arabic engravings in this cool, dark vault. Neither the resting place of Napoleon in the garish Invalides of Paris, nor the squat building where Russians throng to pay homage to Lenin, nor Westminster Abbey where England buries her heroes, can compare in dignity or tranquil beauty with this last home of Tamerlane.

TULSA, Okla., May 13 (AP).—A terrapin believed released thirty-six years ago by Walter Mineheirt, now dead, after he had carved his name, address and the date upon its back, was returned here by a motorist who said he found it near Memphis, Tenn., nearly 400 miles away.

Mrs. Charles Lowrie, the former Mrs. Mineheirt, to whom the terrapin was returned, said today she was with Mineheirt when he made the inscription.

400 WOMEN VOTERS MEET.

New Jersey League Hears at Morristown of Naval Parley.

Special to The New York Times.

MORRISTOWN, N. J., May 13.—Formal greetings and short talks on the growth and work of the League of Women Voters occupied the first session of the State convention of that organization in the parish house of the Church of the Redeemer here this morning. A welcome to Morristown was extended to the 400 delegates by Mrs. Channing Gilson, chairman of the Morris County group, after the convention had been opened by the State president, Mrs. Frederic H. Sanford of Nutley.

Among the morning speakers were Miss Josephine Hedden, Mrs. William H. Sayre, Mrs. Grace H. Wolfarth, Mrs. Viola Dey Halliday, Charles A. Heiss and Mrs. Theodore Pellen.

The principal speakers at a luncheon this noon were Mrs. Michael Scilipoti of Montville and Dr. Charles Browne, New Jersey public utilities commissioner.

The slate of officers presented by the chairman of the nominating committee, Mrs. Harriman N. Simmons of Elizabeth, was unopposed and the candidates elected by means of the voting machine: They are:

First Vice President—Mrs. WELLS P. EAGLETON of New York.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. MAXWELL BARUS of Montclair.
Vice Presidents-at-Large—Mrs. G. W. CUSHING of East Orange, Mrs. IDA CUSTER of Rahway, Miss HELEN POND of Moorestown and Mrs. WILLIAM MILWUTSKI of Newark.
Directors—Mrs. CHARLES MacFARLAND of Mountain Lakes and Mrs. WILLARD V. KING and Mrs. FREDERIC R. KELLOGG of Morristown.

Mrs. Sanford remains as president, her term being for two years.

The London naval parley was discussed at the afternoon session. This forum was followed by a debate on birth control, Dr. Edgar Swann Iwers speaking for the measure and Dr. Margaret Mackey of Jersey City against it.

LIFE UNDERWRITERS MEET.

Nominations Announced at Dinner Attended by 2,000.

More than 2,000 men and women attended the annual dinner of the Life Underwriters Association at the Hotel Astor last night, when nominations for officers for the coming year were announced. Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow, who was to have been a speaker, was unable to attend. The speakers were Peter M. Fraser, vice president of the Connecticut Life Insurance Company, and James V. Barry, vice president of the Metropolitan Insurance Company. James V. McNamara, president of the association, was toastmaster.

Following are the nominations announced at the dinner:

President—Leon Gilbert Simon, Equitable Life Insurance Company.
First Vice President—Arthur P. Woodward, Connecticut General Life Insurance Company.
Second Vice President—Marvin L. Lane, Home Life Insurance Company.
Third Vice President—Walter E. Barton, Union Central Life Insurance Company.
Secretary-Treasurer—Clancy D. Connell, Provident Mutual Life Insurance Company.
Executive Committee—Louis A. Cerf Jr., C. E. De Long, Ralph G. Engelsman, John M. Fraser, J. P. Graham, Arthur A. Schmidt, E. J. Sisley, Lowell Baker, Glenn Dorr, Robert H. Mackey, Arthur J. Miller, Frank J. Mulligan, William G. Thayer Shedd, Nelson M. Way and Robert J. Williams.

E. J. Sisley was recommended by the nominating committee for chairman of the executive committee.

The candidates will be voted on June 10.

HUNGARIAN WRITER SEIZED.

Ujhelyi, Arrested in Vienna, Must Serve 14 Months for Blasphemy.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

VIENNA, May 31. — Gardinand Ujhelyi, the novelist and playwright whose books have been declared indecent, was arrested yesterday by the Vienna police and will be sent to Budapest to serve a sentence of fourteen months' penal servitude for blasphemy. The sentence was passed in Budapest five years ago, but he appealed and before the appeal was heard fled to Vienna.

From Vienna he went to Berlin, where the German authorities gave him an interim passport. Armed with this he returned to Vienna Sunday to consult doctors here about his diabetic condition. He was arrested in a well-known café.

Mr. Ujhelyi, who weighs 362 pounds, but always is elegantly dressed and monocled, was once one of the sights of the Budapest Corso. His arrest and condemnation were one of the minor results of the advent of the Horthy régime with its incidental censorship of literature.

6,000 GIRLS DANCE IN MAY POLE FETE

MRS. WALKER IS A GUEST

Under a smiling sky several thousand little girls in white, with touches of color in their hair ribbons and head bands, dotted the sheep meadow in Central Park yesterday afternoon and greeted the Spring with May pole and folk dances in the twenty-third annual park fête of the girls' branch of the Public Schools Athletic League.

Almost 6,000 girls of primary and junior high school grades from forty-five schools took part in the spectacle, under the direction of Mrs. Emily O'Keefe Daley, executive secretary of the league, assisted by Miss Christine Dobbins, inspector of athletics, and a field committee.

Before a group of guests of honor in a grand stand in the centre of the field including Mrs. James J. Walker and Dr. A. K. Aldinger, director of health education, the flag was raised and the girls recited the pledge of allegiance, followed by the singing of "The Star-Spangled Banner."

Then, to the music of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company band, and while a solitary airplane circled far overhead, the girls went through the figures of old European folk dances, the Swedish "Carrousel" and "Gustaf's Skal"; the Danish "Our Little Girls" and "The Hatter"; the English "Jolly Is the Miller," "London Is a Fine Town" and "Maypole Dance"; the French "Bridge of Avignon" and the Irish "Rakes of Marlow." Fifty May poles, decorated with different colored caps and streamers, had been erected on the meadow.

Five hundred and fifty Boy Scouts from 250 troops in the city, headed by Scout Master Harold K. Whitford, acted as aides, provided a color guard and were prepared to render first aid.

EXTORTIONIST 'SOCIETY' BILLS 2 ST. LOUISANS

'Law Breakers' Demand $20,000 'Dues' From Tom Kearny, Bookmaker—List 10 Victims.

ST. LOUIS, May 13 (AP).—An organization identifying itself as "The Law-breakers' Protective Association of Chicago" is the newest wrinkle in the kidnapping and extortion racket, rife in St. Louis in recent months. It billed two St. Louis men for $20,000 each in "dues" yesterday in letters indicating it has a $2,000,000 "budget."

The letters were received by Tom Kearny, veteran betting commissioner, and D. D. Murphy, showman. The communications stated that the organization is being extended to all the principal cities and that recipients must comply with demands or face "elimination."

Names of ten other men, all gamblers in the St. Louis district and most of them victims in recent kidnappings for ransom, were listed as being on the rolls of the organization. Ninety others were said to be prospective "members." The letters were signed "Red Terror."

Kearny made public his letter and said he would turn it over to post-office officials. He said he was not alarmed and had no idea of paying a cent.

Nine persons have been kidnapped and held for ransom in the St. Louis district since this form of racketeering first made its appearance here last December. Police say ransoms paid total $143,000. Two merchants were among the victims and the others were wealthy gamblers.

COLLEEN MOORE GETS DIVORCE FOR CRUELTY

LOS ANGELES, May 13 (AP).—Colleen Moore of the movies won a divorce in Superior Court today from John E. McCormick, film producer, whom she charged with cruelty. Mr. McCormick, whom the actress married in August, 1923, did not appear to contest the suit.

Miss Moore, whose legal name, Kathleen Morrison McCormick, was used in court, spent half an hour on the witness stand testifying to asserted mental cruelties and humiliation suffered from her husband. She charged he frequently insulted her guests, broke social engagements and was "in an ugly mood" during the whole of their European tour last year.

Miss Moore testified she and her husband separated last March. She said a property settlement had been made out of court. There are no children. The interlocutory decree will not become final until one year from today.

WIN SCULPTURE AWARDS.

New York Artists Take Open-Air Prizes in Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, May 13 (AP).—Awards were announced today in the biennial exhibition of sculpture in the open air held in Rittenhouse Square under the auspices of the Art Alliance, Curtis Institute of Music, Penn Athletic Club, Fairmount Park Art Association and other organizations.

The prize of $1,000 of the Fairmount Park Art Association for the best decorative group for garden, park or outdoor placement, went to Cronzio Maldarelli of New York for his piece called "Resignation."

The Art Alliance prize of $500 for a group or single figure suitable for the front of the Art Alliance Building was awarded to Carl Milles of New York for "Orpheus."

The Art Alliance prize for a piece of sculpture, irrespective of subject, was won by Arthur Lee of New York for his work called "Rhythm, to the Glory That Was Greece."

The gold medal of the Garden Club of America for the best decorative group or single figure suitable for a garden was given to Albert Henry Atkins of Boston for his "Spirit of the Sea."

Shoots Deer in Idaho Park; Sells Animals to Hunters

BOISE, Idaho, May 13 (AP).—State game conservation officials asserted today they had broken up "a racket of the great outdoors" with the arrest of J. A. Johnson, who pleaded guilty to a charge of shooting deer on a game preserve.

The authorities said Johnson and a companion stalked and shot tame animals and sold them to Nimrods who had returned from the hunt empty handed.

Johnson pleaded guilty at Idaho City and was brought here for sentencing. The maximum penalty is a fine of $1,000 and one year in jail.

LOSS PUT AT $5,000,000 BY WEINBERGER TRUST

The hearing opened yesterday in Newark before John H. Backes, vice chancellor, on the order to show cause why statutory receivers should not be appointed for the New Jersey Bankers Securities Company, and why a permanent injunction should not be issued restraining the company from exercising its corporate functions. The hearing will continue today.

The order was obtained by Meyer E. Ruback of Leber & Ruback, counsel for Solomon Bernstein, a stockholder, complainant in the receivership proceedings pending in Chancery Court in Newark since last July. Leber & Ruback are counsel also for the equity receivers appointed in July, John J. Stamler and Nicholas La Vecchia.

Should the new application be granted, it will mean final liquidation of the company founded by Harry H. Weinberger, Newark lawyer. Weinberger is under indictment in Passaic County as a result of deals connected with the company.

Mr. Ruback placed total losses by the company through its deals in bank stocks at close to $5,000,000. He charged "repeated mismanagement and corporate irregularity." He placed Mr. Stamler on the stand.

Isador Glauberman of Union City, counsel for a stockholders' committee and who said he represented the company, objected to the taking of testimony, but Mr. Backes overruled the objection.

Mr. Stamler testifed that as receiver he had found the banks, whose stock was owned by the defendant company, in poor shape. Stocks in the Hobart Trust Company of Passaic, N. J., the Lebanon National Bank of New York and the Perth Amboy (N. J.) National Bank have been sold by the receivers, and these banks are now in good shape, he said.

Mr. Stamler revealed that early last year the State Department of Banking had threatened to close the Hobart Trust Company unless $400,000 was put up for its safety, and that the New Jersey Bankers Securities Company, holding three-quarters of the stock, had promised to advance this sum. Mr. Stamler said that, though the company had the money, it failed to carry out its promise, resulting in the bank closing for a time in July, 1929.

Mr. Ruback sought to place in evidence an affidavit by Weinberger admitting that he was insolvent, but the court sustained an objection by Mr. Glauberman.

BROWN TO HEAR KELLOGG.

Ex-Secretary of State Will Speak at Commencement.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 13.—Frank B. Kellogg, Secretary of State under President Coolidge and former Ambassador to Great Britain, and Bliss Perry, Professor of English at Harvard University, will address the alumni of Brown University at exercises in connection with the 162d annual commencement, June 16.

Clifford S. Anderson of Worcester, Mass., will preside at the alumni meeting at which, in accord with custom, the Governor of Rhode Island, Norman S. Case, Brown, '08, and President Clarence A. Barbour of Brown will likewise speak.

Professor Edwin Grant Conklin of Princeton will give the address at the convocation of the graduate school, June 14.

The Rhode Island Alpha of Phi Beta Kappa, of which Chief Justice Hughes, Brown, '81, is president, will meet Saturday morning.

Pembroke College for Women will officially open commencement week with the Ivy Day exercises at Alumnae Hall, June 13.

YANCEY FLYING TO BRAZIL.

Starts This Morning on Six Weeks' Good-Will Trip to Rio de Janeiro.

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., May 13 (AP).—Captain Lewis A. Yancey announced tonight that he, Emil Burgin and Zeh Bouck would hop off tomorrow morning on a six weeks' commercial good-will flight to Rio de Janeiro.

They will fly tomorrow to Washington, where, Yancey said, President Hoover would give them an official send-off. Their first overnight stop wil be Jacksonville, Fla., whence they will proceed down through Panama and along the west coast of South America to Santiago, Chile, then swing over to Buenos Aires and up to Rio de Janeiro.

Burgin wil pilot the ship, Yancey will be navigator and Bouck radio operator. On their return from South America, Yancey and Burgin plan a flight to Moscow.

CONNOLLY HAS NO VISITORS

No Passes to See Him or Seely Sought Yet, Warden Says.

Although Maurice E. Connolly, former Queens Borough President, and his fellow convict and former chief engineer, Frederick B. Seely, serving year sentences on Welfare Island for their rôles in the Queens sewer-graft scandal, have been in jail for four days, they have had no visitors and there have been no requests for visitors' passes from members of their families, Warden Joseph A. McCann said yesterday. This, according to Warden McCann, is most unusual.

The convicted officials with sixty other prisoners will go before the selection board at 10 A. M. today to have their duties assigned. The board is composed of Warden McCann, and Wardens Robert Barr of the Tombs, Fred L. Morehead of Rikers Island, Michael C. Breen, Harts Island; James King, superintendent of industry, Harts Island, and Dr. Abraham Norman, general medical superintendent of the Department of Correction.

ORCHESTRA REPEATS TRIUMPH IN ROME

Audience of Music-Lovers Acclaims Toscanini and New York Philharmonic-Symphony.

PRESS HAILS SUPERB GROUP

"Best in World," Says Lavoro Fascista — Prince Boncompagni Ludovisi Entertains Players.

By ARNALDO CORTESI.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

ROME, May 13.—Before a house in the Augusteo Concert Hall as incredibly crowded as it was last night the New York Philharmonic-Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Arturo Toscanini, gave the second and last Roman concert. The audience tonight seemed even more responsive. This in part was due to the fact that a larger proportion of music-lovers were in attendance. Beethoven's Third Symphony, sections of Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream" and Respighi's transcription of Bach's "Passacaglia" were performed.

The orchestra will leave tomorrow for Florence, where a concert will be given in the evening at the Politeama Fiorentino Theatre. On Thursday morning they will entrain for Munich, where a concert will be given at Tonhalle.

The newspapers of Rome today were full of praises for the unequaled excellence of the New York Philharmonic-Symphony Orchestra and the inspired performance given last evening. Il Messaggero says:

"The New York Orchestra is truly an extraordinary whole in its homogeneous balance, rhythmical elasticity, impeccable precision and superb variety of color and phonic intensity. It follows every slightest intention of the conductor with scintillating luminosity and exquisite nicety of detail."

Popolo di Roma says:

Lavoro Fascista says:

"The Philharmonic-Symphony Orchestra is without doubt the best orchestra in existence in the whole world today."

Giornale Thanks Sponsors.

Giornale d'Italia writes:

"We owe a deep debt of gratitude to Clarence H. Mackay and Harry Harkness Flagler for having extended to Europe and especially to Italy the privilege of knowing and appreciating the famous Philharmonic-Symphony Orchestra."

La Tribuna asserts:

"We affirm that the Philharmonic orchestra produced on us an impression which nothing will ever be able to efface. Each of its departments is matched only by the others and the whole orchestra is an organism as powerful as it is balanced. Constantly galvanized by Toscanini's baton, it overcame without any effort even very grave difficulties."

L'Impero d'Italia says:

"The New York orchestra is of sublime perfection."

In the chorus of praise by the press of Italy the first dissenting expression was in Rome. Bruno Barillie, writing in Il Tervere, offered no opinion about the orchestra, but found grave faults with Toscanini's conducting.

"Toscanini," he wrote, "is the great Messiah of intonation, but so far as space and vision are concerned his outlook sometimes is small and circumscribed and music has no breathing space. There is no depth and no perspective."

He added that in yesterday's concert "Brahms was unrecognizable. There was no thought or shape, no rest or pause in which to contemplate what there is of the sublime in Brahms."

The result of all this, he said, was that Brahms bored the audience.

"Perhaps," he comments, "Toscanini, half-way through his tour, is tired, but it is not in his nature to be tired. The one that is getting tired is the public, but the public on the other hand is sustained by unbounded snobbishness and by the desire of balancing with its admiration the high price it paid for seats."

Reception in Campidoglio.

ROME, May 13 (AP).—Arturo Toscanini and all the musicians of the New York Philharmonic-Symphony Orchestra today were received by Prince Boncompagni Ludovisi, Governor of Rome, in historic Campidoglio, the oldest capitol of the world's oldest capital.

After an inspection tour through the various halls, filled with art treasures, the musicians had tea in the garden, where other guests were noted Italian musicians and Roman aristocrats.

FURTWAENGLER QUITS VIENNA ORCHESTRA

Conductor's Sudden and Unexplained Resignation a Sensation in Musical Circles.

VIENNA, May 13 (AP).—Dr. Wilhelm Furtwängler, conductor of the Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra, resigned that post today, creating a sensation in musical circles. His action was most unexpected and was unexplained.

Dr. Furtwängler was guest conductor with the New York Philharmonic Orchestra in 1925 and a regular conductor during the two succeeding years. His first appearances and his interpretations, especially of Brahms, won general praise. Later, critical dissent arose and this is said to have something to do with the report last March that he would not consider returning to this country to take the place made vacant by Willem Mengelberg. At that time he gave as his reason the great number of engagements which kept him abroad.

In addition to being resident conductor of the Berlin Philharmonic Orchestra, Dr. Furtwängler has been appearing in various festival engagements and with the Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra, which played in London on April 29 last. Bruno Walter, who has been his chief rival in Germany since the death of Arthur Nikisch in 1922, is now conducting the "Ring" cycle in London. These two conductors were also the chief figures in last Summer's festival in Berlin. The sudden resignation of Dr. Furtwängler in Vienna and the persistent rumors that Bruno Walter is to fill the place left vacant by Willem Mengelberg with the New York Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra may not be entirely unconnected occurences.

MUSIC WEEK JUDGES PRAISE YOUNG SINGERS

The second day of the public school choral contests, in which the New York Music Week Association cooperates with the Board of Education, presented intermediate elementary school choruses yesterday. At Julia Richman High School, a high standard of excellence was obtained and no chorus fell below the mark of 80 2-3 per cent. In the girls' class Public School 20, the Bronx, won a rating of 86 2-3 per cent and will be the only girls' school to compete for a rating of 90 per cent in the interborough contest next week. In the boys' class Public School 63, the Bronx, was rated 88 per cent and will have as competitors in the final contest Public School 206, Brooklyn, with 85 per cent, and Public School 11, Queens, 86 2-3 per cent.

The largest number of registrations in any choral class was in the mixed glee club section. At Julia Richman High School ten choruses from the Bronx and Manhattan sang, while the Erasmus Hall contest in Brooklyn presented five mixed choruses; in Queens at Public School 90, Richmond Hill, there were four. Manhattan's representative in the mixed choral class will be Public School 170, which received a rating of 88 per cent. The representative from the Bronx will be Public School 31, with a rating of 87 2-3 per cent. Brooklyn's representative will be Public School 101, with 86 2-3 per cent, while Queens will present the chorus of Public School 109, with a rating of 87 per cent.

Judges at Julia Richman, Erasmus Hall and Public School 90 said the standard of singing throughout the city was the highest attained by the intermediate school choruses thus far.

The judges at Julia Richman High School yesterday were Dr. J. Christopher Marks, Hugh Ross and Clara Kalischer. At Erasmus Hall were Herbert S. Sammond, Frank L. Sealy and Ralph Harris. Queensboro judges were Charles E. Fellowes, Oscar Franklin Comstock and Hildegard Hoffman Huss. A pleasant surprise at Julia Richman High School was the unexpected appearance of Dr. George H. Gartlan, director of music of the New York City public schools, who seldom appears at the contests.

Last night's session at Julia Richman High School was for high school girls' and boys' choruses, the judges being Dr. T. Tertius Noble, Hugh Ross and Hollis Dann. This afternoon senior elementary school choruses will be heard and in the evening high school mixed orchestras.

ZASLAWSKY THRILLS VIENNA WITH MODERNS

He Leads New York Beethoven and Viennese Orchestra in Highly Successful Program.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

VIENNA, May 13.—Before an audience which included representatives of the American Legation and the American colony in Vienna and filled the Grosser Musik Verein Saal to the doors, Georges Zaslawsky conducted the Beethoven Symphony Orchestra of New York and gave a highly successful concert with the Vienna Symphony Orchestra tonight.

Zaslawsky had planned a program of selections from modern American composers, but the loss of a trunk full of musical scores on the way made this impossible. The consequent eleventh-hour change of programs obviously robbed the conductor of some of his natural fire in the first part of the performance, which comprised Beethoven's Third Overture to Leonore and the Fifth Symphony, but he gradually found himself.

Dukas's amusing "Sorcerer's Apprentice" was delightfully rendered, and by the time Zaslawsky had melted his second collar over Igor Stravinsky's "Firebird" he was bending both the orchestra and the audience to his will. His Beethoven is correct but his modernism is inspired, and he was obliged to respond to about eight encores at the close of the evening.

The verdict of the music critics was that such conducting could make Stravinsky popular even in conservative Vienna.

WARNERS EXPAND FURTHER.

Acquire National Radio Advertising, Inc., Makers of Disks.

Warner Brothers announced yesterday the acquisition of National Radio Advertising, Inc., 12 East Forty-first Street, an organization devoted to the preparation, sale and broadcasting of electrically recorded radio programs.

This step, according to Herman Starr, vice president of Warner Brothers, brings the talent, music, recording and reproduction of radio programs that are broadcast from disks under a central oganization. Raymond Soat, head of National Radio Advertising, Inc., will remain in the same position under Warner ownership.

Last Twilight Concert Tomorrow.

The last of the twilight concert series by the Columbia University Band of sixty pieces will take place tomorrow from 6:45 to 7:30 on the steps of the university library. The conductors will be Edwin Franko Goldman and Harwood Simmons of the Columbia Department of Music. The concerts are to be continued in the Fall and Spring. Tomorrow's program follows:

Stand Columbia (University Song)	Haydn
Grand March from "Queen of Sheba"	Gounod
Overture to "Martha"	Flotow
Young America	Goldman
Waltz in A flat	Brahms
Selections from Gilbert and Sullivan
Semper Fidelis	Sousa
Inauguration March from "Boabdil."	Moszkowski

Portugal Commemorates Pombal.

LISBON, May 13 (AP).—Portugal celebrated today the 231st anniversary of the birth of Marquis Pombal, her greatest statesman, who rebuilt Lisbon after the earthquake of 1755. President Carmona and other high dignitaries assembled upon the rotunda, covering with flowers the plinth of the unfinished Pombal statue.

MUSIC NOTES.

E. Power Biggs, young English organist, will make his New York début this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Wanamaker Auditorium.

ROOSEVELT APPEALS FOR PORTO RICO FUND

Colonel Tells House Committee Island Faces Economic Chaos Without $3,000,000.

SEES BLOW TO CHILDREN

Citing Losses in Cyclone, He Points to Excessively High Disease Rates Among People.

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP).—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, Governor of Porto Rico, today told the House Appropriations Committee that failure to grant to the island a requested appropriation of $3,000,000 would cause economic chaos there and "during the coming year forfeit the lives of numerous children."

Following the closed session, the Governor indicated that he was hopeful of favorable action by the committee.

Colonel Roosevelt said he explained that 60 per cent of Porto Rican children are badly undernourished as a result of the economic depression which has gripped the island since the last disastrous cyclone.

The tuberculosis rate, he said, was four and a half times greater than that of the United States, and greater than in any country of the Western Hemisphere. He added that the Porto Rican malaria rate is fifty times greater than that in the United States, and that out of the total insular population of 1,500,000, there were 60,000 cases of hook worm.

Wants Island Self-Supporting.

"What we are trying to do," said the Governor, "is to readjust affairs of the island so that in the future Porto Rico will be self-supporting, and its citizens have the opportunity to earn livings for themselves and their families.

"We are straining every nerve and subjecting ourselves to every economy to remedy the desperate conditions precipitated by the cyclone. But we cannot win without Federal aid."

Governor Roosevelt explained that the unanimous passage of the cyclone relief legislation by Congress had been taken by Porto Ricans as a guarantee that the additional appropriation of $3,000,000 would be forthcoming.

The additional appropriation was thrown out of the deficiency bill in the House, however, on the grounds that the cyclone relief measure was not supposed to provide for a relief of the labor situation in the island.

The Governor said this action was undoubtedly due to lack of complete information on Porto Rican affairs, which he had come here to supply at the present hearings. The unemployment situation, which accounts for 60 per cent of partial or complete idleness in the working population at the present date, could be traced directly, the Governor said, to the extreme crop and industrial losses suffered in the cyclone.

Program Awaits the Money.

Granted the appropriation, Colonel Roosevelt said, Porto Rico would immediately embark upon a program calling for construction of rural schools, establishment of farm bureaus, diffusion of industrial education and health work.

"But the basis of all these activities lies in the maintenance of good roads," he declared. "Without roads we cannot do anything."

Should the island fail to get the appropriation, Colonel Roosevelt said, he would be forced to call a special session of the Legislature to remodel the budget, which has been drawn up on the basis of the expected $3,000,000.

This would entail extensive paring of items set aside for schools, farm bureaus and health work and to provide for maintenance of the roads. Of the latter there are 775 kilometers of highways maintained by the insular government, and many more laid down by towns and municipalities.

The United States' relationships with the republics in the Southern Hemisphere were cited to show the value to this country of Porto Rico as a "diplomatic" interpreter.

Sees Aid in Latin America.

"The most important relationships the United States has outside its borders," he declared, "are with its sister republics to the south.

"For their good and our own there must exist a mutual understanding of aims and ambitions, and a mutual sympathy. This understanding must not be merely that of the dollar, but, far more important, it must be of the spirit.

"To my way of thinking, Porto Rico plays a most important rôle in the development of this great relationship. Porto Ricans are of Spanish blood, culture and tradition. But they are citizens and loyal citizens of the United States. Hence they are in a splendid position to interpret not only the ideals of the southern republics to us, but also to interpret the often misunderstood ideals of the United States for our neighbors.

"The nations and cultures that produced Washington, Bolivar and San Martin are fundamentally akin. Porto Rico can and will make this preachment."

Colonel Roosevelt arranged today to broadcast over a national radio network on Thursday night a discussion of Porto Rico and Porto Rican affairs. He said he expected to remain here about two weeks and would welcome similar opportunities to speak about the land he now considers his home.

While in Washington, he is staying with his sister, Mrs. Alice Longworth, wife of the Speaker of the House.

Associated with him on the excursion to Washington to testify in behalf of the island are C. H. Terry, president of the Insular Election Board, and secretary to the Governor; Señor Carlos Chardon, Commissioner of Agriculture and Labor; Dr. José Padín, Commissioner of Education, and Dr. Antonio Fernos, Assistant Commissioner of Health.

The Governor also is being aided here by Felix Cordova Davila, resident commissioner, and officials of the Bureau of Insular Affairs.

THALIAN MASQUERS ACT 'KITH AND KIN'

Bronx Y. M. H. A. Group Give Wallace A. Manheimer's Grim Play in Tourney.

MISERY IN ADIRONDACKS

Fight in Cabin and Rustic Gayety in Drama of Families Divided in Postoffice Feud.

KITH AND KIN, a play in three acts, by Wallace A. Manheimer. Staged by Philip Gross; dances arranged by Esther Marofschick; scenery constructed and painted by the Masquers under the supervision of Abraham Schneiderman; presented by the Thalian Masquers of the Bronx Y. M. H. A. as the second bill in the first annual National Long Play Tournament. At the Waldorf Theatre.

Ma Codner	Dorothy Fowler Gillam
Gene Codner	Samuel Roland

Ina Codner	Rae D. Negrin
Orrin Codner	John H. Brown
Wilbur Winslow	Charles D. Yuro
Parson Biggs	Emanuel Wieder

Followers of the first annual long play tournament saw last night the second offering in the series being presented at the Waldorf Theatre this week. Since, as David Garrick said, comedy is a serious business, the company of young people representing the Bronx Y. M. H. A. and calling themselves the Thalian Masquers, chose for their entry a piece much more serious than funny. It was entitled "Kith and Kin," the author was Wallace Manheimer, and the action was far removed from the familiar teeming urban scene of the borough across the Harlem. Instead, it took place in a hick setting back in the Adirondacks. Misery mixed with acrimony, hard words and some blows occupied a cabin for two acts. Rustic gaiety, dancing and horseplay spiced with more acrimony, more hard words and a few more blows found lodging in a barn for the intermediate act.

The story was about a girl of an inbred pioneer family with an idiot brother, a father with a spurting temper, a mother who spoke with authority and a sturdy lover who was somehow, it seemed, a subject to hysterics. A feud about a postoffice divided the families of the girl and the lover. A parson played Providence in and out. A jug of cider figured as domestic fundamentum divisionis.

The atmosphere was grim when it was not tempestuous, and the sordid aspect of a crowded tenement—even when it is a mountain cabin—was not omitted. The acting was better than the play. All the players put their serious best into the job, and the idiot brother gave quite a convincing performance. So did the father—in spite of having to blow up too often. So did the mother at times, and the girl.

The theme of the piece, the scope of the drama aimed at, the atmosphere it demanded, put a strain upon the young actors from the Bronx which was—not surprisingly—a little too great. Presumably, therefore, they were not seen quite at their top form. However, a general effect much worse has frequently been achieved by professional actors furnished with a script by a recognized professional playwright. The settings were the work of the Masquers themselves.

TO CELEBRATE JEWISH FETE

The ancient Hebrew festival of Lag B'Omer, commemorating among other things, the short-lived deliverance of the Jewish people from Roman bondage, occurs on Friday. It is a day dedicated to the freedom of spirit as symbolized by Spring and, according to tradition, should be celebrated principally by children.

Under the auspices of the New York Branch of the United Synagogue of America, the holiday will be observed by 20,000 children. Magistrate Hyman J. Reit, chairman for the celebration and president of the New York Branch of the United Synagogue of America, declared yesterday that sixty synagogues representing Westchester, the Bronx, Manhattan, Brooklyn, Long Island, Richmond and Newark will participate. The assembly comprising the largest group of Jewish children ever recorded, will fill the Lewisohn Stadium of the College of the City of New York at 2:30 P. M., Friday.

HIS CONTRACT IN DISPUTE.

Both Ziegfeld and Forkins Claim Services of Bill Robinson.

Florenz Ziegfeld's announcement that he had engaged Bill Robinson for the forthcoming "Follies" was denied yesterday by William Grady, who said he represented Mr. Robinson. Mr. Grady added that Mr. Robinson has signed a contract to appear under the management of Marty Forkins, a vaudeville agent, in a negro musical comedy scheduled for next season. This arrangement was confirmed by Mr. Forkins who declared that he is planning to put the show in rehearsal in July, with Adelaide Hall also in the cast.

Trio Classique on Radio Tonight.

The Trio Classique will broadcast a program of chamber music over station WNYC this evening at 8:30 o'clock from Hunter College. The trio, which consists of Maurice Kaufman, violinist; William Durieux, 'cellist, and Marian Carla, pianist, will play the trio in G major by Mozart and the trio dedicated to Tchaikovsky. Dr. Henry T. Fleck will speak on Tchaikovsky.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

The Civic Repertory Theatre will end its season next week, instead of the following week, as originally announced.

Philip Moeller and Helen Westley of the Theatre Guild board of managers will sail for Italy on the Vulcania today. They will return in August.

Additions to the cast of "Mystery Moon," a musical show now in rehearsal, include Francis Shelley, Franker Woods, Kitty Kelly and Maude Brooks.

The monthly meeting of the Catholic Actors' Guild will take place on Friday at the Hotel Astor.

THE PLAY

By J. BROOKS ATKINSON.

The Major's Wife.

GOLD BRAID, a play in three acts, by Ann Shelby. Staged by Gene Gowing; settings by David S. Gaither; produced by Louis A. Safian. At the Theatre Masque.

Abdul	Bruce Adams
Sabena	Loretto Shea
Private Thompson	Thomas B. Carnahan Jr.
Linda Rodney	Adele Ronson
Major Rodney	Edward Reese
Mrs. Billings	Marion Abbott
Colonel Billings	Jethro Warner
Julio Cortez	Alan Devitt
Quong	Charlie Fang
A Moro	John J. Cameron

Between the major's wife and the dazzling Don Juan of Camp Malabang in the Philippine Islands, love was real. Just before the curtain descended on "Gold Braid" at the Masque last evening, and the bugle sounded taps in the dreamy distance, the major's wife swore that Señor Julio Cortez would find her waiting. She would be faithful to his passion. In the dank jungle the tom-toms were beating their weird, atavistic warning, and native voices rose and fell to a heathen tune that whimsically resembled the ballad of the Sultan's wives. Once the natives crept into the major's patio to "keel" him. When he drew his revolver and hissed a curse through closed teeth, a native he had not seen brandished a knife behind him. With a convulsive twitch of her trigger finger the major's wive saved his life. Not because she loved him, however. She loved Señor Julio Cortez. She would be waiting for him.

Her husband was a dastard. He gave her no pin money. He cursed women with a cosmic entirety. He complained and grumbled and laughed heartlessly at her womanly fancies, and even commanded her to spy on Señor Julio Cortez and pluck out of him the secret of his conspiracy against the government. Nothing mattered to him but promotion in the United States service. At first she was only amused by Señor Julio Cortez. He had found her the coolest proposition in the Philippines. But when he saved her from the importunities of Abdul, the treacherous, she fell into his arms. Then she knew that she loved him. Renouncing the United States forces, where she was only the hollow echo of a uniform, she swore that she would be true to the Spaniard who in the last analysis was the only gentleman she knew.

In general it was Maytime playmaking at the Masque with the Moro uprising, the stifling heat, Quong, the capricious Oriental servant, and Sabena, her maid, who was a neat little trick with a coquettishly wrinkling nose, a past and no doubt a future. Now and then the Colonel's wife looked in to see how things were going. They were going badly. The head of the Philippines Commission was involved. Some of the addresses in the revolution papers pointed straight to Washington. But, then, things are going badly in Washington, too. No one expects the drama to be better than the government.

EQUITY DUE TO DISCUSS UNIONIZING HOLLYWOOD

Gillmore Reticent but Admits "Something May Be Said" on the Issue at May 26 Meeting.

Another attempt by the Actors' Equity Association to extend its organization to the motion picture industry in Hollywood probably will be discussed at the annual meeting of the association at the Hotel Astor on May 26, it was reported yesterday.

Although Frank Gillmore, president of Equity, stated last night that any definite announcement of further plans would be premature at the present time, he admitted that "something about Hollywood may be said at our next meeting."

It was recalled in theatrical circles yesterday that Mr. Gillmore, when ordering Equity's retreat from California last August, said that the association had not abandoned its attempts to establish itself in the film industry, but had merely declared an armistice.

In February an agreement was reported in Hollywood between the producers and the motion-picture actors whereby revisions in the contracts of the latter would include several of the concessions sought by Equity in its campaign last Summer. In commenting on this agreement, Mr. Gillmore said at the time that it justified the Equity strike, but that he did not believe "the adoption of a company union plan is likely to bring happiness and content to the artists who accept it."

CONNELLY PLAY CRITICIZED.

London Paper Asks if "The Green Pastures" Should Be Staged There.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 13.—Although the majority of British literary and dramatic critics expressed high praise for Marc Connelly's "The Green Pastures," the Pulitzer Prize play, on its publication here, there has been some newspaper criticism against producing it in London.

In a recent editorial, The Daily News took exception to the play on the grounds that it depicted the Deity on the stage. The article asked:

"Is it worth offending those who will dislike the play for the benefit of those who, for the most part, will not comprehend it?" The paper followed this with solicited opinions from prominent English clergymen and others as to whether they thought the play ought to be staged here or not.

"The Green Pastures" has not yet been submitted to the Lord Chamberlain, the British censor. Two London producers are both eager to sponsor its production here. No contracts have been signed yet, but it is considered likely C. B. Cochran and Maurice Browne will present the play jointly.

The production is not an immediate issue, however, for Mr. Connelly, when here recently, said he would have to wait until after the New York run and would have no other cast except that now on Broadway.

GINA MALO CHOSEN.

Gina Malo, a Parisian actress who recently appeared there in the prima donna rôle of "The New Moon," will succeed Lily Damita in the cast of "Sons o' Guns" during the Summer. Mlle. Malo will be aboard the Bremen, which sails from the other side today.

STOP CONSTIPATION AT THE START

You May Pay If You Don't

When you realize that about 90% of all sickness begins with constipation, you won't want to take chances. If you have the symptoms—bad breath, coated tongue, always tired—put a stop to them now!

But do it the natural way. Not with pills and drugs, which give but temporary relief and must be taken in increasing doses. Eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN—an appetizing deliciously flavored cereal.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN sweeps the system clean of wastes and impurities. Its action is natural; the roughage carries with it the poisons which clog your system.

In addition, ALL-BRAN is rich in iron. Scientific research shows that nearly all this iron goes into the blood, making it give the rich glow of healthy color.

You'll like ALL-BRAN. Ready-to-eat with milk or cream—fruits or honey added. Physicians recommend it. And we guarantee it to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation. Two tablespoonfuls daily—with every meal, in recurring cases.

Start now! Today. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is sold by all grocers in the red-and-green package. Served in hotels, restaurants and dining-cars. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

EQUALIZATION AIM IN NEWSPRINT RATES

Canadian Railroad Official Says Lines Seek to Even Conditions Among Mills.

HEARINGS ARE RESUMED

Board at Ottawa Again Takes Up Inquiry Into Higher Tariffs to United States.

OTTAWA, May 13 (Canadian Press).—In drawing up the new schedule of freight rates on newsprint paper, an attempt was made to equalize as far as possible competitive conditions between Canadian mills. This was brought out today before the Board of Railway Commissioners when hearing of the newsprint freight rates case was resumed.

J. L. Knowles of the Canadian National Railways explained the basis on which the new rates were computed.

The case arises out of general increases in freight rates on paper shipped from Canadian mills to points in the United States, announced by the railway companies some months ago. Operation of the rates was suspended by order of the board before they came into effect, and the present hearing is to determine whether the suspension is to be permanent or whether the railways are entitled to the higher rates.

Grand Mere Group Is Basis.

The contention of the railways is opposed by most of the paper companies in Canada and by newspaper interests in the United States.

On paper shipped to New England and trunk-line points, Mr. Knowles explained, the rates were arrived at by taking the mills between Ottawa and Quebec, "the Grand Mere group," as a basis.

Outside of this territory there were the mills in Eastern Quebec and New Brunswick. As a general rule traffic from this area had to move through the Grand Mere territory in order to reach its destination. Consequently rates were higher.

An exception was made for shipments from Bathurst, N. B., to Boston which were made direct.

Reason for Grouping Explained.

To the west of the basic group there were mills at Kapuscasing, Espanola, Iroquois Falls and Sturgeon Falls, Ont., which were placed in another group with rates slightly higher to New England territory than from the Grand Mere group.

The reason for this division of mills into groups, it was explained, was to enable rates to be computed on an equable basis between mills instead of on a straight mileage basis. It gave the various Canadian mills a chance to reach consuming points in the United States on a fairer competitive basis than would be possible if each was charged on the basis of its distance from the destination of the freight.

RETURNS FROM ITALY AFTER CONSCRIPTION

Bronx Resident Tells of Seizure While on Christmas Visit to Native Land.

Antonio Pizzuco, 23 years old, naturalized American citizen who was conscripted into the Italian Army while on a Christmas visit, was back at his home at 768 Courtlandt Avenue, the Bronx, yesterday, directing his wholesale flavored ices business. He served almost three months in the Italian infantry before he was released through the intervention of Senator Royal S. Copeland and Dr. Charles Fama of 236 Bedford Park Boulevard.

Pizzuco sailed for Italy with his wife, Josephine, and their child, Benjamin, 10 months old, Dec. 24. Pizzuco said he had been assured at the Italian Consulate in New York that he might remain in his native land for six months before the authorities would conscript him. This assurance, he declared, was repeated at Naples.

At Cattolica Eraclea, in the Sicilian province of Agrigento, where Pizzuco was born, he was summoned before the military authorities within a month, and was sent to Genoa. He said eleven other visitors were in his unit. Pizzuco said his service was from Jan. 28 to April 11.

While her husband was under arms Mrs. Pizzuco brought action in a civil court, which ruled that her husband had been impressed illegally. For some reason, however, Pizzuco was held more than a month. He wrote to his father, Liborio, and father-in-law, Charles Marra, who interested Senator Copeland through Dr. Fama. Finally, Pizzuco said, he was called one night at 11 o'clock and ordered to leave the barracks by midnight.

In announcing Pizzuco's release last month, Ambassador de Martino told the State Department that a local official had erred in ordering the conscription, and said his government intended to abide by the assurances it had given that Americans of Italian birth might visit Italy without fear of being called for service.

SEASICK TOGETHER, WED.

Romance of Pair on the Caracas Recounted by the Captain.

Captain Harry F. Hitchborn is the rugged master of the Red D. steamer Caracas but he is not blinded to romance. Yesterday on the return of the Caracas Captain Hitchborn told how severe seasickness brought two strangers together at the rail of the ship.

When the ship put out from Brooklyn for South America on April 16, the captain said, two passengers immediately became very seasick. One was Miss Helen R. Collins, 26 years old, of Philadelphia, and the other was Charles P. Stanfield, 28, of Los Angeles. Miss Collins had a round trip ticket and Mr. Stanfield was bound for Maracaibo to take a job with the Gulf Oil Company.

For a day or so the two passengers had very little interest in life, the captain said. Stewards moved their deck chairs nearer the rail, away from the passengers unaffected by the swells. By April 20 they were somewhat recovered but did not move their deck chairs back to the main group. On April 24 they asked the captain to marry them.

FATHER AND DAUGHTER ON TRIAL FOR MURDER

Two Witnesses Dispute Jersey City Girl's Story She Alone Killed Her Uncle.

Lillian Russo, 22, and her father, Vincenzo, a Hoboken grocer, went on trial for murder yesterday in the Court of Oyer and Terminer in Jersey City before Judge Thomas H. Brown and a jury of nine men and three women.

The girl and her father are charged with shooting and stabbing to death John Russo, the father's brother, on July 25. At the time of the slaying the girl told the police that she alone had killed her uncle because he had dishonored her.

Prosecutor John Drewen called several witnesses who brought Russo into the case. One of them, Mrs. Bettina de Palma, a relation of Vincenzo Russo, who at the time of the slaying lived in an apartment above the one occupied by the Russo family at 411 Grand Street, testified that immediately before the crime she was at a window in her apartment and saw the accused man in the yard "testing an axe." After a short time she saw him disappear in the direction of the cellar. A few minutes later she learned of the killing.

Detective Sergeant Beatty of Hoboken testified that in a search of the Russo household he discovered a blood-stained shirt, identified as having been worn the same day by the prisoner.

Hearing for 13 Notaries Postponed.

A hearing on charges against thirteen notaries public accused by the Bronx Bar Association of posing as attorneys was postponed yesterday until Tuesday by Magistrate McKiniry in West Farms Court, in the absence of Charles Olsen, the investigator appearing as complainant. Assistant District Attorney Boneparth requested the adjournment, saying that Olsen was reported to be ill.

BOY SCOUTS PLAN AN AVIATION UNIT

Council Approves Formation of Division for Older Boys at Its Convention.

HOOVER IS AGAIN HONORED

Participation in Oregon Trail Fete Is Endorsed—Better Fire-Fighting Equipment Is Urged.

A resolution was adopted yesterday by the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America to form a division for air scouting for older boys on the general principles of the Sea Scouts. The two-day convention, held at the Pennsylvania, closed with the nomination for re-election of the entire council and of all members of the board whose terms expired.

President Hoover was re-elected honorary president and a resolution of thanks for his work for Scouts was adopted. Walter W. Head, who had planned to resign this year as president, accepted renomination, he said, because of pressing work in connection with the Scout fund.

The council also decided to endorse the Oregon Trail Memorial Association's plans for the celebration at Independence Rock, near Casper, Wyo., from July 3 to 6, in accordance with President Hoover's proclamation of the Old Oregon Trail Centennial this year.

Arrangements for the Scouts' part in the celebration were announced by Lorne W. Barclay, director of the Oregon Trail Association. The camp will accommodate 1,200, he said, on a patrol basis. He urged regional leaders to organize patrols for the pilgrimage to honor "those old pioneers to whom we owe so much." There will be Indians and cowboys, he said, and the presence of a New York caravan depends on whether the spirit that sent many a New York boy West 100 years ago is still here.

Major W. H. Welch, councilor for New York and New Jersey, appealed for better fire-fighting equipment for Scouts. He said fire extinguishers were "no more use than a cup of water" in fighting forest fires, and that knapsack pumps were needed. Another resolution, referred to the badge committee advocated the advisability of continuing taxidermy badges on account of the killing of animals involved.

The proposal by Mortimer L. Schiff that scoutmasters pay $1 a year instead of the 50-cent fee paid by all Scouts was discussed. The payment of the additional 50 cents, termed "the adult registration plan," which is for subscriptions to the official publication, "Scouting," was passed.

16 CITED IN POULTRY WAR.

Accused of Violating Paroles—Court Reserves Decision.

Federal Judge John C. Knox reserved decision yesterday in the case of sixteen members of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Stablemen and Helpers of America, who were haled before him as violators of parole on the charge of Aaron Steinberg, poultry dealer, of 316 Jackson Avenue, the Bronx, who said the defendants had prevented him from buying poultry in West Washington Market.

Steinberg, testifying for the government, charged that commission merchants had refused to sell poultry to him because they feared reprisals from the union. The sixteen defendants were among sixty-eight defendants convicted recently of maintaining a poultry trust in restraint of trade.

Roscoe C. Wood, a shipping agent, of 448 West Fourteenth Street, told Judge Knox that he had failed to deliver a shipment to Steinberg because Louis Spatz, convicted defendant, had warned him not to do business with enemies of the dealers.

WON'T SUE THE CITY OVER WATER PLAN

Titus Firm's Attorney Says No Steps Will Be Taken Now to Collect Damages.

BERRY DENIES COPYING

$13,000,000 Project for Brooklyn, Queens and Nassau Will Take Four Years to Complete.

Threats of a legal action against the city made early this year by the Titus Water Company on its complaint that its confidence had been violated when the city rejected its plan for the $13,000,000 Brooklyn-Queens-Nassau water system in all probability will not be carried out, it was learned yesterday.

Louis Hahlo, attorney for the water company, said that no legal steps would be taken at this time. "We will have plenty of time during the Summer months to consider our method of procedure," he said, "but personally I do not think anything will be done."

The Titus Company accused the city of using its water plan after it had been submitted in 1926. The Titus plan and all others submitted were rejected by the Board of Estimate when the city devised its own plan. The Titus Company contended that it should be reimbursed for its time and efforts expended in geological survey.

The city recently awarded the contract for the first part of the work to the Layne New York Company, Inc., at an estimated cost of $400,000. It calls for the construction of a subsurface water system of artesian wells in Flushing, Douglaston and Forest Hills.

These three wells will be the initial step in the $13,000,000 program, which will include a part of Brooklyn, Queens and Nassau.

Commenting on the charges, Controller Berry said he had studied both the city and Titus plans and believed that the latter plan had not been copied. He said the city plan would cost almost $1,000,000 less than the other.

The water system will take four years to complete, it was announced. It is expected that a large part of the 240,000,000 gallons fed to Queens daily will be diverted to Brooklyn when the Queens wells are ready. The daily output of the first three wells has been estimated at 12,000,000 gallons.

SIX HAFT BROTHERS SUED FOR STOCK LIEN

Clothing Manufacturers Defend $313,189 Action by Brokers Following Slump Last Fall.

Special to The New York Times.

RIVERHEAD, L. I., May 13.—Trial of a suit for a lien of $313,189.13 against brokerage collateral posted by six brothers, all members of the firm of Morris W. Haft & Bros., clothing manufacturers, of 1,385 Broadway, Manhattan, was resumed here today before Supreme Court Justice Dunne without a jury. The suit, which was brought by the brokerage firm of J. B. Schmeltzer & Co. of 26 Broadway, Manhattan, was started in Staten Island when Justice Dunne was sitting there.

The brokers charge that Jules Haft, one of the brothers, had an account with them under the name of Fandalan Haft, which he used in trading for himself and five brothers. At the time of the stock crash last October, they say, Jules Haft held $808,043.79 worth of securities and when he was asked to post collateral covering the margins the brothers sent the following stocks:

Morris W., 1,760 common shares of the Bank of United States; Jules, 1,500 common shares of the Irving Trust Company; Abraham H., 100 shares of A. T. and T. common and 200 shares of Consolidated Gas common; Joseph, 164 shares of the Manufacturers Trust Company common; Samuel, 100 shares of Chase National common, and Harry G., 100 shares of A. T. and T. common. The total present market value of these shares was said to be approximately $315,000.

The $313,189 for which a lien is asked, the brokers say, represents uncovered losses to the Fandalan Haft account during the market crash last Fall. The brothers testified today, however, that in sending collateral to the brokers' office they were acting individually on their own accounts and that the purpose of such collateral was to cover marginal expenditures the brokers might make in "picking up bargains" for them.

Morris W. Haft testified also that in March, 1929, he cautioned William Morris, manager of the brokerage office, not to let Jules do any more trading. Jules asserts that ten days before the market crash he notified the brokers to sell all his holdings and declares his account should show a large profit rather than a deficit.

GETS $14,524 STOCK VERDICT

Lawyer Wins Suit Over Margin When Brokers Sold Him Out Late.

After only twenty minutes of deliberation, a jury before Supreme Court Justice Carew in the Bronx returned a verdict for $14,524 yesterday in favor of Gustave G. Rosenberg, a lawyer, of 1,540 Broadway, against Ira Haupt & Co., brokers. Mr. Rosenberg had sued to replevin 100 shares of Woolworth stock and 50 shares of Keith-Albee preferred, which he had deposited with the brokers to cover his marginal trading account and which he said were lost to him because the brokers failed by 24 hours to carry out his orders to sell him out of the market.

Mr. Rosenberg declared he gave orders for the brokers to sell him out at the opening of the market last Nov. 18, during the period of market disturbance. Instead of obeying the order, he said, they waited until the following day and he was wiped out.

The brokerage concern had filed a counterclaim for $11,347, said to be the deficit in Mr. Rosenberg's account at the time he was closed out.

Seize Car of Beer at Junction.

A carload of beer, bound from the Erie Yards, Jersey City, to upper New York, was seized yesterday at Harriman Junction by agents of J. H. McGill, Deputy Surveyor of Customs, who had detailed Agent E. Pollack and four customs men to investigate, after receiving a "tip" by telephone.

SILENT ON 'CASH' CHECKS IN LODI SEWER INQUIRY

Secretary of Construction Firm Unable to Tell What Became of $45,000 Drawn From Bank.

Special to The New York Times.

HACKENSACK, N. J., May 13.—Joseph F. Grisafe, secretary of the Sette Excavation and Construction Company, one of the companies involved in the Lodi Township sewer scandal, withstood today the questioning of Harold A. Price, special examiner, and Andrew J. Steenland, counsel for taxpayers, in the investigation ordered by Supreme Court Justice C. W. Parker, and could not tell what became of four checks totaling $45,000 which the company endorsed, payable to cash on the same day the company received payments from the township.

The questioners had tried without result to get Luigi Sette to tell what he did with the money. Grisafe was equally obdurate. Every one in the court room seemed to know the purpose of the questioning, but the witnesses remained firm.

The secret account in the bank was kept from John H. Shaw, the bookkeeper, and Sette said the company did not want Shaw to know how much it had in the bank.

BAILS MRS. HAMMERSTEIN.

Admirer of Late Husband Aids Her After She Spends Night in Jail.

After spending a night in a detention prison because she could find no one who would furnish bail, Mrs. Emma Swift Hammerstein, widow of Oscar Hammerstein, was arraigned in Jefferson Market Women's Court yesterday morning on a charge of immoral conduct. She was released in $500 bail pending a hearing next Tuesday.

The bail was furnished by Saul Birns, a radio dealer of 65 Second Avenue, who rushed to the court yesterday morning when he read in newspapers that she had been arrested. He said he did not know Mrs. Hammerstein, but that he had been a friend and admirer of Mr. Hammerstein. Mrs. Hammerstein was arrested Monday afternoon in her room at the Hotel Winthrop, Lexington Avenue and Forty-seventh Street, by three detectives who brought specific charges against her.

After her release Mrs. Hammerstein said that the charge against her was "absurd." "The same enemies who have robbed me of all I owned, and who would have me dead if they could, must be back of this," she declared.

At present, she declared, she is writing a biography of her late husband and also working for a feature syndicate. She gave her age as 47.

NEW FIRE IMPERILS TOWN.

Camden County Fighters Again Struggle to Save Hayville.

Special to The New York Times.

HAMMONTON, N. J., May 13.—After a respite of twenty-four hours, forest fire fighters of Camden County are again battling brush fires. Today marks the twenty-fourth successive day without rain.

The new fire started this afternoon shortly after 1 o'clock along the west bank of the Egg Harbor River, about two miles southeast of Cecil, the starting point of the big fire which raged for ten days over a line more than thirty miles in length. The fire is now within a mile of the thrice endangered village of Hayville and about seven miles west of this place. Great clouds of smoke obscuring the sun made the late afternoon almost as dark as evening. About 1,000 acres had already been burned over late tonight and a brisk west wind was fanning the flames.

Fire tanks from Atco, Lowden, Cedarbrook and other points have been rushed to the scene.

AID IN MRS. STRAUS'S NAME.

Contributors to Hadassah Fund for Palestine Honor Her Memory.

Several contributions for the medical and health work in Palestine of Hadassah, the women's Zionist organization, have been received in memory of Mrs. Nathan Straus, who died May 4, it was announced by the organization. Mrs. Henry J. Bernheim, niece of Mrs. Straus, contributed $250 in her aunt's memory, and another contributor was a neighbor of the Straus family in Larchmont.

Mrs. Straus was deeply interested in Hadassah and contributed much to its undertakings. The organization will plant a number of trees in the Hadassah grove near Jerusalem in memory of Mrs. Straus, it was announced.

SLATED FOR LABOR BUREAU.

E. C. Rybicki Candidate for Appointment as Director by Mayor.

Edward C. Rybicki is a candidate for appointment by Mayor Walker as director of the recently created Municipal Employment Bureau, with strong backing by organized labor, it was learned yesterday. Mr. Rybicki has been a member of Typographical Union 6 for twenty-six years and a delegate to the Central Trades and Labor Council for fifteen years. He was formerly chairman of the health committee of the council.

Mr. Rybicki is a member of the Tammany organization of the Eighth Assembly District. He has aided in the organization of Polish Democratic clubs throughout the State and is president of the State and City Councils of Polish Democratic Clubs.

COOLIDGE SILENT ON TEXT.

Refuses to Comment on Borglum's Alterations in 500-Word History.

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., May 13 (AP).—What Calvin Coolidge thinks of Gutzon Borglum's alteration of the text of his 500-word history of the United States, which the sculptor is to inscribe on a South Dakota mountain, remained unrevealed today.

The former President was asked, through his secretary, if he thought the changes were in the nature of an improvement, but the latter declared that Mr. Coolidge had nothing to say.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Stocks Generally Firmer, With Further Reduction of Activity—Money and Sterling Unchanged

For the second time since the financial inertia of January and February, Stock Exchange transactions in a five-hour day fell yesterday below the 3,000,000-share mark. The 2,697,000 shares which changed hands still compared respectably with the days of 1,400,000 to 1,800,000 that recurred in January; but a visitor from Mars would have found it difficult to understand yesterday's feeble performance, barely a week after the 8,200,000-share transactions of May 5. But that is the way of Wall Street. Less than a fortnight after even the 16,400,000-share business of Oct. 29 last year, daily transactions had sunk to 2,700,000.

The relapse is entirely in line with precedent; it is perfectly understood to mean the elimination of business which, in an economic sense at any rate, is fictitious and unreal. Possibly yesterday's reduced transactions were somewhere near the level of normal Stock Exchange activity in the present circumstances. The day's movement of stocks was as a rule moderately upward; there were even one or two early advances of 7 and 18 points. But these were the exceptions; the day's market as a whole was colorless.

There was nothing in the news to stimulate activity. Current estimates seemed to suggest a slightly lowered rate of steel production. The wheat market sold off fractionally; "weather news" appears to have no permanent influence. Compilations of new securities issued in April indicated that something like 90 per cent of the offerings in the four completed months had been in bonds or notes, which made up only about 35 per cent of the total issues for the same period last year. But that has surprised no one at all familiar with the investment market's history. Even in everyday life, change of diet is sure to follow a fit of acute indigestion.

That loans on Stock Exchange collateral, reported by member banks to the Federal Reserve, should show decrease of $122,000,000 for the week ending last Wednesday was in line with expectation. The total decrease of such loans at New York, already reported for that week, was $200,000,000. But this is not the striking aspect of the member bank return. Despite the week's reduction, the increase in loans on security collateral as compared with a year before was the greatest reported in any week of the twelvemonth past. Loans of this character outstanding now at reporting member banks are $1,018,000,000 greater than at the same date in May, 1929. Yet last Thursday's summary of loans on securities made through New York banks to brokers and dealers showed reduction of $1,747,000,000 in a year; of which reduction $1,612,000,000 was for account of other than bank lenders, leaving a net increase of $135,000,000 in such loans by New York banks for their own account and for out-of-town institutions.

The contrast between the two statements is most unusual. On its face it would apparently mean either that while loans on Stock Exchange collateral had been cut down heavily from a year ago in the New York market they have increased elsewhere in the country, or else that loans of the sort to other borrowers than "brokers and dealers" have been expanded heavily. It is possible that both influences have been at work. But even so, the resultant situation is peculiar. In this week of last May the loans of all reporting member banks on other than security collateral were $1,774,000,000 less than their loans on stocks and bonds. Today the difference is only $334,000,000.

FOX FILM ACQUIRES THE MIDLAND CIRCUIT

Sixty Theatres in Kansas, Missouri and Iowa Obtained in $4,000,000 Deal.

The Fox Film Corporation has acquired the Midland Circuit of Theatres, controlling sixty theatres in Kansas, Missouri and Iowa, it was announced yesterday by Harley L. Clarke, president. No price was announced, but it is understood that more than $4,000,000 was paid.

The new houses will be added to the Fox West Coast Theatres, a subsidiary of the Fox Film Corporation, which operates its theatres west of the Mississippi River, and will bring the number of theatres operated by this company to more than 500. A special division office of West Coast Theatres will be established in Kansas City for closer supervision of the new properties and will be under the management of M. B. Shanberg. West Coast Theatres has a divisional office in Kansas City under the direct control of Harold B. Franklin, president of the West Coast Theatres. This office has supervision over the recently acquired Miller and mid-West circuits of theatres. Mr. Franklin also takes immediate supervision over the St. Louis divisional office, which has jurisdiction over the Missouri and Illinois theatres of the company.

The Midland Circuit of Theatres includes ten theatres in Kansas City and more than fifty theatres in the towns of Atchison, Chanute, Clay Center, Coffeyville, Salina, Concordia, Eldorado, Hutchinson, Lyons, Ottawa, Pittsburgh and Wichita, in Kansas; Boonville, Brookfield, Carthage, Lexington, Marshall, Moberly, Nevada, Sedalia, Springfield and St. Joseph, in Missouri, and Fort Madison and Muscatine, in Iowa.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

News, Comment and Incident, On the Stock Exchange and In the Financial Markets.

Stocks that are considered fairly representative of the whole market moved slowly higher yesterday on the smallest volume of trading which the Stock Exchange has recorded in more than two months. Transactions totaled 2,697,290 shares. There were no great demonstrations, but nearly all of the active list displayed quiet strength, net gains ranging generally from 1 to 7 points and J. I. Case bounding forward more than 18 points. Among the stocks in which there was heavy trading at advancing prices were United States Steel, Columbia Gas, Houston Oil, Eastman Kodak, Michigan Steel, Texas Pacific Land Trust, Warner Brothers, Underwood-Elliott-Fisher, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Standard Oil of California, Sears-Roebuck, Pan-American Petroleum, Allied Chemical and International Harvester. Brokers again emphasized the professional character of the trading and continued to caution their customers against speculative excesses on either side of the market.

Opinions on the Market.

Although many brokers are predicting an extended period of dullness in Wall Street, which might last until a more definite trend appeared in the business situation, other authorities firmly believe that a long stretch of inactivity is quite unlikely. These observers assert that predictions of dullness are invariably made when the forecasters are uncertain as to whether the market outlook is good or bad. At few times in recent years, they hold, has there been so much disagreement among market followers concerning the probable future trend of stock prices, and it is therefore natural to expect that in such a time of widespread disagreement writers of market circulars will hedge by predicting a period of dullness. Those who are forecasting a revival of activity soon say the stock market never has failed, in recent years, to flare up after a week or two of quiescence.

Who Owns the Banks?

The recent announcement of the sale of the John D. Rockefeller interests in the Bankers Trust Company, combined with some unfounded reports of the transfer of substantial blocks of stock in another of the city's larger banks, was the occasion yesterday for a little research among the stockholders' lists of leading banks. With a few outstanding exceptions, however, little light is to be gleaned from most of these lists as to who controls the banks. The practice is so widespread among powerful financial interests of having shares listed in the names of agents that the true ownership of the shares is not always evident. As is the case with many large industrial corporations, officers of some of the leading banks appear on the shareholders' lists as owners of comparatively few shares in their institutions, while here and there a name completely unknown to Wall Street is marked beside some substantial block. A feature of the shareholders' lists of the great New York banks is the large number of holders of one or two shares. In many cases the cost of mailing dividend checks, reports and notices to these holders must exceed the earnings of the investment represented.

Management Trust Financing.

That investment trusts of the general management type have not participated in the recent revival of corporation financing has been noted by many in financial circles. A year ago new management trusts were being brought out almost every week and their issues ran into many millions of dollars. This year the tide seems to have swung to the fixed type of trust, which is strictly limited in its investment policy by its indenture. Some trusts are being brought out, however, on a semi-fixed basis, in which the limitations are greater than those imposed on general management trusts, but considerably less rigid than those of the fixed trust.

A Sweeping Change.

The changes made yesterday by the Van Sweringen interests in the Missouri Pacific Railroad's board were considered typical of the tactics followed by the Clevelanders when they take control of a railroad. Directors representing this interest and that were replaced by Van Sweringen nominees on the Missouri Pacific's board on a complete scale. The manner in which the Van Sweringens revised the Pere Marquette's board when they took control of that road was recalled by the "Mop" adjustments. It did not require much effort of memory to remember other important changes made by the Van Sweringens in railroad managements.

While the Sun Shines.

There is a strong current of opinion in Wall Street that the utility leaders will proceed as soon as possible with all merger plans believed to be desirable and economical in order to complete the marshaling of forces in the industry into strong, simplified structures. The reason for the undertaking of these developments at this time is said to lie in prospects that the next Congress may enact laws governing holding companies as well as power companies engaged in interstate commerce. Leaders in the industry wish to get rid of all unfinished business before then, so that their "pictures" may be as clear and comprehensive as possible.

Concerning Old Style Financing.

A few commentators on the financial markets of late have been inclined to point that old style financing, so-called, is back again simply because new bond financing is far in excess of new stock flotations compared with a year or two ago, when new stock issues dominated the market. As a matter of fact, much of the new bond financing that is being done could hardly be termed old style. A large percentage of the new issues carried conversion and various stock purchase privileges, which was scarcely the case even only a decade ago. If the bond market is ever to enjoy palmy days it will have to divorce itself from stocks, it is held, so that any reference made to conversion and stock purchase privileges in connection with a bond automatically ties up that issue with the stock market.

MONEY.

Tuesday, May 13, 1930.

Business in the money market continued to lack feature so far as rate changes and turnover were concerned, quotations for all classes of accommodation—day loans, period money and business paper—holding steady. Funds were in ample supply, but demand was poor. Stock Exchange call money was 3 per cent all day, and 2½, outside; Curb Exchange money traded at 3½. Time money ranged 3¼ to 4 per cent for the near and distant dates. Acceptances and merchants' paper were at prevailing discounts.

TAKE FULL CONTROL OF MISSOURI PACIFIC

Van Sweringens Displace Eight Directors for Own Men—One Brother on Board.

IS LIKELY TO BE CHAIRMAN

W. H. Williams, Present Head, and F. J. Shepard Among Those Dropped.

NO CHANGE IN PRESIDENCY

Baldwin to Retain Office—Issues Statement—No Transcontinental System Planned.

ST. LOUIS, May 13 (AP).—The Van Sweringen interests of Cleveland, which recently acquired a majority of the stock of the Missouri Pacific Railroad, today elected eight of seventeen directors of the railroad at the annual meeting of stockholders. L. W. Baldwin, president, and eight others of the old directorate were reelected. The meeting was harmonious.

O. P. Van Sweringen heads the list of new directors. Others are John Sherwin Jr., D. S. Barrett Jr., Leonard P. Ayres, H. G. Dalton, G. A. Tomlinson and Alva Bradley, all of Cleveland, and W. W. Reilley of Buffalo.

John P. Murphy, secretary of the Alleghany Corporation, who testified last week before the Missouri Public Service Commission that the corporation had purchased 50.3 per cent of the Missouri Pacific's voting stock, attended the meeting and voted the shares held by the corporation. Shares represented in person or by proxy totaled 996,287, or 64.4 per cent of the 1,546,396 outstanding.

The by-laws were amended to provide that future meetings of the directors and the executive committee may be held in St. Louis or Cleveland instead of in New York. The company's headquarters will remain here. Officers of the board of directors are to be elected at the next meeting, the date of which was not set.

Old directors re-elected besides Mr. Baldwin were Arthur V. Davis and Charles H. Sabin of New York, A. D. Geohegen of New Orleans, John R. Flippin of Memphis, W. T. Kemper of Kansas City, W. P. Weber of Lake Charles, La.; Fred G. Hilvert of Phoenix, Ariz., and John G. Lonsdale of St. Louis.

NO TRANSCONTINENTAL LINE.

Van Sweringen System Now Runs From the Atlantic to Utah.

O. P. and M. J. Van Sweringen's assumption of control of the Missouri Pacific Railroad yesterday was one of the sweeping moves to which they have accustomed the railroad world. Displacing eight of the road's directors, including William H. Williams, chairman of the board, and Finley J. Shepard, representative of the Gould interests, for their own nominees, they formally established themselves in the ownership of a line which extends their railroad system from the Atlantic to Salt Lake City. The mileage of the Missouri Pacific system, including all roads controlled, is 12,392. This brings that in the hands of the Van Sweringen brothers to 22,833.

The retirement of Mr. Shepard, husband of Helen Gould, sister of the late George J. Gould, is the final chapter in the dream of Mr. Gould to found a transcontinental system. Early in this century Mr. Gould acquired control of the Missouri Pacific and other roads to form a line from the Pacific to the Atlantic, but traffic was insufficient and when adverse times came the system fell to pieces.

While the directorates of the Van Sweringen lines east and west of the Mississippi River will interlock as a result of yesterday's elections, they have no intention of forming a transcontinental system now. What will happen ten or twenty years from now railroad men do not care to predict. To combine the Chesapeake & Ohio with the Missouri Pacific would upset the Interstate Commerce Commission's consolidation plan. The Van Sweringens not only are refraining from any such project, but they took care to sound out the commission before putting their representatives on the Missouri Pacific's board.

Since O. P. Van Sweringen himself went on the board, it is expected that he will become chairman, to succeed Mr. Williams. The directors displaced, in addition to Mr. Williams and Mr. Shepard, were John J. Raskob, former chairman of the finance committee of the General Motors Corporation; Archibald R. Graustein, president of the International Paper Company; Matthew C. Brush, a director in many companies, who failed also of re-election to the Pere Marquette's board when the Van Sweringens took control of that road; Charles E. Ingersoll, a director of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and H. Hobart Porter of the engineering firm of Sanderson & Porter, and R. Lancaster Williams.

L. A. Baldwin, president of the Missouri Pacific, will continue in that office.

There had been considerable conjecture as to whether William H. Williams would be re-elected as a director. He has projected a fifth trunk line for the East. The commission has approved the plan, but the Van Sweringens bitterly oppose it. Last week, in furtherance of the plan, the Wabash Railway, of which Mr. Williams is chairman, applied to the commission for control of the Wheeling & Lake Erie, which the Van Sweringens own.

Among the first results of assumption of control of the Missouri Pacific by the Van Sweringens will be a change in the plan for payment of back dividends on the road's preferred stock. The old management proposed to make these payments with common stock. The new management proposes to make them with a new class of preferred shares.

Mr. Baldwin issued a statement yesterday in which he said:

"I believe the progressive policies of the Missouri Pacific will be continued under Van Sweringen control. I have every reason to believe the Van Sweringens will adopt the same constructive policies in the Missouri Pacific which they have demonstrated in the management of the other properties which they control. We are entirely in accord with the Van Sweringens."

ADOLF GOBEL, Inc.

Five-Year 6½% Collateral Gold Notes, Series A
(With Stock Purchase Warrants Attached)

To be dated: May 1, 1930 To be due: May 1, 1935

Series A Notes: Interest payable May 1 and November 1 at the principal office of the Trustee in New York City. Coupon Notes in denomination of $1,000, registerable as to principal only. Redeemable in whole or in part by lot on thirty days' published notice at any time before maturity at 100 and accrued interest plus a premium of ½% for each twelve months' period or fraction thereof from date of redemption to date of maturity.

Authorized $3,000,000 aggregate principal amount, issuable in series, of which $2,250,000 (this issue) is to be designated as Five-Year 6½% Collateral Gold Notes, Series A.

Each Series A Note will have attached thereto a Stock Purchase Warrant detachable from the Note only upon presentation of the Note and Warrant to the Trustee and exercise of the Warrant, including payment of the purchase price thereunder, or upon retirement prior to maturity of the Note to which the Warrant is attached and endorsement by the Trustee of such fact upon the Warrant. Such Warrant will entitle the holder thereof to purchase from the Corporation shares of its Common Stock (without par value), as at the time constituted, as follows: At any time on or before May 1, 1931—55 shares at $18 per share; thereafter and to and including May 1, 1932—50 shares at $20 per share; thereafter and to and including May 1, 1934—40 shares at $25 per share; thereafter and to and including May 1, 1935—35 shares at $30 per share. AFTER MAY 1, 1935, SUCH WARRANTS WILL BE VOID AND OF NO VALUE. The agreement under which such Warrants will be issued will contain provisions designed to protect the holders thereof against dilution resulting from stock dividends and "split-ups" and in the event of merger, consolidation or recapitalization of the Corporation, and such Warrant Agreement will also provide that should Common Stock of the Corporation be purchasable, under any warrants issued in connection with any other Series of Notes, at less than the current price at which Common Stock may then be purchased under the Warrants attached to the Series A Notes, the latter price shall be reduced so that it shall be the same as the current price, from time to time, under such other warrants; all as more fully to be provided in the Warrant Agreement. The Corporation will covenant in the Indenture securing the Notes, as more fully to be provided in the Indenture, that all moneys received from the sale of stock by the exercise of Warrants accompanying Series A Notes shall be retained by the Trustee as and for a Retirement Fund and applied to the purchase or redemption of Series A Notes, and that the holder of any Series A Note, upon exercising the Warrant attached thereto, shall have the privilege, if he so elect, to have the available moneys in the Retirement Fund applied at the same time to the purchase of his Note at a fixed price of $990 and accrued interest.

CORN EXCHANGE BANK TRUST COMPANY, NEW YORK, Trustee, under the Indenture securing the Notes and under the Warrant Agreement.

Mr. Frank M. Firor, President of Adolf Gobel, Inc., has summarized, as follows, a letter to us dated May 12, 1930, giving information concerning the Corporation and this issue of Notes:

Business: Adolf Gobel, Inc., incorporated in New York on August 20, 1926, succeeded to a meat and provision business conducted in Brooklyn, New York under the "Gobel" name since 1891. From a sales volume of slightly more than $8,000,000 in 1927, the Corporation, through acquisition of other old-established businesses in New York, Boston, Mass. and Washington, D. C. and through the acquisition of more than 96% of the Common Stock of Jacob E. Decker & Sons, operating a large pork packing establishment in Mason City, Iowa, has built up a sales volume which reached $46,000,000 in 1929.

Security: These Notes, in the opinion of counsel, will be a direct obligation of Adolf Gobel, Inc. and secured by pledge with the Trustee of $1,404,800 par value of the Common Stock (96.9%) of Jacob E. Decker & Sons and 72,000 shares (without par value) of the Common Stock (100%) of Merkel, Inc. Upon the completion of this financing these Series A Notes will constitute the only funded indebtedness of the Corporation except $701,000 real estate bonds and mortgages now outstanding on acquired properties. The Indenture under which the Notes are to be issued will make provision for the release or substitution of collateral, and will provide that so long as any of the Notes are outstanding the Corporation will not create or permit to be created any mortgage or other lien (except purchase money obligations, and borrowings maturing in not more than one year after the creation thereof, and extensions, renewals and replacements thereof) upon any property of the Corporation or any of its subsidiaries (except Jacob E. Decker & Sons), without equally securing the Notes issued or issuable under the Indenture.

Assets: A pro forma consolidated balance sheet of the Corporation and subsidiaries (except Jacob E. Decker & Sons, the Common Stock of which is carried on such balance sheet as an investment at 96.9% of the net worth of that company), as at December 28, 1929, prepared by Messrs. Touche, Niven & Co., public accountants, and adjusted to give effect to the issuance and sale of these Series A Notes and the application of the proceeds thereof to the liquidation of the Corporation's bank loans and the retirement of its outstanding Ten-Year 6% Sinking Fund Gold Notes, shows net tangible assets over all liabilities, exclusive of these Series A Notes, of $7,383,916.62 or $3,281 per $1,000 Note. Current assets are shown on this balance sheet as $2,928,007.70, as compared with current liabilities of $765,493.74, a ratio of 3.8 to 1, and net current asset position as $2,162,513.96.

Earnings: Consolidated earnings of the Corporation and subsidiaries for the fiscal year ended December 28, 1929 (inclusive of that part of the earnings of Jacob E. Decker & Sons and Merkel, Inc. applicable to the Corporation's holdings in the stocks of those companies) have been certified to by Messrs. Touche, Niven & Co., public accountants. The consolidated earnings, as aforesaid, for the fiscal year ended December 28, 1929, available for depreciation ($215,358.92), interest charges, Federal income taxes and dividends, were $514,263.23, equivalent to 2.69 times the combined annual interest charges, amounting to $190,935, on these Series A Notes and on $701,000 of real estate bonds and mortgages now outstanding on acquired properties. For the sixteen weeks ended April 19, 1930, the Corporation's books (not audited) show consolidated earnings on the same basis of $209,865.19.

The Corporation agrees to make application to list these Series A Notes (with Warrants attached) on the New York Curb Exchange.

All legal details in connection with these Series A Notes and Warrants will be subject to approval of Messrs. Chadbourne, Stanchfield & Levy, counsel for the undersigned, and of Messrs. Cotton, Franklin, Wright & Gordon, counsel for the Corporation.

We offer, subject to allotment or prior sale, these Series A Notes (with Warrants attached) if, when and as delivered to and accepted by us, subject to approval of our counsel. It is expected that delivery of the Notes (with Warrants attached) will be made on or about June 4, 1930 at the office of Hitt, Farwell & Co., 48 Wall St., New York, N. Y., against payment therefor in New York funds.

LINDLEY ADVANCED BY STOCK EXCHANGE

Member of Governing Committee Many Years Is Elected Vice President.

PURCHASED SEAT IN 1902

Has Served on Several Special Committees—Is Grandson of Cyrus W. Field.

Allen L. Lindley of Lindley & Co., and a member of the New York Stock Exchange since 1902, was elected yesterday vice president of the Exchange at the organization meeting of the governing committee. He has been on the governing committee since 1916 except when he was in the army overseas. He was first elected a member of the governing committee in December, 1916, and resigned the following October to join the national army. He attained the rank of Major in active service and on his retirement from the army was reelected a governor in July, 1919.

He has served on several of the standing committees of the Exchange, including the committees on admissions, arbitration and business conduct. Among special committees on which he has served are the committee which had charge of the construction of the addition to the Stock Exchange Building in 1922 and the committee which formulated the plan for the increase in the membership of the Exchange in 1929. He was also for several years a trustee of the New York Stock Exchange Building Company and at present is a trustee of the Stock Exchange Gratuity Fund.

Mr. Lindley is 51 years old. He was born at Irvington-on-Hudson, N. Y., and attended Lehigh University in the class of '02. His first business association was with Post & Flagg. Later he became a partner in the firm of Henderson, Lindley & Co., the name of which was changed to Lindley & Co. in 1907. He purchased his seat on the Stock Exchange on Oct. 9, 1902.

Mr. Lindley is a grandson of Cyrus W. Field, who laid the first transatlantic cable. His father, D. A. Lindley, was for many years a member and governor of the Exchange, and his son, Daniel A. Lindley Jr., is also a member of the Exchange, making the third generation to hold Exchange membership.

GETS $42,774 TAX CREDIT.

Nassau Smelting and Refining Company Was Overassessed.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—An income tax abatement and credit of $42,774 in favor of the Nassau Smelting and Refining Company of New York has been awarded by the Internal Revenue Bureau.

The overassessment was caused by a redetermination of the profits tax liability, due to the existence of abnormal conditions affecting the taxpayers' capital.

OUTPUT OF AUTO TIRES LESS THAN A YEAR AGO

Casings and Tubes Made in March Fail by More Than 2,000,000 to Reach Mark of 1929.

Manufacturers of automobile tires in the United States produced 5,187,970 pneumatic casings in March, compared with 4,859,475 in February and with 7,519,234 in March, 1929, according to the monthly report of the Rubber Manufacturers Association. Shipments of pneumatic casings in March totaled 5,031,820, compared with 4,474,459 in February and 6,708,134 in March, 1929. Casings in the hands of the manufacturers on March 31 were 13,468,970, compared with 13,238,451 on Feb. 28 and 16,351,750 on March 31, 1929.

Inner tubes manufactured during March numbered 5,270,560, compared with 4,942,755 in February and 7,466,356 in March, 1929. Shipments in March were 5,042,385 tubes, compared with 4,626,559 in February and 7,466,382 in March of last year. Tubes in the hands of manufacturers on March 31 numbered 14,057,360, compared with 13,905,291 on Feb. 28 and 17,750,180 on March 31, 1929.

Solid and cushion tires manufactured in March totaled 25,772, compared with 29,736 in February and 47,250 in March, 1929. Tires of these classes shipped in March numbered 31,935, compared with 28,007 in February and 53,607 in March, last year. Tires in the hands of the manufacturers on March 31 numbered 164,238, compared with 170,391 on Feb. 28 and 189,200 on March 31, 1929.

The estimates made by the association are based on reports from manufacturers who produce approximately 75 per cent of the country's output of tires.

MARGIN CALLS EBB; BANK SAVINGS RISE

SEES TRADE GAIN STEADILY

Head of National Association of Savings Banks Goes to Atlantic City Convention.

"The savings banks have stopped paying out money to protect margin accounts and deposits are on the increase," according to Robert L. Hoguet, president of the National Association of Mutual Savings Banks, who issued a statement on starting from the city last night for the tenth annual gathering of that organization, which will open in Atlantic City today.

Mr. Hoguet said the period of liquidation following the stock market break seemed to have reached an end and the public was returning to a normal conception of savings. He said in part:

"For the first four months of 1930 the savings banks in New York State have increased their deposits by $77,500,000. A similar gain has been made in other States. The rate of increase is higher than last year at this season, and sound and satisfying in the face of conditions.

"The public is returning to a conception of saving that almost disappeared in the boom period. The proposition that wealth results from thrift regularly practiced is more convincing in the Spring of 1930. A year ago stocks could be bought at random, to yield 5 to 10 per cent a month. The rates paid by savings institutions became unattractive to many persons of small capital. Since it was easier to buy stocks upon margin than to pay for them outright, and always with the chance of rapid appreciation, savings accounts were drawn upon to finance stock purchases.

"We saw the tendency before the break. When the inevitable happened, our banks were the immediate source of funds to carry on. During October and November we paid out millions every day for this purpose, but December saw a change that is continuing steadily. It has been a principle in our institution that savings increase when times are hard. These are not exactly hard times, but there has been a pinch and we see the principle justified. I believe business is well on the way to normal and I look for a substantial increase in savings accounts this year."

Mr. Hoguet, who is vice president of the Emigrant Industrial Savings Bank in New York, was accompanied by bankers from all parts of the country on the way to the convention. The gathering, to be held in the Hotel Traymore, will last three days and about 1,000 delegates are expected to attend.

PLAN NATURAL GAS FOR PHILADELPHIA

Columbia Company and U. G. I. Reported in Deal for Pipe Line Delivery.

STOCKPURCHASESRUMORED

Morgan-Drexel-Bonbright Group Is Said to Seek Further Holdings in Columbia.

Conversations between the Columbia Gas and Electric Corporation and the United Gas Improvement Company for the delivery of substantial quantities of natural gas from Western Pennsylvania and West Virginia to Philadelphia and surrounding sections of Pennsylvania and New Jersey are nearing completion, it was reported in Wall Street yesterday.

Accompanying the reports were rumors that the United Corporation, the Morgan-Drexel-Bonbright utility holding company, might add to its holdings in the Columbia system, in which it held 245,263 common shares on April 12. The United Corporation's offer for additional United Gas Improvement common shares expired on Monday, and has given the former company holdings of 24 per cent of the common stock of U. G. I. United Corporation holdings in Columbia amount to only 2.9 per cent of the common stock.

No Stock Offer Arranged.

It was learned yesterday that no United Corporation offer for Columbia Gas and Electric shares has been arranged yet, despite stock market rumors that one share of common and four-fifths of a share of preference stock of United Corporation would be exchanged for each share of Columbia common stock.

The reports were accompanied by a brisk advance in Columbia Gas and Electric shares, which rose 4¼ points to within two points of its year's high mark of 87 yesterday. The closing price was 85⅛.

While a United Corporation offer for Columbia shares lies within the realm of possibility, it is expected that the former company at most would seek only a larger interest in the company and not control, in view of the policy of United Corporation to hold only substantial minorities in large Eastern utility companies.

The Columbia Gas and Electric Corporation is the oldest and largest natural gas company in the United States, with a network of natural gas pipe lines extending more than 27,300 miles from near Muncie, Ind., to the outskirts of Jersey City and Philadelphia, and from Toledo and Cleveland, on Lake Erie, to Kentucky and West Virginia. Its electric system operates between Cincinnati, Dayton, Piqua and other cities in Ohio.

U. G. I. Has Wide Holdings.

United Gas Improvement controls the Philadelphia Electric Company and operates the Philadelphia Gas Works Company, owning other large utility properties in Pennsylvania, Delaware, Connecticut and many other States. Together with United Corporation, it owns working control of the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey.

The furnishing of natural gas to the Pennsylvania and New Jersey properties controlled by or affiliated with United Gas Improvement is viewed in utility circles as a measure permitting great economies in fuel consumption in the manufacture of coke oven or water gas, and in additional plant facilities which would be required from year to year if no natural gas were available.

The Columbia System is also extending its pipe lines south of the Potomac River, toward Richmond and Norfolk, Va., and other important cities near the Eastern Seaboard. Columbia owns gas rights in 5 902.034 acres of producing lands in the East, of which only 806,381 acres, or about 14 per cent, are being operated. Last year its gas sales were 144,600,000,000 cubic feet and its gross earnings were $115,150,000.

Pennsylvania Railroad Adopts 30% of Workers' Suggestions

Since the Pennsylvania Railroad's bureau of new ideas was established two years ago, it has received suggestions from employes in 201 different occupations.

Ten per cent of the suggestions were put into effect in 1928, 19 per cent in 1929 and 30.4 per cent in the first four months of 1930. Rewards were given to the workers whose suggestions were adopted.

AMERICAN UTILITIES INCREASES ITS STOCK

Total of 3,500,000 Shares Is Authorized—Consolidated Gas Utilities to Be Acquired.

The American Utilities and General Corporation has increased its authorized capitalization from 1,900,000 to 3,500,000 shares. A small part of the new stock will be utilized in acquiring securities of the Consolidated Gas Utilities Company and the balance reserved against expansion of the holding company.

The authorized stock will consist of 3,000,000 Class B common shares and 500,000 $3 dividend preferred shares. There are 161,000 preferred shares outstanding. All but 59,000 shares of the Class A common stock have been converted into Class B common stock at two shares of the latter for one A share. The A common shares are callable at $25 a share.

American Utilities and General owns a substantial block of the voting trust certificates for Class B shares of Consolidated Gas Utilities and, together with the United Gas Company's holdings, a large majority of Consolidated Gas Utilities stock is owned. The American company's offer to exchange its own B stock for voting trust certificates of Consolidated, on a share-for-share basis, will expire on May 23.

Elmer G. Diefenbach and Gaston F. Balme have been elected directors of the Northern Texas Utilities Company, which the United Gas Company has an option to purchase until June 24. Consolidated Gas Utilities and Northern Texas Utilities have important natural gas properties in the Amarillo field and in other parts of Northern Texas and Southern Oklahoma.

Seeks Consumers Gas Properties.

The Coast Counties Gas and Electric Company has asked approval of the Railroad Commission of California for the purchase of operating rights, franchises and properties of the Consumers Gas Company in Dos Palos, Los Banos and Justine, Cal. Both companies are subsidiaries of the Pacific Public Service Company, controlled by the Standard Oil Company of California. If the permission is granted, the Consumers company will pass out of existence.

Twin States Natural Gas Rights.

The directors of the Twin States Natural Gas Company have authorized the issuance of 40,000 additional shares of no-par common stock to be offered to holders of participating Class A stock at $5 a share on the basis of two shares of common for each five shares of Class A stock held on May 27. The proceeds will be used in the development and expansion of the business and for other corporate purposes.

To Retire Preferred Stock.

The Hackensack Water Company has called for redemption on June 1 its issue of 7 per cent preferred stock outstanding in the amount of $2,375,000, at a redemption price of $27.50 a share. The Class A 7 per cent preferred will not be affected by this action. To the common stockholders has been offered the right to subscribe to $2,562,250 additional common stock on the basis of one new share at $25 for each two now held.

Mr. B's Heirs Will Receive $63,642 More

A New IDEA in TRUST SERVICE

One of our clients who had accumulated $1,100,000 came to us with his estate problem. He knew what a large percentage of estates goes in taxes, estate expenses, etc.

If Mr. B had followed his own proposed plan of distribution it would have cost approximately $131,350 to settle his estate.

After a careful analysis of his holdings, we suggested an alternate plan of estate distribution which showed estimated savings over the first figure of $63,642.

This saving is estimated only in usual estate expenses and is far from showing the full benefits of a complete Central Hanover Estate Plan.

A brief outline of the alternate plan we suggested to Mr. B will be sent to persons interested in conserving their own estates. A telephone call or a letter to the company will bring to you an experienced representative who will gladly explain the savings that can be effected by you with the use of a Central Hanover Plan.

Natural Gas Cities strike a NEW Note in HEALTH and PROSPERITY
MOTHER EARTH

THE soundest and most promising enterprises are those which meet and solve the problems of community health and happiness. Prosperity is the inevitable sequel.

The natural gas companies have made it possible to have cleaner and better communities through the introduction of natural gas—a cleaner, more economical and more efficient fuel that leaves no residue and comes from Mother Earth by force of its own pressure.

Appalachian Gas Corporation represents an investment in four of the largest natural gas producing states in America—West Virginia, Kentucky, Ohio and Texas. Production from the properties enjoys a profitable market under long-term contracts with leading public utility and industrial corporations, and the potential production is vast, due to the large undeveloped reserves owned or controlled. This market is highly diversified as to consumer demand and is growing rapidly.

Our weekly publication "Appalachiana" contains timely information on the natural gas industry and the securities of this system. Your name will be placed on the regular mailing list upon request.

BUYING OF COPPER CONTINUES HEAVY

Export Sales Put at 21,500,000 Pounds for Day—Domestic Orders Fail to Hold Pace.

HIGHER PRICE NOW HINTED

Following the advance of a half cent a pound in the price of copper on Monday, buying of the metal continued in large volume yesterday. Sales for export were reported to have totaled 21,500,000 pounds, compared with 24,000,000 on Monday. No changes were reported in the prevailing price of 13 cents for domestic delivery and 13.30 cents a pound for European delivery. Domestic buying, which had been active on Monday, was reported as smaller yesterday.

Since the beginning of May copper purchases for shipment abroad totaled almost 125,000,000 pounds, while estimates of the total foreign and domestic business ranged as high as 325,000,000 pounds. Although predictions of further increases in prices were made, many authorities declared advances would be contingent upon a general improvement in business activity.

Copper statistics for April, which were announced yesterday, showed an increase of more than 45,000 tons, or 90,000,000 pounds, in finished stocks at refineries in North and South America. The increase was in line with Wall Street's expectations, since shipments were much smaller in April than in March, while production declined less than 3,000 tons in North and South American mines.

Stocks of finished copper in North and South America at the end of April totaled 301,338 short tons, compared with 256,020 in March and 57,494 in April, 1929, according to the American Bureau of Metal Statistics. Stocks of refined copper were at their low point for recent years in October, 1928, when they totaled 45,648 tons.

Production of copper by United States mines in April totaled 60,338 short tons, compared with 61,216 in March and 94,802 in April, 1929. The April output by mines in North and South America, including imports of cathode copper, totaled 124,531 tons, compared with $127,064 in March Output of blister copper in North America, including cathode copper, totaled 88,787 tons, compared with 91,780 in March. South American output was 21,037 tons, compared with 21,120 in March.

April shipments of North and South American producers and refiners were 79,213 tons, compared with 104,167 in March. Of the April shipments, 50,017 were foreign and 29,196 domestic, compared with 73,644 foreign and 30,523 domestic in March.

CHANGES ANNOUNCED BY CORPORATIONS

Harriman Bank Elects Two New Directors—Addition to the Fidelity Trust Board.

Winfield R. Sheehan, vice president, general manager and director of the Fox Film and Fox Theatres Corporations, and J. Fletcher Farrell, vice president, treasurer and director of Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corporation, were elected yesterday to the board of directors of the Harriman National Bank and Trust Company.

The Fidelity Trust Company, a member of the Marine Midland group of banks, has elected as directors Frederick Beers, president of the National Biscuit Company; R. B. White, president of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, and Eustace Seligman, a partner of Sullivan & Cromwell. The election of these men increases the board to thirty members. In the organization meeting H. A. Miskimin was elected vice president and secretary, and Charles S. Pharis was appointed assistant treasurer in charge of the credit department.

E. G. Diefenbach, president of G. E. Barrett & Co. and American Utilities and General Corporation, and Gaston F. Balme, vice president of the same two concerns, have been elected directors of the Northern Texas Utilities Company.

James L. Meeks, president of the Fort Hamilton Savings Bank, and Assemblyman Daniel McNamara Jr. have been elected directors of the Jefferson Fire Insurance Company of Newark, N. J.

Edward Duffield, president of the Prudential Life Insurance Company, has been elected a manager of the Delaware & Hudson Company, succeeding Charles A. Peabody.

Robert C. Hart has been appointed to the new office of controller of the Harlem Savings Bank. William R. Hawkins has been appointed treasurer and John J. Cann secretary of the same company.

EXPLAINS RESERVOIR LOAN.

Tremaine Says Bond Sale on June 3 Will Complete the Financing.

State Controller Morris S. Tremaine in a statement issued here yesterday regarding the sale of $2,790,000 Hudson River Regulating District bonds recently announced for June 3, said the financing would complete the initial authorization of $9,000,000 for the construction of the Sacandaga River Reservoir to regulate the flow of the Hudson above Albany.

"The mill and water power properties involved in the project," he said, "alone have been appraised at more than $60,000,000, whereas the total cost of the development planned by the district is not expected to exceed $12,000,000."

The reservoir, he pointed out, will help to prevent floods which at times have done great damage to the lower parts of Albany, Troy and Rensselaer.

YOU believe in America. In the fertility of its fields. The wealth of its natural resources. The vision of its business leaders. The strength of its industries.

But how can you, with a few thousand dollars, or even a few hundred thousand, diversify your investments widely enough so that they are truly a cross-section of American enterprise?

How can you do more than purchase a limited number of securities which may or may not share in the general stability of the country . . . which may or may not keep pace with its growth and increasing prosperity?

The answer lies in the new Uniform Trusts. For, through this new Trust Service, the man who has $5,000 or more can enjoy the same wide diversification, the same safety, the same opportunity for capital increase and earnings as the man of great wealth. And, like the man of wealth, he, too, can stake out a claim in America's future.

THE NEW UNIFORM TRUSTS

YOU place in trust with us a sum of money (the minimum is $5,000). You authorize us to mingle your trust with many others created on the same basis.

We administer this mingled fund, amounting to many millions of dollars, as a unit . . . just as we do the huge private fortunes of which we have been trustees for generations.

This enables us to gain increased stability by diversifying the investments of the fund over many different types of sound securities . . . permitting us to invest in a variety of the country's basic industries, and giving the holder of a Uniform Trust a carefully chosen stake in the future of the country.

Most important of all, the mingled fund comes under the skilled supervision, the daily scrutiny of senior officers and directors of this company . . . acknowledged investment authorities.

Thus the holder of an individual Uniform Trust benefits from the same facilities which we are able to offer the very largest investor. He shares proportionately in the operations of the mingled fund. He benefits from all capital increases in the fund. He can get back his proportionate share on the first Wednesday in any month . . . or can use his trust as collateral.

Call at any branch of the City Bank Farmers Trust Company or The National City Bank of New York, and the Uniform Trusts will be explained to you in full detail. Or send for booklet "The Uniform Trusts," addressing the City Bank Farmers Trust Company, Department T, 43 Exchange Place, New York City.

SAYS MERGERS HURT EXECUTIVES' VALUE

"PUBLIC TRUSTS' PRAISED

Speaker at Convention Declares Success Depends on Service—International Dinner Held.

Additional remuneration or cash bonuses for executives, according to results accomplished in operations directly under their supervision, were suggested yesterday by J. P. Jordan, management engineer, as an incentive to stimulate the efficiency of business officials who have lost their effectiveness in the mesh of personnel attendant upon mergers.

Mr. Jordan, who spoke at the annual Spring convention of the American Management Association in the Hotel Astor, asserted that mergers were detrimental to the effectiveness of important men in consolidated companies and that "drastic steps must be taken to overcome this disadvantage."

Mr. Jordan disapproved of extra compensation or bonuses in the form of stock or any method involving a "paternalistic" attitude on the part of the company. He contended that a man producing results better than the normal was entitled to a cash bonus to spend or invest as he chose. Profit sharing plans, he said, do not furnish adequate incentive to any one below the highest executives. The superintendent should not suffer penalties imposed for poor results in other departments when he saves money in his own, he added.

Secretiveness regarding salaries and bonus distribution also was condemned by Mr. Jordan. He said that if there were a valid reason for the amount of the salary and bonus paid to each individual there should be no need for secrecy. The real truth about salaries, he said, might better be known than to permit rumors and guesses with the liability of serious results.

H. A. Toulmin Jr., lawyer, said an organization large enough to be a merger has undertaken a public trust, its success being in proportion to its service rendered. Mergers for the purpose of monopolizing a trade by wrecking competitors, for controlling prices, reducing employment, or those that expect to effect economies by eliminating advertising and research because of monopoly in the field, he said, are doomed to failure.

Another speaker was Ray B. Prescott, marketing counselor, who held that mergers were necessary in certain instances to eliminate excess capacity, coordinate distributing forces and regain balance after maladjustments caused by the late war.

Last night the association held an international dinner at the Astor, communication with London and York, England; Paris, Geneva, Valparaiso, Santiago de Chile, Bogota, Honolulu, Shanghai, Montreal, Toronto, Los Angeles and San Francisco being by land line telegraph, radio and cable. Representatives of foreign governments were among the guests. The speakers included:

A. H. GRISWOLD, vice president of the International Telephone and Telegraph Corporation.

L. P. ALFORD, vice president of the Ronald Press Company.

LILLIAN M. GILBRETH, president of Gilbreth, Inc.

HENRY S. DENNISON, president of the Dennison Manufacturing Company, who presided.

Announcement of the election of William J. Graham, vice president of the Equitable Life Assurance Society, as president of the American Management Association to succeed C. S Ching, of the United States Rubber Company, retiring president, was made at the dinner by Mr. Dennison. Other new officers of the association will be announced before the close of the convention today.

Among numerous messages sent to the dinner from all parts of the world in reply to messages sent out from the dinner over transmitting machines set up before the speakers' table was one from President Hoover, acknowledging the honorary membership conferred upon him by the association.

COMBINATION FORMED BY STEEL COMPANIES

American Rolling Mills Add Long List of Products by Deal With Sheffield.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, May 13.—Negotiations for the combining of interests of the American Rolling Mills Company and the Sheffield Steel Corporation are complete and a new policy of diversification of products of the former has been adopted, it was announced today by directors and officials of both companies. Terms of the exchange of stocks were not made known.

The combined companies will have plants in Middleton, Zanesville and Columbus, Ohio; Ashland, Ky.; Butler, Pa.; Kansas City, Mo., and Oklahoma City, Okla.

The combination will add to the products of American Rolling Mill, merchant bars, billet and rail steel reinforcing bars, bolts, nuts, rivets, spikes, tie-plates, oil field and railroad forgings and bar iron, barbed wire and nails and field fencings. It also will give the company immediate production at Kansas City of blue annealed sheets, Sheffield having two jobbing mills in operation there.

STEEL INGOT OUTPUT LAGS.

Steel ingot production in the last week decreased slightly and operations now are estimated as a little below 76 per cent of theoretical capacity for the whole industry, compared with 76½ in the preceding week and 77½ two weeks ago.

The United States Steel Corporation is just under 80 per cent in operation, contrasted with a fraction above that figure in the two preceding weeks. Independent companies are somewhat under 72 per cent, against 72 a week ago and 75 two weeks ago.

A year ago the output of the United States Steel Corporation was a small amount above theoretical capacity of its plants and independent companies were operating at about 94 per cent, making the average 97½ per cent. Two years ago the average for the whole industry was 84½ per cent, with the United States Steel operating at 89 per cent and the independents at 80.

REPUBLIC STEEL CHANGE.

Fairless Is Made President of Union Drawn, a Subsidiary.

B. F. Fairless, first vice president of the Republic Steel Corporation, has been elected president of the Union Drawn Steel Company, a subsidiary of Republic, to succeed E. S. Hopps, who resigned as president and general manager. The vacancy on the Union Drawn board caused by the death of E. T. McCleary, has been filled by the election of J. U. Anderson, treasurer of Republic.

Mr. Fairless announced that the company's plants and offices at Beaver Falls, Pa.; Massillon, Ohio; Gary, Ind., and Hartford, Conn., would be maintained with the exception of the sales offices which will be moved to Youngstown, Ohio, in order to coordinate better the company's sales efforts with those of Republic.

The REGU … ON of the PRACTICE of PHY … ance to So-

ONE hundred and forty-six years ago this small Notice appeared on an inside page of the New York Packet and American Advertiser. In such modest terms was announced the Meeting which, held the following day, led to the establishment of the Bank of New York—the first Bank in the City and now the oldest in the Country. ℭ ALEXANDER HAMILTON drew its Constitution and became one of its first Directors. His influence, together with that of other able and far-seeing men among the Organizers, led to the decision that the Capital should consist—as that quaint notice in the Packet put it—"of specie only".

IN COLONEL AYRES OPINION . . .

"Neither prosperity nor depression, neither bull market nor stock panic, appears to have any appreciable effect on instalment selling. Apparently this form of sale and purchase has the quality of stability to a much greater degree than was commonly believed a few years ago."

PRICES MOVE DOWN IN DOMESTIC BONDS

Average Slightly Lower on the Stock Exchange, With Convertibles Steady.

INDUSTRIALS IRREGULAR

Treasury 3¾s Up 2 7-32 Points to 105 7-32, Highest This Year—Foreign Loans Firm.

Trading continued light in the listed bond market yesterday and prices in all groups showed generally small net changes. Domestic issues were slightly lower on the average, but foreign loans held firm. United States Government bonds were unchanged to 7-32 point lower. The single exception proved to be the registered Treasury 3¾s, which have appeared on the tape only at long intervals this year. This issue was up 2 7-32 points yesterday from the previous sale, touching a new high for the year to date at 105 7-32.

Convertible bonds were steady to firm, led by the American Telephone and Telegraph 4½s of 1939, which were up a point. The balance of the group showed only minor changes for the day. The active Baltimore & Ohio convertible 4½s of 1960 held unchanged at 102½. Pan American Petroleum and Transport convertible 6s touched a new high for the year at 107¾.

Railroad and public utility issues which are legal for investment by savings banks in this State ruled steady to firm. Industrial issues showed their usual irregularity, but the changes for the day were generally of small consequence. Amusement bonds of this group closed steady.

In the foreign group, Japanese Government bonds were active and slightly higher. The new 5½s of 1965 touched a new high at 90½. Oriental Development Company 6s and 5½s were up a point and half a point, respectively. French and Belgian Government issues were steady, but South American loans showed considerable irregularity. United Kingdom 5½s of 1937 touched a new high for 1930 at 105¼.

BOND FLOTATIONS.

Domestic and Foreign Securities to Be Marketed by Investment Bankers.

Province of Cordoba, Argentina.

Offering will be made today of the issue of $6,000,000 Province of Cordoba (Argentina) six-month external notes, due Nov. 10, 1930, at par, by a syndicate comprising the First National Old Colony Corporation, Hallgarten & Co. and Kissel, Kinnicutt & Co. The offering will be made in the form of participation certificates to be issued by the First National Bank of Boston.

In the event that the province undertakes any further external financing prior to the maturity of this issue, the latter will become immediately due and payable at par. The province also agrees that in the event of the issuance of any loan secured by a charge on any of its revenues the current issue will be secured equally and ratably.

Adolf Gobel, Inc.

A new issue of $2,250,000 Adolf Gobel, Inc., five-year 6½ per cent collateral notes will be placed on the market today by Hitt, Farwell & Co. at 99. Each $1,000 note will be accompanied by a warrant entitling the holder to purchase common stock on the following basis: fifty-five shares at $18 a share to May 1, 1931; thereafter to May 1, 1932, fifty shares at $20 a share; thereafter to May 1, 1934, forty shares at $25 a share, and thereafter to May 1, 1935, thirty-five shares at $30 a share.

Proceeds from the sale of this issue will provide funds to retire all of the outstanding ten-year 6 per cent sinking fund notes and to retire all bank loans. The latter were chiefly incurred in connection with the acquisition of subsidiaries and improvements to their properties and for other corporate purposes.

American Austin Car.

Formal offering of a new issue of $1,000,000 American Austin Car Company, Inc., three-year 7 per cent convertible sinking-fund notes, with common stock warrants, will be made today at par by Bulkley, Vallance & Co. Each $1,000 note will be convertible into 125 shares of common stock until May 1, 1931; thereafter to May 1, 1932, into 100 shares, and thereafter to maturity on May 1, 1933, into eighty shares. Each note will carry a non-detachable warrant entitling the holder to receive on May 1, 1931, or on prior redemption or conversion of the notes, ten shares of common stock for each $1,000 principal amount of notes.

Proceeds of this financing will be used to provide for increased production. The company recently started manufacturing, and shipments of cars to distributers is scheduled to begin on May 20.

Southern Natural Gas.

New financing totaling $11,500,000 for the Southern Natural Gas Corporation, a subsidiary of the Tri-Utilities Corporation, will be done in the near future in the form of a new issue of 6 per cent convertible sinking fund debentures, series of 1944, which will be offered by G. L. Ohrstrom & Co., Inc. The issue will be convertible until Jan. 1, 1940, into common stock on the basis of forty-five shares for each $1,000 bonds until Jan. 1, 1933; thereafter to Jan. 1, 1934, forty shares; thereafter to Jan. 1, 1935, thirty-five shares; thereafter to Jan. 1, 1937, thirty shares, and thereafter to Jan. 1, 1940, twenty shares.

The corporation, which owns and operates a high-pressure natural gas transmission system, comprising about 871 miles of pipe line, plans to construct an additional 797 miles to supply on long-term contract the entire domestic and industrial natural gas requirements of several cities in Alabama, Georgia and Mississippi. The common stock of the corporation, which is listed on the New York Curb Exchange, closed yesterday at 21.

MUNICIPAL LOANS.

Offerings of New Bond Issues to Bankers and the Public Announced.

Allegheny County, Pa.

Allegheny County, Pa., awarded yesterday a new issue of $9,050,000 4¼ per cent various improvement bonds at a price of 101.2043 to a syndicate comprising the Union Trust Company and the Mellon National Bank of Pittsburgh and the Guaranty Company and the Bankers Company of New York. The bonds will be placed on the market today at prices to yield 3.60 to 4.05 per cent.

The issue comprises $5,969,000 road bonds, due from one to thirty years; $2,381,000 bridge bonds, with the same maturities; $500,000 poor district bonds, also due from one to thirty years, and $200,000 jail bonds, due from one to twenty-five years. Under the terms of sale the bankers had the option of bidding for all of the bonds except the first three maturities, which totaled $903,000, which were to be bid for by the county's sinking fund.

A syndicate headed by Harris, Forbes & Co. and the National City Company bid 100.859 for all but the first three maturities, with an alternate bid of 100.679 for the entire issue. A group headed by the First National Bank, New York, submitted a single tender, that of 100.852 for all of the bonds but the first three maturities.

The last long-term financing by the county was done on Oct. 24, 1929, when an issue of $5,200,000 4¼s was sold to Harris, Forbes & Co. and the National City Company and associates at a price of 100.11, or a 4.24 per cent basis.

Birmingham, Ala.

The city of Birmingham, Ala., plans to market a new issue of $1,477,000 various improvement bonds on June 13. The issue will comprise $1,000,000 grade separation, $330,000 public improvement and $147,000 sewer bonds. Bidders are requested to stipulate the rate of interest at not to exceed 5 per cent.

New Brunswick, N. J.

The city of New Brunswick N. J., will open bids on May 27 on a new issue of $1,100,000 of bonds, consisting of $525,000 assessment bonds, due June 1, 1931 to 1937; $337,000 general improvement, due June 1, 1932 to 1954; $205,000 water, due June 1, 1932 to 1969, and $33,000 school bonds, due June 1, 1932 to 1964. The sale is the first to be held by the city in more than two years. The new issue is to be sold as 4s, 4¼s or 4½s.

Boston, Mass.

Award of an issue of $1,000,000 city of Boston (Mass.) temporary notes, dated May 15, 1930, and due on Oct. 1, 1930, was made yesterday to the Guaranty Company of New York. The price paid was a discount of 3.05 per cent, plus a premium of $20.

South Orange, N. J.

A syndicate comprising B. J. Van Ingen & Co. and A. B. Leach & Co., Inc., has obtained the award of an issue of $750,000 South Orange (N. J.) bonds, due 1931 to 1969. The bankers bid 101.68 for $637,000 as 4½s and $113,000 as 4¼s.

Providence, R. I.

Offering of a new issue of $2,000,000 city of Providence (R. I.) 4 per cent bonds, maturing serially on June 1, 1931 to 1950, will be made today by a banking group composed of M. F. Schlater & Co., Inc.; Stephens & Co., Seasongood & Mayer and H. M. Byllesby & Co., Inc. The bonds will be priced to yield 3.50 to 4 per cent. They are issued for highway, sewer, public improvement and hospital purposes. The city reports for 1929 an assessed valuation of $683,650,000 and a net bonded debt of $23,105,828.

Cheektowaga, N. Y.

Offering of a new issue of $317,000 town of Cheektowaga (N. Y.) 5.25 per cent coupon or registered bonds will be made today by Edmund Seymour & Co. and A. C. Allyn & Co., Inc. The bonds will mature in varying amounts on July 1, 1931 to 1959. They will be priced to yield from 4.25 to 4.65 per cent, according to maturity. They are issued for sewer and street improvement purposes. The town reports for 1929 an assessed valuation of $22,634,150 and a net bonded debt of $614,420.

ESKIMO PIE GIVES RIGHTS.

Offering Provides for Issuance of 121,835 Additional Shares.

Holders of the Class A and Class B common stocks of the Eskimo Pie Corporation have received rights to subscribe to one additional share of Class B common stock at $10 for each two shares of either stock held. The offer will expire on May 21.

The United States Foil Company, principal stockholders of the company, has underwritten the issue, which will require the issuance of 121,835 additional shares if the rights are fully exercised and will take the undisposed part of the issue at the same price as it is offered to other stockholders. The proceeds will be used to pay existing loans, provide additional working capital and to develop and market new products.

$50,000 Bond for Florida's Governor

A $50,000 fidelity bond on Doyle E. Carleton, Governor of Florida, has been written by the National Surety Company, it was announced yesterday. The bond does not cover all of Mr. Carleton's activities as Governor, but guarantees that he will faithfully perform his duties as a member of the Florida Board of Administration, which has supervision over several millions of dollars annually.

STATE AND CITY BONDS SET RECORD IN APRIL

$141,123,000 Total Is Said to Reflect Large Increase in Public Works.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—Indicating a greater volume of public work and engineering construction in 1930 than ever before, long term State and municipal bond issues floated last month eclipsed all previous records for April and reached a total of $141,123,000, according to preliminary figures compiled and announced today by the Associated General Contractors of America.

This record for April brought the first four months' aggregate of State and municipal bond issues to $452,442,000, the compilation shows. The monthly average thus far this year has been $113,110,500, or an increase of more than $25,000,000 over the monthly average for the same period of 1929. The total increase for the first four months was $100,376,000.

Under the stimulus of easier financing through bond issues, public works and engineering projects, according to E. J. Harding, assistant general manager of the Associated General Contractors, will do more than any other type of the industry's activity to bring the 1930 volume of construction very close to the average for recent years. He said indications were that the original 1930 estimate of a total expenditure of $1,614,000,000 for public works and utilities would be exceeded.

Comparative totals of State and municipal bond issues for the first four months of 1929 and 1930 were given as follows:

January	$103,851,000	$73,351,000
February	80,440,000	88,725,000
March	127,028,000	109,006,000
April	141,123,000	80,984,000
Total	$452,442,000	$352,066,000

MARYLAND GROCERS FIGHT CHAIN STORES

Will Ask Law Similar to That of Kentucky Creating Tax on Volume of Sales.

HAGERSTOWN, Md., May 13 (AP).—Plans for a legislative fight on chain stores similar to that made in a number of States in the South were outlined today by a legislative committee following the annual convention of the Maryland Independent Retail Grocers Association.

Two plans were discussed, the preparation of actual legislation for the forthcoming State General Assembly being left in the committee's hands. One was a plan sponsored by independent retail grocers in Georgia, imposing a tax in relation to the number of stores in a chain.

Kentucky's plan of taxing the gross sales of retail stores, but exempting establishments doing a gross annual business of less than $100,000, was favored by many and will obtain consideration by the committee. The Kentucky tax measure, passed in March after a hot fight, levies on the gross sales, beginning at one-twentieth of 1 per cent on $100,000 volume and graduating the tax so that a concern doing a business of $1,000,000 or more would pay at the rate of 1 per cent.

The chain stores are especially hard hit in Kentucky, it was pointed out, because, for the purposes of the tax, business done by individual stores of a chain is grouped.

Patterson Confirmed as Federal Judge

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP).—The Senate today confirmed the nomination of Robert P. Patterson to be a Federal judge in the Southern District of New York, succeeding Thomas D. Thacher, recently appointed to be Solicitor General of the United States.

MAIL-ORDER CONCERNS TO END FREIGHT LOSS

Sears, Roebuck & Co. and Montgomery Ward to Stop Prepayment on Orders Next Week.

Prepayment of freight on merchandise shipped to customers, which was begun last Summer by Sears, Roebuck & Co. and Montgomery Ward & Co., will be eliminated when the Summer catalogues go into effect next week, Lessing J. Rosenwald, vice president of Sears, Roebuck & Co., announced last night. The statement confirmed a report from Chicago which was published yesterday in THE NEW YORK TIMES.

Mr. Rosenwald, who is in charge of the Philadelphia branch of the company, said the prepayment of postage would be retained as it was "economically sound." Abolition of the freight charges would eliminate a heavy expense of the mail order companies.

"We could find no way of adding the cost of prepaying freight to the price of goods so that the charge would be equally fair to every one," Mr. Rosenwald said. "Customers living near-by would have had to bear an unfair portion of these charges, while people living far away would benefit unduly. The mail order companies had to assume a large part of the cost."

In the annual report of Montgomery Ward & Co. to stockholders in January, George B. Everitt, president, said earnings had declined in 1929 because of the abnormal expense incurred in the prepayment of all shipments to customers although the company had not adopted the plan until the second half of the year. "Had our mail order profits during 1929 approached normal performances," he said, "we would have secured a substantial increase in earnings over 1928."

Joint abandonment of the plan by the two companies was looked upon in Wall Street yesterday as an indication that they would proceed along lines which would be cooperative. Commenting on rumors of a merger, Mr. Rosenwald said last night that no official negotiations ever had been carried on and that he did not know whether the informal conversations of stockholders had been terminated.

CHAIN STORE SALES.

Reports of Business Done in April and the First Four Mnoths of the Year.

John R. Thompson Company.

The John R. Thompson Company reports for April sales of $1,279,254, compared with $1,359,469 in April, 1929, a decrease of $80,215, or 5.9 per cent. For the four months ended on April 30 sales were $5,062,839, compared with $5,141,381 in the corresponding period of 1929, a decrease of $78,542, or 1.5 per cent. The company had four less units in operation last month than in April, 1929.

Southern Grocery Stores.

The Southern Grocery Stores, Inc., reports for the five weeks ended on May 3 gross sales of $1,636,215, compared with $1,535,679 in April, 1929, an increase of $100,536, or 6.5 per cent. In the four months ended on May 3 sales were $5,941,215, compared with $5,009,679 in the corresponding period of 1929, an increase of $931,536, or 18.6 per cent.

National Tea Company.

The National Tea Company reports for the three months ended on March 31 a net profit of $386,606 after Federal taxes, equivalent after preferred dividends to 54 cents a share on the common stock. In the three months ended on March 31, 1929, the net profit was $809,554, equal to $1.18 a share on the common stock.

Is It Listed on the New York Real Estate Securities Exchange?

Millions of People have asked:

Where is a ready market for the purchase and sale of real estate securities?

THE fascination of real estate as an investment has no equal. Think of the Island of Manhattan, purchased for twenty-four dollars' worth of trinkets and today assessed at a valuation of more than nine billion dollars! Investment in real estate has been the foundation of countless fortunes.

Investors large and small have always regarded real estate as the soundest and most indestructible basis for security. The large investor has freely bought securities based on real estate for investment. The small investor has been handicapped in his desire to purchase real estate securities because there was no organized market-place in which such securities, as a class, were publicly quoted and could be readily sold if cash was needed.

While the inherent soundness of real estate securities was everywhere recognized, banks were much in the dark when it came to establishing mutually satisfactory collateral values for these securities. Another handicap: after flotation of a real estate security issue there was no established real estate securities exchange for ready resale.

In addition, the investor had no fact-finding headquarters in the shape of such an exchange on which he could call for current information.

The World's First Real Estate Securities Exchange

A long study of the undeserved handicaps under which the soundest of real estate securities operated, resulted in the inauguration of the New York Real Estate Securities Exchange.

Today real estate securities admitted to trading on this Exchange enjoy the facilities which industrial, public utility, and other securities enjoy on the leading Exchanges of the country.

The liquidity which the investor has long desired in his real estate security investments is now being made possible for the first time in history by this exclusive real estate securities Exchange.

Publicly Quoted

The securities admitted to trading possess a recognized value. They are publicly quoted in the press. Investors now can call upon the Exchange for information on all real estate securities admitted to trading.

CRUDE OIL OUTPUT SMALLER FOR WEEK

Daily Average Cut 50 Barrels to 2,595,150—Drop of 1,750 East of California.

PETROLEUM IMPORTS OFF

1,851,000 Total Reported by Institute—Runs to Stills Indicate 75.7% Operating Rate.

Daily average crude oil production in this country last week was 2,595,150 barrels, against 2,595,200 barrels for the preceding week, a decrease of fifty barrels, according to estimates by the American Petroleum Institute. The daily average east of California was 1,960,350 barrels, against 1,962,100 barrels, a decrease of 1,750 barrels.

Imports of crude and refined petroleum at the principal ports of this country in the past week amounted to 1,851,000 barrels, a daily average of 264,428 barrels, against a daily average of 279,286 barrels in the preceding week, and a daily average of 268,035 barrels for the four weeks ended on May 10.

Receipts of California oil, crude and refined, at Atlantic and Gulf Coast ports for the week ended on May 10 amounted to 263,000 barrels, a daily average of 37,571 barrels, compared with a daily average of 73,857 barrels for the preceding week and a daily average of 50,607 barrels for the four weeks ended on May 10.

Companies estimated to represent 95.6 per cent of the estimated daily potential refining capacity of plants operating in this country contributed to this report. Crude runs to stills for the week indicate that these companies operated at 75.7 per cent of their total capacity.

PARAGON REFINING IN DEAL.

Proposal to Sell Assets to Be Made to Board Within Week.

Special to The New York Times.

CINCINNATI, May 13.—A proposal to sell the assets of the Paragon Refining Company will be made to the directors of the company within a week, E. W. Edwards, president, said today after a special meeting here of stockholders representing major holdings in the company. The name of the company which may take over Paragon was not disclosed. It has been rumored that the merger will be in the nature of a combination of several oil companies.

Following the meeting this morning directors whose terms had expired were re-elected. Friday, the day when the directors will meet to organize for the new fiscal year, is said to be the time when the merger plans will be outlined and approved by the board. The three Paragon stocks listed on the Cincinnati Exchange were very active today.

It is known that before the merger plans can be completed the directors will have to take care of old business pending since last Fall, when the Valvoline Oil Company was acquired. Terms for the annexation have not yet been decided upon.

CRUDE OIL PRICE STEADY.

The average price of crude petroleum in ten producing fields was unchanged last week from the previous week at $1.522 a barrel, according to the compilations of The Oil, Paint and Drug Reporter. The average price for the corresponding period last year was $1.673 a barrel.

Gasoline at refineries was higher during the week at 7.7 cents a gallon at four principal refineries, compared with 7.58 cents a gallon the previous week. Service station prices were unchanged at an average of 21.5 cents a gallon at ten leading markets.

Crude oil production in the United States from Jan. 1 to May 10 was estimated at 336,639,000 barrels, compared with 344,109,000 barrels in the corresponding period of 1929.

SANTA FE SPRINGS OIL CUT.

Producers Agree to Curtail Output to 57% of Field's Capacity.

Oil producers in the Santa Fe Springs district of California have virtually all agreed to the oil curtailment program proposed recently by operators there, according to a report received here yesterday from Los Angeles.

Under the plan production was to be reduced to 57 per cent of potential output beginning yesterday. This was expected to bring the field's output down to its quota of 105,000 barrels a day. Fears had been expressed that price slashing would be necessary to force the independent operators into line. Drilling by major companies has been sharply curtailed.

GERMAN TRADE RALLIES IN SOME BRANCHES

Commercial Attache Reports Five Industries Recovering, but Steel and Coal Go Down.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—A slight note of encouragement as to German trade was received by the Commerce Department today from H. Lawrence Groves, commercial attaché at Berlin.

"While the general downward trend apparently struck bottom several weeks ago, there has been further recession in coal, iron and steel production, counterbalanced by a moderate improvement in the textile, shoe, tanning, building material and other industries," Mr. Groves said.

"Resumption of building operations has been very slow, due to a shortage of funds and economy measures by municipalities. This situation is perhaps the greatest immediate deterrent to an improvement in the labor market and in related industries.

"Despite the continued severe depression, business sentiment in general shows a more confident tone owing to the increasing stability of commodities, the advantageously low price of many important raw materials, the steadily declining interest rates and the prospect of successful foreign borrowing during the next few months. An improvement from the present low point will be very gradual, however, with little probability of an important change before Autumn."

Mr. Groves said that the unemployment situation remains acute, with seasonal declines very slow. Ordinary relief was being given to 1,761,000 on April 30 and an emergency relief to 320,000, the total being 750,000 in excess of the corresponding date last year.

Mr. Groves expressed the opinion that the serious difficulties encountered by the government in financing unemployment relief will be increased.

The government program for farm relief, involving cheap credits and direct subsidy in extreme cases, and the proposal for road and railway construction in the eastern provinces are meeting sharp criticism from industrial and labor elements, although the Chancellor has declared that they will not increase taxation.

MARKETS IN LONDON, PARIS AND BERLIN

Anglo-American Issues Decline on English Exchange—Credit Rates Harden.

FRENCH STOCKS SLUGGISH

Speculators Await Operation of Young Plan—Trading Lags on German Boerse.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, May 13.—With the American markets closing yesterday with an easy tendency, there was little disposition of support in any direction on the Stock Exchange here today. British funds moved against the holders. The conversion 3½s were £77⅛ and the war loan £101⅛.

As a result of Wall Street being easier, lower prices ruled among Anglo-Americans in London. Columbia Graphophone fell to £5¾, His Master's Voice Gramophone to £5, Hydroelectric to $46⅝, International Holding to $6½ and Brazil Traction to $50¾. International Nickel declined to $34¼ on the disappointing quarterly report.

Spot smoked rubber declined ⅛d to 6 11/16d a pound. An uncertain tendency prevailed among the shares. Oil stocks improved after early dullness, closing firm. Shell Transport finished at £4⅝ and Burmah at £4¼.

The feature in minings was the strength of Mount Isa, which rose to £1⅛. Mining Trust at 10s 9d also advanced. Tin shares were better as a result of a jump of £4 15s in the price of the metal.

Money was in better demand again today, some banks calling in balances. Up to 2½ per cent was charged for overnight loans. Later the rate eased to 2¼ to 2. Old loans were renewed at 2 per cent, day or week. Rates in the discount market further stiffened in sympathy with dearer money. Fine three-months bills were offered at 2⅛ per cent, the new treasuries also changing hands at that figure. About £434,000 of gold from South Africa was in the market today, of which Germany took £400,000. Sterling on New York improved to $4.85⅝@$4.85 11/16.

Tone Weak in Paris Bourse.

Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, May 13.—The stock market was weak during an uninteresting session of the Bourse today. The volume of transactions was small, and strength in the metal market following the rise in American copper yesterday in Wall Street was the only feature in rather dull trading.

Pending the issuance of shares of the International Bank and effective operation of the Young plan, conditions on European Stock Exchanges generally are not expected to improve much. Failure of the International Bank's officers to begin work in earnest yesterday seems to have caused somewhat apathetic reaction among speculators.

French rentes were slightly lower, closing as follows: The 3 per cents, 86.55; 1918 4s, 99.95; 1920 amortizable 5s, 130.95; 1928 5s, 100.75; 1920 6s, 104.25; 1927 amortizable 6s, 104.65.

Dull and Lower in Berlin.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, May 13.—The Boerse opened with an uneven tendency and was inactive throughout the day, but with few exceptions no great change in prices took place. Hirsch Kupfer, which has recently shown a remarkable rise, fell today 12 points.

Reichsbank shares, artificial silks, shipping stocks, cement and electricals were slightly weaker. The mining group was irregular and metal shares harder, but lignites and the iron industry were slower. Stoehr of the textiles, beer and spirits and Verkehrswesen improved.

Toward the close trading came to a standstill, with prices sagging.

REHEARING ADJOURNS IN BROOKLYN GAS CASE

Commissioner Lunn Desires Motion to Dismiss After Company Submits Service Data.

The rehearing before Public Service Commissioner George R. Lunn on the rates of the Brooklyn Borough Gas Company was adjourned yesterday, for the second time in two days, after the company had offered data requested by the city and the consumers, and Commissioner Lunn had denied a motion by counsel for the company to dismiss the rehearing proceeding. The adjournment, until May 26, was taken to enable counsel for the city and the consumers to study the company's data. An adjournment until yesterday had been taken because of failure of city and consumers' counsel to appear on Monday.

The data was requested on April 1 by Assistant Corporation Counsel Judson Hyatt and Maurice Hotchner, counsel for the Utility Consumers' League, and was to have been ready on April 22. Former Judge William Ransom said at yesterday's hearing that the information "could never have been furnished in the form originally requested," but that the request had been somewhat modified in conference between opposing counsel.

The data offered by the company revealed that its gas sales had increased from 554,002.9 units of 1,000 cubic feet in 1918 to 1,964,208.5 such units in 1929. The company also offered figures for a representative apartment house district, a district of single family houses and a district of workmen's homes, showing for each of these districts the amount of gas used by individual consumers and the collective consumption of the district. From this data Mr. Hyatt and Mr. Hotchner hope to show that the cost of serving small consumers is less than that for large consumers.

In moving for dismissal of the proceeding, Mr. Ransom said that he did so "to get the matter on the record."

NEW LIFE INSURANCE UP 6.4 PER CENT IN APRIL

$1,194,174,000 Total for 44 Companies, Against $1,122,303,000 in 1929.

There was an increase of 6.4 per cent in new life insurance sold in the past month over April, 1929, according to the report of a survey forwarded yesterday by the Association of Life Insurance Presidents to the United States Department of Commerce. So far this year every month has shown an increase over the same month last year.

New business of all classes written by forty-four companies having 82 per cent of the total volume of life insurance outstanding in all United States legal reserve companies was $1,194,174,000 in April, compared with $1,122,303,000 in April, 1929. For the first four months the total new business of these companies was $4,415,031,000, compared with $4,289,710,000 in the corresponding period last year, a gain of 2.9 per cent.

In April new ordinary business amounted to $839,531,000, against $793,786,000 a year before, a gain of 5.8 per cent. Industrial insurance totaled $241,129,0000, against $256,279,000, a decrease of 5.9 per cent. Group insurance totaled $113,514,000, as compared with $72,238,000 in April, 1929, a gain of 57.1 per cent.

New Investment Trust.

The formation of Associated National Shares, Series A, a fixed common stock investment trust, was announced yesterday. The company holds the common stock of thirty corporations in this country, and each share represents a one-thousandth interest in units comprising blocks of all these shares. The underlying stocks have been deposited with the Empire Trust Company. P. W. Brooks & Co., Inc., will distribute the stock.

FINED FOR INSURANCE CUT.

Allied Mutual and S. H. Pelletier Favored Auto Fleet, Says Conway.

The Allied Mutual Liability Insurance Company has been fined $1,000 and S. H. Pelletier, an insurance broker, $250 for violation of the insurance rating laws in the issuance of an automobile insurance policy at a cut rate, according to a statement issued by Albert Conway, Superintendent of Insurance. The company issued a policy covering a large fleet of cars at approximately 50 per cent of the regular rate, the announcement said.

Mr. Conway pointed out that an assured of a mutual company who does not pay the correct rate and who participates in dividends to policy holders receives an undue advantage over the other policy holders at their expense. He said also that the practice, aside from being illegal, was unsound, fects upon the public and the insur-

The Continental Diamond Fibre Company's stockholders have approved an increase in the authorized capital stock from the present 480,000 shares to 700,000 shares.

CORPORATION REPORTS.

Results of Operations Announced by Industrial and Other Corporations.

Shell Union Oil.

A loss of $3,155,008 is shown in the profit and loss statement of the Shell Union Oil Corporation and subsidiaries for the first three months of 1930 before providing for income taxes for the current year. This contrasts with a balance of $1,458,577 for the corresponding quarter of 1929. Gross income in the first quarter of this year was $10,073,696, including a half interest in the income of the Comar Oil Company. This compares with $13,531,021 in the first quarter of 1929.

Shell Union in the first three months of this year charged off $11,650,213 for depletion, depreciation and drilling expenses. It also appropriated $1,578,491 for the payment of accrued debenture interest. In the same period of last year it charged off $11,100,215 and $972,228, respectively, to cover these items. The total surplus available for preferred and common dividends at the end of March was $32,110,633, against $38,481,955 at the same time a year ago.

Patino Mines and Enterprises.

The Patino Mines and Enterprises Consolidated, Inc., reports for the three months ended on March 31 a net profit of $150,569 after depreciation, depletion and charges, equivalent to earnings of 11 cents a share on the $20 par value stock outstanding. Probable End of Professional Straddle Liquidation Has Quieting Influence.

RAINS CAUSE LATE EASING

A quieting influence on trading on the Cotton Exchange was exerted yesterday by the general impression that the professional liquidation of a large straddle interest between old and new crop deliveries had been completed. From Monday's premium of only 85 points over October, July advanced to 120 points, while new crop deliveries were steadied by further heavy rains in the western belt and the prospect of a less favorable weekly weather report today.

Prices held within a range of a dollar a bale, ending with a loss of 9 to a gain of 29 points, the widest differences being attained in final dealings. Exports have reached 1,117,000 bales behind last year, the heaviest deficiency thus far.

Absence of selling pressure on near months caused a sharp opening advance of quarter cent in July contracts, while the day's highest quotations were made in new crop positions in initial trading. The market eased late because of predictions of showers in Eastern States, where moisture is needed to start the crop, though rains of 1 to more than 4 inches at twenty-five stations in Texas restricted selling pressure.

Certificated stocks increased markedly at the six delivery points, bringing the total above 427,000 bales. Recent arrivals of about 6,000 bales in New York brought the amount still being classed here to more than 23,000 bales, making the total available for delivery on May contracts approximately 450,000 bales.

Textile Association figures for the nine months of the season ended April 30 showed sales totaling 97.1 per cent of production, against 110 per cent for the corresponding period last season.

PRICE RANGE NARROW IN DULL CURB TRADING

Moderate Advances Registered by Some of the Utilities, Oils and Specialties.

Moderate advances in some of the utility, oil and specialty stocks provided the only interest in yesterday's dull market on the New York Curb. Price movements in the main body of stocks were narrow.

Stocks which made substantial gains in active trading included Humble Oil, Cooper-Bessemer, Anglo-Chilean Nitrate, American and Foreign Power warrants, Cosden Oil, Electric Bond and Share, Van Camp Packing, Swift International, Addressograph, Blue Ridge, Deere "when issued," Ford Motor of Canada and Cities Service.

The declining group included Ground Gripper, United Gas, Newmont Mining, New Jersey Zinc and Bellanca Air.

GOOD CROP OUTLOOK SENDS WHEAT DOWN

CLOSE IN CORN IS UNEVEN

Covering by Shorts in Oats Offsets Ease in Other Grains—Rye Lower, Trade Light.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, May 13.—Houses with Eastern connections took the buying side on a small decline in wheat early today and caused local shorts to cover. When the shorts had finished the market declined, and the close was at the bottom, with net losses of ¾ to 1⅛ cents.

Unfavorable crop reports from Europe, with the returns showing that eastern and central Kansas had received too much moisture, and a marked revival in export demand had only a temporary influence, as the trade feels generally that the crop outlook is still favorable and the cash position too heavy to maintain bulges. Sales on breaks are generally limited, as the July delivery has been well supported on all sharp declines, and the pit element fears this buying, which it cannot trace.

Trade reports say that charters have been made in the last few days to take out 750,000 to 1,500,000 bushels of cash wheat to Eastern ports, and there will be also a liberal all-rail movement, reflecting the shifting of grain by the government.

Argentine Wheat Is Grading Low.

As much of the Argentine grain is light weight, considerable of it will have to be carried over into the 1930-31 crop, as it is not suitable for European importers, and an improvement in the demand for North American grain is expected.

The Canadian pool was credited with selling more than 1,000,000 bushels of Manitobas since Saturday, and some estimates indicated that as much as 2,000,000 bushels of Manitobas and durums had been sold in the same period, but little of the buying of futures in Winnipeg reflected the business, and presumably the bulk of the wheat had been sold at a flat price.

The forecast for more rain over the greater part of the belt, with frost probable in Nebraska, had little effect. Comments from the American and Canadian Northwest were generally favorable, with 90 to 97 per cent of the acreage already seeded in the prairie provinces, according to a Winnipeg report.

Primary receipts were 573,000 bushels; a week ago 467,000, and a year ago 677,000. Shipments were 1,617,000 bushels; a week ago 962,000, and a year ago 984,000.

Corn Loses Early Advance.

Wet weather, which tends to delay corn planting, was largely responsible for local short covering, which carried prices about a cent above yesterday's finish, December showing the most strength. The market reacted toward the last in sympathy with wheat and closed ⅜ cent lower to ⅜ cent higher, the latter on the December. A delay in planting at this season is not regarded as serious, although dry weather would be beneficial. Receipts were only twenty-two cars, reflecting field work.

Primary receipts of corn were 371,000 bushels; a week ago 589,000, and a year ago 283,000. Shipments were 1,071,000 bushels; a week ago 692,000, and a year ago 487,000.

Oats were dull and closed unchanged, with rather persistent short covering, which offset the easier tone in other grains. Fairly liberal quantities of cash oats are coming forward from Wisconsin and other points for delivery on May contracts.

Rye closed ⅜ to ⅝ cent lower, with trade light. The market was influenced mainly by other grains.

Prices for the principal grains were as follows:

Last Week's Total Was 1,630,000 Bushels, Against 2,103,000 a Year Ago.

WASHINGTON, May 13 (AP).—Grain exports last week from the United States were 1,630,000 bushels, against 1,099,000 the previous week and 2,103,000 bushels in the corresponding week last year.

Commerce figures today gave the following comparison between last week's exports and those of the week before:

Wheat, 1,363,000 bushels, against 939,000 and 1,537,000 a year ago; oats, 10,000 bushels, against 5,000; corn, 99,000 bushels, against 70,000; barley, 158,000, against 85,000.

Canadian grain exported last week through United States ports amounted to 1,248,000 bushels, against 1,391,000 the week before, while last week's exports of North American wheat flour were 150,000 barrels, against 215,000 barrels the preceding week.

Canadian Wheat Exports Off $176,006,292 in 9 Months

Special to The New York Times.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 13.—For the nine months ended April 30, wheat exports from Canada were 103,441,374 bushels, valued at $134,343,573, compared with 284,744,826 bushels, valued at $310,349,865, during the corresponding period in 1928-29.

Wheat exports to the United Kingdom were 70,967,245 bushels and in 1928-29 were 168,198,248 bushels; to the United States 4,691,765 in 1929-30 and 7,947,990 in 1928-29. Exports to other countries dropped from 108,598,588 bushels in 1928-29 to 27,782,364 in 1929-30.

Exports of wheat flour during the last nine months show a decrease. In 1928-29 there was exported 9,131,720 barrels, valued at $50,180,466, and in 1929-30 the exports were 4,948,250 barrels, valued at $29,712,408.

General Industrial Alcohol Corporation

To the Holders of Convertible 6½% Sinking Fund Debentures of General Industrial Alcohol Corporation, issued under Trust Agreement dated as of May 1, 1929 between said Corporation and The National City Bank of New York, as Trustee.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that, in accordance with a certain contract dated May 10, 1930, between General Industrial Alcohol Corporation, on the one part, and American Solvents & Chemical Corporation, a Delaware corporation, on the other part, the said General Industrial Alcohol Corporation proposes to sell and transfer to the said American Solvents & Chemical Corporation all of its property and assets in accordance with the provisions of said contract. Said transfer, if effected, will take place not earlier than June 16, 1930, nor later than July 30, 1930, and the date as of which stockholders of record shall be entitled to receive their respective distributive shares in the event of such sale shall be at the close of business June 16, 1930.

In compliance with the provisions of said Trust Agreement, subsequent to the date of such transfer, if effected, the conversion privileges of the Debentures will be continued (but without provision for adjustment of the number of shares of stock issuable) and each holder of a Convertible 6½% Sinking Fund Debenture of General Industrial Alcohol Corporation shall be entitled, upon complying with the provisions of said Trust Agreement, to convert said Debenture into thirty (30) shares and no more of the Common Stock of the said American Solvents & Chemical Corporation. Upon the completion of said transfer, if effected, the right of the holders of said Debentures to convert their Debentures into Voting Trust Certificates in respect of the Common Stock and/or into Common Stock of General Industrial Alcohol Corporation shall cease.

The performance of said contract is contingent, among other things, on the verification by auditors of the representations of the two parties made in said contract, on the approval of stockholders of General Industrial Alcohol Corporation, the approval of counsel, and the performance by Rossville Commercial Alcohol Corporation of a certain contract dated May 10, 1930, between it and the said American Solvents & Chemical Corporation.

In the event that for any reason whatsoever said contemplated transfer of assets by General Industrial Alcohol Corporation to American Solvents & Chemical Corporation is not effected, the conversion right of the holder of each Convertible 6½% Sinking Fund Debenture of General Industrial Alcohol Corporation shall remain unchanged. This existing right is to receive thirty shares of Common Stock of General Industrial Alcohol Corporation, in accordance with the provisions of said Trust Agreement.

In accordance with said contract between General Industrial Alcohol Corporation and American Solvents & Chemical Corporation, if the proposed transfer of assets is completed, holders of Voting Trust Certificates in respect of the Common Stock of General Industrial Alcohol Corporation and/or stockholders shall be entitled to receive one (1) share of Common Stock of American Solvents & Chemical Corporation for each share of stock and/or Voting Trust Certificate of General Industrial Alcohol Corporation held. Consequently, if the proposed transfer is effected, Debenture holders on conversion will receive the same amount of stock of American Solvents & Chemical Corporation, whether they convert prior to the transfer or immediately thereafter. After the transfer the Debenture holders will be entitled on conversion to thirty (30) shares of Common Stock (as from time to time constituted) of American Solvents & Chemical Corporation for each $1,000. principal amount of Debentures, and no adjustments will be made in the number of shares issuable.

American Linseed Company

Notice of Redemption of Six Per Cent. Coupon Notes of American Linseed Company, dated as of June 15, 1925.

Notice is hereby given that, pursuant to the terms of the Six Per Cent. Coupon Notes of American Linseed Company, dated as of June 15, 1925, and the Indenture, dated June 15, 1925, between American Linseed Company and The Equitable Trust Company of New York, Trustee, under which said Notes were issued, the undersigned, Gold Dust Corporation (formerly American Linseed Company), has, by resolution of its Board of Directors, elected to and will on June 15, 1930 redeem all of the outstanding Notes of said issue, other than such as by their terms mature on said date of redemption, at one hundred and one-half per cent. (100½%) of their principal amount, together with accrued interest on said Notes to said date of redemption.

Accordingly, the Notes so called for redemption shall mature and be payable on June 15, 1930 at the principal office of The Equitable Trust Company of New York, No. 11 Broad Street, New York, N. Y. Interest on said Notes shall at such date of redemption cease to accrue, and coupons maturing subsequently to said date shall be void. The Equitable Trust Company of New York will be authorized, upon surrender on or after June 15, 1930 of each of said Notes for cancellation with all then unmatured coupons thereto attached, to pay to the bearer thereof one hundred and one-half per cent. (100½%) of the principal amount thereof; but accrued interest shall be paid only on presentation and surrender of the coupons calling for the payment of such accrued interest.

To the Holders of

6% Cumulative Convertible Preferred Stock of

Associated Rayon Corporation

At the instance of the undersigned suit was commenced in January in the Chancery Court of New Jersey to enjoin action, deemed by the undersigned to be detrimental to the best interests of holders of Preferred Stock. This is the suit referred to in the annual report just issued by the Corporation to its stockholders but which suit is much broader in scope and more protective in design than indicated in such annual report.

The situation is such that the undersigned consider it advisable that the holders of Preferred Stock should unite without delay for the proper and effectual protection of their rights. To that end the undersigned will serve as a Committee for the stockholders who desire to cooperate and such holders are urged to deposit their certificates of Preferred Stock duly endorsed in blank and bearing necessary transfer stamps, with Bank of Manhattan Trust Company, as Depositary, at its office No. 40 Wall Street, New York, under the terms of a Protective Agreement dated May 14, 1930, copies of which may be obtained from the Depositary or at the office of either of the undersigned.

The undersigned as provided in the Protective Agreement, will serve without compensation.

OFFERING OF

$2,790,000.00

SERIES D
HUDSON RIVER REGULATING DISTRICT CONSTRUCTION OF THE SACANDAGA RESERVOIR
BONDS

Sealed proposals will be received at the office of the State Comptroller, No. 75 State Street, Albany, N. Y., until 1 p. m. Daylight Saving Time, Tuesday, June 3rd, 1930, for all or any part of $2,790,000.00 Hudson River Regulating District Bonds for the Construction of the Sacandaga Reservoir. The bonds are dated July 1, 1925, bear interest payable semi-annually on January 1st and July 1st, and are coupon bonds with privilege of registration as to principal. The bonds and the interest thereon will be payable in gold coin of the United States of America of the present standard of weight and fineness at the New York State National Bank in the City of Albany, New York, or will be paid at the Guaranty Trust Company, New York City.

These bonds are issued by the Board of Hudson River Regulating District pursuant to the provisions of the Conservation Law of the State of New York, for the construction of the Sacandaga Reservoir in the Counties of Saratoga, Fulton and Hamilton and mature serially ninety $1,000 bonds on July 1st in each of the years 1935 to 1965 inclusive. Interim certificates will be delivered on or about June 12, 1930. The bonds cannot be sold at less than par and accrued interest from January 1, 1930, to the date of the delivery of the bonds.

These bonds are the balance of the total authorized issue of $9,000,000.00. These bonds are a charge upon and shall be payable, principal and interest, from the bond fund of the Hudson River Regulating District, and payment thereof is secured by an assessment levied against the public corporations and parcels of real estate benefited by this improvement, such assessment being payable in 40 annual installments, of which installments five have been paid. An additional issue of $3,000,000.00 of bonds for the completion of the project has been authorized, which will be sold hereafter but not before October 1st, 1930.

These bonds are exempt from taxation and are legal investments for savings banks and trust funds in New York State.

These bonds shall not be construed in any event as bonds or indebtedness of the State, and the State shall not be obligated to pay the principal or interest therefor.

Bidders for these bonds will be required to name the interest rate not exceeding 5.00 per centum per annum. No higher rate of interest shall be chosen than shall be required to insure a sale at par or better. Award to bidder at lowest rate of interest in a multiple of one-quarter or one-tenth of one per centum per annum regardless of premium, or to highest bidder at such lowest rate.

As these bonds are payable in thirty-one equal annual installments, all bids will be required in multiples of thirty-one thousand dollars which sum will be deemed to include an equal face amount of bonds of each maturity. Each bid must state a single rate of interest. Proposals to be enclosed in a sealed envelope addressed to the undersigned Comptroller of the State of New York.

Certified or bank or trust company check to order of Comptroller, State of New York, for two per centum (2%) of the face value of bonds for security for the performance of such bid and as liquidated damages in case the successful bidder fails to take up and pay for the bonds. No interest will be allowed upon the good faith check of the successful bidder.

Legal opinion of Thomson, Wood & Hoffman, attorneys, 120 Broadway, New York City, on the validity of the bonds will be furnished.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids.

MORRIS S. TREMAINE,
State Comptroller.

Dated May 7, 1930, at Albany, New York.

DENIES ILLEGAL FEE IN SEWER BUILDING

NOT UNETHICAL, HE SAYS

Contractor Asserts Engineer Did Not Offer Any Gratuities for Purchasing Materials.

Special to The New York Times.

MINEOLA, L. I., May 13.—Testifying in his own defense against the charges of illegally taking fees as supervising engineer of the Belgrave Sewer District in the town of North Hempstead, Carl H. Watson of Great Neck denied today in Supreme Court before Justice Humphrey that his activities were in violation of the town law and that his actions as an engineer were unethical. Although he admitted that as president of the Gregory Coal and Lumber Company, which supplied the materials for the sewer, he had received a salary of $12,000 a year and a percentage of the profits of sales, he denied that his holding of both positions interfered with his proper functioning as an engineer for the Sewer Commission.

After testifying for about an hour and a half before the noon recess, under questioning of his counsel, Charles R. Weeks, Mr. Watson was cross-examined by District Attorney Edwards for more than an hour.

Says Contractor Made Error.

Mr. Watson maintained that his position with the commission was a contractual relationship and that the authority for letting the contracts for the sewer construction rested with the members of the commission and not with him as supervising engineer.

Asserting that Mr. Watson had the power to advise the commission as to the use of materials such as lumber and stone, Mr. Edwards pointed out that the contractors to whom the work was awarded had purchased these materials from the Gregory company and that the unsuccessful bidder had failed to include these materials in his estimate.

Under examination by his counsel Mr. Watson testified in this connection that the contractor, William Pizzimenti, whose bid was rejected, had admitted his errors in his estimate of the specifications as provided by the commission and that this would have made a difference of $95,000 over the total bid of $465,000, which had been submitted and rejected.

Cites Concessions on Lumber.

Following the cross-examination by the District Attorney, Mr. Weeks also brought out from his witness that about half of the total of the $21,000 received by Mr. Watson in fees from the commission was paid out in salaries and service to those who assisted him in the work of supervising engineer. He further testified that a concession of $10,000 was made to the contractor on the amount of lumber required and that there was no difference in the cost of materials to the taxpayer, by their purchase from the Gregory company, after the bid had been approved by the commission.

"After the bids had been submitted, I was requested to make an analysis of them for the commission," Mr. Watson testified. "These analyses were submitted by both the Spiniello Brothers Company and the Gifford Construction Company, but none were received from Pizzimenti Brothers. When I could not obtain one from the last named firm, I discussed the details of the specifications with them in my office and they admitted their errors."

Virgilio Spiniello of Orange, N. J., head of Spiniello Brothers, who got the contract, testified that no gratuities of any kind had been offered by him to Mr. Watson for the awarding of the contract, nor had he been required to purchase materials from the Gregory Company.

The case was adjourned until tomorrow.

PUCKETT HEADS LOESER'S.

Succeeds Gordon K. Creighton, Who Leaves Brooklyn Store.

Announcement of the appointment of B. Earl Puckett as executive head of Frederick Loeser & Co., Brooklyn department store, was made yesterday by Malcom D. B. Hunter, chairman of the board. Mr. Puckett succeeds Gordon K. Creighton, whose resignation as head of the store became effective yesterday.

Mr. Creighton, who has been on leave of absence for the past three years, tendered his resignation owing to the illness of Mrs. Creighton. He became president and general manager of the Loeser store in April, 1928, succeeding the late W. G. Cooper. For four years Mr. Creighton was vice president of the E. T. Slattery Company, Boston.

Mr. Puckett has served as vice president of the Loeser firm for the past three years. Prior to that he was affiliated with the Associated Merchandising Corporation as controller.

LIVE STOCK IN CHICAGO.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, May 13.—The hog market was unsettled today, a few medium and weighty kinds selling 10 cents higher early, but other classes finished weak to 10 cents lower, with light weights showing the most loss. The top was 5 cents lower at $10.35, while the day's average was unchanged at $10.10. Most sales were at $9.90 to $10.25, with 250 to 350 pound butchers $9.75 to $10.20 and 150 to 250 pound kinds $9.85 to $10.35. Packers bought 16,900 and shippers 4,000, while 5,000 were left over. Receipts were 24,000, with 16,000 estimated for tomorrow. The five leading Western markets expect 56,000 tomorrow, against 48,100 a week ago.

The demand for cattle remains slow, with many loads again carried over unsold. Prices were generally about $1 under last week's close. Dressed beef was quoted lower. Best steers sold at $14, with the bulk of the beef cattle at $9.50 to $11.75. Receipts were 4,000. Fat lambs sold slowly, with prices 25 to 50 cents lower and some bids showed more decline at the last. Wooled sold around $10, with shorn at $9 to $9.75. Sheep were steady at $4.50 to $5.75. Receipts were 20,000.

LIVE STOCK AND MEATS.

These prices were reported yesterday in the New York and New Jersey markets by the United States Department of Agriculture.

No cattle, vealers, calves or hogs on sale.

SHEEP.

Three decks good to choice Virginia spring lambs sorted at $12.25 to $13, with medium grade sorts $10 to $10.50. Prices considered 25 cents to 50 cents lower than yesterday's average.

BUSINESS WORLD

COMMERCIAL PAPER.

Yesterday—3¾ to 4 per cent for the best names.

Monday—3¾ to 4 per cent for the best names.

The quotations are for four to six months' paper.

More Buyers in the Market.

The number of buyers in the market during the past week showed a gain over the number listed for the preceding week but fell behind the figures for the corresponding week a year ago, according to the lists published in THE TIMES. The total was 730, as against 713 buyers listed last week and 819 for same period last year. Yesterday's arrivals numbered 306, a drop when compared with last Tuesday, when 343 buyers were reported.

Summer Buying Still Active.

Somewhat cooler weather has brought no let-down in the volume of orders for Summer merchandise, resident buyers here said yesterday. Mail orders again were quite heavy, a good percentage of them being from stores which as yet have not been actively placing reorders. While women's apparel is still in most demand, within the last few days there has been an improvement in the call for boys' and men's furnishings and to a lesser extent in clothing. It is not expected that absence of a heat wave such as that experienced last week will hurt retail turnover. Normal temperatures, it was said, will help sales of Spring goods.

See Basis for Retail Criticism.

Local retail executives showed a mixed reaction to the speech of President Philip Le Boutillier of the National Retail Dry Goods, at the Chicago concurrent conventions, to the effect that retail advertising has overemphasized cheapness of price. Within certain limits, it was agreed that there was much basis for Mr. Le Boutillier's criticism. Economic conditions during the last six months, however, it was asserted, were responsible for much of the tendency to feature price. With the viewpoint that stores must consider customers first, rather than competitors, there was much agreement, and the belief was expressed that many stores are already trying to correct this policy.

Greenberg Heads Dress Group.

Fred Greenberg of the Ravenhue Dress Company was elected president of the Affiliated Dress Manufacturers, Inc., by unanimous vote of the board of directors at a meeting yesterday at the Garment Centre Capitol Club. Following his election, Mr. Greenberg announced that the organization will take immediate steps to enlist the cooperation of retailers in promoting an understanding tending to eliminate trade evils. He succeeded Louis L. Schwartz, whose services were commended in a resolution by the board. William Hendricks of William Hendricks, Inc., was named vice president; Philip Salkin of the firm of that name, secretary, and Joseph M. Baum of the Ben Gershel Dress Company, treasurer.

Expect Few Good Profit Showings.

Few retail departments will shine in the "light of greater net profits" for the first six months of this year, preliminary estimates made yesterday indicated. In one quarter, it was figured that one out of three departments in the average store will show red ink for the period. The showing by the remaining two-thirds will not be particularly brilliant, with fair to mediocre being indicated. The decline in the average transaction, brought about by the consumer trend to medium and popular-price merchandise and lower price lining by the stores, is said to feature all departments in varying degrees. Ready-to-wear and accessories were rated in the lead in the profitable divisions.

Wholesale Grocery Index Down.

Wholesale grocery prices declined 1.4 per cent last month, compared with March, according to the price index prepared by the bureau of business research of New York University for the National Wholesale Grocers' Association. The decrease is larger than usual for this season of the year, the report issued yesterday indicated. A typical bill of wholesale groceries gives an index number of 97.4 in April, against 98.8 in March. The index is 10.3 per cent under the figure for April, 1929. Chief among items which averaged higher last month were lima beans, oats, cornmeal, pineapple, cottonseed oil and lard. Lower averages were shown by raisins, flour, prunes, sugar, Rio coffee, tea, pink salmon and tomatoes.

Linen Suitings Orders Ahead.

A sharp increase in the demand for linens for suits and dresses is the outstanding feature in orders received by linen importing houses at present. The recent warm weather brought more business than the trade anticipated. Printed linens suitable for upholstery use are enjoying a fair amount of activity but table linens are dormant. A decided improvement in the volume of business has been experienced in recent weeks and a number of the largest linen houses report that their April sales will run ahead of those for April, 1929.

Silver Fox Prices Unchanged.

Silver fox sold yesterday at the Spring auction of the New York Auction Co., Inc., brought a high price of $270, but values were unchanged from the February sale. Total sales for the day amounted to $450,000. An advance of 15 per cent in price was registered in the sale of kolinsky, which brought a high of $1.35. Beaver, Japanese mink, and Japanese marten prices showed no change. Prices for baum marten declined 15 per cent and on other martens and otter a drop of 10 per cent was reported. High prices paid in the various collections were beaver $32.75, otter $55, marten $97.50, baum marten $22.50, stone marten $14.50, Japanese marten $10.50 and Japanese mink $2.80.

Mills to "Contact" Retailers.

A broader policy of getting in closer touch with retailers is being developed by the American Woolen Company. As explained yesterday by Charles H. Silver, selling agent, the company, through its department managers, will seek the views of retailers as to fabric styles and colors in the preparation of lines for a new season. While the company has always been in close touch with its big retail accounts, the new policy goes one step further in the effort to build up a greater variety of contacts that will help shape plans for production of both women's and men's wear. The scheme will be put into effect for the coming Spring mill season.

Gray Goods Again Inactive.

Conditions in the local gray goods market continued dull yesterday. Buyers showed scant interest in print cloths, sheetings or fine yard goods. The tendency to small orders for immediate delivery still prevails. Orders for 39-inch 72-76s were filled at 7⅞ and 8 cents, depending upon the quantity. Other print cloths which moved in a small way were 38½-inch 60-48s at 5⅛ cents, 38½-inch 64-60s at 6⅛ cents and 39-inch 68-72s, which were quoted at 7 cents. In spite of the limited trading which has been evident in the market for over a week, the tone of prices remains firm,

EMPLOYMENT BOARD MEETS AT BUFFALO

Up-State Industrial and Business Leaders Offer Suggestions at Conference.

NEXT SESSION TO BE HERE

Roosevelt Committee on May 22 Will Take Up Means to Avert Recurrence of Depression.

Special to The New York Times.

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 13.—Governor Roosevelt's committee for stabilization of industry with a view to prevention of unemployment, meeting here today, received from several industrial leaders suggestions for mitigation of the conditions held to be at the root of the labor depression problem.

When the committee adjourned its hearing, it was to meet again on the evening of May 22 at the Cosmopolitan Club in New York City.

At that time Boston and Philadelphia interests, both industrial and academic, will join with New York City interests in consideration of additional phases of the unemployment question and coordination of effort to prevent recurrence next Winter of the distress of last Winter.

Henry Bruere of New York, chairman of the committee, told the business leaders assembled here that the objects of the committee were the mobilization of constructive ideas, the stimulation of good-will in industry and the promotion of public work.

Representatives of industrial establishments from Buffalo and Western New York localities unfolded to the committee their experiences in striving to meet the problem, and advanced recommendations.

Among those heard were E. J. Barcalo, president of the Barcalo Manufacturing Company; Samuel B. Botsford, general manager of the Chamber of Commerce; J. F. Adams of the Manning Paper Company of Troy; Dr. Paul Douglas, of Swarthmore College; E. A. La Rose of the Bausch & Lomb Optical Company of Rochester; A. H. Robinson of the Eastman Kodak Company; Donald G. Mitchell of the Niagara Hudson Power Corporation, and Harold W. Rauber of the Hickey-Freeman Company, Rochester clothiers.

Speaking of public work, Mr. Barcalo asked whether there was anything to prevent accumulation of public funds when times were good and holding them in reserve to be released when depressions come.

Mr. La Rose pointed out that Chambers of Commerce and kindred agencies could assist in relieving conditions by seeking industries which were busiest at periods when those already functioning were at a low ebb..

ACTS IN STEEL FEUD TODAY

Green Here to Decide Points of Dispute in 25-Year Breach.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, will confer today with representatives of the Ironworkers' Union and of the Structural Steel Employers' Association in an effort to mediate those points which prevent employers and employes from healing the twenty-five-year breach between them.

The meeting will be held in the office of Starrett Brothers & Eken, 101 Park Avenue. P. J. Morrin, president of the International Association of Bridge, Structural and Ornamental Iron Workers, will represent the employes and Charles L. Eidlitz the Structural Steel Board of Trade.

Announcement of Mr. Green's arrival was made last night after a conference between Mr. Eidlitz and Mr. Morrin. After the tentative agreement is negotiated it will be submitted to the board of directors of the employers' association and the executive board of the union for ratification.

LACKAWANNA FINED $5,000.

Railroad Pleads Guilty to Five Counts Charging Rebating.

The Lackawanna Railroad Company was fined $5,000 by Federal Judge Guy L. Fake in Newark yesterday, after pleading guilty on five counts charging violating of the Elkins act. It was charged the road had granted approximately $300 in rebates in February and March, 1927, to shippers of whiting, a chalk imported from Belgium.

The rate fixed by the Interstate Commerce Commission on the product was 31 cents a pound. The indictment charged that the railroad deducted 7 cents a pound by allowing the whiting to be billed as ground limestone. The shipments were from Hoboken to Toledo, Grand Rapids and Detroit.

TO COMBAT RAYON ACTION.

Speyer and Lehman Will Represent Preferred Holders of Associated.

Terms of a protective agreement for holders of 6 per cent cumulative convertible preferred stock of the Associated Rayon Corporation have been formulated by Speyer & Co. and Lehman Brothers, who will receive deposits of stock for representing the stockholders in connection with an action started in January in New Jersey to enjoin a suit deemed detrimental to the best interests of holders of preferred stock.

The firms request that holders of the stock deposit their certificates, endorsed in blank and bearing transfer stamps, with the Bank of Manhattan Trust Company as depository.

Industrial Women to Hear Wagner.

Senator Robert F. Wagner will be the chief speaker next Monday night at the Hotel McAlpin at the monthly meeting of the New York Chapter of the American Federation of Industrial Women. His topic will be the relief of unemployment. Miss Miriam Wiener, local chairman, will preside.

DRY GOODS RETAILERS DISCUSS ECONOMIES

Chicago Convention Seeks Ways to Increase Profits in Face of Competition.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, May 13.—Varied problems confronting dry goods dealers in their efforts to increase profits in the face of increasingly strong competition were discussed today during the second day of the National Retail Dry Goods Association Convention.

As an instance of one source of possible economies, H. P. Dalzell of the Federal Bureau of Standards cited the wrapping and packing of materials.

"It is reported that in the United States there are more than 6,000 department stores, exclusive of special delivery stores, doing an annual volume of business of approximately $6,500,000,000," he said. "All of these stores distribute annually almost 3,000,000,000 packages.

"It is estimated that if it is found possible to effect a saving of 10 per cent in the present cost of wrapping, the economies thus secured would amount to over $9,000,000 a year."

Simplified methods of wrapping was one way suggested by Mr. Dalzell to secure this economy.

Among others to speak was W. B. Spooner of Newark, a ventilation expert, who told the store managers division of the advantages of "air-conditioning."

G. L. Davis of New York, vice president and general manager of Saks, Fifth Avenue, spoke on "Increasing Net Profit Through Improving Operations." He emphasized particularly the expense resulting to stores through giving special services which the customer has no right to expect.

HARDWARE TRADE GAINS.

Week's Sales Spurred by Sudden Arrival of Warm Weather.

The Hardware Age finds several favorable factors which lent impetus to sales of hardware in the leading markets of the country last week. Among them were the abnormally high temperatures which created a demand for goods which are usually chiefly active in midsummer, and improvement in basic business conditions. The summary says in part:

"Wholesalers in some market centres where sweltering weather prevailed found it necessary to work overtime to facilitate shipments of rush orders, as most dealers were totally unprepared for the brisk demand for hot weather needs. There is little question but that last week was the most active week for the trade since the pre-holiday season. While sales so far this year are generally below last year's level, it is thought that steady improvement can be expected from now until volume regains its normal status.

"Keen competitive situations arising between manufacturers of some staple lines and certain highly seasonable merchandise have resulted in somewhat easier prices. In the main, however, and considering business conditions, prices are remarkably stable, showing but little fluctuation.

Lead Prices Up 10 Points.

The American Smelting and Refining Company has advanced the price of lead 10 points to 5.60 cents a pound New York. The increasing demand for the metal which has developed during the past week-end is accepted as the cause for the advance. Other dealers in the metal followed the lead of American Smelting in increasing the price and the quotations generally yesterday were 5.60 in New York and 5.50 in St. Louis.

BUSINESS NOTES.

Members of the board of governors of the Textile Brokers Association yesterday elected C. H. Pope of Pope & Earley, Inc., president of the organization. Mr. Pope succeeds George H. Hussey as president and member of the board of governors. Other officers elected included George Seidman, vice president; Harry Strauss, treasurer, and Louis Lowinson, secretary.

Frank Warner of the Warner Label Company, Inc., was elected chairman of the woven label division of the Silk Association of America at the annual meeting of the group yesterday. M. B. Ripin of the United States Woven Label Company was named vice chairman.

THE CUSTOMS COURT.

A claim for a specific rather than ad valorem duty on shipments of kippered herring was granted E. F. Morely & Co., in a decision handed down by the United States Customs Court yesterday. The plaintiff protested against a tax of 25 per cent levied under paragraph 720 of the Tariff act. The specific duty of 1¼ cents per pound claimed by the plaintiff applies upon the net weight of shipments which exceed fifteen pounds.

Hensel, Bruckman & Lorbacher, Inc., in another decision, lost their claim for the free entry of natural history objects imported for use in classrooms. The importation consisted of manufactured representations of silk worms and other objects and were assessed for duty at 25 per cent as non-enumerated manufactures. They were claimed free of duty as preparations of anatomy under paragraph 1665.

Eggs Wholesale at Season Lows.

CHICAGO, May 13 (AP).—Eggs for delivery in November sold off ⅞ cent today to 27 cents a dozen wholesale, new low levels for the season, on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange. The drop followed publication of the government monthly storage report showing about 1,800,000 cases of eggs in storage above the number a year ago. Price declines were aided by liquidating of stocks by dealers.

SUGAR, COFFEE, COCOA.

Sugar.

Raw sugar in the spot market hit a new low yesterday by dropping 1-32 of a cent a pound from the former record low that it had reached on Monday. Approximately 15,000 tons of sugar were sold yesterday at 1 13-32 cents a pound. At the close of the market last night sellers had stopped making offers at this figure, but there was plenty of sugar available in response to a firm bid at this price. Statisticians in the sugar market yesterday pointed out that in the last six trading days raw sugar in the spot market had declined 9 points, equal to a loss of 6 per cent on the price at which it was selling last Tuesday.

Refined sugar remained unchanged at 4.90, but second-hand refined sugar, while nominally at 4.65, was offered in some quantity as low as 4.60. The weakening in both the raw and refined sugar market was attributed to the fact that April shipments of Philippine sugar amounted to 100,000 tons and that this amount will come into the local market, beginning shortly after June 1, to further expand the amount of sugar available.

Every position in the futures market closed at new lows last night with the exception of May, 1930, which is in the process of liquidation and practically empty and therefore not traded in.

The range of prices in the futures market was:

640 STUDENTS PASS BAR EXAMINATION

Of 1,804 Who Took Test in March 1,164 Failed to Meet the Requirements.

WINNERS TO BE CLERKS

Must Serve Six Months in Law Offices, Then Pass Character and Fitness Board.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, May 13.—Of the 1,804 law students who took the March bar examinations 640 were successful, John Kirkland Clarke of New York, Philip J. Wickser of Buffalo and Rollin B. Sanford of Albany, composing the State Board of Law Examiners, reported today.

The students, before they can become eligible to practice law, however, must serve a six months' clerkship in a law office and satisfy the committee on character and fitness.

The certificates of the board will be sent out within the next two weeks. The list of those who passed in the four appellate divisions is as follows:

WESTCHESTER TO ACT ON JAIL PLANS MONDAY

New Building to Cost $950,000 at East View Approved by State Department.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., May 13.—A special meeting of the Board of Supervisors will be held Monday to pass upon plans for the new Westchester County jail at East View, to cost $950,000. The plans were approved today by the committee upon their receipt from the State Department of Correction. The State delayed its approval for reasons including the desire of county officials to place cells on the outside of the building with windows on exterior walls, according to Supervisor Pliny W. Williamson, majority leader of the board.

The present jail on Martine Avenue is to be torn down and a temporary detention pen for prisoners, with garage facilities, will be built on its site.

Men and women prisoners are to be segregated in the new jail. The first floor, according to the plans, will have sixty cells for male adults built around a large courtyard. The second floor contains cell blocks for forty more male adults and tile-finished rooms for civil prisoners. The third-floor cells are for female prisoners with provisions for six segregations, enabling the jail authorities to separate minor and adult prisoners of various classifications.

To the rear of the main jail building will be a wing for housing and providing offices for jail officials. The offices of the sheriff, warden and assistants, with record rooms, photostat rooms and examination rooms, will be on the first floor of this wing.

Two roads, to be built by the county with State aid, will also be passed upon by the board on Monday following approval today by the budget committee. One is Sawmill River Road from Hawthorne to Briarcliff Manor, estimated to cost $341,000. The other is old State Route 2 from Armonk to Bedford, estimated to cost $368,500.

Purchase Massapequa Plots.

Dr. J. Cronin, Emma Craig, Anna Mohler and Alice Reilly of this city; W. D. Thompson of Massachusetts, E. Shea of Long Island City and Anna Lorry of Brooklyn have bought plots in Massapequa Park, L. I., from Brady, Cryan & Colleran, Inc.

Hone Avenue House Sold.

The two-family brick house at 1,940 Hone Avenue was sold by Walter C. Sattler through Lowenstein & Clark, brokers.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 13.—The disturbance that was central north of Newfoundland Monday night is advancing eastward over the ocean, with a trough extending west-southwestward to Southern New England, while the Minnesota disturbance is now moving eastward over the lake region, with a trough extending southward to the Gulf of Mexico.

Pressure is high from Alaska eastward over the Mackenzie Basin to Hudson Bay, with an extension southward over the northern Rocky Mountain region and the Plains States, and it is relatively high but falling in the South Atlantic States.

The disturbance now centred over the upper lake region will continue to move eastward and it will be attended by showers Wednesday almost generally in the Washington forecast district.

The temperature will be lower Wednesday in the Ohio Valley, the lower lake region, the Middle Atlantic and North Atlantic States, and generally fair and continued cool weather will prevail over most sections east of the Mississippi River during Thursday.

LATEST DEALINGS IN REAL ESTATE

REVIEW OF THE DAY IN REALTY MARKET

25-Story Office Project Is Announced for Site at Albany and Washington Streets.

DEAL ON LEXINGTON AVENUE

Operators and builders figured in most of yesterday's real estate trading in Manhattan, where announcements showed a continued interest in properties in the downtown section. While brokers were kept fairly busy in arranging business and apartment leases and new financing, there was a slowing down of activity in the suburban sections. A few deals were reported from Westchester and New Jersey.

R. H. Macy & Co. will swell the volume of new building construction in Manhattan as the result of filing plans for a nineteen-story annex to their department store to cost about $3,000,000.

The Gening Realty Corporation, representing the General Realty & Utilities Corporation and A. M. Bing & Son Realty Corporation, announced plans for a twenty-five-story office building at the northeast corner of Albany and Washington Streets. The property was recently assembled and contains 15,000 square feet fronting 122 feet on Albany Street, 137 feet on Washington Street and 25 feet on Cedar Street, surrounding the southeast corner of Cedar and Washington Streets.

The Gening Corporation is erecting a thirty-one-story office building at Rector, Washington and Greenwich Streets and plans to have the twenty-five-story structure at Albany and Washington Streets ready for occupancy in 1932.

Lexington Avenue Corner Sold.

Joseph F. A O'Donnell, operator, sold to Henry Lehman the southwest corner of Lexington Avenue and East 113th Street, improved with a six-story brick apartment house containing seven stores. The house is on a plot 100 by 31 feet and was sold through the Charles F. Noyes Company in conjunction with H. Goldschmidt, brokers.

On Washington Heights, Nehring Bros. sold for Mrs. Luther Halfmann the five-story apartment house at 508 West 147th Street on a plot 25 by 100 feet. This was the first sale of the property in twenty-five years.

The United Cigar Stores Company, A. C. Allen, vice-president, leased to the Raning Corporation, Ely Maran, president, the southwest corner of Seventh Avenue and Forty-second Street, 49 feet on the avenue and 20 feet on the street, for the term from April 15, 1930, to April 30, 1937, at a reserved rental. The landlord reserves the entire second floor of the building from this lease. This is a sublease, the landlord holding from the Windolph Realty Co., Inc., by a lease dated August 30, 1915.

The lease held by James J. Riordan, Inc., from the City of New York of the block fronting on the west side of Pike Slip, from South to Water Street, 69 feet on the former and 114 on the latter street, with an area of 14,720 square feet, has been extended for ten years from March 2, 1931, at a yearly rental of $6,710.

West 156th Street Lease.

The five-story and basement building at 545 West 156th Street was leased by Kate Rosen to Oliver S. Kimberly, Alfred R. Levy and Arthur S. Kimberly for ten years from May 1, the annual rent to be $9,000 for the first year and $9,500 for the remaining nine years.

The one-story building at 19 East 137th Street and the first floor of 21 East 137th Street, garage and storage warehouse, have been leased by the Gralin Realty Co., Inc., to the 137th Street Live and Dressed Poultry Company, Inc., for three years from May 1, 1930, the rent being $3,180 per annum.

Louis Getzoff and Gustave Lantelme have surrendered their leases of 262-268 West 154th Street to the fee owner, the Solpert Realty Company, Inc., Isaac Lamper, president.

The H. T. M. Realty Corporation, Charles S. Bannerman, vice-president, leased to Orrin S. Wightman and his wife the building at 7 East Eighty-eighth Street, for fifteen years from May 9, 1930, at a reserved rental.

BRISBANE RENTS BUILDINGS.

Three in Long Island City Are Taken by Industrial Firms.

Arthur Brisbane has leased three of his industrial buildings in Long Island City for terms of years through the Roman-Callman Company.

The Walden Aircraft Corporation is the lessee of the structure on the west side of Rawson Street, 200 feet north of Queens Boulevard. The Martin Trailer Corporation rented the building at the southwest corner of Foster Avenue and Rawson Street, with the Cross & Brown Company acting as co-broker. The third structure, at the southeast corner of Foster Avenue and Rockdale Street, was leased by the Skillman Avenue Garage Corporation.

Browning in Exchange Deal.

In exchange for the two five-story apartment houses, 75 by 100 feet, at 206 and 208 West 133d Street, the Edbro Realty Co., Inc., Edward W. Browning, president, took the southeast corner of Union Turnpike and 165th Street, Jamaica; the northeast corner of 164th Street and Eighty-first Avenue, Jamaica; the northwest corner of Waterbury and Zerega Avenue, the Bronx, and a parcel on Williamsbridge Road, near Van Nest Avenue, the Bronx.

Third Stock Firm Rents in Waldorf.

H. L. Horton & Co., members of the Stock Exchange, have leased branch-office space on the lobby floor of the new Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, under construction at Park Avenue and Forty-ninth Street. The lease is for six years, at a reported annual rental of $28,000. Two other Stock Exchange firms have leased space on the same floor.

New York Steam Co. Enlarges Plant

The New York Steam Company has completed plans for the improvement of its plant at Thirty-fifth Street and the East River. New boilers and mechanical devices are to be added that will increase the present generation of steam by 750,000 pounds pressure an hour, making it one of the largest plants of its kind in the world.

Record Rental Prices Asked At Fifth Av. and 42d St.

Prices that are said to be the highest in the world for store rentals are asked in the fifty-eight-story building being erected on the northwest corner of Forty-second Street and Fifth Avenue by Walter J. Salmon.

There are sixteen stores of various sizes from ten to twenty-six feet in width and twenty-nine to ninety-nine feet in depth.

The rental value of the 16 by 29 foot store occupying the corner of Forty-second Street and Fifth Avenue has not been fixed as yet, but the other stores on Fifth Avenue average $2,800 a front foot or $70,000 a year for a 19 by 41 foot store.

On Forty-second Street the prices average $3,500 a front foot or $36,000 a year for a store 10 feet broad and 45 feet deep.

The largest store on Forty-second Street has a frontage of 25 feet and a depth of 99 feet for which a yearly rental of $95,000 is being asked. This figure is almost equal to the fee value of 25 by 100 foot lots within a radius of a few blocks.

The building will be ready for occupancy next December.

WESTCHESTER ITEMS.

Apartment Hotel Planned for White Plains Leasehold.

The Goodfellow property on the west side of Grand Street, near Post Road, White Plains, has been leased for twenty-one years, with two renewals, by the Post Grand Corporation, headed by Harry K. Bobker, New York operator. A six-story apartment hotel is to be erected on the parcel immediately, according to Warren W. Maslen, the broker. The site is 60 by 125 feet.

Harris Orlofsky & Son, Westchester apartment builders, are associated with Mr. Bobker. They recently leased the Foley property at Post Road and Grand Street for improvement with a five-story store and apartment structure.

The former Dr. Lieb house in Trinity Pass, Poundridge, was bought by Arthur B. Murray, assistant cashier of the Chase National Bank in New York City, for occupancy. The old Colonial type house, on a thirteen-acre tract, was remodeled recently. Paul M. Barrows was the broker.

A two-story taxpayer at Post Street and South Broadway, Yonkers, was bought by a group including Herman Weiss. The plot is 100 by 102 feet.

WHITE PLAINS SITE LEASED.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., May 13.—A $250,000 apartment hotel of six stories is to be built on the west side of Grand Street, on the Goodfellow property, in the block between Quarropas Street and the New York Post Road. The structure will be almost opposite the new postoffice and within a short distance of the library and the eight-story County Building to go up shortly at Grand Street and Martine Avenue.

It will be near the Post Road corner where, on the same side of the street, H. & S. Sonn are putting up a business building, and on the opposite side a five-story apartment with stores on the ground floor is being started. The Post Grand Corporation, headed by Harry K. Bobker, White Plains and New York operator, has leased the Goodfellow property for a period of twenty-one years, with the privilege of two renewals.

BUILDING CONTRACTS GAIN.

Daily Average Locally Is Above That in May, 1929.

Building and engineering awards in the metropolitan area of New York from May 1 to 9, totaled $32,244,700, a daily rate of $4,030,600, as compared with a daily rate of $3,787,700 in May, 1929. Construction contracts to date amount to $368,339,000, comparing with $436,200,000 for the corresponding period in 1929, according to the F. W. Dodge Corporation.

Contracts let during the first period of this month showed commercial buildings as the most important, with $14,172,900, or 44 per cent of the total awards. Residential buildings amounted to $11,831,000, or 37 per cent; public works and utilities $2,610,700, or 8 per cent, and educational buildings $1,481,200, or 5 per cent.

Work reported as in the contemplated stage during the same period amounted to $48,589,400.

RECORDED MORTGAGES.

The Chalena Realty Corporation, Lena Schoenberg, president, gave to Morris Kahn a mortgage for $15,000, due May 9, 1933, at 6 per cent, on 69 East 125th Street, a lot 25 feet wide, between Park and Madison Avenues. There is a first mortgage for $40,000 thereon.

A mortgage for $1,400,00, held by the Lawyers Mortgage Company, on the southwest corner of Madison Avenue and Ninetieth Street, half the block on the avenue and 164½ feet on the street, has been extended to May 25, 1935, at 5½ per cent, $14,000 to be paid off on the principal semi-annually. The 14 East Ninetieth Street Corporation, J. H. Carpenter, president, owns these premises.

The Lawyers Trust Company took a mortgage for $43,000, due five years hence, at 6 per cent, from Walter P. Sauer and five others of that family, of Forest Hills, on 415 and 417 East Forty-seventh Street, a two and a three story building.

B. Crystal & Son gave a mortgage to the Franklin Savings Bank for $75,000, due in three years, at 6 per cent, on property fronting 125 feet on West Street, 146½ feet south of Rector Street.

An additional mortgage for $2,000, given by the Bainbridge Building Corporation, Martin F. Huberth, president, to the Mutual Life Insurance Company on the property on the north side of Fifty-seventh Street, 600 feet west of Fifth Avenue, with a frontage of 58 feet 4 inches, has been consolidated with other mortgages held by the insurance company to make one first lien of $600,000, due according to the bond.

Charles Hall, Inc., took back a purchase money mortgage for $40,000, due in two years, at 6 per cent, from the 14-16 East Thirty-eighth Street Holding Corporation, Milton M. Dryfoos, president, when the latter bought the five-story building with store at 3 East Fortieth Street, subject to a first mortgage of $140,000.

The Bank of New York and Trust Company has extended to May 6, 1935, at 5½ per cent, its mortgage for $375,000 on 47-51 East Sixty-fourth Street, a four story structure and two five-story buildings, owned by Realty Assets Corporation, J. L. van Zelm, vice president.

When Lady Laura Anne Allom, Amy Doris Redding and Laura Gwendolin Spreat bought from Katharine S. Hoyt the five-story building at 32 East Sixty-seventh Street, they gave back a purchase money mortgage for $36,250, due on July 15, of this year, at 6 per cent. The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company carries a mortgage for $93,750 on this piece. The buyers are English residents, living at Totteridge, Hertford.

A mortgage for $5,750, given by Gormos Corporation, Richard E. Gordon, president, to the North River Savings Bank, has been combined with other mortgages held by the bank to make a single lien of $35,000, due Aug. 1, 1933, at 5½ per cent, on 463-65 West Thirty-fourth Street.

On 317 and 319 West Ninety-ninth Street the Alcon Realty Company, Inc., Michael V. Rosenberg, president, gave a mortgage for $40,000, due Aug. 10, 1930, at 6 per cent, subject to prior mortgages.

MACY'S FILES PLANS FOR 19-STORY ANNEX

Department Store to Erect a $3,000,000 Building at 7th Avenue and 34th Street.

CONTROL MOST OF BLOCK

Only Two Small Parcels Left—New Structure to Have Frontages of 174.6 and 125 Feet.

R. H. Macy & Co. announced another step in their program for developing the block bounded by Broadway and Seventh Avenue, Thirty-fourth to Thirty-fifth Street, with the filing of plans yesterday for an annex to its department store holdings. The latest Macy unit will be a nineteen-story structure, to be erected at the northeast corner of Seventh Avenue and Thirty-fourth Street.

The annex will cost approximately $3,000,000. It will have a frontage of 174.6 feet on Seventh Avenue and 125 feet on Thirty-fourth Street by 72 feet on Thirty-fifth Street. The plans were filed with the Manhattan Bureau of Buildings by R. D. Kohn, architect. The department store is the owner of record of the site.

The entire square block between Broadway and Seventh Avenue, Thirty-fourth to Thirty-fifth Street, with the exception of two small parcels, is controlled by Macy's, whose holdings include 1,317 to 1,329 Broadway, 149 to 167 West Thirty-fourth Street and 148 to 166 West Thirty-fifth Street. The two small sites not included in the Macy holdings are the northwest corner of Broadway and Thirty-fourth Street, 31.11 feet on Broadway by 45.7 feet on Thirty-fourth Street, and the southeast corner of Seventh Avenue and Thirty-fifth Street, 23 feet on the avenue by 60 feet on the street.

IF A GOOD JOB

be got, he would take it himself, may be aptly said of many in the business of assisting men to make connections. Never of us. During the 11 years our INDIVIDUAL, CONFIDENTIAL advertising Service has been operating, the principals of this corporation have many times received offers at a salary 2 and 3 times their incomes here. Refused each time offer was made. Because none here is interested in such "breaks of fortune." Because all of us are excellently placed here. Confer only with $5,000 to $50,000 men, writing present, past engagements, earnings and desires. Please do not phone.

SALARIED POSITIONS.

$2,500 TO $25,000.

The undersigned provides a thoroughly organized employment advertising service of twenty years' recognized standing through which preliminaries are negotiated for positions of the calibre indicated; the procedure is individualized to each client's personal requirements; your identity covered and present position protected; send only name and address for details. R. W. Bixby, Inc., 133 Downtown Building, Buffalo, N. Y.

INTELLIGENT ASSISTANCE

in seeking new connections is offered important men, available only to those accustomed to earning $5,000 or more; our services differ from those of an employment agency in that definite campaigns for contacts are devised to fit individual requirements; interviews by appointment only.

Phone Murray Hill 5776 or write
JOHN R. KENDRICK,
33d Floor. 350 Madison Av.

ACTIVE PLACEMENT SERVICE.
Higher grade positions are obtained by INDUSTRIAL, COMMERCIAL, TECHNICAL & PROFESSIONAL EXECUTIVES, presented by us to concerns through a dignified and strictly confidential publicity service.

REVEALS PLAN HERE TO RECLAIM SAHARA

French Expert Arrives on the Ile de France to Study American Irrigation.

SAYS DESERT HAS WATER

Believes Vast Lakes Lie Under Its Sands—Dr. and Mrs. Gage and R. W. Goelet and Wife Return.

J. H. Ricard, former French Minister of Agriculture and now president of the North African Tours, an agency of the French Line, arrived on the French liner Ile de France yesterday to make a study of perfected conditions of desert reclamation and methods used here in retrieving arid lands.

Optimistic of eventually reclaiming the Sahara Desert and converting it into a project providing France with an agricultural area greater than that of the whole of Europe, M. Ricard is basing his investigation on the belief of experts and geologists that there is a vast underground stratum of water in the Sahara.

The problem in the Sahara is location of great natural reservoirs and perfection of devices to irrigate the great desert, M. Ricard said. He said radio was being used to a small extent in locating underground water layers.

The Sahara climate, he added, is suited to agriculture, and reclamation would place France, which owns nearly the entire desert, in a commanding position agriculturally.

Also on the Ile de France were Dr. and Mrs. Homer Gage of Worcester, Mass., founders of the American House at the University of Paris. They returned from the official opening of the house, which took place April 28. Dr. Gage told of the offer of John D. Rockefeller Jr. to give more than $3,000,000 for erection of a central house at the University of Paris to be used for recreation and social purposes by students of all nations.

Mrs. William G. Mather of Cleveland also returned on the liner from Paris, where she discovered a copy of Cotton Mather's rare writing, "Decennium Luctuosum. An History of Remarkable Occurrences in the Long War, which New England hath had with the Indian Savages, from the Year 1688 to the Year 1698."

Other passengers included Mr. and Mrs. Robert Walton Goelet.

MACHINERY TRADE QUIET.

Replacements Provided Bulk of the Orders Last Week.

Quiet conditions ruled in the machinery and machine-tool trade last week, according to The American Machinist. Replacements provided the bulk of the orders and the used-tools demand showed improvement, but the volume of incoming inquiries was lower. The summary continues in part:

"While New York and Detroit machinery markets are spotty and inclined to dullness, both show a better undertone. Bookings are scarce and from present indications there is no prospect of any unusual buying in the immediate future. Used-tools are in better demand in the New York market.

"Inquiries in the Chicago area have fallen off and the week was featureless except for a few sales to railroads and several small local industrial items. New England reports good sales of used tools. Buffalo dealers are optimistic in the face of numerous inquiries and a better employment situation.

"Despite a reported dullness in Cincinnati's machinery market there is a sufficient volume of orders on hand to keep manufacturers busy. Canadian machine-tool buying is reported better, with industrial conditions improving steadily. Indianapolis, on the contrary, reports business is very poor. Machine-tool sales in the Southern district were reported fair. Small tools were in most active demand but inquiries were scarce."

EUROPA PASSENGERS GO TO PIER BY TRAIN

Pennsylvania Road Starts Regular Service From Station to Brooklyn Dock.

The Pennsylvania Railroad began its passenger service last night from Pennsylvania Station to the North German Lloyd piers at Fifty-eighth Street, Brooklyn, by running a train which conveyed ninety passengers with their baggage to the Europa. The train started from Pittsburgh with forty passengers, reaching New York at 8:20 P. M. Daylight Saving Time, ten minutes ahead of schedule. It was made up of a sleeper, diner, parlor car and a combination car for a smoker and half for the baggage. The train left Penn station at 8:50 P. M. and arrived alongside the Europa with the passengers and baggage at 9:45, giving ample time for stamping tickets and passports. The Europa was scheduled to leave at 12:30 A. M., but because of a low tide at that hour the liner was not expected to leave before 4:30 A. M.

Railroad officials said last night that the trip had been successful in every way and the next one will be made on May 20 with the departure of the North German Lloyd liner Bremen.

The Europa had a total of 1,750 passengers, of whom 490 were in the first cabin. Among them were John N. Willys, newly appointed United States Ambassador to Poland, and Philipp Heinekin, president of the North German Lloyd Lines.

Ice Patrol Reports for Mariners.

HALIFAX, May 13.—Ice is open and scanty across the entrance of Port au Port, Newfoundland, and close-packed from Bear Head to South Head, Bay of Islands, the government ice patrol reports. As strings of ice were reported off Cape Ray on Sunday and strings of ice were reported yesterday in Lat. 47.44 degrees N., Long. 59.40 degrees W., ships bound up or down the Gulf of St. Lawrence should steer for St. Paul Island and thence to Big Rock, or vice versa, and thus avoid this ice.

SUE OVER REALTY DEAL.

Operators Say Rabinowitz Misrepresented Peekskill Property.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., May 13.—Ualdich & Goldstein, Inc., realty holders of this city, have filed suit for $72,000 paid to the Bendell Realty Corporation, allegedly controlled by Miles C. Rabinowitz of Scarsdale, on the ground that the amount was in excess of the real value of property purchased for $194,000 in Peekskill.

Mr. Rabinowitz is being sued also by his wife for separation. She charges he spent too much on ten actresses.

News of the suit became known today when Justice William F. Bleakely was asked by Charles E. Long, counsel for the real estate operators, to restrain Rabinowitz from disposing of a note, a mortgage and title to five acres of land here, all given in part payment for a garage, three stores and property in Peekskill, which they bought the latter part of last February for $194,000. It was charged that Rabinowitz misrepresented the income of the buildings and land, and that instead of $1,600 the monthly income was only $400.

SHIPS END RACE NEAR TIE.

Radnor Just Beats Kukufu Maru From Panama to Baltimore.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, May 13.—A race from the Panama Canal to Baltimore ended yesterday when the American steamer Radnor and the Japanese steamer Kufuku Maru passed North Point below this city with only ten minutes between them.

Both are loaded with full cargoes of sugar from the Philippines to the American Sugar Refining Company.

Almost side by side they left Cristobal May 4 and headed for their destination.

Both passed Cape Henry at 10 P. M. Sunday and took pilots on board. From the cape to North Point the race was close. The Radnor passed North Point at 11:55 A. M., followed by the Kufuku Maru at 12:05.

SHIP JOBS SCARCE, STUDENTS WARNED

Y. M. C. A. Secretary Declares Free Trips to Europe Are a Thing of the Past.

FINDS MANY SAILORS IDLE

Says Immigration Laws Bar Transients and Lines Will Not Hire Prospective Deserters.

Warning to college men throughout the country to avoid New York if they seek Summer employment as stewards on transatlantic liners or laborers on freighters has been sent by W. A. Tinker, secretary of the Intercollegiate Y. M. C. A., 55 Washington Square, in letters to universities. Mr. Tinker explained that the custom of getting a free trip to Europe has ended and that a trip to New York will mean hardship.

The conditions now existing, Mr. Tinker said, is brought about by the general unemployment situation which has put thousands of experienced seamen out of work, and the immigration laws which bar transients of the Summer college man type. The steamship lines are not desirous of employing students because of their desertion in foreign ports. Mr. Tinker write as follows:

"At the present time the docks and shipping agencies are thronged with thousands of experienced seamen who are looking for an opportunity to go to sea. With these able seamen available, the steamships are naturally loath to take on inexperienced help, especially when they know that the college men will leave the ship as soon as it reaches Europe, so that they can go sight-seeing on the Continent. In addition, there are also hundreds of boys from the small towns who are unable to get work ashore and who are willing to sign up for voyages of any length in order to get work.

"While unemployment may be only a temporary bar, the immigration laws apparently will put a permanent end to the European jaunts of the students. Under present laws, the steamship company that ships an American to Europe as a member of the crew is responsible for the payment of his fare back to this country in case he becomes stranded and cannot pay for his passage home.

"In the past, the companies have learned from sad experience that the college man is very apt to spend all his money traveling about Europe and then come back to port with empty pockets. In many cases these boys apply to a consular agent at a port in which the steamship company does not dock, and then the student is sent direct to the United States and a bill for his transportation is sent to the steamship company which brought him to Europe.

"When the steamship companies have had a few experiences of this sort they soon lose all desire to ship college men in their crews and the student who comes to New York with the expectation of going to sea will have his trip for nothing as the chances are practically nil that he will be able to ship."

SENATE DEBATES SHIP BILL.

Mail Preference to Board Vessel Buyers Is Proposed.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—The Senate began consideration today of a bill to amend the merchant marine act of 1928 with relation to award of contracts to purchasers of government shipping lines. The amendment is called necessary because of the controversy that arose in the Postoffice Department over award of contracts for South American mail.

Senator Ransdell of Louisiana explained that the chief provision of the bill authorizes the Postmaster General to award the contract to a government line without advertisement or competition. The bill stipulates that definite safeguards must be set up by the government for its protection and for the carrying out of the merchant marine acts of 1920 and 1928.

Senator Ransdell said that the sale of seven Shipping Board lines was held up pending the settlement of the dispute, as the prospective purchasers would not buy the lines until they were satisfied that the Postmaster General had authority to award the mail contracts.

Senator Copeland of New York opposed the bill. He said that it was unjust to lines in existence and that the mail contracts should go to the lowest bidders.

PORT COMMITTEES NAMED.

Revisions Announced as Result of Adding Six to New Board.

Appointment of committees on freight terminals and port protection was announced yesterday by the reorganized Port of New York Authority, which revision of other committees which was made necessary by the addition of six new members to the Board of Commissioners.

Howard S. Cullman will remain chairman of the terminals committee and will proceed with the proposal for construction of an inland union freight terminal somewhere in the midtown Manhattan section. The proposed terminal will be reached by trucks loaded in New Jersey, via the Holland Tunnel, thus avoiding the Manhattan piers.

John F. Murray was named chairman of the port protection committee whose duties include the direction of activities to maintain the supremacy of the Port of New York. A new committee on tunnel construction was created with General George R. Dyer as chairman. This move is a preliminary to the proposed building of a vehicular tube between Weehawken, N. J., and a point at or near West Thirty-eighth Street, Manhattan.

John F. Galvin, chairman of the Port Authority, was named chairman of the committee on program and work and Frank C. Ferguson, vice chairman of the board, was named chairman of the administrative committee on budget and staff.

Shippers' Conference Here Today.

The Shippers' Conference of Greater New York will have its monthly meeting at 1:30 P. M. today at the rooms of the Merchants' Association. Among the matters to be considered are the Boston and Baltimore differential cases, the continued operation of Sound lines by the New Haven railroad, control of port-to-port rates by the Interstate Commerce Commission and receiving time for coastwise line freight. Reports will be made on investigations of several of these matters.

PRISON BODY HEARS CLINTON 'BAD MEN'

State Investigators Get First-Hand Story of Treatment in "Solitary."

CAUSE OF RIOTS STUDIED

Committee Bars Reporters, but Issues Statement Concerning Purpose of Inquiry.

From a Staff Correspondent of The New York Times.

DANNEMORA, N. Y., May 13.—One by one, sullen, manacled prisoners are being led from the isolation cells of the south cell block, where they have been confined since the outbreak last July, into the warden's office here today to tell their stories to a committee of the State Commission of Correction which is investigating the causes of the outbreak and charges of brutality.

The committee, composed of Walter W. Nicholson of Syracuse, Mrs. Cecilia D. Patten of Saratoga Springs and James D. Smith of Utica, is "proceeding in executive session," it announced in a formal statement, to make "an investigation of reports of alleged conditions at Clinton prison."

What stories the prisoners are relating, Mr. Nicholson, who acted as spokesman for the committee, refused to reveal. He refused newspaper correspondents permission to listen to the testimony, but said: "We may have something to tell you in two weeks."

There have been stories that food was denied the 225 men put in solitary confinement after the riot; that they were not allowed to leave the cells for exercise, and that visits from the chaplains were denied.

Warden Harry M. Kaiser has admitted that when the men were transferred, some resisted, and "measures were taken to overpower these men."

There were 225 men in the isolation cells, and later thirty-four ringleaders of the Auburn outburst were transferred here. Meanwhile, those who are deemed safe by Warden Kaiser have been returned to the general prison, so that 191 men are still kept in the punishment cells.

Their Handcuffs Removed.

These are the men who are giving evidence to the committee. The men are led by guards into a small anteroom in the administration building, where their handcuffs are removed. Then they step through a barred door into the warden's private office.

Warden Kaiser is at Albany today attending a meeting of wardens who are inspecting a new system of electric locks, but other prison officials are scrupulously careful to avoid the room in which the prisoners supposedly are airing their complaint.

The big prison is as quiet as the hills into which its stone walls merge, but underneath there is a feeling of tension, an undercurrent which is unmistakable.

There has been no change in the conditions which bred the riot of last July—the prison is still overcrowded, there are still desperate long-term men rendered hopeless by changes in the laws—except that the leaders are behind four-by-seven-foot solid stone cells.

It is in this atmosphere that the investigation is being conducted. The presence of the committee has traveled the length and breadth of the big settlement behind the high stone walls. Last week Major Philip G. Roosa, chief clerk of the commission and an investigator for the department, was here "preparing" for the investigation this week. He left before the committee arrived.

Men Heard One at a Time.

The prisoners came in, spent about an hour each and were taken out before the next man was admitted. At noon, while the prison band played a snappy march and the men in prison gray tramped into the mess hall, the committee members strolled out the prison gates to the warden's house for lunch.

John F. Tremain, secretary of the commission, passed out a copy of a prepared statement giving the committee's version of its work. This read:

"A committee of the State Commission of Correction, appointed by the commission, is making an investigation of reports of alleged conditions at Clinton prison. The committee is proceeding in executive session, examining witnesses, and will be so engaged for some time.

"It will make a report in due course to the commission. The committee is a unit in the belief that it has a serious public duty to perform, and will continue the work in a sincere effort to accomplish results that will be of value."

The committee members refused to discuss the testimony taken or to indicate the scope.

"We haven't any idea yet," Mr. Nicholson explained. "We are examining conditions."

"Are you going into the causes of the riots?" he was asked.

"That naturally enters into it," he replied.

The opinion around the prison, implicit if not expressed, is:

"Just another investigation."

BAR KLAN FROM PARADE.

Mount Kisco Groups Are Unanimous Against It in Memorial Day March.

Special to The New York Times.

MOUNT KISCO, N. Y., May 13.—The unanimous vote of twelve civic and fraternal organizations here, backed by the Memorial Day committee, was cast tonight to bar the Ku Klux Klan from taking part in the Mount Kisco Memorial Day parade. The American Legion and the Knights of Columbus led the fight against the Klan.

Charles A. Dixon, of Yonkers, grand realm organizer for the Klan in New York State, appeared before the committee to defend the Klan application in which klansmen from Westchester, Putnam and Rockland Counties asked permission to march.

The committee revealed that two contributions to go toward the Memorial Day parade expenses had been offered only on condition that the Klan be barred.

CAPONE IS REARRESTED.

MIAMI, Fla., May 13 (AP).—Al Capone was arrested here tonight by Police Chief Guy C. Reeve while a spectator at a boxing bout.

Williams Flutters Down 3,000 Feet in Plane In 'Inverted Falling Leaf' As Navy Farewell

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—Lieutenant Alford J. Williams, noted speed and acrobatic flier, has said his farewell to the navy with an innovation in flying.

As a swan song to the service, which he is leaving on Thursday after thirteen years, it became known today that Lieutenant Williams went aloft in his little navy fighter Saturday and did what even he said was the last thing he could think of in acrobatics—an "inverted falling leaf."

When he arrived at Anacostia Naval Air Station it seemed to be the general feeling that something was up. Mechanics and attendants watched him closely. From across the way, at Bolling Field, Army pilots and mechanics took sudden notice.

Lieutenant Williams pulled to the end of the field and suddenly gave his ship the "gun." In an incredibly short space the plane literally stepped up into the air. At a terrific speed the Lieutenant dashed for the Bolling Field side and, just over the hangars, pointed its nose upward and climbed 2,000 feet, almost straight up.

As a bit of "warming up" exercise for his last big stunt, Lieutenant Williams put his plane through a series of rolls, spins and dives, most of them done upside down, for he turned his ship over on its back at the steep of his first climb.

He then began flying across the field on his back. After two or three times across he started climbing, still on his back, with the wheels of the plane turned skyward. Up he went to about 3,000 feet.

Then some one shouted: "My goodness, look!"

One wing of the plane was dipping. It looked as if the craft were going into an inverted spin, a position which usually takes the adjective "fatal." But just before she spun, the other wing dipped. And then, dipping from one side to the other, just outside of the inverted spin at each dip, the little ship fell like a leaf dangerously near the ground.

Leveling off, Lieutenant Williams proceeded to climb again, still on his back. He mounted back to 3,000 feet, and, as if it were his thousandth time, came fluttering down again, like a leaf falling from a tree—all the while on his back.

At a few hundred feet from the ground he righted his plane after half of an outside loop, turned it over again and began sinking toward the ground in a series of slips. As the plane lowered to the field he gracefully turned it over again and sideslipped to a perfect landing.

GUILTY IN GIN FLAVOR SALE

Philadelphians Convicted as Judge Cites Supreme Court Ruling.

PHILADELPHIA, May 13 (AP).—A jury in the criminal division of the Philadelphia Municipal Court today convicted a father and son, grocers, for selling juniper berry flavor and rye coloring and flavoring extract in violation of the State prohibition law.

They were arrested last December when police raided their store, it is alleged, and confiscated two one-gallon jugs containing gin flavoring which, analysis proved, had 72 per cent alcoholic content, and rye flavoring extract which chemists found had 18 per cent alcohol.

The extracts, contained in one-ounce bottles, were individually labeled to the effect that they must be used exclusively in making certain kinds of cake, bread, pies and cookies and were not to be used for beverage purposes.

Judge William M. Lewis charged the jury that if it came to the conclusion that such goods drifted into the wrong channels, under the recent ruling of the Supreme Court of the United States, the persons selling them were guilty of illegal possession, but, if the jurors decided the extracts were sold to housewives for baking purposes, then the defendants should be acquitted.

The jury convicted the men after two hours' deliberation.

THREE NEW FIRES IN STATE

Large Crew Is Sent to Forest Outbreak in the Catskills.

ALBANY, May 13 (AP).—Three new fires, all in the Catskills, were reported to the Conservation Commission today. A large crew of fire-fighters was rushed to one blaze, at Minnewaska, in Ulster County, more because the fire was in a heavily wooded resort section near Lake Mohonk than because of the seriousness of the blaze itself.

Prior to the report of the Catskill fires the commission received information that twenty-four fires started yesterday were out or under control.

State troopers and game wardens were vigilant against fishermen and other sportsmen entering the forest preserves today. The State woodlands were closed by order of Acting Governor Lehman, to remain barred to all except those on business until heavy rains preclude the possibility of further forest fires.

WOMAN A SUICIDE; LEFT $350,000 ESTATE

Gems and Cash Found Hidden in Her Home in Baltimore—Story of Will Investigated.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, May 13.—Mrs. Mary J. Textor, a wealthy widow, hanged herself yesterday in the cellar of her home. A search of the fifteen-room house in which she lived with only a small dog for a companion revealed bond receipts, bank books, jewelry and cash concealed in a phonograph cabinet and other unusual places. These were appraised at $100,000 after a short hunt, but rose to $350,000 as additional evidence of wealth was disclosed.

Mrs. Textor's body was discovered by Frank Bouchat, an acquaintance, who told police he called at the Textor home several times a week, when he worked about the grounds and at times wrote Mrs. Textor's letters for her.

Bouchat said he had been instructed to break into the place if Mrs. Textor did not answer the doorbell, and said the widow had often hinted at suicide.

Police are investigating Bouchat's story of a will he said Mrs. Textor made. It provided gifts for a hospital, but later, in his presence, Bouchat says, she burned it.

TO SEND PRIESTS TO CHINA.

Maryknoll Seminary Dispatches Some to War Area on July 31.

Special to The New York Times.

OSSINING, N. Y., May 13.—In spite of civil war and banditry in China, the officials of the Catholic Foreign Mission Society of America, of which the Rev. Father James A. Walsh is superior, announced at its seminary in Maryknoll, Ossining, today that eight priests and a brother have just been assigned from Maryknoll to the Orient. Some of these Ossining missioners are going into the war area.

The missioners will be formally dispatched on July 31. Those to go are the Rev. Fathers Charles J. Murphy, formerly of Ansonia, Conn., and Thomas R. Donovan of Pittsburgh, assigned to Kaying, South China; Hugh T. Lavery, formerly of Bridgeport, to Korea; Edmund A. Toomey of New Bedford, Mass., Francis D. MacRae of Wakefield, Mass., and George N. Gilligan of Brooklyn, to Wuchow, South China; Leo W. Hewitt of Cumberland, Md., and Thomas N. Quirk of Portsmouth, N. H., to Fushun Mission, Manchuria; Brother Jude (Raymond J. Donnelly) of New York City to Kongmoon, South China.

PASS BILL TO APPLY QUOTA TO MEXICANS

Senators First Eliminate All Other Latin-American Countries From Immigration Measure.

BIG INFLUX CUT FORECAST

Harris Sees Drop From 58,000 to 1,900—State Department Reports Heavy Decrease.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—The Senate today passed a bill that would apply the national origin immigration quota to Mexico. Originally the measure would have applied to all countries of the Western Hemisphere except Canada and Newfoundland and the Administration was opposed to it on the ground that it would cause unfriendly feeling in South America.

The important change was agreed upon without a record vote at the suggestion of Senator Harris, sponsor of the measure, and with its provision limited to Mexico it went through, 51 to 16.

The only protest raised was by Senator Borah, who said: "I am in sympathy with the policy of restricted immigration, but I cannot favor a policy which singles out Mexico alone."

It was explained by Senator Harris, author of the bill, that as amended it would restrict immigration of Mexican laborers into the United States from 58,000 to 1,900 annually.

The State Department gave out a summary today in which it said that only 540 immigration visas were issued by consuls to Mexicans in April and that only 11,023 Mexicans had immigrated to the United States during the first ten months of the current fiscal year, or at the rate of 13,228 per annum, as compared with 56,747 for the last five completed years.

"The above figures show that the stricter administrative law enforcement measures put into effect in Mexico in March, 1929, have resulted in a decrease of 76.7 per cent in immigration from that country without resort to a numerical immigration quota," the department said.

'One of the most striking features of the recent decrease in Mexican immigration is that during the past ten months only 1,199 out of the 10,483 total were common laborers without a previous residence in this country.

"The latter class of Mexican immigration is therefore now entering the United States at a rate of only 1,439 per annum."

WOMEN ORGANIZE FOR PRISON REFORM

Form Auxiliary to Support Principles Advanced by Thomas Mott Osborne.

To promulgate and support the principles of prison reform as enunciated and carried on by the late Thomas Mott Osborne, a women's auxiliary was organized last night at a dinner given at the Colony Club by Mrs. James J. Storrow, sister of Mr. Osborne.

The organization will be known as the Women's Auxiliary of the Tom Brown House, 114 East Thirtieth Street, a building purchased by the Thomas Mott Osborne Memorial Association, in which is housed the headquarters of the Welfare League Association and the National Society of Penal Information, both founded by Mr. Osborne.

Mrs. Storow, chairman of the auxiliary, presided at the dinner, at which there were twenty-four guests. The speakers included Miss Helen Hironimus, assistant superintendent of the Federal Industrial Institution for Women at Alderson, W. Va., who discussed the plan of inmate community organization at that institution, and Miss Rachel Hopper Powell, director of the Women's Prison Association and Issac T. Hopper Home of this city.

One of the objects of the auxiliary, it was explained, will be to study the needs in American prisons and the ways in which public opinion in this country can best be kept informed about constructive reform.

The auxiliary is to meet monthly at Tom Brown House from October to June. It will assist in the development of the prison library there as a memorial to Mr. Osborne, provide hospitality to visiting lecturers and students of penology from foreign countries, and celebrate each year Tom Brown's Day, Sept. 29, 1913, the day on which the late Mr. Osborne entered Auburn Prison as a voluntary prisoner.

Buses for Stadium Concerts.

Permission for the Fifth Avenue buses to alter their routes to stop at the Lewisohn Stadium, 138th Street and Amsterdam Avenue during the Summer concert season was approved yesterday by the committee of the whole of the Board of Estimate. On the request of Adolph Lewisohn this action has been taken every year since 1919. The permit runs from July 7 to Aug. 31, between the hours of 7:15 and 11 P. M. The Board of Estimate will give its routine approval of the change a week from Friday.

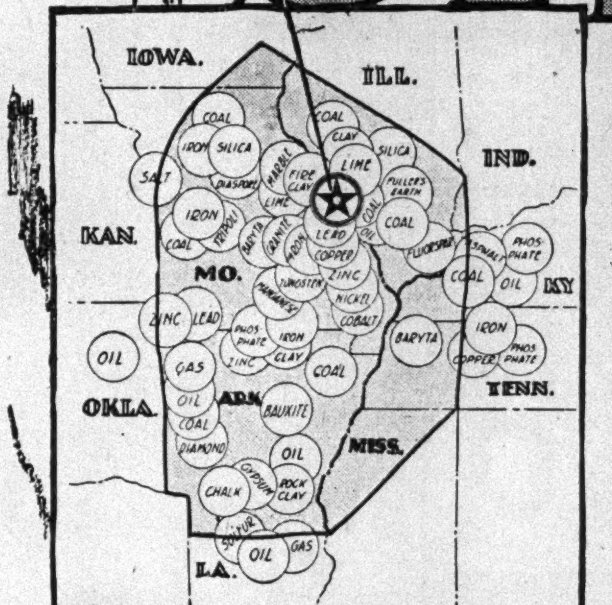
ST. LOUIS



Raw Material Area
tributary to the
St. Louis District

Few people realize what a wealth of commercial minerals and raw materials surrounds St. Louis. The above map gives some idea of their great diversity and extent. All these are present in practical, merchantable quantities; some are found in the greatest quantities known in this country. All are accessible and cheaply brought to the nearby St. Louis market over an efficient network of direct rail and river transportation.

STRATEGIC LOCATION for CHEMICAL INDUSTRIES

Close to the national center of population, and surrounded by raw material resources, St. Louis offers an ideal location for Chemical and allied manufactures.

The "Chemical Age" is here. Great developments are coming in this Industry. New discoveries, new processes, are revolutionizing business. New businesses are being founded. Is it not wise to establish them, once for all, where vital and fundamental advantages are all in their favor?

Consider what St. Louis offers! . . . Materials, markets, men; power, water, transportation, climate—these are but high spots. Here, because of the definite advantages present, have already been developed some of America's major sources of heavy chemicals; of pigments, paints, fine chemicals, pharmaceuticals and leather; and a rapidly growing iron and steel industry. The detailed facts—accurate, interesting, practical—are yours for the asking.

Where Materials and Markets Meet

—Close to the center of the country and the center of population
—19 Trunk line railway companies, operating 29 lines; superior transportation in every direction
—Key city of America's greatest inland waterway
—All-water shipments to foreign ports; nearest water route to the South
—Gateway to the fastest-developing section of the country
—1,350,000 people in the immediate city and suburbs
—50,000,000 people within 500 miles for a consuming market
—Ample and stable labor market; both skilled and unskilled men
—Unlimited electric power; rates as low as ½ cent per KW-hr.
—Pure water available in any desired quantity
—Natural Gas, and Oil, piped direct from the producing fields —Largest coal deposits and cheapest coal market in the world
—The controlling national market for lead and zinc products
—Major sources of bauxite for aluminum close by —More Baryta produced in Missouri than in all the rest of the country
—Convenient Lime and Limestone of all grades
—Coke, coal-tar and its by-products and derivatives locally manufactured
—Practically all basic manufacturing chemicals produced locally
—Known as a leading manufacturing center of heavy chemicals, and drugs

Two-thirds of all the 6,000 manufacturing concerns in the St. Louis territory are quantity consumers of chemicals. Some 20 local companies are engaged in their manufacture. The consumption is far greater than the production.
